TWO RETIRED NEW LONDON SEAMEN HAVE ENTERED THEIR LAST PORT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, March 12—Nicholas Nelson, 69, retired mariner, died this morning at 5 o'clock at his residence, 59 Raymond street, after a comparatively brief illness. He is survived by his widow, a son, Walter N. Nelson, of this city and by three daughters, Miss Grace Nelson and Mrs. Mabel Fowler, of this city and Mrs. Katherine Steele, of Springfield, Mass. Mr. Nelson, who was born in Norway, had resided in this country many years and for 34 years he was employed in the government lighthouse service.

CAPT. J. W. BUDDINGTON DIES AT SAILORS' SNUG HARBOR

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, March 12—Capt. James W. Buddington, 88, retired mariner and formerly residing in Groton, died Sunday at the Sailors' Snug Harbor, Staten Island, N. Y., death ending a brief illness. He is survived by a son, Walter A. Buddington, of Groton. Capt. Buddington went to the sailors' home several weeks ago and about two weeks ago his health became impaired and resulted in his rapid decline. Capt. Buddington was one of the few survivors of the old whaling days for when he was a young man and when this port sent out numerous whaling expeditions. Capt. Buddington was always a member of the crew of one of the whalers and the boats on which he formed a part of the crew were always highly successful. He was a member of the Jibboom club, of this city, and was known to mariners, particularly to fishermen throughout New England. Capt. Buddington had been unusually active until he went to Staten Island and he always participated in the Jibboom club's celebration of Washington's birthday.

Charles P. Fuller, 76, formerly of New London, familiarly known for many years as "Newsboy Fuller," died Sunday at the Pentagostal Home, Yonkers, N. Y., where he had made his home for about three years. He is survived by a son, Edwin A. Fuller, president and treasurer of the Fuller Construction company, of Boston and by two daughters, Mrs. Gillespie, of Erie, Pa., and Mrs. Grover, of Los Angeles, Cal. Mr. Fuller was deeply religious and was identified with several religious organizations, among these the Salvation Army. For many years he was conspicuous in the Salvation Army band at its services on State street. Mr. Fuller was born in Lynn, Mass., and had resided in New London since 1886. He opened a small confectionery and news store on Bank street and besides of the conduct of the business there he would appear with a basket of sweets and foodstuffs at several of the schools when recess was in progress that he might dispose of a part of his stock to the students. Later he gave up the business and devoted his entire time to the selling and distribution of newspapers. He had routes for local and New York papers. Mr. Fuller arose as early as 2 o'clock in the morning and made his delivery of the papers and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon he started delivering local papers. Several years ago Mr. Fuller suffered a shock after having been struck by an automobile and from that time his health slowly declined.

The continued case of Joseph Perry, of Waterford, was ended in the police court today, a nolle being ordered. Perry was arrested Feb. 4 charged with breach of the peace in striking Mrs. Louis Pelletier. The following day the case was continued to Feb. 11 and on that date another continuance until today was ordered. Jerry St. Germain, who has not been employed regularly of late, has made police headquarters tramp room his sleeping place for many nights and Saturday night when he sought lodging, he was locked up. He is sure of a warm place to sleep and three hearty meals daily until Spring for when he is liberated mild weather should be at hand.

The only other cases presented in court were those of two men charged with intoxication. They are not old offenders, so they were discharged.

Frank J. Alexander has sold a house and lot at 51 Pequot avenue to Adelaide M. Andrews.

John McNeil, of 20 Farnsworth street; Clifford Winters, 5 Wall street; Wellington Miner, Norwich; Mrs. William Canty and infant daughter, 55 Colver street; Arthur Page, Mystic; Mrs. Harold Cornet and infant daughter, Uncasville; Leland Harwood, Hartford; Eugene Kinsland, 13 Hobron street; Mrs. Eugene Merritt, Groton; Miss Agnes Shea, Westerly and Miss Gretchen Langenbach, Wisconsin, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Charles Cooper, 54, died Sunday at his residence, 50 Center street, after a short illness. He is survived by his widow and a daughter, Miss Dorothy V. Cooper, a student at Connecticut College for Women. Mr. Cooper had been employed ten years as a electrical engineer at Fort Wright. He was born in Newport, but had resided here about nine years.

Mrs. Sarah C. Button, 86, of this city, died about 3 o'clock this morning at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Emily Phelps, Buddington road, Groton. Besides Mrs. Phelps, Mrs. Button is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Isabelle Brown of New Britain and by five sons, Franklin S., Daniel and Edward W. Button, of this city and William and George F. Button, of New Britain. Mrs. Button was born in Ashland, Mass., but had resided in New London many years. Recently Mrs. Button went to visit her daughter and while in Groton she became ill.

Frank Korendowitz, 55, well known resident of Chesterfield, where he was proprietor of a gasoline filling station, died at his home Saturday night, death being caused by a chronic heart condition. He is survived by his wife. Mr. Korendowitz was born in Poland, but had resided in the United States since boyhood. He was highly respected because of his fine character and integrity.

The funeral of Mrs. Ann E. Chapell, widow of Alonzo Chapell, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at her residence in Waterford and was attended by a large gathering of mourners. The services were conducted by Rev. E. E Knapp, pastor of Jordan Baptist church. Relatives and intimate acquaintances acted as bearers. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

OSMAN SMITH DRAWS FINE OF $100 AND COSTS AT GROTON

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, March 12—Osman Smith, residing near the submarine base, Groton, was in the Groton town court today charged with violation of the liquor law and pleading guilty a fine of $100 and costs was imposed. The specific charge against Smith was keeping liquor with intent to sell, for 20 cases of beer were seized when Smith's home was raided by state police. Another charge of selling a quart of liquor March 3 was not pressed against Smith. When Smith was presented in court he made the statement that he was without funds to pay a fine, but that he was willing to plead guilty and work out the fine and costs in the county jail here provided that his wife, who has been receiving hospital treatment would be taken care of. At this statement, Mrs Smith, who had been an interested spectator, hastily left the court room and went to a friend of the family, who went to the court room and paid Smith's fine and costs. In dismissing the case, Judge Cornelius C. Costello advised Smith and his wife to discontinue their business of liquor selling and Smith assured the court that he already was out of the business for good and all.

Winfred Weaver, 30, of Poquonoc Bridge, was in court charged with statutory burglary. He was fined $20 and costs, the latter amounting to $11.55, which he was unable to pay, after pleading guilty. Weaver was arrested a week ago by Sergeant Henry Albright, of Groton state police barracks after the house of Gilbert Smith, at Eastern Point, had been broken into and a sharpie, eel spear and various articles stolen. When the theft was reported at the state police barracks, Sergeant Albright instituted an investigation and this resulted in learning that a man answering Weaver's description having been reported loitering about the Smith home. When Weaver was interviewed, he denied all knowledge of the robbery, but finally broke down and confessed. Since his arrest, Weaver has been a prisoner at the county jail.

Lawrence Jordan, Groton letter carrier, is confined to his home by illness. His duties are being taken care of by Substitute Carrier Frank Delmore, of New London post office.

The funeral of Andrew H. Maine, former Groton realtor was held Sunday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock at his residence, 36 Church street, Groton, and was attended by a large gathering of mourners. The services were conducted by Rev. Henry W. Hulbert, pastor of the Groton Congregational church. The bearers were Charles F. Vincent, C. S. Woodhull Davis, Alvah B. Cone and Charles B. Willard. The body was taken to Norwich and was placed in the receiving tomb at Maplewood cemetery. At the convenience of members of the family, burial is to be in Scotland, Conn.

Mischievous boys have caused Chief Thomas Shipman of the fire department, much annoyance and labor within a few days for the boys have broken the glass to fire alarm boxes, permitting the door to open. By the opening of the door an alarm is not sounded, but the act causes the batteries to become weak.

The meeting of the members of the city council, scheduled to be held this evening to consider the amount of money necessary to be raised to conduct the affairs of the city another year, has been postponed to the latter part of the week.

The Norwegian freighter, Bolivia, Captain Prahl, arrived at the state pier Saturday afternoon laden with a million feet of Douglas fir. The freighter receiver her cargo on the west coast. A part of it was discharged at New York and more of it was unloaded at Boston. The cargo being discharged here will occupy the entire week and is providing employment for 100. The Bolivia was delayed in reaching port about 12 hours for the boat was caught at sea during the snow storm of last Friday and came to anchor off Nantucket until the weather cleared.

Louis Nagaymen of 9 Cedar street, a patient at Home Memorial hospital, was discharged today.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Robinson, 28 Mahan street, have returned from New York.

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. John M. Hodet, of 165 Huntington street, of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen R. Hodet, to August Nunes, son of Mrs. Manuel Silva, 117 Bayonet street.

ANNA SHEVERZ, E. LYME, TAKES POISON IN NEW YORK

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, March 12—Miss Anna Shevera, formerly of East Lyme, is a patient at Bellevue hospital, New York, suffering from poisoning believed to have been taken with suicidal intent and her condition is considered serious. Police Inspector Joseph Lahey, New York police department, this evening notified the New London police that the Sheverz young woman was receiving treatment at the hospital and requested that Mrs. Regina Wilskensky of East Lyme be notified of the young woman's predicament. The police were successful in getting into communication with Mrs. Wilskensky concerning the Sheverz girl's plight. Inspector Lahey's communication did not give any particulars concerning the Shevers girl's poisoning, except to state that she had swallowed a quantity of iodine.

B. B. BARTON ARRESTED IN NEW YORK MONDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, March 12—Bernard B. Barton, a salesman in the employ of a concern at 2061 Broadway, corner of 42nd street, was arrested in New York this afternoon at the request of the New London police, who hold a warrant charging Barton with the passing of fraudulent checks. He will be detained until such time as extradition papers can be issued and the accused brought back to New London for trial. Barton was in New London several weeks ago and when his automobile became disabled he engaged Samuel Katz of Katz's garage, Jefferson avenue, to make repairs. This was done and Barton's bill was $34.50. He tendered a fraudulent check for this amount in payment. When Barton was communicated with in relation to the check, he tendered another check and this also turned out to be worthless. Since then Barton has ignored communications from both Katz and Prosecuting Attorney Daniel M. Cronin, which resulted in the latter issuing a warrant for Barton's arrest. The New York police three weeks ago were requested to arrest Barton, but it was not until today that the New London police were advised that the arrest had been made.

The only prisoners locked up at police headquarters tonight are men charged with intoxication. One was arrested on complaint of a resident of North Bank street and the other was found staggering on Hill street, apparently endeavoring to get to his home.

The Rev. Father Gordon Bodenwein of this city, who has been studying in Rome for the past three years, was recently awarded the degree of Doctor in Sacred Theology at Collegium Theologicum Romae Studiorum Universitatis. At the oral examination for the laureate which took place in the Vatican, the examiners included the Bishop of Porphory, the Master of the Sacred Palaces and the Procurator General of the Dominican Order.

The city's laborers and truckers were kept busy again today removing snow from additional streets in the central part of the city. Mild weather prevailing, practically all of the snow was removed, either by the workers or by the sun.

Another meeting of the zoning committee of the city council took place this evening in the municipal chamber and was attended by about 30 citizens. Nothing definite was accomplished, the meeting bringing about a series of discussions as to the classifications of zones in the different parts of the city. Other meetings will be held in the near future. Theodore N. Hanson, Lina Beckwith, Elmer E. Kenerson and Patrick Day were among the speakers seeking information and changes in the tentative zoning areas that will permit the erection of buildings of various dimensions.

Mothers:

Your babies are too precious to be subjects for any experiment, and it's worse than folly to "try" things on them when you can be sure. Plain, old-fashioned Castoria is making sick, feverish, fretful babies well and happy today just like it has been doing for over fifty years. Physicians recommend it and millions of mothers swear by it. It soothes crying, wakeful babies to sleep quicker than paregoric or any other opiate, and causes no harmful effects. It removes souring material from their little stomachs and intestines quicker than castor oil, and does it without griping or sickening. There's nothing quite like it for colic, constipation, diarrhea, colds, or any of baby's little "upset" spells. Fletcher's Castoria is purely vegetable. Doctors declare it absolutely harmless to even the very youngest of infants, so you can use it as often as baby needs it. Its taste is delightful. Take a little yourself and see why "children cry for it." Only one thing to watch. Get genuine Castoria—the bottle bearing Fletcher's signature. It is not expensive. "Care and Feeding of Babies," the book worth its weight in gold to every mother and prospective mother, comes with every package.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Capitol Theatre, Willimantic

"Sorrell and Son" has been acclaimed everywhere it has been shown as one of the finest if not the very finest pictures produced during the past five years.

Don't miss "Sorrell and Son," which is to be shown at the Capitol theatre, Willimantic, an additional day, Wednesday.

H. B. Warner, playing his first part since "The King of Kings", Anna Q. Nilsson, Alice Joyce, Nils Asther, Carmel Myers, Mary Nolan, Norman Trevor, Betsy Ann Hisle are some of the artists who share honors in the picturization of Warwick Deeping's novel.

"Sorrell and Son" is a story of father love and son devotion, a story of England during the post-war period, when heroes came home, only to find their peacetime jobs appropriated by stay-at-homes, and facing the necessity of working in the most menial tasks to support themselves and their families.

St. Mary's Players

Many who go to see St. Mary's plays expect to hear some vocal selections. This year Mr. Edward Connelly, Mr. M. Farrell, Mr. N. Spellman will be on the program to entertain you. They are well known to you all and everyone knows of their ability. Of added interest is this, a song written by a local young man, a member of St. Mary's parish, will be sung by Mr. Farrell. Those who do not intend using their exchange tickets should return them today to St. Mary's rectory. Box office sale opens tomorrow.

Olympic Rink.

Tonight will take place the fifth game of the City Polo league. The contest will be between the West Sides and Stars. The Wieners will play a game with a Meriden team next week at this rink. Thursday there will be an egg rolling contest on skates which should provide a riot of fun. Saturday, St. Patrick's night carnival will draw a large crowd to enjoy the fun. Manager Hendrick will give away balloons, souvenirs, confetti, noise makers, etc. and a good time can be expected by all who attend.

New York is taking steps to regulate and supervise aviation.

RABALM RELIEVED VARICOSE SUFFERING

Discards Elastic Stockings After Using Two Jars

"My VARICOSE condition along with eczema about my ankles has been so bad, that my family physician, who, by the way, is also a surgeon, told me the veins could not be removed as it would be like removing the bark from a tree," says Mrs. Jos. P. Glynn, Miller Place, Merrick, N. Y. "My legs were completely surrounded by varicose veins. After having used the second jar ($1.00 size) of Rabalm, the eczema has disappeared and the veins are greatly reduced so I am able to discard the elastic stockings which I have worn for the past 10 years. Thanks to the wonderful discovery of Rabalm! If my word would in any way help those who suffer as I did, you have my personal consent to use it."

If you are suffering the torture which Varicose Veins can give, start using Rabalm tonight, and speedily find relief as Mrs. Glynn and many others have done before you. Two sizes, 60 cents and $1.00 containing 3 times as much. Rabalm is for sale by all druggists.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre.

"The Night of Love," George Fitzmaurice's delineation of feudal life which closes at the Breed theatre tonight is in reality a tribute to old Spain and to days that are gone.

Staged among scenery exactly duplicating certain localities of Spain, and with sets designed from authentic Spanish edifices of four hundred years ago, the picture may be called faithful in every detail.

"The Night of Love," which features Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky, is real romance in an historical setting, and throughout the picture it is the ebb and flow of tense and throbbing love which the spectator follows with suspense-filled interest.

The love story is the paramount theme of the picture and romantic love surely has never been better portrayed—nor has the hot blood of Spain ever pulsed more passionately than in many of the scenes between Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky.

Montanu Love, as a screen "menace," is nationally recognized to be in a class by himself. As the Duke de la Garda he is more villainous, and a more polished villain than ever before. He kills and steals and ravishes with an ecial that wins him new admirers by the thousands at every performance.

In addition to the unusual beauty of the cast of principals, the Marion Morgan dancers were selected for a dance sequence. These girls were selected personally for their beauty by Miss Morgan from among the thousands of girls who flock to Hollywood to break into motion pictures each year and they deservedly bear the title of "Hollywood's most beautiful women." The dance sequence in which they appear is something unique in pictures.

Through the whole story runs the thread of beauty and romance, picturesque settings, colorful scenes, brave men and fair women — which makes "The Night of Loce" a picture to be remembered.

Dodge Cars.

No builder of the finest custom bodies could take greater care or devise more effective means to eliminate all likelihood of squeaks, rattles and body noises than have Dodge Brothers engineers in designing and developing the new Victory Six, declares The Jordan Auto Co., local dealer.

"The panels of the double wall steel body," Mr. Jordan explains, "are lined with thick felt pads to insure against any possibility of drumming or of sounding board effect when the car travels over uneven pavements. Beneath the rear floor carpet, securely cemented to the floor, is a heavy pad of soundproofing material and on the under side of the rubber mat of the driver's compartment is a similar pad. The body engineers state that over 85 per cent of the entire outside surface of the body, exclusive of the window openings, is lined with soundproofing felt. This felt is effective not only in sound-proofing the body but also as heat insulation, making the car warmer in winter and cooler in summer.

"The polished plate glass windows slide in noiseless runways of felt and when lowered rest on rubber supports.

"So accurate are the dies used in the mammoth presses which form the double walled steel doors and the door openings in the bodies that the desired clearances at the top, bottom and sides of the doors are maintained within very close limits. The adjustable rubber stops against which the doors strike when closed are of liberal dimensions. The 'dove tails' which serve as guides when the doors are closed are padded with cushions of live rubber armored with metal to protect against wear. There is no 'tinny' sound when a Victory door is slammed.

"A careful examination of the car discloses the beaded edges of the fabric strips which are placed between the front and rear fenders and the frame, between the rear fenders and the body and between the body and the vertical surfaces of the side members of the frame. The body itself rests at the front on heavy fabric strips and at the rear on quarter inch thick strips of heavy felt. Although the body and the chassis frame when fastened together with the 28 body bolts act as a single unit the body can be removed if necessary as easily as any other type of body.

"To prevent hood rattles the hood fasteners are designed to exert pressure in two directions, downward and inward or toward the frame. At each fastener, riveted to the side panel of the hood, is a cushioning pad two inches in diameter made of tough rubber composition similar to that used in rubber soles for shoes. Where the hood rests on the radiator shell and on the cowl a special fabric is used. The fabric is not flat like ordinary cotton webbing. The special looms weave it with thick edges and thin center in order that the rivet heads may be well below the surface and not touch the metal of the hood. The tightly woven cotton webbing is thoroughly impregnated with a compound which serves both as a waterproofing and as a lubricant.

"The close attention which Dodge Brothers engineers have paid to every detail of protection against possible body noises," Mr. Jordan explains, "is typical of the care they have taken in developing every detail of the power plant and chassis of the Victory. Six to insure care-free dependable service throughout the long life for which Dodge Brothers motor cars have always been so well known."

Strand Theatre.

The feature picture showing at the Strand for the last time tonight is Smilin' at Trouble, and is a breath taking thriller that you will enjoy. There is plenty of action to the story and a very good plot, which doesn't unravel itself until the very last. The leading role is ably portrayed by Maurice "Lefty" Flynn and he has the support of a capable group of artists. There is an exciting battle between two men, which takes place thousands of feet above the ground, in a small passenger car which is run on a heavy cable. If you wish to see a picture which is just a little different from the ordinary, and one that will surely please you, be sure and see this at the Strand tonight.

Easy Payments, a Fox comedy which will produce plenty of mirth, shows how that very popular advertised slogan is worked out. If you would like a few good tips on how to work it out successfully, or if you are a non-believer in the slogan, you will get a big kick out of seeing how the clever Fox comedians carry out the idea.

"Isle of June", an attractive scenic, which is instructive as well, completes this program.

Palace Theatre.

Saints and cutthroats, shrines and robbers' lairs are the fiercely contrasting motifs of Douglas Fairbanks as The Gaucho, the new United Artists production which will be shown at the Palace theatre today and tomorrow.

How Doug came to impersonate another robber chief, this time a super-brigand, is now revealed.

The story of Douglas Fairbanks as The Gaucho deals with a beautiful shrine city, whose wealth is coveted both by the bandit chief and a scheming dictator. The shrine idea came to Fairbanks upon the occasion of his visit to Lourdes, France, where many afflicted persons seeks a cure at the cathedral altar. There Doug saw apparent miracles of faith healing. The marvelous urge and influence of the place was unforgettable and the actor realized the dramatic possibilities of the theme, especially at a time when religious drama is capturing the imagination of the American public.

Conflict of motives could be most powerfully provided by the element of brigandage, so ones again Doug wilfully donned the guise of a rover. Conflict reigns throughout Douglas Fairbanks as The Gaucho between hundreds of hard-riding plainsmen and soldiers, between the ambitions and hopes of fair heroines and between love and duty. Never before have so many people and animals appeared in a Fairbanks production. The scenes of the Andes and the pampas country are of surpassing loveliness.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

Mrs. Mary Collins, 69, wife of David Collins of High street, died at St. Francis hospital Saturday evening after several weeks illness. Besides her husband she is survived by four children, Ralph and Edward Collins of Stafford, William Collins of Worcester, Mass., and Miss Mary Collins of Stafford.

Jeremiah Sullivan of Glastonbury was the guest of relatives in town Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Frirone of Thompsonville, spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Palshaw.

Mrs. H. B. Wright has returned to her home on Edgewood street, after spending several weeks in Florida.

Miss Lena Gravel of the high school faculty spent the week end at her home in Ware, Mass.

Michael Sedor of Stafford was before the borough court Monday morning charged with speeding. He was fined $10 and costs of $11.62 by Judge Wm. H. Heald. Mr. Sedor accompanied by his wife and three other persons, was driving a Chrysler sedan on the highway leading from West Stafford to Stafford when the car skidded and completely overturned. No one was injured and the car was not badly damaged.

THE WEATHER

Conditions

The disturbance that was centered near Cape Hatteras Sunday night has moved northeastward to the eastern Maine coast.

The western disturbance will move rather slowly east-northeastward during the next two days. It will be preceded by a further rise in temperature throughout the eastern states.

The weather will become colder by Wednesday night as far east as the Atlantic states during Wednesday night or Thursday.

C. B. MONTGOMERY, "CLOUD DIGGER," DIES AT HIS HOME AT CENTRAL VILLAGE

Charles B. Montgomery, 67, prominent resident of Windham county for years, and widely known weather prophet, died Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at his home in Central Village. For the past 40 years Mr. Montgomery, known as "Judge Montgomery" through his office as a justice of the peace in Oneco, Sterling, and Central Village, had issued semi-annual weather predictions under the name of "The Clouddigger." His predictions were widely read and closely followed by thousands of people. They were for years published in The Norwich Bulletin, The Norwich Evening Record and other papers in eastern Connecticut and throughout the state, and of late years had been published semi-annually in Chicago and New York papers and even in papers in London, England. Several years ago he started to syndicate his predictions for publication in papers throughout the country, but owing to ill health had to abandon this venture.

Mr. Montgomery was born in Brunswick, Maine, May 24, 1860, the son of John Horace and Janette Montgomery. The greater part of his life had been passed in Windham county where he was well known as a justice of the peace, a grand juror and weather prophet. For the last two years he had been in ill health and since moving to Central Village last November, had been confined to the house and in recent weeks his health failed rapidly.

Mr. Montgomery was twice married. His first wife died about 30 years ago and on September 22, 1916, he was united in marriage with Grace Handy at Packerville. Following their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery resided in Oneco until November 9th last when they removed to their present home in Central Village.

For years Mr. Montgomery had been a justice of the peace in Plainfield, Sterling, Oneco and Central Village and was also town prosecutor in Plainfield and a grand juror in Sterling. He was also at one time station agent at Packer. He was a democrat in politics and ever took a keen interest in local, county and state politics. In religious belief he was a Spiritualist, but, when health permitted attended the Baptist church in Packer.

Mr. Montgomery was a Spanish war veteran, having served with Company C, First Rhode Island Regiment. In all he made 78 semi-annual weather predictions, this month would have marked his 79th semi-annual prediction.

Surviving are his wife, a daughter, Mrs. John Walsh of Plainfield, by his first marriage, and one daughter, Sarah Janette Montgomery and two sons, Charles Bertrand Montgomery and William Taylor Montgomery by his second marriage. There are also eleven grandchildren.

PHYSICIAN GIVES TALK TO CONGREGATIONAL BROTHERHO

The Brotherhood of the United Congregational church held its monthly business meeting Monday evening at the Community House with the usual large attendance. At 6:30 o'clock the members enjoyed the following menu; Roast lamb, baked potatoes, stewed tomatoes, coffee, rolls, ginger bread, whipped cream.

Following the supper President Harold E. Robbins called the meeting to order and the usual reports were heard and routine business transacted. Dr. Robert G. Urquhart, assistant superintendent of Uncas-on-Thames, gave a very interesting and humorous talk on his experiences as a private with the Canadian forces in Europe during the world war and as a police officer and desk sergeant at Montreal after the war. He was given a rising vote of thanks by the Brotherhood after which the meeting adjourned. The committee in charge of the supper comprised Marcus Leith, Donald Bullard, Philip Roberts and Joseph A. French.

A. BERGMAN WINNER IN THAMESVILLE PINOCHLE CLUB

In the final play of the Thamesville pinochle club, which has just concluded its season, A. Bergman who had been holding the lead for three weeks had a narrow escape from losing first place for the tournament and he won out by the narrow margin of only 30 points. F. Kirchner took second place and C. Schuler third. Individual high score for the last night went to Simpson with 7745.

A committee consisting of J. Kirchner, Schuler, Streich and Mart Wenzel was appointed to make arrangements for a turkey supper with all the "fixin's" for the final get-together.

The following was the final standing:

Bergman 43,960, F. Kirchner 43,930, Schuler 43,545, Simpson 42,300, Wenzel, Sr. 41,970, J. Kirchner 41,340, Crawford 40,845, Gresser 40,755, Wenzel Jr. 40,330, Peringer 40,240, Huntington 40,020, A. Kirchner 39,760, Cook 39,280, Baer 39,050, Streich 38,435, Aldrich 37,675.

WITHDRAWAL IN SUIT FOR INJURY BY FALL

Withdrawal without costs, of the $10,000 damage suit brought against the F. W. Woolworth company and H. P. Beausoleil by John J. Quinn of Mt. Pleasant street, who died Saturday, has been filed with the clerk of the superior court.

The plaintiff, Quinn, sued for injuries received when he fell into the elevator shaft of the Woolworth company on Shetucket street on June 15, 1926. Quinn claimed there was no guard about the elevator shaft, etc. It was claimed that an employe of Beausoleil, a painter, opened the shaft, with the result that the painter was made a defendant to the action.

Paid Fine in City Court

Oliver Buddington of this city was fined $5 and costs in the city court Monday morning for operating an improperly registered machine. He was arrested by State Policeman Webber while the accused was transporting some household goods in his machine. The machine had not been registered this year and Buddington had borrowed a set of markers which he had attached to the machine.

SHOP MEETING SPEAKER ON "THE MORE ABUNDANT LIFE"

The weekly shop meeting under Y. M. C. A. auspices was held Monday noon at the plant of the Richmond Radiator company.

Rev. Charles H. Ricketts was again the speaker, and he spoke on the topic, "The More Abundant Life." The speaker said the following among other things: "Life is one of the most conspicuous things; it means action, motion. We watch the passing train and the buzzing plane and we are thrilled with them; they are alive and full of action. Death is just the opposite; death is not a thing in itself, it is that out of which has gone the life. In a sense there is no such thing as darkness; it is simply the absence of light.

"It appears just now that vegetation is dead, but very soon we will see the buds, then the foliage, beautiful and attractive. Then in the fall the leaves take on their gorgeous hues and then they fall and seemingly disappear. Next year the same process goes on, and we take it as a matter of course. So with men and women; in most cases when they pass away, they are soon forgotten. Only a few men such as Washington and Lincoln are long remembered. It is so with books, some ten years ago "The Inside of the Cup" was one of the best sellers, but now we seldom hear it mentioned; it has gone out of print. Nine-tenths of the books are soon forgotten.

"God is the author of life of which human life is the highest expression. While men differ in their opinion about the beginning, the story in Genesis is about the best explanation, whether creation took a few or millions of years. We must start right; God was in the beginning. Science very largely agrees with Genesis. Life came, and animal life came last, and man is of course the highest form of life.

"Some say there is no God. How very foolish; you know that someone made you and made your fathers before you. These boilers did not make themselves; if I were to say they did, you would at once class me as crazy. Man is always bigger than the thing he makes.

"Christ was anxious that we should have the more abundant life, he desired we should have it physically, mentally and spiritually. It is possible for us to develop without limit. How pathetic to see a baby born and as in some cases never develop any to speak of. We love to see the boys and girls romp and play and develop, that they may have more abundant physical life. And in mental lines, the schools are doing infinitely more for the youth today than in your day and mine; and this is that they may have the more abundant mental life. And so in the spiritual realm. It is God's will that we shall grow into the abundant life in spiritual things, and I believe in many cases this development is taking place. Let us revel more and more in the life abundant and as we do this, life in greater and yet greater abundance will be ours. Let us use fully what life we have to the best possible advantage."

GIVEN JAIL SENTENCE WITH EXECUTION SUSPENDED

John D. Gravlin, Occum, was presented in the city court Monday morning on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor. He was given six months in jail, suspended. The case had been continued since his arrest in Occum, Feb. 8. When he was originally presented it was found that he had been convicted of a similar offense about seven years ago. His case was continued under bonds of $300 and in the meanwhile Gravlin was taken ill and further continuances of the case were made.

March 5, his bondsman withdrew the bond and Gravlin was taken to jail to await disposition of the case. He had been in jail a week when the case was disposed of Monday morning.

Vincent Gawarck, R. F. D. No. 2, was presented on a charge of speeding and the case was nolled on payment of $20. He was arrested Saturday afternoon following a collision on West Main street, between the machine he was driving and a truck operated by William MacKenzie of No. 4 Spring Garden avenue. The accident occurred on West Main street.

PRESENTED WRIST WATCH AT SURPRISE PARTY

A very pretty social and surprise party was held at the Prospect House at Fitchville, Sunday evening, by the Bozrah Jewish Community center. It was given in honor of Jack Fishbone of Yantic and a wrist watch was presented to him by the chairman, Kim Nadelson.

The tables were set for 100 people and a luncheon served by the committee. During the luncheon, Miss Gussie Steinman rendered a few vocal selections, accompanied by Miss Goldie Fishbone at the piano. Guests from New York and New Haven being present, and Willimantic, also entertained.

Mrs. T. Nadelson, Mrs. I. Botnick, Mrs. J. Beckman and Mrs. H. Fishbone, who were the committee in charge, arranged a very pleasant evening for those present.

MONTVILLE TOWN MEETING LAYS 21 MILL TAX

(Special to The Bulletin)

MONTVILLE, March 12—A tax of 21 mills was laid tonight at a town meeting called for that purpose. The meeting was called to order at 7:30 o'clock by First Selectman Jerome W. House with Dan D. Home as clerk. It was voted that the board of selectman borrow the money, if necessary, to build a macadamized road from Newton Corner in Uncasville to the Eastern Connecticut company's plant. The meeting also voted $100 for the Montville community library. Selectman House gave a talk on the town's finances and stated that a 21 mill tax, an increase of 4 mills over last year, was necessary. The tax was voted as recommended.

Visited In Alabama.

Mrs. Allen Latham of Norwich Town has recently returned from two weeks at Tuscaloosa, Alabama, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Cudworth of the state university.

NORWICH TOWN

HOME CHAPTER CELEBRATES ITS 31ST ANNIVERSARY

Home chapter of the King's Daughters celebrated its 31st anniversary at Johnson Home, Monday afternoon. There was an unusually large number present, about 80 attending. The leader, Mrs. William E. Manning, opened the meeting with Scripture reading and prayer. The study lesson in the Book of Acts, was in charge of Mrs. John Olsen and Mrs. David Dean. Those who will have charge of the lesson in April, are Mrs. Gilmore and Mrs. Noyes.

Monday afternoon there were several visitors, and one new member was admitted. Various reports were submitted, that of the work committee showing that a quilt had been finished and sent to the New York woman by whom it was ordered, and she in turn had sent back word that she was very much pleased with it. Home chapter sewing society has planned its next meeting for Thursday, March 15, at the home of Mrs. Earle H. Christman, of No. 13 Fourteenth street. The chapter voted to have a proxy supper. Following the business session, Mrs. Walter Cowan and Mrs. John Olsen were heard in a piano duet, which was the introductory number of the entertaining program, under the supervision of Mrs. Manning. "Leap Year in the Village, with Only One Man," was the title of the humorous playlet, given by the following members of the chapter: Jedediah Brown, impersonated by Miss Frederica Roos; Miss Matilda Dix, Mrs. Thomas Keene; Mrs. Barnaby, a widow, Mrs. Roswell J. P. Brown; Miss Francina Barnaby, Mrs. Charles Burke; Miss Hannah Staples, Mrs. Robert Cochrane; Miss Isabella Smith, Mrs. Albert G. Miner.

While these several damsels were preparing for the party to be held at the home of Miss Dix, each one enumerating her personal charms, Mr. Brown was rather uncertain as to whether he would accept his invitation from Miss Dix, to attend, since he was the only young man in the town to be invited. However, he did so, and when it came time to depart, it was discovered that Widow Barnaby had monopolized him and that the two had made their exit together. Mr. Brown saw to it later that each in turn was escorted home by him. This provided much merriment. Another piano duet by Mrs. Cowan and Mrs. Olsen and the silver collection, which amounted to around $12, and the meeting was brought to a close with the chapter motto in unison. In recognition of the chapter's anniversary, Mrs. John Morrison presented a handsome bouquet of carnations. A pleasant social hour followed, when Mrs. Alvery Jarvis Baker, chairman of the entertainment committee, and several helpers, served ice cream and cake.

Mrs. William E. Manning, elocutionist, is to have a part in the program, when the Methodist Christian Endeavor society holds its entertainment, under the direction of Mrs. William Weaver, chairman of the prayer-meeting committee, assisted by Miss Beulah Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fuller and daughters, Fern and Myrtle Fuller, of Washington street, have returned from a week-end trip to Hartford. While there, Mr. Fuller, who is district manager of a large garment house in Watertown, N. Y., was in conference pertaining to his business, with other officials at the Hartford office.

Rev. Myron E. Genter, district superintendent of the New England Southern conference, preached at the Sunday morning worship at Norwich Town Methodist church. His theme was "The Breadth and Depth of God's Love," Ephesians III, 17, 18, 19: That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith, that ye, being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all saints what is the breadth and length, and depth and height; and to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fullness of God.

There was no children's service at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon, neither was there any C. E. service that evening. Likewise there was no Young People's service at the Congregational church Sunday evening. A good delegation from both churches attended the meetings Sunday afternoon and evening at Norwich churches to hear the interesting addresses by Miss Margaret Slattery.

The Junior C. E. society of the Congregational church at its meeting Sunday afternoon had for its leader, Rachael Avery. "How to Win and Keep Friends" was the topic. The children during the meeting acted out scenes in the lives of David and Jonathan. Mrs. Ronald Nelson played for the singing.

The children's department of the League of Service had charge of the worship period at the session of the Congregational church school at noon Sunday. Esther O'Mara announced the hymns, the children recited the First Psalm, while prayer was offered by Miss Jessie E. Hyde, one of the leaders, all uniting in the Lord's Prayer at the close. A dialog was given by Betty Browning and Ruth Avery, in Chinese costume.

Mrs. Carlos Ricker and Miss Ida Beebe, representatives from the Norwich Town Congregational church connected with the Norwich Council of Girl Workers, assisted in serving refreshments at the reception to Miss Margaret Slattery at the Central Baptist church, Sunday. Included in the attendance at the evening meeting some also being present at the afternoon meeting and remaining over were 24 from the Norwich Town Congregational church.

Infant Care

Mothers, you can't start too early to establish a child's serene and tranquil disposition. Even an infant can have a happy, fretless state of uninterrupted health. What will help do this? A simple, purely vegetable product as old as you are: plain Castoria.

A few drops of Castoria will settle all uneasiness in a jiffy. Will dispel colic or ward off constipation; and just as surely check diarrhea.

In real sickness, call a physician. But many physicians urge only Castoria for those little childish disorders that need nothing more. You need never be afraid to give pure Castoria. It is safe and perfectly harmless, for it contains no paregoric, no opiates, no dope of any kind. At least, this is true of the genuine Fletcher's Castoria*—and that is the kind doctors tell you always to buy.

Fletcher's Castoria is fine for any child. All children love to take it. Delicious tasting, and as good as it tastes. Just look for the Fletcher signature on the package and you will know you have the genuine and pure Castoria.

*SPECIAL NOTE: With every bottle of genuine Fletcher's Castoria is wrapped a book on "Care and Feeding of Babies" worth its weight in gold to every mother or prospective mother.

AT LEAST 274 LIVES LOST FOLLOWING BURSTING OF DAM NEAR LOS ANGELES MORE THAN 700 PERSONS MISSING

Property Damage is Estimated at From $10,000,000 to $30,000,000—Ranchers Had Reported Leaks in the Structure—When the Great Dam Gave Away a 75 Foot Wall of Water Swept Down a Defile—Human Beings, Houses, Cabins, Workmen's Tents, Orchards and Livestock Were Carried Away—Rescue Work is Going on Amid a Scene of Utter Desolation.

NEWHALL, Cal., March 13—(AP)—A rapidly mounting death toll from the great torrent that swept into San Francisquito canyon from the huge St. Francis dam tonight showed a death-list of 274, while upwards of 700 more persons were reported missing.

In the wake of the tremendous flood of water loosed upon the sleeping residents of the fertile valley, property damaged was variously estimated at from $10,000,000 to $30,000,000. The breaking of the giant dam under the pressure of twelve billion gallons of water at 12:30 a. m., released a 75 foot wall of water on the inhabitants.

An army of rescue workers tonight carried on a ceaseless search for more bodies in the engulfed valley, where homes lay crumpled in ruins.

The dam gave way this morning, the east and west wings collapsing and down the beautiful canyon, dotted with citrus groves, rushed the devastating barrage.

Mrs. A. M. Rumsey, postmistress at Saugus, a nearby town, declared tonight that for 10 days ranchers living in the shadow of the St. Francis dam had "talked of nothing else," but reported leaks in the structure and the possibility of the disaster that wrecked their homes and wiped out their families today.

At Santa Paula, approximately 20 miles from the destroyed dam, the south end of the town, comprising the Mexican quarter, was carried away. This section ordinarily housed between 600 and 1,000 persons.

The undertaking parlors were filled with bodies. In Fillmore, Santa Paula and Moor Park more than 90 bodies have been recovered.

Ten bridges were washed out in this region.

Howard Durley, under-sheriff of Ventura county, estimated the bodies to be recovered in Ventura county alone would aggregate 200.

Around Saticoy great portions of the highway have been carried away and heavy damages have been wrought to the citrus groves.

The great concrete retaining wall 185 feet high built less than two years ago to impound water for the city of Los Angeles, gave way without warning, releasing the flood upon the sleeping inhabitants of the picturesque valley.

Everything was swept away—human beings, houses, cabins, workmens tents, orchards and livestock. Of the estimated 500 persons who were in the narrow canyon and lowlands below at the time the dam gave way, only a few more than a hundred had been accounted for.

Hemmed in by the precipitous sides of San Francisquito, the canyon dwellers and power company workers engaged in constructing new pole lines had little chance for life.

Over the whole of the canyon a deep layer of yellowish silt was deposited and beneath this, rescue officers believed, undetermined scores of dead may be buried.

Fifteen hundred Los Angeles peace officers, ranchers and other dwellers on the rolling hill country north of Saugus carried on the rescue work and aided refugees.

Meanwhile, along the Santa Clara river, into which the torrent disgorged itself, bodies were being recovered. Torn and gashed by the mad rush of water along the wooded sides of the canyon, only a small percentage could be identified.

Work of rescue in the hours before dawn was hampered because the entire stricken area, comprising many square miles had been thrown in darkness by the destruction of power lines.

The valley presented a scene of utter desolation. Rescuers plodded through mire knee deep in search of the dead. Temporary morgues, hospitals and rescue stations were set up at Saugus, New Hall, Oxnard, Filmore, Piru, Moor Park and other inland towns along the route of the flood.

Reports came in from all these points of the recovery of bodies. At Moor Park alone sixteen bodies were in an improvised receiving station with five others reported on the way.

Because of the almost complete prostration of communication facilities in the devastated zone, it was virtually impossible definitely to state the number of bodies recovered.

The dam was one of the reservoir units of the Los Angeles aqueduct system from Owens Valley, serving the city with domestic known.

Officials believed, however, that seepage of water through the shale formation of one of the earthen abutments had caused the concrete wall to break away from its end mooring. An early report by two telephone linemen that an earthquake had caused the break was discounted.

The seismograph at the University of California, Berkeley, had not recorded an earth shock last night.

An Associated Press correspondent flew over the devastated area and found only the central section of the dam standing. The east and west wings had crashed outward under the force of the tons of water released from the reservoir stretching back five miles.

A few ranch houses had miraculous escapes and from the air it appeared as if the wall of water had missed them only by inches.

In one eddy of the stream floated the floors of what had been two homes, the superstructures of both having been carried away.

The rails of the Southern Pacific railway's branch running up the valley added their bit to the picture of destruction. For a distance of half a mile the metals looked like two badly twisted strings of spaghetti, their sleepers hanging from them at all angles.

A deep gully, half a mile wide, in the mire of whose bed could be seen the bodies of animals, wreckage of every description and here and there a rescue group seeking more bodies of the human victims, replaced what yesterday had been green fields, orchards and homes. Vultures circled overhead.

Rescue camps presented pitiful figures of those who came through with life only—many with loved ones left dead in the gutted valley.

They told stories of how houses and cabins were tossed about like corks on the crest of the tremendous wave, dashed against trees, poles or anything that stood in the way.

Red Cross headquarters were established at several points, and refugees, many of whom fled only in night clothing, were being cared for.

E. Locke, night watchman at the Southern California Edison Company's camp in the canyon refused to attempt his own escape until he had notified his fellow workers. He paid with his life for his heroism.

The payroll at this camp, company officials stated, carried 170 names. Of these men, sixty had been definitely accounted for and six bodies had been recovered, among them was that of Locke.

According to the workmen refugees, the night watchman ran from cabin to cabin and from tent to tent in the construction camp, warning the workers to flee for their lives.

The Los Angeles city council ordered its water and power committee to start an investigation into the cause of the disaster. The board of water and power commissioners voted $25,000 for relief work.

QUAKE OR DYNAMITE CAUSE OF THE BREAK

FRESNO, Cal., March 13—(AP)—External force either through an earthquake or dynamite would have been necessary to break the St. Francis dam at Newhall, Cal., in the opinion of C. E. Phillips, assistant superintendent of the Los Angeles bureau of water and power, who superintended its construction.

Phillips was quoted by the Fresno Bee as saying:

"Only through force supplied by dynamiters or an earthquake could the dam have gone out." He added that it was his belief that an earthquake had caused the damage.

The dam had a capacity of 38,000 acre feet and was filled to capacity when it went out, he said.

OPERATORS' SIDE OF THE COAL INDUSTRY DEADLOCK

WASHINGTON, March 13—(AP)—The operators' side of the deadlock in the Ohio coal industry resulting from the United Mine Workers' refusal to accept a wage reduction was outlined today to the senate committee investigating the bituminous industry by S. N. Robbins, president of the Ohio Coal Operators' association.

Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, questioned Robbins closely on the points raised in defense of the operators' policy and dwelt at length on the temporary injunction issued by Federal Judge Benson W. Hough of Steubenville, Ohio, in September, 1927, to restrain activities of the United Mine Workers in connection with the strike. The propriety of the writ was upheld by the operator, whose stand was attacked by Wheeler with a heated challenge of Hough's fitness to sit on a federal bench.

"Any judge who would sign such an injunction," the Montanan said, "is unfit to be a judge on any federal bench in the country."

Robbins had previously blamed the present depression in the Ohio coal industry on "the arbitrary position taken by the United Mine Workers with reference to wage scales," and also on "the denial to Ohio for many years through inequitable freight rates of the advantage of its geographical location."

"As the situation stands today," he said, "the operators of Ohio see no way to successfully operate their mines except to continue to do so on an 'open shop'."

FREIGHT SALVAGED FROM WRECK OF ROBERT E. LEE

BOSTON, March 13—(AP)—The wrecking lighter John W. Chittendon arrived here today with approximately 100 tons of freight salvaged from the holds of the steamer, Robert E. Lee, which struck on Mary Ann rocks off Manomet Point, during a blinding snowstorm Friday night. About 300 tons of freight remained to be removed from the steamer before attempts to float her were undertaken.

Two inspectors of the United States steamboat inspection service visited the wreck today on the coast guard destroyer Conyngham. Their visit was preliminary to the hearing to fix responsibility for the accident, which is scheduled to open here tomorrow before Capt. Herman T. Parker and John Stewart, local inspectors of steam vessels.

JAIL BREAKER CAUGHT AFTER YEAR'S SEARCH

NAUGATUCK, March 13—(AP)—Search for nearly a year for Albert Lewis, jail breaker was brought to a close today when police arrested him and are now waiting until Pontiac, Mich., authorities come to take him back. Lewis was sentenced from that city on April 16, last year on a charge of lascivious cohabitation and two days later made his escape from the Oakland county jail.

At that time police throughout the country were asked to be on the lookout for him and recently it was learned that he had been staying with his father on the Bethany-New Haven road. Naugatuck police secured a fugitive warrant this morning and the arrest was made.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

NASIK, India, March 13—(AP)—Miss Nancy Miller of Seattle, or as she will henceforth be known under her Hindu name, Devi Sharmista, today qualified herself to marry the ex-Marahajah of Indore by becoming a convert to the Hindu religion.

HONGKONG, March 13—(AP)—Two British bluejackets from the gunboat Robin, which is patrolling the Canton Delta, were fired upon Friday by the militia of a river village. One was fatally wounded.

TOKYO, March 13—(AP)—The influenza epidemic which has struck Japan, causing the death of thousands including the six-months-old Princess Hisa, the daughter of the emperor, apparently is somewhat decreasing on the basis of figures made public by the metropolitan police.

Nicaraguan House Against Americans Supervising Elections

MANAGUA, March 13—(AP)—The Nicaraguan house late today defeated the McCoy bill providing for American supervision at the October presidential elections.

The vote on the measure was 22 against 16 in favor of its passage.

Throughout the day the utmost excitement has prevailed in Managua as to the outcome of the attempts to pass the bill through the Nicaraguan congress.

National guardsmen were stationed about the national palace throughout the day to keep the crowd which had congregated in order.

When consulted following the vote in the house on the measure, General McCoy said he had made no plans for the future as yet, and would not make any formal statement until he had consulted tomorrow with President Diaz with regard to carrying out the provisions of the Stimson agreement.

The defeat of the McCoy bill has come as a distinct surprise here, especially since only earlier today that it would be passed.

AMERICAN GOV'T WILL SUPERVISE THE ELECTIONS

WASHINGTON, March 13—(AP)—Word from Managua of the rejection by the Nicaraguan house of the revised form of the election law designed to regularize American supervision of the frothcoming presidential elections brought a plunt statement from official quarters here tonight that the Washington government would in no respect recede from its determination to carry out its pledge to supervise the elections.

DISORDER AT RECEPTION ON PIER OF LOUIS KOSSUTH

NEW YORK, March 13—(AP)—Disorders at the pier greeted a delegation of 572 Hungarians who arrived tonight for a celebration in honor of Louis Kossuth, Hungarian patriot. The detonation of a flashlight while police were battling a mob of anti-Horthy sympathizers gave rise to reports subsequently disproved, that a bomb had been exploded.

The disturbance grew out of the protest of the anti-Horthy faction among New York Hungarians against the reception of the official party sent to this country by the Hungarian government to take part in ceremonies attending the unveiling of a monument to Kossuth in this city.

A heavy guard of police reserves was at the pier to keep order. When two groups of marchers appeared, bearing placards protesting against the reception of the Hungarian delegation, police charged. The marchers resisted and a fight ensued in which police used clubs freely and several shots were fired.

COMMENDS PROPOSED AIRPORT AT GROTON

HARTFORD, March 13—(AP)—Potentially at least, the proposed state airport at Groton, is an ideal American terminal for possible transatlantic air lines of the future, Clarence M. Knox, state aviation commissioner said tonight. Commissioner Knox surveyed the site at the request of Governor Trumbull last October, he said, and found that with a reasonable amount of work the site could be developed into an excellent airport.

The Groton site, a part of the former Morton F. Plant estate on which the state has an option until May 30, 1929, is not being crowded by suburban developments of a large city, as is happening at the Long Island fields, Commissioner Knox siad. He also cited as an advantage for the Groton site the through rail connection to the west by a route which avoided the "bottleneck" of New York city.

WILLIAMS AGAIN UNHURT AS PLANE IS WRECKED

CURTISS FIELD, N. Y., March 13—(AP)—Roger Q. Williams "cracked up" for the second time in six weeks today, and for the second time stepped out of his plane's wreckage unhurt.

A series of attempts to beat the world endurance flight record made by Williams and Clarence Chamberlin ended for the time being Feb. 4 at Richmond, Va., when their plane crashed at the take off. Neither flier was hurt.

Landing in the mud here today in a wartime training plane Williams collided with a hangar. The plane was demolished but Williams wasn't so much as scratched.

BOLTON ONLY TOWN IN STATE FREE FROM DEBT

MANCHESTER, Conn., March 13—(AP)—The little town of Bolton to the east of Manchester is perhaps the only town in the state that is entirely free from debt.

The total valuation of the town as announced tonight at the adjourned town meeting was $438,021. It was voted at the meeting to lay a tax of 24 mills on the dollar which would pay off the bills now pending against the town and leave it entirely free from debt.

Mystery Obscures Hinchliffe Flight

Daring British Aviator is Believed to Be Over the Atlantic in Flight For America.

LONDON, March 13—(AP)—An attempt to fly the Atlantic from east to west, which was launched from Cowell airdrome today in unwonted secrecy, was still obscured by fog tonight, as the daring aviator was believed to be somewhere over the Atlantic waters winging westward.

Captain Walter Hinchliffe, veteran British pilot, and his companion hopped off at an early hour without a word of warning in a Stinson monoplane, leaving a message that they would try the hazardous flight to America, which has already cost the lives of seven persons.

Watchers at several points in southern Ireland today caught sight of an airplane speeding towards the Atlantic through a snowstorm, and this, although the markings were not detected, it was confidently presumed to carry the adventurers on their perilous journey.

While there is some uncertainty attached to the identity of Captain Hinchliffe's partner, because of the unceremonious nature of the start, he is thought to be Gordon Sinclair, a skilled pilot and friend of Hinchliffe, with whom he has been recently associated.

Some speculation was aroused by the recent report that the Hon. Elsie Mackay, noted sportswoman and daughter of Lord Inchcape, proposed to make the American flight with Captain Hinchliffe, and this was enlivened because efforts to learn of her whereabouts today were rebuffed at the family residence.

Hinchliffe, who announced last week that he intended to make a long distance flight to India before trying the dangerous trans-Atlantic venture, left even his wife without definite information of his purpose. Mrs. Hinchliffe told the Associated Press that she knew her husband had planned an American flight for some time, but had not informed her of the date of the start.

FIRST "AT SEA" REPORT OF THE HINCHLIFFE PLANE

NEW YORK, March 13—(AP)—What may prove to be the first "at sea" report on the trans-Atlantic flight of Capt. Walter Hinchliffe, British aviator, was picked up tonight by George W. Dawson, operating station 2-Y-W here. He announced interception of a message, apparently relayed by the French steamer Roussillion, from another steamer, "four days out of Bordeaux," reporting the passage of "a large plane, low overhead and heading west."

Interference prevented complete copying of the message, Dawson said.

The message stated that on the wing of the plane the Roman numeral was distinguished, while on the cabin were the letters "A-D-V-E-N," the first five letters of the name of Captain Hinchliffe's plane, the 'Adventure."

TWO AVIATORS WERE KILLED NEAR TAMPA, FLA

TAMPA, Fla., March 13—(AP)—Two aviators were killed early tonight when their airplane went into a tailspin at an altitude of 2,000 feet and crashed in a wood seven miles northwest of here.

Albet P. Butz, 26-year-old student aviator, who had had less than two hours training in the air, was killed outright, and M. H. Hammer, instructor, who was at the controls, died shortly after being pulled from the wreckage.

CANDIDATES PLEDGED TO SMITH LEADING IN N. H.

CONCORD, N. H., March 13—(AP)—Candidates pledged to Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York were leading in early returns from today's presidential primaries in New Hampshire for delegates-at-large to the democratic national convention.

Returns from 25 towns tabulated before 8 o'clock showed the Smith candidates in those places leading the unpledged group and candidates endorsed by the Anti-Saloon league.

REJECTS FORD'S OFFER TO BUY OLD FIRE APPARATUS

JAFFREY, N. H., March 13—(AP)—After a two hours' debate the voters of Jaffrey in town meeting today rejected an offer by Henry Ford to buy the ancient handtub "Fire Fly." It was voted to place the old time piece of fire fighting apparatus in the care of the village improvement society. It has not been in practical use for more than 50 years.

SERIES OF ICE TESTS FOR BELLANCA MONOPLANE

ST. ALBANS, Vt., March 13—(AP)—Floyd Bennett, who is planning a series of ice tests for the Bellanca monoplane which Commander Richard E. Byrd will use on his Antarctic flight, informed the St. Albans chamber of commerce, tonight by telegram from Ticonderoga, N. Y., that he would arrive here at noon tomorrow to begin his experiments.

Bennett had previously accepted the invitation of the chamber to base at St. Albans bay for the tests, which are for the purpose of trying out the plane's landing skis.

Fuller Intervenes On Water Diversion

Governor of Massachusetts Writes Secretary of War Davis Hoping For Favorable Decision.

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 13—In the matter of the diversion of waters of Ware and Swift rivers, Governor Fuller of Massachusetts has written Secretary of War Davis that he hopes the decision of the war department will be in favor of Massachusetts. This is regarded here as an unusual step to be taken by the governor of a state while a case is pending before the department and also in the United States supreme court, and many comments are heard that the letter from Fuller is an attempt to influence war department decisions and savors strongly of political position as governor to influence departmental decisions. The case is also pending in United States supreme court. Secretary of War Davis is out of town and has not yet acted on the engineers' report, which recommends a decision favorable to Massachusetts but is adverse to issuing permits while the case is pending in the supreme court.

Senator Gillett has notified Secretary Davis that the Massachusets delegation in congress wants to be heard before decision is rendered. The outlook now is that long delay will follow, and either a master be appointed or Massachusetts may ask the case taken out of court. Deputy Attorney General Averhill is here in connection with the case.

BAY STATE SUPPORTS CONN. IN INHERITANCE TAX CASE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 13—In case William H. Blodgett, tax commissioner of Connecticut, versus Silberman now in supreme court, Massachusetts intervenes supporting Connecticut. The socalled Silberman case is on the matter of inheritance tax on intangible personal property. New York and Massachusetts today petitioned supreme court for permission to intervene in support of Connecticut.

THE HON. ELSIE MACKAY IS HINCHLIFFE'S COMPANION

LONDON, March 14—(Wednesday)—(AP)—Any doubt as to the Hon. Elsie Mackay being Captain Hinchliffe's companion in his trans-Atlantic flight seems to have been removed by circumstantial statements of those in a position to know her movements to that effect, say the London Daily Mail and Express this morning.

The Mail story continues that Miss Mackay stayed at a hotel at Grantham Monday night with two women. Hinchliffe and Gordon Sinclair an army reserve pilot, were also there, all of them leaving together at 5:30 yesterday morning.

The Express quotes the hotel clerk as saying Miss Mackay was wearing a flying costume when she left. They took hot coffee, in vacuum flasks, and compressed rations and some fruit with them, he said.

Lord Inchcape is now in Egypt.

WISCONSIN CITIES ARE MAROONED BY FLOODS

MADISON, Wis., March 13—(AP)—Marooned cities, cut off from rail, and automobile communication and, in a few cases, electric power, dotted western Wisconsin today.

At La Farge, on the Kickapoo river, a power dam broke this morning under the pressure of abnormal waters and a heavy ice jam. Electric service was suspended. Three Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad trains, one a passenger train, were marooned in the village. Highways are impassable in all directions. More than two feet of water covered all highways out of Twin Bluffs. Farms are under water and there was some damage to farm buildings.

Richland Center was cut off from all save telephone and telegraph communication. Wauseka is prepared for any overflow of the Wisconsin and Kickapoo rivers.

HEAVY FOG CAUSED COL. LINDBERGH TO LAND

COATESVILLE, Pa., March 13—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Henry Breckenridge, his counsel, who took off in an airplane from Curtiss field, New York, this afternoon, were forced to land on a farm near here late today because of a dense fog.

A perfect landing was made and the machine apparently was undamaged. Beyond admitting that they had been formed to earth by the fog, neither Colonel Lindbergh nor Mr. Breckenridge would discuss the incident. Neither would they reveal their destination.

TWO CHILDREN DROWNED AT NORTH ATTLEBORO, MASS.

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Mass., March 13—(AP)—Two children were drowned today when they broke through the ice while playing on Whitin's pond. The victims were Romo, six, and Claire Rainville, five, children of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Rainville of this town. Raymond Bishop, an employe of an ice company, who saw them break through the ice, dragged them from the water, but both were unconscious and efforts to revive them by use of a pulmotor were unsuccessful.

HOOVER WAS BITTERLY ATTACKED IN DEBATE ON THE FLOOR OF THE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, March 13—(AP)—The presidential primary fight among Ohio republicans was carried today to the floor of the house. One representative from the Buckeye state unleashed a bitter attack on Secretary Hoover; another as vigorously defended him.

Incidentally, Hoover's assailant—Brand, lined up with the Willis-for-president movement in Ohio—called for the immediate resignation of the commerce secretary on the ground that he is using public funds and official powers to further his candidacy.

In reply, that old war horse of Ohio and national politics—Burton, who once sat in the senate—summarized the Brand argument as containing "all the material, slanderous or otherwise, collected by snoopers who have scourged the world to find something in the record of Mr. Hoover."

Brand's attack had been carefully worked up. Several days ago his prepared address, except for a last minute addition in which he demanded Hoover's resignation, had been distributed to newspaper men and close friends.

Burton, in his prepared speech which he kept in his pocket up to the last minute so that no inkling of its contents would reach the Brand camp, took up point by point the arguments of his adversary.

RAMIFICATIONS WIDEN AT THE TEAPOT DOME INQUIRY

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon Informed Senate Committee That He Had Declined to Accept $50,000 in Bonds on Terms Submitted by Will Hays—Mr. Mellon Did Not Suspect Any Connection Between the Offer and Sinclair's Lease of Teapot Dome—William M. Butler, Present Chairman of the Republican National Committee, Likewise Refused to Accept a Consignment of $25,000 in Bonds—Hays Underwent a Severe Grilling, But Maintained That He Had Not Done Anything Improper.

WASHINGTON, March 13—(AP)—A cabinet officer and a past and a present chairman of the republican national committee were asked today by the senate Teapot Dome committee to explain their silence of more than four years regarding the effort of Will Hays, party chief in 1920, to dispose of securities paid into the republican treasury by Harry F. Sinclair.

Two of the witnesses, Secretary Mellon of the treasury department and William M. Butler, present national republican chairman, said they had not spoken sooner because they had refused in 1923 to have anything to do with Hays' plan of bond allotment, and saw no reason why their knowledge of it would be valuable to the public.

The third occupant of the witness stand was Hays himself. Under a two hour rain of questions he maintained that he had done nothing improper, and argued with committee members that recent disclosures did not contradict the testimany he previously had given the committee under oath. It was these disclosures that led Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic leader of the senate, to declare on the senate floor yesterday that Hays had "subjected himself to the possible charge of perjury."

Hays' proposal for getting some of the $260,000 in Sinclair bonds out of the republican party treasury, as explained in the testimony, was to deliver parcels of them to Secretary Mellon and others, the recipient in each case to make a contribution of a like amount to the republican national committee. That would make it appear that the money came from various individual subscribers, and not in one lump from the original donor, while at the same time the individual subscriber would be nothing out of pocket.

Mr. Mellon told the committee he declined to accept on those terms, the $50,000 in bonds sent him by Hays, because he did not want to make a contribution that would appear to be something it was not. He knew the bonds came from Sinclair, he said, but did not suspect any connection between the contribution and Sinclair's lease of Teapot Dome. Mr. Butler, in the same way, refused to accept a $25,000 consignment of bonds, even though he did not know, he said, that Sinclair was the original source. Both Mellon and Butler were approached by Hays late in 1923, after the Teapot Dome inquiry began but before it developed into a national scandal.

Mr. Mellon in his testimony reiterated what he said in a communication to Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, the committee prosecutor, last Saturday after the committee had found a rather mysterious memorandum written by the late John T. Pratt, of New York city, and bearing the names of Weeks, "Andy," Butler and DuPont.

It was that he had received a $50,000 batch of Sinclair bonds from Hays but had declined to accept them and a few days later made an outright contribution of $50,000 to the republican national committee deficit.

Pressed as to why he had remained silent about the transaction after the committee began its investigation to trace the Continental Trading company bonds, Mellon said he did not see that any useful purpose could be gained from the committee's standpoint as the bonds had been returned to Sinclair.

Hays, grilled after Mellon and Butler had offered their testimony, made the point that he had not disclosed the Butler and Mellon transactions because he considered them irrevelant.

Given an opportunity to explain why he had not given the committee all of the information he had about the Sinclair bonds in 1924, Hays reiterated that at that time he was questioned only about the wealthy oil man's outright gift to the party and about rumors that Sinclair Consolidated Oil company securities had been turned over to the republican national committee.

Mellon who reached the committee room ahead of any of the senate investigators or other witnesses, puffed at his inseparable cheroot at times as committeemen cross-questioned him under oath. Much of the time he leaned forward in his chair, with his forearms outstretched upon the small table in front of him. He spoke in a clear, but at times slighthy hesitating voice, and occasionally punctuated his remarks with gestures. At his left elbow sat Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, his personal attorney and friend, who at not time took any hand in the proceedings.

Butler, who appeared more at ease, took the oath from Chairman Nye with upraised right hand, and made himself comfortable in the big chair reserved for witnesses.

He wore a blue suit and as he started to testify laid his big black derby on the table in front of him.

Both Mellon and Butler, who greeted each other cordially before their testimony, left the committee room as soon as they had finished and before Hays, who had sat silently behind them, was put on the grill.

The former postmaster-general, who conducted the campaign of President Harding in 1920, was plainly nervous but adopted a far more aggressive attitude than on his last appearance before the committee. He and Senator Walsh were almost constantly wrangling and several times the witness left his chair to move closer to his interrogator.

Repeatedly Hays made the point that Walsh was unfair in his questioning, particularly when he was reviewing Hays' testimony given in 1924, upon his appearance in the oil scandal inquiry. This Walsh denied and on one occasion, when Hays jumped up out of his chair, the veteran prosecutor said:

"Sit down; sit down."

The thread of the whole story as pieced together by Mellon, Butler and Hays, was that late in 1923 Hays got the whole block of bonds from Sinclair in New York after the investigation of the leasing of Teapot Dome to the oil operator had gotten under way and there had been evidence that Albert B. Fall, who executed the lease as interior secretary, had come into sudden affluence.

Hays sent a $50,000 block of these bonds from New York to Secretary Mellon at the treasury, using an unidentified messenger to make the delivery. Mellon testified that the securities reached him after Hays had notified him by telephone that he was sending him a valuable package.

Having mislaid the combination to the safe in his office, the treasury secretary took the bonds to his home for safe-keeping. Hays came to town soon afterward and explained to Mellon the plan of financing by which contributors were to hold the Sinclair bonds as security for their contributions until such time as the national committee could take them up from subsequent contributions.

Mellon said that he had declined to enter into such an arrangement and had sent the bonds back to Hays in New York by S. Parker Gilbert, then under-secretary of the treasury.

The treasury secretary told the committee that in view of his elevation to the cabinet he had felt for some time that he should make a substantial contribution to help extinguish the campaign deficit and that a few days after Hays sought to have him accept the bonds, he sent the committee his personal check for $50,000.

Butler testified that Hays approached him in the Biltmore hotel in New York. He said the former national chairman entered his room with a package, which was placed on a table but not opened. Hays explained what he wanted without disclosing, Butler said, that the bonds had come from Sinclair. The former senator from Massachusetts refused to become a party to the scheme.

Hays defended his plan of financing so that it could be announced at the meeting of the national committee in December, 1923, that the party deficit had been extinguished and members of the committee were unable to shake him on that proposition.

Likewise Hays, now a directing force in the motion picture industry, defended himself for not disclosing that he had approached Mellon and Butler, declaring that this was not germane to the inquiry and that he had assisted the committee all he could to trace the Continental bonds.

Hays was vehement in his declarations that there was no association between the leasing of Teapot Dome and Sinclair's contributions to the party. When his attention was called that Continental bonds had been sent out from the Dominion bank of Canada in blocks of $85,000 each, the precise amount which figured in several of the committee financing transactions, Hays asserted heatedly that this was not a rather unusual coincidence as Senator Walsh suggested.

FORMER KLAN OFFICIAL DENIES RECEIVING MONEY

MACON, Ga., March 13—(AP)—Edward Young Clarke, former high official of the Ku Klux Klan, denied here tonight that he had received any money from the republican national committee, as charged by Senator Walsh during an examination of Will Hays by the senate Teapot Dome investigating committee today.

WOMAN WAS SAVED BY A FREAKISH EDDY

NEWHALL, Cal., March 13—(AP)—Mrs. Ann Holzcloth, in the emergency hospital here today related how a freakish eddy in the current of the flood, which washed her home away, had thrown her to safety and at the same time whirled her baby from her arms to its death. An older child of hers was also washed away by the flood.

"The baby was sleeping with me," she sobbed. "I clutched him tight as we were swept out on the water in the dark.

"I managed to grab hold of some sort of timber from the wreckage of the house, with my other arm I held the baby out of the water the best I could. I know htat he was alive when we hit a whirlpool that took him from me.

"The whirl of the eddy wrenched him from me and threw me in the other direction. I landed on dry land. Why did I have to live?

THREE MEN INJURED IN COLLAPSE OF PILLARS

NEW HAVEN, March 13—(AP)—Three men were injured here tonight when eight concrete pillars in the old Journal-Courier building crashed to the ground from the second floor, carrying with them tons of debris and covering Center street with bricks, lumber and tangled cables to a depth of several feet in some places.

The injured are, Michael Farrell of Meadow street, Benjamin Johnson of Foote street and Joseph Breault of State street. All three are wreckers and were working with the day shift of the company which is tearing down the structure.

Farrell was knocked to the floor as the pillars fell and was pinned down by a girder which rested on his wrist. Other workmen succeeded in extricating him. He is the most seriously injured of the three.

REV. JOHN J. REILLY TALKS TO WILLIMANTIC ROTARIANS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, March 13—Rev. John J. Reilly of St. Patrick's church, Norwich, cast a warning against the tendency of forgetting God in the mad rush of modern action during a stirring address at the weekly luncheon-meeting of the Willimantic Rotary club held in the Nathan Hale hotel this noon. "Kindness to our fellowman and a renewed faith that God and not science and invention govern the universe can alone stand as a permanent monument to the 20th century," said Father Reilly, adding "that these human and spiritual attributes will remain standing while the wonders of the present day crumble and become obliterated in the dust of the ages." Father Reilly was accorded a rising vote of thanks for his forceful talk. He was introduced by James E. Fullerton, program chairman for the month. Professor Richard E. Dodge presided at the meeting and introduced the following guests, William H. Oat Myles B. Standish, Flint Brayton and Charles A. Gager, Rotarians of Norwich. Jerry Sullivan introduced as his guest, Rev. Charles M. Kelly of this city. Announcement was made that with the closing of the past week Willimantic remained leader in the eastern Connecticut attendance contest and with but one more meeting remaining for the closing of the contest bid fair to cop the coveted banner award.

MISS MYRA JOHNSON DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, March 13—Miss Myra Johnson, 76, died at the home of George W. Tripp, 175 Walnut street, Monday night. She was born in Mansfield, December 24, 1852, a daughter of William and Anna Baldwin Johnson. The deceased, who was a member of the Mansfield Center Congregational church leaves one brother, Richard Johnson of Mansfield Hollow, two sisters, Mrs. Olive Alexander and Mrs. Emily Latham of this city and several nieces and nephews.

Card of the table of meter rates to patrons of the city water are being sent out by City Clerk Arthur L. Clark and Miss Miles G. Bennett, clerk of the water department. The cards contain the schedule of water rates showing the consumption as based on the cubic foot measurement instead of the gallon unit. The cubic foot measuring system was instituted last fall.

Fire which started of unknown origin while the occupants were visiting in the neighborhood totally destroyed a one story dwelling house owned by Joseph Costenovo, across the Central Vermont Railway tracks at the foot of Brown avenue at The Ridges, Monday night. Mr. and Mrs. Costenovo were leaving the home of a neighbor quite late in the evening when they saw their little house blazing. Engine company No. 1 was called but nothing could be done to check the blaze in the small wooden structure and the house and all contents was destroyed. The family pets, a cat and a dog lost their lives in the fire. The loss is placed at about $4,000 with partial insurance on the building and no coverage on the furniture. The tardiness of the flames, the nature of the building and lack of water facilities as well as the considerable distance to be travelled combined to forestall any effective fighting of the blaze by the fire department.

Mt. Hope, in the town of Ashford, had a fire scare Monday night when a severe chimney fire which was discovered in time, threatened the destruction of the large dwelling house on the old Frank Grant place, now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harrakey and their six children. The family came from New York city on Monday and became the first occupants of the once pretentious residence in several years. Mr. Harrakey started a small fire in the furnace and as the family were preparing to leave to be supper guests of a neighbor, the blaze in the chimney was discovered. An efficient telephone alarm was responded by some 40 men who fought the blaze with water and chemicals under direction of Grand Juror Otto Hultrie.

March 12 marked the 43rd anniversary of the installation of San Jose council, No. 14, Knights of Columbus, the initiatory ceremonies having been held in the hall of the present Yeomans block on Main street on March 12, 1885. The banquet was held in the Commercial house, now the Windham house block. At that time there were but about 1000 members in the national organization, while there are over three quarters of a million members. There are five surviving charter members of San Jose council: John McDonough, James Courtney, Joseph Cotter, John Chromley and James F. Twomey.

The mercury rose to 35 degrees at daybreak today and hovered between 35 and 70 degrees about noon, accounting for the mildest day of the present winter. There now remain but isolated patches of snow as evidence of the storm last week.

Delegations of Knights of Columbus members from Rockville, Stafford Springs and Baltic, headed by their respective grand knights were guests of members of San Jose council, No. 14, Knights of Columbus at the rooms on Main street tonight the occasion being the annual visitation of District Deputy Lewis Chapman of Rockville. The visitors were welcomed by Grand Knight Patrick A. Connet. The official visit was followed by a collation and smoker.

Robert S. Bailey of East Hampton backed his Federal truck into the front of a Buick coupe owned by County Commissioner George Slewick of Stafford Springs, slightly damaging the latter machine, in an accident in front of the G. M. Harrington wholesale grocery store on Main street at noon today. Traffic Officer Arthur Hurley investigated and Bailey agreed to settle.

Several guests were entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. William Bell of South Windham in celebration of their seventh wedding anniversary on Sunday. Present were Rev. and Mrs. Joseph F. Cobb, Miss Avis Cobb, Mrs. Bethany, Andrew Breed, Miss Harriet Breed, Mrs. Emily Irish and Miss Iola B. Roath. Mrs. Bell received several gifts.

With the major carpentry work completed in making repairs to the New Haven railroad passenger station that was partially gutted by fire some time ago, painters will soon be occupied in decorating both the interior and exterior of the structure. In the course of repairing it is apparent that an effort is being made to make the old station more generally pleasing in appearance.

Mrs. John L. Leonard entertained the Monday Auction club in the afternoon with three tables in play. Mrs. Charles F. Rizedorf, Mrs. F. Louis Hall and Miss Lou M. Buck played as guests.

Miss Julia Flaherty of South Coventry is spending a few days with her friends in Springfield, Mass.

Agent Harry A. Blanchette of the New Haven railroad was in Hartford on business today.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Branch visited in Webster, Mass., today.

Mrs. Joseph Orlomski, Mr. and Mrs. Morard Boss and infant son, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Butler have returned to Waterford.

JEWETT CITY

MISSIONARY SOCIETY GIVES PROGRAM AT CONG. VESTRY

A delightful entertainment program was given Monday evening at the Congregational vestry, under the auspices of the Women's Missionary society. The announcement that Mrs. B. J. Frink of Brooklyn is to be the reader for any audience means a sure cure for the blues. Her program, with encores, was: News Gathering, My Pa, Brudder Brown's Sermon on the World War, At the Bridge Party, Just Stand Aside and Watch Yourself Go By, Driving from the Rear, and My Little Dog Alice. An orchestra comprising Charles Perkins, violin; Earl Robinson, saxophone, and Mrs. Walter Benjamin, piano, played as the opening numbers. Among My Souvenirs and That Saxophone Waltz. Their closing selections were Moonlight and Roses and Let Me Call You Sweetheart. They form a new trio, and their music was highly complimented. Miss Sadie Thompson and Mrs. F. D. Ballou sang most pleasingly; Miss Thompson's numbers were Happy Day and Sorter Miss You, both with violin obligato, by Charles Perkins. Mrs. Ballou sang Wake Up and Don't Talk to Me of Spring. The Dream Boat and Dance of the Wind Elves were sung by Misses Sadie Thompson, Isabel Marshall, Mrs. Benjamin, Miss Bessie Thompson and Mrs. R. E. Hiscox. Mrs. Benjamin was the accompanist for the musical numbers. Home-made candy was sold by Miss S. K. Adams and Mrs. John Whalley. Mrs. F. E. Robinson, president of the society, arranged the entertainment. Miss Helen Hull received the tickets at the door. Twenty-five dollars will be added to the treasury.

Faith chapter, O. E. S., is planning a whist for Masons and their families for Thursday night.

The annual observance of St. Patrick's day at St. Mary's church takes place Thursday evening. There will be the usual program of musical selections from Irish masters, under the instruction of Sister Cecelia; also orchestral selections. The speaker will be Rev. Raymond J. O'Callaghan of St. Mary's church, New London. He is one of the most eloquent young priests in the diocese. The musical numbers are: Irish Overture—Sons of Erin, introducing: Come Back to Erin, Last Rose of Summer, Wearing of the Green, Kerry Dance, Kathleen Mavourneen, St. Patrick's Day, Moll Roone. James Olsen will be at the organ.

Postmaster W. T. Crumb has received this week the following information:

It is the practice of some mailers to place the name and address of the addressee together with the sender's return card on two or more sides of parcels in the apparent belief that this is desirable.

As a matter of fact, the practice does far more harm than good, since it results in confusion and delay in ascertaining whether proper postage has been prepaid, the parcels sometimes being rated with postage due before it is discovered that the postage stamps are affixed to some other side.

Furthermore, when parcels bearing an address on more than one side are sent as special handling, special delivery, insured, or C. O. D. mail, and the indorsements showing that such special services are to be accorded the parcels are not placed on all the sides bearing the address, the indorsements are liable to be overlooked and the parcels do not receive the special treatment intended.

Where mailers make a practice of placing the address on more than one side of a parcel they should be advised of these objections and requested to discontinue the practice.

LISBON MAN OWNER OF ANCIENT MONEY-BAG

Frank Johnson of Lisbon has among his collection of valuable relics a hand-knit woolen money-bag. It was the property of his Grandmother Perry and is over 100 years old. The bag contains scrip and coins of ancient dates. There are Civil war three cent, ten and five cent scrip money, a Continental five dollar scrip printed in 1778. It is inscribed, "This bill entitles the bearer to receive five Spanish milled dollars, or the value thereof in gold or silver. According to a resolution passed by congress at Philadelphia, Sept. 26, 1778." On the back is a four-leaf clover. There are several copper cents of the years 1818, 1826, 1834, 1835, 1837 and 1859. There is one valuable piece of state money inscribed Connecticut, 1782.

Monday evening, during the Risko-Sharkey bout, with hundreds of local fans anxious to listen in, this section was visited by a peculiar and persistent form of static. Any sort of definite reception for more than two hours was interrupted by sounds like corn popping in a kettle with the cover on. Some thought here Tuesday morning, after reading the account of the fight in The Bulletin, that maybe the cause was the scrap itself.

DANIELSON

DANIELSON COUPLE HOLD GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATION

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, March 13—A very complete surprise for Mr. and Mrs. J J. Burr of North Main street last evening was the assembling of their children, other relatives and some friends for the observance of the golden anniversary of their wedding. Such events are often intended as surprises but do not always prove to be just that. This instance was an exception. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Burr had the slightest idea that they were to be honored on their anniversary and when those who had been secretly bidden to their home began to arrive they got their first inkling of all that had been planned for them on a night that they will hold as memorable.

All of their five children were in attendance. And there were also the grand children to grace the party. Numbered among the guests was Rev. Chester J. Armstrong, pastor of the Baptist church, and it was he that officiated at the re-pledging of Mr. and Mrs. Burr's marriage vows after half a century of wedded life; a very pretty and impressive ceremony. Mrs. Burr carried an old-fashioned bouquet, reminiscent of the days of long ago. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burr, the latter's bouquet being of yellow and white carnations

During the evening a bountiful supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Burr were showered with gifts and felicitations for many more years of good health and happiness, both of which they have been generously blest with throughout their long lives. Included in the gifts was a purse of $55 in gold and there was also a beautiful diamond ring for Mrs. Burr.

Mr. and Mrs. Burr were married on March 12, 1878, at the Spring Hill Baptist church near Mansfield, this state. Before her marriage Mrs. Burr was Miss Anna Watrous. After their marriage Mr. Burr, who was a Boston man, purchased a farm in Willington and they lived there for a long term of years. About 25 years ago they removed to Wauregan and for a score of years were residents of that community, living near the Wauregan railroad station. Some five years ago Mr. Burr established his present pretty and comfortable home on North Main street, and the family has since lived there.

Mr. Burr is 76, Mrs. Burr 71 years of age. This is not in evidence to those who know them, for they are active, alert, enjoy life and the good things it has to offer fully as much as they did in younger years. Mr. Burr is regularly employed at the mill in Dayville.

They have five children, all of whom were with them last evening for the golden wedding anniversary. They are Frank Burr of Jewett City, Mrs. Mabel Turner of Providence, Mrs. Inez Curtis of Danielson, Mrs. Frank A. Davis and Miss Bertha Burr at home. Their grand children are Doris Burr of Jewett City, Edward Curtis of Danielson, Viola Kingsbury of New London and Robert Davis of Danielson. There is also one great granchild.

Mr. and Mrs. Burr were both particularly happy today contemplating the splendid observance arranged for their golden wedding anniversary and the many joys that life has brought them. Their great many friends in this section join with their family in wishing them many more profitable years of wedding life.

Completion of a state-aid highway running direct from Brooklyn to Lisbon, in New London county, through Canterbury, is a prospect of the near future. Brooklyn and Canterbury have already joined in the building of a section of this road from near the Brooklyn fair grounds southward, a distance of several miles to Canterbury Green. It is from the Green that Canterbury is to carry on, with the aid of the state, building southward another few miles to the Lisbon border and to connect up with a state road already built and running into Norwich. The Brooklyn-Canterbury section is practically complete and is a fine highway and through pretty country. With the proposed section built the route is bound to be a very popular one and to attract probably ten times as much traffic as now goes that way.

A survey recently completed of textile industries, many of them in New England, for a New York concern, is of special interest to territory hereabouts, as it lists some eastern Connecticut concerns. It has to do with consideration of unsettled conditions in the cotton, woolen and worsted fields and points out that while some concerns have suffered reverses others have had balances on the right side of the ledger as the result of last year's operations. The survey lists, among others, the Lawton mills of Plainfield with reported earnings of $199,255 in 1927, as against $111,124 in 1926. Powdrell and Alexander, Inc., doing business in this town is credited with profits of $340,602 in 1927, as against $300,562 in 1926. No other eastern Connecticut mills were listed in the published survey with 26 concerns mentioned, these having made a total of profits of $13,957,793, according to the figures compiled by the firm of Ernest and Ernst.

A car parked in Reynolds street between Main and Broad—the much talked of narrow strip of state highway—a heavily loaded passenger coach heading out for Providence and a Massachusetts car dashing madly down Reynolds street hill and into the narrow place set the stage today for a near-accident. This was but one of the many incidents of the kind transpiring regularly in that quarter, and pointing to the very bad accident sure to occur there sooner or later. There is the prospect that the present year will witness the construction of the new cut-off from near Hutchins street through the fields to the bend of Stearns street, diverting, when it is completed, enough traffic to cure a situation that is a daily menace to the safety of a great many travelers

Tonight the warden and court of burgesses held their last meeting of the present financial year, considering routine business and some special matters, including the placing of a new form of light at the junction of Reynolds and Broad streets. Next week brings the annual borough caucus for the nomination of officers for the ensuing year, the election coming on the second Monday of April. Meanwhile the annual reports will have been prepared and made ready for distribution.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. G. Bailey are on a motor trip during which they will be at Atlantic City for two weeks. Two of their children are staying with their grandparents and the baby with her aunt, Mrs. Claude Griggs.

Mrs. Jennie Humphrey of Furnace street will have the members of the Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist Episcopal church at her home for a meeting Wednesday afternoon.

On Thursday at 10 a. m. there is to be a service of Holy Communion at St. Alban's church, and at 7.30 an evening service, as has been arranged for Thursdays during the Lenten period.

Treasurer Sidney W. Bard of the Brokolyn Savings bank is to be in New Haven and New York the coming week on business pertaining to equipment for the new building of the institution.

Sputtering static spoiled the reception of the Sharkey-Risko radio reception for scores of people who were listening in last night.

A dairymen's institute in South Windham today, the affair sponsored by the County Farmers' association, attracted considerable attendance from communities in this section.

Selectman N. P. Gingras has purchased the Columbia hall building at Dayville from the Killingly Realty Company. Mr. Gingras has been occupying the building as a business place since his former store was wrecked by fire during Christmas week.

Republicans of Killingly have a caucus scheduled for next Monday evening at which they will name delegates to the state convention that is to name the state's delegation to the republican national convention.

Mrs. W. H. Bowen of Killingly Center is recovering from an illness that has kept her at home for some time.

A temperature of 68 degrees this afternoon was a large factor in snow removal but it helped make travel very difficult over country roads in nearby territory.

An unusual feature of the adjourned annual town meeting last evening was that there was not one woman voter in attendance.

Conditoins are rapidly improving as to the condition of health in pupils in Danielson's scholos and the number out of school by reason of having been afflicted by minor diseases is diminishing from day to day.

This evening members of the night school gave a whist at Killingly high school, each student having permission to bring a friend. About 40 were in attendance. Sessions of the night school will continue through the first week of April.

Pretty 5-room cottage, splendid location, all modern conveniences, for sale. Is offered at less than $2500, you need only $400 to $500 cash; balance on mortgage, easy terms. Best offer made in Danielson in 10 years. See J. C. Witter.—adv.

PUTNAM

STEAMING AUTO CALLS OUT FIRE DEPARTMENT

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, March 13—Going three days without a four stroke fire alarm to answer, the members of the hook and ladder company from the central fire station on Union square were called Monday evening to extinguish, what was thought to be a burning automobile, but arriving in front of the Bradley theatre the fire department found the car to be without water and shooting out an enormous amount of steam, giving the car the appearance of being on fire.

The car belonged to a local taxi company, and the excitement of the driver caused the firemen a trip for nothing.

Putnam fight fans were more or less disappointed with the poor reception of the radio Monday evening when the Sharkey-Risko fight was being sent over the air. In many of the local radio stores, the loud speakers were out on the streets but the old time squeek and howl came over the air much more distinctly than did Major White's description of the fight.

The local pugilistic followers were scowling and offering alibis for Sharkey's defeat after the fifteenth round had come to a close and the dashing westerner, Risko was awarded the bout. Little confidence had been placed in Risko by the Putnam fans, and with the poor radio reception and the outcome of the fight, the radio ringsiders throughout the town left for home in a blue frame of mind.

The headquarters company of the 43rd division of Putnam held the regular weekly drill in the new armory on Harris street Monday night. Since the new building has been taken over the interest in the company has grown larger and the attendance at the drills is steadily climbing each week. Last week Captain John J. McGarry stated that the attendance at this drill was one of the largest that the company has had in a long while.

Many new recruits have been enlisting each week. The company will be inspected Monday evening by a federal army officer, and during the past weeks the officers have been concentrating on the subject of inspection.

After weeks of delay in output, Henry Ford's new product has been slowly making its appearance about the streets throughout the town. Many out of state cars from the larger cities bearing Ford plates, have been seen in the city. Although many Putnam people have placed orders with the local dealers, none have so far been delivered, and therefore no Putnamite can boast that he was the first to have one of the much awaited new Fords.

No promises have been made by local Ford dealers as to a date of delivery, but many are expecting to be riding in their new car by the first of the month.

Marcus B. Morse, a lifelong resident of East Woodstock died at his home in that town Monday, March 12, at the age of 82 years. Mr. Morse had been in failing health for some time and he failed to recover from a recent illness.

Marcus B. Morse was born in Woodstock on July 22, 1846, the son of Nathan and Eunice (Bass) Morse. He received his early schooling in that town and later engaged in farming. Mr. Morse was married to Miss Nettie Sanger of Woodstock, who survives him. One son Carl, was born to them. The younger Mr. Morse resides in East Woodstock. Mr. Morse was highly interested in town affairs and he was elected to represent his town in state legislature in the 1918 term.

He also has one brother living, Chauncey Morse, who is a member of the firm of Chandler & Morse of this city.

The "bridge widows" met at the home of Mrs. Frank Thayer Monday evening and enjoyed the weekly bridge games. The first prize was won by Mrs. Omer Milot and the consolation went to Mrs. Irving Miron. After the games were finished the hostess served her guests with a buffet lunch. The widows bridge club will meet at the home of Mrs. Eben Holden next Monday evening.

Funeral services for Augustus H. Cutler who died Saturday evening were held from his late home on Bellevue street today. Mr. Cutler had suffered from a stroke of paralytic apoplexy; late Tuesday afternoon, from which he failed to recover.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. H. G. Hodges, pastor of the first Baptist church of Putnam, of which Mr. Cutler was a member.

Many of his friends and fellow workers from the Belding-Heminway company were present at the funeral and the large number of floral tributes marked the wide circle of acquaintances that Mr. Cutler had made during his long residence in Putnam. The bearers were: Lewis Law, Clarence W. Chase, Arthur Tourtellotte, Alfred Bernier, Walter Barett, and Hiram Bellows.

Neighbor's night, was held at the open meeting of the Putnam grange, No. 97. Grangers from Putnam, Killingly, Vermont, Shetucket, Brooklyn, and Sencxit granges were present. The following programme in charge of Mrs. Clarence Myers was presented: A vocal solo by Mrs. Evia Stone was presented. Mrs. Stone was accompanied at the piano by Miss Helen Woodward, both of Killingly grange. A short talk on, "Our Dependence on Other Countries for Our Food," was given by Sidney Bard of Killingly. Mr. Bard's talk was fololwed by another vocal solo by Mrs. Evia Stone. Six ladies from Killingly grange presented a one act playlette, entitled, "Pull Back."

Members of the various granges represented spoke briefly on the activities of the county granges. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Maude Bulger, chairman of the grill committee. Dancing followed.

The next meeting will be "Open Night," in charge of Mrs. Edna Winterburn to be held March 26.

With St. Patrick's day only a few days off, many entertainments have been planned by local organizations. For the first time during the Lenten season the penitential ban will be lifted for one day and those who have been abiding by the regulations set by the churches will be allowed to attend some of the social functions that they have been refraining from since Ash Wednesday.

Officers Alperie Sponcey and Fred Dinsdale of the local police took Charles McIvor to the State hospital in Norwich, Monday after the man had been taken into custody by the police and ordered sent there by Dr. Edward F. Perry. The man is a native of Waltham, Mass., and has been employed by the Western Union, installing the new telephone service on the New Haven railroad.

The officers returned last evening from their trip, and they said they encountered very little difficulty with their prisoner during their trip to the hospital in Norwich.

Mrs. Susanna Lundstrom of North Grosvenordale died Monday at the Fairlawn hospital in Worcester, Mass., after short period of illness. Mrs. Lundstrom was 74 years of age. She has lived for many years in North Grosvernordale and was a frequent Putnam visitor. She is survived by a brother John Stein and a sister Mrs. Cristianna Anderson. She leaves five children, George, Mrs. Fred Berger, Mrs. Otto Hubert, Mrs. Ernest Bates, and Mrs. George Gullberg.

Mrs. Lundstrom was the mother of Al Lundstrom, who was fast becoming a prominently known wrestler, until his career was cut short by his accidental death a few years ago.

The Masons high hopes of scoring a victory over the opponents were again blasted Monday evening as the Elks came out on the long end of the straw with a 10-9 victory in their favor. The total score for the season now stands at 202 to 165 in favor of the Elks and as the season only contains two more tournaments to be played it looks if the champion honors will remain another year with the Elks. The summary is given with the names of the Elks first: Bridge: Milot and Lewis won from Holden and Miron, Champlain and Averill won from Jenkins and Wheaton; Chadwick and Mansfield won from Combs and Kerr; Wheelock and Girard won from Johnson and English; Murray and Cotter lost to Perry and Metcalf; Charron and Hanifan lost to Dean and Simpson; Backus and Averill lost to Geissler and Morse; Dupre and McIntyre won from Sherman and Stanton; Duvert and Gagne lost to Brousseau and Miner; Bid Whist: Miller and Brousseau won from Johnson and Mellor; Migneault and Bulger lost to Ailing and Thayer; Berth and Cavanaugh lost to Diamond and Moss; Gallant and Watson won from Thurston and Arnold; Wheatley and Bourgeois won from Schoonover and shaw. Cribbage: Wheaton and Auger lost to Twigg and Loomis; Tetreault and Robbins won from Whea-

AUTO LAW VIOLATORS

As the result of the study which he has given to the enforcement of the motor vehicle laws and the better protection of the public in the highways, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Stoeckel sees where there is need for using different tactics against certain of the violators.

There are those who stand out conspicuously as being much more dangerous than others. Their acts are such as to call for different treatment and the public is entitled to the benefit of better protection against them. When he declares there are three types of motor law violators who should be classed and prosecuted as criminals, and includes for such treatment drunken drivers, evaders of responsibility and reckless drivers he will be certain to get widespread support for his attitude.

These drivers, for the most part, make up those other fellows for whom it is necessary for other drivers, those who are keeping well within the restrictions of the law, to be constantly on their guard. They force others drivers to assume much of the responsibility which they disregard. They create hazards which ought not to exist and would not but for their presence. They imperil the highway and create those conditions which mean accidents and fatalities.

In connection with these offenses it is the commissioner's opinion that the intent to violate the law is seldom absent. It is a case of being ready and willing to disregard the law, being inspired perhaps by the fact that no serious recognition has been taken of it in the past, being inclined to take a chance of avoiding trouble or escaping the penalty or of being convinced that if anything does happen it can be covered up. Those who menace the highways under such conditions when there is a deliberate intent to violate the law are not likely to be confused with those who become involved in unavoidable accidents.

The increasing number of accidents and the mounting fatalities call for the adoption of measures that will bring about a reduction even though the number of motor vehicles increases.

ENDORSING ROADSIDE STANDS

Protection of the public against impositions which have been experienced at some of the roadside stands has been advocated for some time. With such an object in view the Massachusetts legislature has before it a measure which will give the commissioner of agriculture authority to provide rules and regulations for such stands and to provide signs or labels for those which are legitimate and where farm products are offered for sale."

Since the roadside stands were opened up for the purpose of disposition of the products of the farms in the vicinity of their location to those using the highway, there have been those who have sought to get the benefit of such business through the establishment of stands from which goods have been sold which were brought from city markets. Thus those who drove into the country to get what they supposed was fresh garden or farm products, or those who drew up at such stands because they believed they would get products raised right there, have found that they were buying of hucksters who carried the goods into the country to catch the unwary buyer.

All the while the legitimate operator of a roadside stand, who raised what he offered for sale or got it from his immediate neighbors, has been suffering from the black eye given by those who misrepresent. Thus there is reason for the proposed legislation.

When those maintaining stands can show that they are conducting an honest business it is reason that they should have some protection. This would be given in the form of a sign indicating as much if the Massachusetts measure becomes a law. Thus the fair dealer and the public would be protected at the same time, for if the prominently displayed sign carrying the endorsement of the state commissioner of agriculture means anything it will produce the patronage of those seeking fresh garden truck while the absence will be the best notice that the buyer could want that such places are the ones to avoid. Massachusetts appears to be headed in the right direction.

THE WRECK OF THE LEE

In connection with the piling up of the Robert E. Lee on the Mary Ann rocks the explanation is offered that the vessel was proceeding at full speed when it struck, that the visibility was poor, that the compass was faulty and that had it been full tide the vessel would have skipped the rocks but would have struck the beach later on.

This appears to indicate a rather serious situation for the vessel was carrying a large passenger list and there were more than 100 in the crew. Even though no lives were lost among those aboard, three of those who went to the rescue sacrificed their lives in the risk which they took.

Probably the investigation which will be made of the circumstances will disclose just what the conditions were. According to the reports the weather conditions did not warrant remaining in port, and yet with visibility poor because of the snow, the conditions were similar to those during fog, and yet the vessel was being sent forward at top speed. This indicated that full reliance was being placed on the compass, and as customary the passengers and crew were placing full reliance on the man in the pilot house.

This raises the question as to how often it can be expected that a compass will go wrong and whether there ought not to be another by which it can be checked up under conditions which make it impossible to determine the fact by points along the shore. Transportation on the water isn't held up because of storms. Vessels are operated through heavy snow and dense fog, but that is because of the dependence placed upon the compass and the navigator's knowledge of his course. Wrong bearings under such circumstances mean serious difficulties.

If the experience of the Robert E. Lee has brought to attention any new difficulty haste should be made to overcome it. If there were mistakes made in the operation of the vessel it should be made known, in the interest of the many who travel by boat they should have assurance of a greater degree of safety or they are likely to entrust themselves to other methods of transportation.

THE RADIO BILL

Whatever is going to be done in regard to radio at Washington is destined for 11th hour action. After a long delay the house has adopted the bill, but it has been so loaded down with amendments which are weak and undesirable that it is certain to get strong opposition from the senate.

As the matter stands at the present time broadcasting licenses would be issued in accordance with population. Just how ready the senate will be to giving its approval to such a provision will quickly be disclosed. There is but a limited time in which the conferees can undertake to reconcile the differences. Unless action is taken by Thursday the radio commission will pass out of the picture as far as being an administrative body. Its work would then be turned over to the department of commerce and it would become a semijudicial commission. Such was the intention but it has become so evident that the commission has not completed within the year the solution of the big problems in radio control that its continuance for another year has been urged.

Rather than have it continued under a lot of handicaps which would be burdensome, many would prefer that the work be taken up by the department of commission, which handled it previous to the commission's appointment. If congress cannot agree on a satisfactory measure there will be an opportunity to return to a control whereby the department of commerce would not be lacking the authority that existed under previous conditions. If congress desires that change it is unfortunate that it has been so slow in coming to a decision or that it has adopted this method of indicating it.

CONSERVATIVES BALK

It is not a contribution to the simplification of the situation in Nicaragua which has been created by the action of the legislature in refusing to place the control of the coming election in the hands of the United States. It in fact complicates and operates to prevent that which is sought—a fair and free election.

The purpose of this country is to give Nicaragua the benefit of a real election as a means of establishing its government instead of having it set up a government as the result of a revolution. The United States is not supporting one party in preference to another. It is desirous that the Nicaraguans should elect conservative or liberal provided it is done in a constitutional manner but it is unfortunate that the conservatives, now in control of the legislature, are unwilling to concede that control of the election which will give every one, regardless of party, a chance to express his choice.

The inference to be gained from this action is that if there is a fair and free election those now in control will be beaten. Even though it is preferable to be beaten by ballots than bullets, they are not ready apparently to give the consent that will change the past method of holding elections. They prefer to maintain the tactics of the past, to invite strife and the resort to bloodshed and to disregard the assistance that would be beneficial to the whole country. In its balking the Nicaraguan legislature makes a bad impression. It shows no willingness to turn over a new leaf and let the will of the people prevail except that it be done by bloodshed.

EDITORIAL NOTES

You cannot put that income tax report off much longer and escape the penalty.

In the special town meeting on revaluation tonight every one is interested and should be present.

In backing the administration's policy in Nicaragua, senators who started out to scoff are staying to pray.

Remember that tonight is the date fixed for the special town meeting to take action on the question of revaluation.

The man on the corner says: You may not be responsible for the revaluation need but you can help correct the situation.

Just because only one man was injured in a series of 25 auto accidents don't thing there are any medals to be won by making it worse.

The 11th death has occurred at a Wallingford grade crossing but the explanation appears to lie in that part of the report which said: "It is believed Atwood tried to beat the train to the railroad crossing."

A MODERN BIRTHDAY PARTY

"And this is dear little Lois! I'm so glad you brought her. Three years old tomorrow? I must have a birthday party for her. We'll have ice cream and cake and——"

"Oh, my dear! Lois has never tasted cake! She eats fruits for the required sweet, you know, and——"

"Well," hurriedly. "We will arrange the refreshments later. Now I'll invite some of my little friends." Whereupon Mrs. Honeywell turned to the telephone and invited Marjorie Phillips to the party.

Mrs. Phillips:

"Oh, Mrs. Honeywell, I'm so sorry. We shall be so busy tomorrow. We are taking Marjorie to Dr. Bugbear. No, she isn't exactly ill. But she has developed the strangest complex. She actually wants to play with her toys. Yes—she is to be psychoanalyzed tomorrow. Yes—we are all going to be—the whole family—you know you never know how far back these tendencies run—I'm all worn out—her great-grandmother is quite violen about it—says it's all nonsense. But you know he played the races when he was young. And her Uncle Jim played the flute. You really can't blame the poor child. But we are determined to do what we can for her now. Thank you. Good-by!"

Mrs. Honeywell, brightly: "Well, I'll call Mrs. Stafford."

Mrs. Stafford:

"I'm so sorry. Gladys starts to the preschool tomorrow. No, not free school, preschool. Yes, she is 2 now, and we want to give her every advantage. Yes, they give them naps and scientific lunches and supervise everything they do. I'm so sorry, but of course at her age we don't want anything to interfere with her education. Good-by."

Mrs. Honeywell, resignedly:

"Well, I'll ask Virginia. She is a few years older but that won't matter."

Virginia's mother:

"No, I'm afraid Virginia can't come. She is going to have her teeth straightened tomorrow. No, we couldn't make another appointment. She has been on the waiting list for a month now, and she is so busy taking corrective gymnasium drills and art appreciation that I don't know when she could find any other time for it anyway. And next week she is to have her tonsils out and the week after that school starts! So sorry."

Mrs. Honeywell, despondently:

"I don't know whether it will do any good or not, but I'll call Mrs. Perkins."

Mrs. Perkins:

"I'm sorry, but Georgia has to take Fido to the clinic tomorrow. We have been noticing that he isn't able to catch up with the ball when he plays with the children and we are going to have him fitted for new glasses. Yes—his second pair—er's, he is rather old, 12, but the children are so fond of him. Yes—of course he has false teeth already. Good-by!"

Mrs. Honeywell, desperately: "I'll call Mrs. Jameson."

Mrs. Jameson:

"Oh, yes. How lovely! Just a minute—I'll see—yes, Elizabeth Marie has an hour and fifteen minutes free tomorrow from 4 o'clock on. I'll send her over. Of course she will bring her own certified milk and health-food wafers. And you will be sure to see that no one kisses her. She has never been kissed, you know. Good-by!"

The party was the juvenile social success of the season. Except that the guest, whose mother believed in "self-expression," said she had had a "terrible" time.

"Birthdays are such a bore," commented Lois afterward to Mrs. Honeywell. And that astonished survival of another day could only gasp assent.—Exchange.

YOUR HEALTH

The Use of Tobacco

By Beverley R. Tucker, M. D., Richmond, Member Gorgas Memorial.

Now that the use of tobacco has become so general, it is necessary to consider the question from a medical standpoint.

Physicians are frequently asked whether cigarettes are harmful. Some answer in the affirmative and some in the negative. The question in regard to tobacco should, in my opinion, have the same answer as the question in regard to the use of many other things containing drugs—under ordinary circumstances moderation is not harmful, but excess is.

Those people who smoke but do not inhale absorb very little of the toxic product of the tobacco or the paper of the cigarette, and hence can indulge, numerically, to far greater extent without harm than those who do inhale. Those who live in open air or smoke mostly when they are in the open air, may use a greater quantity of tobacco than those who lead sedentary lives or smoke in the house. Again, just as with coffee, or anything else containing drugs, some individuals can use, without harm, a greater quantity than others. It is also true that some tobacco is much milder and hence less injurious than other kinds of tobacco.

Tobacco poisoning in which the symptoms are rather pronounced is a rare condition, whereas tobacco poisoning in which the symptoms are slight, and frequently unrecognized, is common. The main symptoms which one should be on the lookout for when one uses tobacco are lack of energy or a sense of nervous energy and tension, brief periods of dizziness, difficulty in concentrating the attention, slight cough or tickling of the throat, a dry, disagreeable taste in the mouth, a disagreeable odor to the breath, slight sense of heaviness in the head, slight headache, some loss of weight, loss of appetite, slight nausea, irritability, and a strong or uncontrollable desire for tobacco.

A tobacco user should determine the amount he uses by avoiding the symptoms above mentioned and, speaking in general, it is unwise to smoke more than ten to fifteen cigarettes a day. It isa most excellen idea, both for self-control and the elimination of tobacco toxin, for smokers to quit entirely every now and then for a shorter or longer period. It is wise for one to curtail the amount of smoking as soon as any of the symptoms of tobacco toxemia are noted. The question is largely one of moderation and the consideration of one's physical and nervous adaptation to the use of tobacco.

WHAT A DOCTOR KNOWS ABOUT CONSTIPATION

There IS a way of overcoming the tendency to constipation. And here is how you can PROVE it.

The next time your bowels need any assistance, don't take the first laxative that comes to mind. Take one the druggist can assure you is made with CASCARA. Just as effective as using force, it helps make good blood. For cascara is nothing but the bark of a tree. The Indians chew this bark, and live to an old age without a day's sickness.

What happens when you cascarize the bowels? They will usually function well for SEVERAL DAYS. One more dose—no larger, and perhaps smaller than the first—and the bowels function of their own accord for a still longer time. Until you don't feel the need of any aid of any sort for weeks-on-end.

So, the only habit you get from cascara is that of natural and normal regularity. How different from things one must usually repeat on the morrow! Cascara is the ideal laxative; and the familiar little candy cascaret is doubtless its ideal form. Children beg for these tasty tablets, and many men and women wouldn't think of taking ANYTHING else for the has them purpose. And EVERY drug store

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A Correction

Mr. Editor: I regret to call your attention to several errors in your article concerning the debate held by the Niagara Engine Co. Saturday, March 10.

In the first place the negative team won, not the affirmative. Then too, you have confused the names Brickett and Schwartz for Brockett and Schwab. Kasowsky was the affirmative alternate instead of negative and two participants, Charles Reddin and Murry Gruskin, were omitted.

The teams were made up as follows: Affirmative, William Brockett, Charles Reddin, Herbert Schwab, Leo Kosowsky, (Alt.) Negative, Frederic Hyde, Robert Ferguson, John Farrell, Murry Gruskin, (Alt.)

The alternates spoke in rebuttal in place of Herbert Schwab and Frederic Hyde, respectively.

Very truly yours,
JOHN T. FARRELL.

More About Fort Ned

Mr. Editor: I have taken your paper a good many years but I thought the Social Corner was for women until my attention was called to "What do you know about Fort Ned?" My folks moved there in 1875. I was a small boy then and we took some of the mill help as boarders and my father worked in the mill. It was a paper mill then and run night and day. The help went to work at noon and worked until midnight and then the other shift went to work at midnight and worked until noon. There were about 26 hands who worked there when they had a full gang. In the spring of '76 we had a great flood and Fort Ned came near being cleaned out. The road runs east and west and the houses the same. They were on the south side of the road and the pond is on the north side, the houses being much lower than the pond. There were four two tenement houses and five families living in them at that time, and one across the bridge. We had two days of rain and fog and the snow and ice began to melt and the pond began to rise. The mill kept running and the night of the flood we all retired not thinking the water would do any damage but in the night the water became so high they had to stop the mill and get out the windows up on the bank as it was flooded by the doors. Then they woke up all the families. The water was running over the bank then and down between the houses. We couldn't get out of the village as we were surrounded by water. Women were crying and wringing their hands and children were crying and hanging to their mother's skirts. The men were walking up and down the bank looking for a break. There was a little gravel bank next to the pond. The men took us all upon it and we stood there in the rain waiting for something to happen. The men walked down the bank to the west of the village where there was a large stream of water running over the road. They turned and came back toward us but just before they reached us the bank gave way just behind them. One man with a lantern was behind the rest and he went down but was saved by quick work. As the bank gave way the dam at the east end gave way at the same time and we were safe but could not get out of the village for several days. The paper mill company started right at work rebuilding the dam and filling in the bank west of the house. There was plenty of work for everybody around there that summer. They had it done and the mill running before winter.

Later on my folks moved to what they called the Bingham farm just west of the village and lived there many years. That is where I spent my boyhood days. I attended school at the Brunswick school house and worked in Reynolds Bros. yarn mill many years until it closed for good.

I well remember the morning the paper mill burned and how bad we all felt because we knew they would not rebuild it again. It was a lively place in those days. There were a lot of people around there on the farms, all old timers and friendly. We knew them all and they gave us many good times, but they are all gone now. It makes me homesick every time I go un there and see the ruins of the home I loved so well. I was much pleased with E. C. Peck's letters as they date farther back than I know about which was very interesting to me. I worked for Mr. Peck's father the summer I was ten years old but don't remember much about E. C. Peck as he was not home at that time.

I was much pleased with Johnny Cake's letters as I know every foot of ground she went over as I have traveled it many times via Nipmuck path. The Hilbert house or Terrace Hall was so named by Izola Forrester's people. I knew them all well and spent many pleasant hours there. The house burned 40 years ago last July. I took my wife up there to show her the mansion and when we arrived there was nothing but smoke where it had stood. It burned the night before.

I would like to correspond with any body that knows about Fort Ned or that lived there since 1875. I will answer all inquiries possible.

"Man, a Channel of God"

SCRIPTURE: Memory Verse: "The Father abiding in me, he doeth his works" (John 14.10).

Read: John 14:1-13.

MEDITATION: Jesus speaks of Himself here as being but a channel through which God was working. The author of a book which Luther says had much influence on his life remarked, "I would fain be to the eternal God what his own right hand is to a man." A man's right hand is but the agency through which the man works his will. To think of oneself as being one means through which the good God will express His goodness makes life very wonderful and sacred. Says Professor Bennett; "Worship can transform moral ambition by changing it from an effort to become something into an effort to become something." What will it not add to the day if we think of ourselves as agents through which God is trying to express something beautiful and helpful to those whom we meet?

PRAYER: O Lord, Thou has called us to be lights in the world. Help us this day, in word and in deed to remind the circles in which we move of Thy love, Thy beauty and Thy way for men. Amen.

INCOME TAX TIPS

Various penalties are imposed by the statute for failure to file a return and pay the tax on time, and for making a fraudulent return. Distinction is made between failure and "wilful failure" to file a return. For failure to file a return on time, the penalty is 25 per cent. of the amount of the tax, unless a return is later filed and it is satisfactorily shown to the commissioner of internal revenue that such failure was due to a reasonable cause and not to wilful neglect. If a taxpayer exercised ordinary business care and prudence, and nevertheless was unable to file a return within the prescribed time, the delay is due to a "reasonable cause".

For wilful failure to make a return the penalty is not more than $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than five years, or both, and in addition 50 per cent. of the amount of the tax.

Beauty Insurance for her future

Of course every mother wants her baby girl to grow up healthy and sound, clear complexioned, bright eyed and happy. The secret is found in DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR which builds loveliness because it's a purely vegetable laxative.

It cleanses as it clears the intestines; acts as a thorough yet gentle evacuant and stimulates to normal action those organs charged with keeping the body free from poisonous waste.

But it isn't fair to expect this of just any "laxative". To be sure of the results that have made Dr. True's Elixir famous you must have the genuine . . . the old and time-tried.

Mrs. M. I. Merrill of Circuit St., Melrose, Mass., says: "My own Mother used it years ago. I have used Dr. True's Elixir for my two children, too. It has done a lot of good in our family."

Stories That Recall Others

Smells Green, Tastes Awful

Walter Jr., persisted in sucking his thumb. His mother had made small progress in breaking the habit, when his grandmother decided to take a hand.

One night as she prepared him for bed, she surreptitiously annointed his thumb with a harmless, ill tasting drug. She tucked him into bed and returned to the living room. Soon she heard a startled and insistent wail. "Grandmother, come here My thumb thmeth green and tathth thomthing awful."

She Wondered

Agnes, a young child, had always been used to having rain water available at any time. Recently the family moved into a new home where there is no cistern and so it was necessary to obtain rain water by some other method.

One Saturday when it rained hard all day, the child was asked by her mother to take a bucket and catch some rain water. This seemed rather strange to Agnes, who said: "Mother don't you think I would look rather funny holding a bucket and an umbrella to catch a little rain water?"

WHY YOUR STOMACH GRUMBLES

Your stomach "grumbles" because it tries to tell you it is out of order. Heed its warning, for although the trouble may not yet be serious, it is often the forerunner of severe gastritis and stomach ulcers.

Nine times out of ten indigestion and allied stomach disorders are due to excess stomach acid, which impedes normal digestion and forms sour gases that cause intense pain. To restore good digestion you must eliminate this cause. A tablet of "Pape's Diapepsin" after eating or when pain is felt will instantly neutralize the acidity and banish all digestive trouble and pain.

Get a 60-cent package of "Pape's Diapepsin" today, for it not only brings instant relief, but by soothing, healing and strengthening your weak and disordered stomach "Pape's Diapepsin" keeps your digestive system healthy and helps to prevent further disorders.

The NEW CENTURY EIGHT

ALL OF THE CENTURY'S MOTORING PROGRESS FINDS EXPRESSION IN THIS GREAT EIGHT

So completely does the new Hupmobile Century Eight represent the century's finest development in motor car design, that it offers startling contrast with fine cars of even recent date. Certainly no car surpasses it in distinguished beauty. And in the number and quality of modern aids to smooth performance it stands unrivaled among the finest productions of Europe or America. Typical of the care applied to its design, is the application of thermostats to the three important points of water circulation, carburetor and radiator shutters—automatically providing perfect operating temperatures at all seasons. To realize the full difference which this and a score of other features bring to motoring enjoyment, arrange to make your first test of the new Hupmobile Century Eight at once.

WESTERLY WOMAN WAS VICTIM OF SNOW STORM

A victim of the heavy snow storm last week, Mrs. Bridget Stil of Westerly died Monday night. She was overcome in her back yard Friday night and partly buried in snow.

Her husband, Frank Still, returning from work, looked through the house for her. She was not there. After a short search, he found her lying in the yard, where she had evidently been overcome by the rigors of the storm while performing a household chore. Her 60 years had robbed her strength, and she remained unconscious until her death. Physicians said a stroke may have aggravated the exposure which caused her death.

Mrs. Still was born in Brimfield, Mass., and had lived for many years in Potter Hill. Besides her husband, she is survived by three sisters.

An apology is merely egotism turned wrong side up.

OBITUARY
Dr. John H. Evans

Dr. John H. Evans, 50, well known Near East Relief worker, and a former physician of this city, died Tuesday morning at his home in Brooklyn, N. Y., where he had resided for the past three years. Word of his death was received at noon Tuesday by Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lamb of Norwich Town, cousins of the deceased.

Dr. Evans returned from the Near East early in December of 1925 after having been engaged in relief work there for nearly four years. He was born in Putnam July 15, 1877, and was the son of Gen. and the Late Byron Evans, former Norwich residents. About 27 years ago he was united in marriage at the Little Church Around the Corner in New York city with Miss Lorena Babbitt of Putnam. For nearly three years past he had followed his profession as physician and surgeon in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Dr. and Mrs. Evans sailed in February, 1922, for Constantinople to serve as a surgeon in a Near East hospital. Mrs. Evans accompanied him as a teacher.

Dr. Evans was a graduate of Connecticut Agricultural college, the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia university, and did post-graduate work at Harvard medical school.

DR. JOHN H. EVANS

He practiced medicine in Norwich from 1904 to 1908, acting as pathologist and one of the attending staff at the W. W. Backus hospital. He was a captain in the Medical corps, C. N. G., and post surgeon for New London county. In 1908 he removed to central New York, where he was engaged in practice until 1917, when he entered the army as a lieutenant in the Medical corps, later being promoted to a captaincy. He served at Walter Reed General hospital, Washington; Camp Crane, Bellevue hospital, Camp Shelby, Fort Des Moines, and also served overseas. After the armistice he served with the Army of Occupation in Germany. In 1921, he resigned his commission.

Dr. Evans is a member of the United church of this city, St. James lodge, No. 22, F. and A. M., this city, and William consistory, No. 4, Wilmington, N. C. Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Genie Evans, of Bridgeport and Brooklyn; his wife, one brother, Lafayette E. Evans, and two nieces, Misses Lucretia Imogene Evans and Lorena Rebecca Evans, all of Bridgeport; his grandmother, Mrs. Rebecca Moriarty, 90, of Worcester, and two aunts, Mrs. Adrian Vander Pyl, of Worcester, and Mrs. Nellie S. Gilpatrick, of Boston. There are also several cousins, including Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lamb, of Norwich Town.

Mrs. Edmund A. Prentice

The sudden death of Mrs. Annie C. Prentice, wife of Edmund A. Prentice, occurred at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning at her home, No. 86 Cliff street. Mrs. Prentice suffered a shock Monday night and failed to rally. She was the daughter of Andrew J. and Georgianna Stanton Daniels and was born at East Lyme, February 22, 1869. At New Haven in 1899 she was united in marriage with Edmund A. Prentice, and since their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Prentice had made their home in Norwich. Mrs. Prentice was a member of the Old Lyme Congregational church.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Prentice leaves two sons, Harry Champion, proprietor of the Old Lyme Inn, and Robert W. Champion, also connected with the inn. There are two brothers, Albert A. Daniels of New London, William Daniels of Niantic and a sister, Mrs. Leslie Hayes of Windsor.

Mrs. Prentice was a loving wife and mother and was highly esteemed by her many friends to whom her death will bring a deep sense of loss.

SETTLEMENT IN $10,000 SUIT AFTER PARTIAL TRIAL IN SUPERIOR COURT

Trial of the $10,000 suit of Stephen Di Maggio of New York against John B. and William Tourjee of Groton, doing business as the Interstate Transportation company, which was started in the superior court at New London at noon Tuesday before Judge C. L. Avery and a jury came to a halt in the afternoon and a settlement was effected out of court.

The suit arose out of a crash between a truck belonging to the defendant and another belonging to the plaintiff, in Southern Boulevarde, New York, on Dec. 17, 1926, at 5:45 o'clock in the morning.

DiMaggio claimed that he is in the ice business and that the defandant's truck crashed into the rear of his truck, damaged the car to the extent of $900, which he paid out for repairs, totally demolishing the load of ice which was aboard the truck and hurling DiMaggio to the road, causing him serious injuries.

The plaintiff alleged gross negligence on the part of the defendant company and claimed to have been obliged to expend the sum of $50 a week for a period of time, during which his truck was undergoing repairs.

DiMaggio claimed to have received severe cuts, bruises and contusions about the head and body, injuries to the left shoulder, arm, and elbow, shock to the nervous system and to have been obliged to spend out large sums for medical care, attention and nursing.

The defendant made a general denial of the allegations. Atty. Snyder, of New York, appeared for the plaintiff and Atty. Arthur T. Keefe for the defendant.

The following was the jury on the case: New London, Charles R. Ogden; Groton, Adrian C. Hewitt, Ernest W. Brown, Ernest Allen; Stonington, Mason Manning, Everett D. Chapman, Walter C. Merrill; Montville, Frank Scholfield; Ledyard, Gilbert Hagen; East Lyme—Elvin A. Stanton, William A. Greene.

JAPANESE FRIENDSHIP DOLLS TO BE AT ACADEMY

The Japanese friendship dolls which have been on exhibition in Norwich this week will be in Converse Art Gallery, on Thursday, March 15, from 10 to 3.30. This will give an especial opportunity for Academy students to inspect them, one of the dolls which went to Japan from America last year having been dressed at the school.

The dolls will be in that section of the gallery where Mrs. Gale's Japanese ivories and other choice objects from Japan are already shown.

The "Hinamatsuri" or Doll Festival's origin is cloaked in mystery, but is believed to have started at the beginning of the Tokugawa period, about 300 years ago. But for hundreds of years before that, there was an ancient custom of playing with tiny dolls called "Hina."

But on the evening of the third of March, in all Japanese homes, rich and poor, high and low, where there is a daughter, they celebrate the day in their inner room without fail. The ceremony centers about the family's "doll festival set."

These sets are all the same, in that the same characters are represented and the same furniture displayed, in exactly the same position in hundreds of thousands of homes. In the royal and wealthy families these sets are worth thousands of dollars. Poor children have cheap imitations.

But rich or poor, no child plays with its festival set during the year. It is carefully locked up except for the three days of the festival. During this festival the small daughters of each household hold sway.

Each little girl, at the proper age, is required to show, by her handling of the doll according to a strict and unvarying system, and her ceremonious reception to other small girl visitors, and by her ability to prepare and serve the proper kinds of tiny portions of food, her readiness to accept her place as head of her own household.

Some idea of the importance of the ceremony may be obtained by realization that this festival is as great in Japan as the American Christmas is here. Fishermen go out with small nets to catch doll-sized fish; farmers harvest tiny, doll sized vegetables; stores are filled with equipment of all kinds with which to embellish the doll festival sets.

And this year, for the first time in 300 years, a stranger is to appear in many of these doll festival sets. American dolls have been given places in the formal festival sets possessed by school and kindergartens. It is the first time for centuries that any radical change has been made in this oldest and most important of Japan's children's festivals.

REPORTS SHOW Y. M. C. A. SEASON MOST ACTIVE

The attendance and interest in the board meeting of the local Young Men's Christian association held Tuesday evening was very encouraging. Acting President Herbert B. Cary presided and he called for reports of the various committees, all of which were hopeful and indicated good work accomplished in the past and promised well for the future of the association.

The report of General Secretary Edwin Hill showed that the present season has been the busiest and most fruitful of any season thus far in the various lines of activity. The boys' work, and the physical work is most healthy and the spiritual activities have been exceedingly encouraging.

The annual meeting of the association occurs on Wednesday, April 11th, and the anniversary service will be held on Sunday evening, April 15. Acting President Cary appointed the following committee to present nominations for officers and directors for the coming year: James M. Morton, Arthur F. Wyman, Herbert W. Gallup, C. Edward Smith and Harold S. Burt.

Regarding the annual series of services under Y. M. C. A. auspices, the board voted unanimously to request the committee to secure Dr. Henry Howard for another year.

SUIT IS BROUGHT FOR DAMAGE TO AUTOMOBILE

William L. Crandall of New London, who was driving his Ford sedan from this city to New London on the evening of Nov. 6, 1927, has brought suit in the superior court against Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dawson of Willimantic for $1,000 damages.

Mr. Crandall claims that his automobile was damaged to the extent of $500 by collision with the Dawson sedan at Quaker Hill and that the defendants were to blame for the accident in that the Dawson machine attempted to pass between two other cars going in opposite directions, failed to keep on its right hand side of the highway, but passed over the center line of the highway and crowded over onto the plaintiff's side so that the Dawson car hit the Crandall car.

DESTROYER FORCE TAKES MATCH FROM DANIELSON

The Destroyer Force team in the Mohegan Rifle league defeated the Donielson Rod and Gun club, 935 to 893, in a match at the state armory in this city, Tuesday night.

CURRENT EVENTS TALK HITS NOMINATION POSSIBILITIES

Mrs. Mary Gaylord Atwell continued on Tuesday evening at the Wauregan hotel her series of current events talks before the Women's City club, which as usual were entertaining and instructive and enlivened by her apt and often witty comment upon men and events which she reviewed for the past month.

She touched upon a number of developments during the month and aroused much interest by her comment upon the situation as to candidates for the presidential nominations. Hoover she said, seems to be making considerable progress in political wisdom. She pointed out his answer to Senator Borah's question on prohibition as an example of this. Hoover had given an answer in which both wets and drys can find something to be pleased about, but not overpleased. Hoover also had been put in a difficult position by being asked what he would do about flood control, but had handled this very diplomatically by suggesting that the matter was so complicated that it ought to be studied by a commission which would take plenty of time to reach the right solution. Hoover, she said, was very popular in Washington, and she told of a straw vote that was taken in two New York apartment houses, when the men voted overwhelmingly for Hoover, but the women, curiously enough, were for Dawes.

Mrs. Atwell took a straw vote in the meeting by a show of hands which was strongly for Hoover. The talk among the politicians, she said is now of a deadlock in the convention with Hoover against the field, and the latest dark horse being groomed for that situation is General Pershing.

Taking up the democratic side, she said that the three prominent candidates now mentioned are Reed, a Prodetant and dry; Walsh, a Catholic and dry; Smith, a Catholic and wet. You can have all kinds. One of the amusing suggestions made recently is that just before it becomes certain in the convention that Smith is to be nominated, he will announce the cabinet he would appoint.

Mrs. Atwell spoke of some of the strong men in the democratic ranks who might be named if such a thing were possible. These included Owen Young, Will Rogers, Governor Ritchie of Maryland, Bernard Baruch, the financier, McAdoo, Carter Glass, Governor Moody of Texas, and Charles Mitchell, New York financial wizard.

TWO MOTOR DRIVERS GET LICENSES BACK

Two motor vehicle drivers' licenses were returned while one driver was allowed to keep his operator's license by Inspector Philip E. Devnew, who presided at a series of motor vehicle hearings at the court house in New London, Monday.

Albert Goss, of 25 Lincoln avenue, New Londong was given back his permit to drive following a hearing on the charge of overloading against him. It was his second offense in that connection.

William J. Schoonman, New London nurseryman, was allowed to keep his license following the hearing on a complaint made by Rhode Island authorities that he was driving between 55 and 65 miles an hour. Mr. Schoonman explained that his son was driving under instructions by him and that the illness of a person in the car made it necessary to hurry along, although he said his car was not going over 55 at any time. The inspector said that because of Mr. Schoonman's previous good record since 1916 when he first took out a license, he would allow him to keep it. Other cases were disposed of as follows:

Frank LaFemina, 44 Smith street, New London, reckless driving, suspended.

Henry W. Edwards, Chester, no operator's license, operating under influence and operating without permission of owner of car, returned. The testimony of officers was taken in the following cases:

William Howard, 412 Ferry street, New Haven, operating under influence.

Chester A. Johnson, Hopewell road, Glastonbury, operating under influence.

Otto E. Lawrence, 272 Cortts street, Meriden, operating under influence.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR WILL ENTER INT'L. CRUSADE

Christian Endeavor societies and other youth groups in the churches of this vicinity will enter the international crusade with Christ, states Harold H. Muttart, president of the Norwich union. The crusade is based on allegiance to Christ and the church in terms of evangelism, world peace, and Christian citizenship. The first emphasis of this new youth movement will be on evangelism, the individual's relations to God and religion. This phase of the crusade formally opens during the week preceding Easter, which will be observed by the young people as a week of prayer for the international crusade with Christ.

On Easter morning, surprise prayer meetings will be held in thousands of cities and villages all throuc North America, in which it is expected 4,000,000 young people of Christian Endeavor, the Epworth league, and other young people's church organizations will participate.

On the Sunday following Easter, April 15, the young people will consider in their societies and discussion periods the topic, "How Can We Crusade With Christ?" Societies will be asked to set definite goals for their part in the crusade. In the months following, the crusade ideals will be presented in young people's conventions and conferences and in summer camps.

HYDRO ELECTRIC OUTPUT IN STATE WAS PHENOMENAL

The year of 1927 was the most exceptional year in the history of the electric light and power industry in Connecticut, according to United States Geological survey figures. During 1927, Connecticut hydro electric plants located along various rivers and streams throughout the state generated by water power the stupendous total of 271,367,000 kilowatt hours, a gain of 130,176,000 kilowatt hours over 1926 which in itself was a record year for water generation in this state. The gain in hydro electric production for the year was 50.5 per cent. Never in history has such an increase in hydro power taken place.

The extraordinary rise in hydro generation was made possible by the exceptionally wet, rainy weather during the summer months, the heavy rains impounding water behind the hydro dams and creating a constant source of pressure throughout the year. This power could not have been put to use, however, had it not been for the farsightedness of utility executives and engineers in placing heavy investments in the construction of hydro plants to take advantage of just such situations.

During the year of 1926, water power generation varied from 4,433,000 kilowatt hours in July to 24,986,000 kilowatt hours in December. During the entire year, the totals ranged between those two figures, one of the most extraordinary totals being the 19,128,000 kilowatt hours produced in August, usually the driest and least productive month in the year from the hydron stadpoint. The hydro figure for August, 1926, was 8,628,000 kilowatt hours.

FUNERALS
John F. Nevins

Funeral services for John F. Nevins, three years old son of John F. and Helen Gleason Nevins of 11 Kinney street, was held at 2.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at St. Joseph's cemetery. Rt. Rev. Mgr. Michael H. May conducted the service at the grave. The child died Monday at the home of his parents. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Cummings and Ring.

James J. Dwyer

The body of James J. Dwyer, about 60, who died in Taunton, Mass., March 8th, arrived in Norwich Saturday by automobile cortege and the burial took place in St. Mary's cemetery, Rt. Rev. Mgr., Michael H. May of St. Patrick's church conducted the committal service. The burial took place at 1 o'clock. Relatives and friends accompanied the body here.

Mr. Dwyer was born in Norwich and was the son of the late Michael and Margaret Casey Dwyer. The greater part of his life was passed in this city and for some years he was employed as a conductor on local lines by the Connecticut company. For about 20 years he had made his home in Taunton.

Surviving Mr. Dwyer are his wife, Mrs. Annie L. Sylvia Dwyer, a son, Frank Dwyer in Taunton, a daughter, Miss Margaret Dwyer, also of Taunton and two sisters, Mrs. Annie McCarthy of this city and Mrs. Mary Hamilton of Detroit, Mich. There are also two grandchildren.

Saw Six Seals

Six seals were sighted by the men of the U. S. coast guard when they came over to Stonington from Fishers Island at noon Monday. The seals were sporting in the water west of Latimore lighthouse. Each year a school of these animals is seen in that locality.

Automobiles in Collision

While Albert A. James of 52 North Main street had his Studebaker runabout standing in front of his home early Tuesday evening, the machine was run into from the rear by a Ford coupe driven by its owner, J. B. Ricketts of 114 Prospect street. The James car had the left front mudguard torn off and the Ricketts machine had the right front wheel hub cap damaged.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Adam P. Carroll have as their guest the latter's mother, Mrs. Herbert R. Fitts, of Natick, Mass.

The Tuesday Afternoon Bridge club was entertained by Mrs. Charles F. O'Brien, of 206 Broadway. Miss Ella C. Shannon and Mrs. Henry H. Vignot won the prizes.

Mrs. Earl Mathewson and son Randolph, of Linden Parkway are in Brooklyn, N. Y., for a visit.

Master Charles Armistead Colt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Colt, has returned to his home on Broadway, having spent the spring vacation with his aunt, Mrs. Arthur Marriott Shepley, of Roland Park, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Rogers, of Washington street have returned from Yonkers, after a week end visit to Mr. and Mrs. Bruce F. Rogers.

There was wide social interest Tuesday in the cabled announcement of the engagement of Miss Marian Gallaudet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edson F. Gallaudet, now of Providence, to Walter Averill Powers, of Oakfield, Maine. For a number of years Mr. and Mrs. Gallaudet and family resided at 270 Broadway, Norwich. The announcement made from Rome, where the wedding will take place at the home of Miss Gallaudet's aunt, the Marchesa Cesati, formerly Miss Anna Cockrell, of Washington and Missouri, whose marriage with the Greek ambassador, Lombras Caromlias was a society event in Norwich, the ceremony being performed at the Gallaudet residence here. M. Caromilas died several years ago in Greece. Later his widow married and is now a resident of Rome, her home being the Palazzo Barberini.

REDS TO KEEP PURDY AND CALLAGHAN, A'S ORWOLL

ATLANTA, March 13—(AP)—While many of baseball's rookies still live in a state of dread for the fate that always befalls a great portion of their number, others who came labelled "recruits" apparently are well on the way to regular berths.

Jack Hendricks of the Cincinnati Reds announced part of his 1928 roster today at Orlando, and two youngsters, Everett Purdy and Martain Callaghan who came from Seattle, heard their names called among the select.

Oswald Orwoll from Milwaukee and Joe Bassler from Waterbury have "landed" at Fort Myers with the Philadelphia Athletics. Connie Mack has indicated.

Dan Howley, grooming the St. Louis Browns at West Palm Beach is visibly impressed with infielders Kress, Brannon and Sturdy and expects to carry them all.

Then, too, at Tampa, Clark Griffith's Washington Senators find Barnes, outfielder; Gillis and Hayes, infielders, and Ganzel, outfielder, all looking good to stick with the indications that Gillis and Hayes, both former University of Alabama players, will work utility roles while Reeves, regular shortstop of last season, who had his training at Georgia Tech working well at his regular position.

The Boston Red Sox at Bradenton, Yankees and Braves at St. Petersburg, Robins at Clearwater, Cardinals at Avon Park, and Phillies at Winter Haven, Fla., all have youngsters who look good enough to remain, observers say.

Manager Moriarity reduced his Detroit squad at San Antonio today by one man, releasing Walter Newman, recruit pitcher, to the local Texas league club. A lengthy skull drill featured the Tigers training during the day.

The Cleveland Indians had their Yannigans at Biloxi, Miss., today playing Toledo while the regulars went through routine training at their New Orleans camp.

The Chicago Americans continued intensive fielding practice at Shreveport preparatory to going on the road for a series of exhibition tilts.

RISKO BECAME BOXER BECAUSE OUT OF A JOB

NEW YORK, —(AP)—Johnny Risko, like Jack Dempsey, became a heavyweight pugilist because he was out of a job.

The Cleveland heavyweight, widely known as the "rubber man" and "the baker boy," actually was a baker boy. There is no disposition to assert he actually is made of rubber, although his opponents often think he is.

It was five years ago. Young Risko, learning the art of fashioning pies and cakes, got the baking powder mixed up with the flour and lost his job. In the jobless period he shot some pool, loafed a bit—and finally swapped a friendly punch or two with a neighbor named Frankie Stelmach.

To Stelmach, a Cleveland lightweight of purely local repute, Danny Dunn, Risko's

DUWELL A. A. STAGES 12 BANNER BOUTS FOR RECORD CROWD OF 1400

A crowd that filled the armory for the second amateur indoor boxing show of the Duwell A. C. saw twelve bouts of real fighting, which had the fans on their feet throughout. Big Boy Burlap, weighing 200 lbs, fighting under his own name of Earl Champlain finally managed to K. O. his map, Henry Bell, 188 lbs., of Hartford in the second round of what was to be the feature bout. Earl with his usual abundance of fat wore his man down with his hard right hand and knocked him down twice for nine counts in the first, the bell saving him the second time. Earl connected in the second again and Bell went down and out. But the big boy just about made his corner, all in himself. The management still is busy trying to find a suitable opponent for him.

The feature bout, however, did not outshine the majority of the other goes. Joe Bishop of Danielson with a good left jab won the decision over Tony Marreti of Westerly in the hard-fought opening bout. Both lads weighed 112.

Sidney Nichols of Danielson came back sufficiently in the last round of the second go to earn a draw with Young Luzzio of Westerly, but the Westerly lad refused to answer the call for the fourth round thereby closing a tough bout that he might have won. Nichols' best punch was a right to the body at close rang which wore down Luzzio who had a margin in the first two rounds, earned by swinging hard blows to the face and body. The Danielson lad weighed 111 and Luzzio 109.

The third bout only lasted about two minutes. Frankie Adams fighting in great form caught Andy Suplicki of Hartford with two beautiful lefts and rights to the jaw and Andy went down and out. He put up a good fight while he lasted but Frankie was too much for him. He weighed 130 to Frankie's 133.

Stiff-punching and aggressive Joe Marino of Hartford won the decision over Happy Bontempo of Jewett City in a hard fought battle, in the fourth bout. Both boys drove home some hard blows Bontempo landing hi sleft to the body often, which only seemed to make Marino fight the harder. This bout was also an excellent one. Both weighed 130.

Lucian Broulard 137 lbs. of Danielson, a shifty hard hitting boy who showed here for the first time gave Charles Baumenant of Westerly 135 lbs. a tough time, but the Westerly boy who has heretofore fought as Young Chape knew too much for him and won the decision, but he certainly knew he was in a fight. Both boys swapped punches throughout, Broulard always coming in for more punishment which Baumenant doled out. Broulard was rather wild with his punches, but will make a good performer with a little more experience. This, too, was a mighty good bout.

The sixth go was also chuck full of action, both boys slugging all the way through. Charles Gaulet of Danielson getting the decision over game Ernest Gauvin of Taftville. Gaulet drew blood from the Taftville boy's nose early in the fight and kept tapping away at it the rest of the way. Gauvin fought back every inch of the way and held his own with the more experienced lad, who continued to send in hard rights to Gauvin's body.

The Fall of Rome

It took Jimmy Quinn, the classy local featherweight about two minutes of the first round to solve Micky Rome's wild swinging style. The Hartford lad came tearing in and let fly a few rights which didn't bother Quinn. He bided his time, sidestepped two lights of Rome's brought up his left to the Hartford boy's jaw twice in succession and they carried him to his corner. Jimmy weighed 134 and Micky 121.

Johnny Switch of Jewett City won and yet lost his fight with Jack Boulay of Danielson in the next encounter. Boulay fighting his first fight didn't get started at all until it was about over. Switch hit Boulay with everything he had and tired himself out doing it. He had Boulay down twice in the second round and only the latter's gameness kept him going. But Switch took things easy just when he shouldn't. He failed to take advantage of Boulay's shortcomings and just couldn't seem to bring over the finishing punch. With about fifteen seconds to go in the last round the Danielson lad shut his eyes pulled himself together with all his remaining strength hauled his right back and let go—and it caught Switch on the button, sent him across the ring, and down on his knees. The towel was flonted in for some unknown reason just two seconds before the final bell sounded. It was too bad that he should have lost the fight after having things his own way all the way through. Both weighed 139.

Ward Wins

Mickey Ward of New London continued his record of knockouts when he finished off Al Broulard of Danielson in the second round when the referee stopped the bout to save Broulard from further punishment. Ward was too clever for the Danielson boy who put up a stubborn battle but he was rather groggy at the end of the first, and was almost out when the referee stepped in. Ward weighed 141 and Broulard 138.

Ralph Bargnesi and Patsy Ferra two Norwich boys went at it hot and heavy for a round and a half in the 10th bout. Patsy after a long layoff couldn't stand the hard punching of Ralph's and succumbed in the second from a terrific right to the chin. Ferra weighed 155 and Bargnesi 156.

Joe Bruno, the tough Westerly boy, who has put up some fine battles here, went down to defeat under the hard punching of Emory Branch of Hartford, and if the bell hadn't rung when it did Branch would have been credited with a K. O. Bruno gave Branch a good battle all the way but Branch took his time, awaiting an opening, which came just before the final bell. He caught Bruno against the ropes and sent in a terrific right that sent Bruno down and apparently out when the bell rang. Bruno weighed 149 and Branch 147.

Big Boy Burlap and Henry Bell furnished the fireworks in the final bout.

The fans went away very well pleased with the card and the fashion in which it was run under the A. A. U. auspices. Frankie Busch refereed and did a fine job, as usual.

SEEN FROM A RINGSIDE SEAT

If the crowds keep increasing, it will be necessary to build on an addition to the armory. Thirteen hundred paid customers is the record for the indoor shows in Norwich.

A good show, plenty of action, good decisions, nice officiating, all contributed to make it a mighty entertaining evening. As they say over in East Voluntown, "a nice time was had by all."

Jimmy Quinn, local featherweight, was the cream of the show last night. Jimmy polished off his Hartford opponent with despatch, as he was not fighting under wraps last night. He is a comer and should go to the top in his class in the state.

Emery Branch, Hartford tar baby, knows his way about a ring and no mistake about it. The way he manhandled Joe Bruno showed that he had learned his boxing from someone who knew his onions.

Burlap got the decision over Bell by a knockout. After looking at Bell on the floor and seeing Burlap swaying groggily over him it would have been fair enough to call it a draw.

This Burlap-Bell bout, while interesting, had many other features about it. Bell is cross-eyed, and oh so cross-eyed, while Burlap is no Ethiopian Adonis. Burlap has a figure that is comfortably upholstered in fat but in both hands is a bunch of cement whipped by steel bands.

The judges, Doc Sussler and Les Manchester, did a nice job of picking winners. Their verdicts met with favor in all but one bout, the Gauvin-Gaulet bout, which the crowd thought should have been a draw.

Frankie Busch makes a real impressive referee and his work improves with each show. It looked like old times to see Busch, Jimmy Shenkel and Shelk Leonard running around the ring.

The Duwell will put on another show on March 27 with a New Haven or Springfield team furnishing the opposition for the newly organized Duwell boxing outfit.

Rene Peloquin of Danielson was announced as having signed up with the Duwell team.

Mickey Ward of New London fought at the Pastime A. C. show two weeks ago but was reinstated in time to box last night. Another Pastime performer, Young Bargnesi or Young Paulino, fought Patsy Ferra in a rather hectic battle.

Bargnesi packs a mighty mean wallop as Ferra will vouch. Bargnesi said after he had kayoed Ferra that it was a good thing Ferra dropped because he was all out of wind.

There was not a word of criticism to be heard after the show and all went away pleased with the possible exception of Jack Potts. Jack felt that he got a bad break on one decision and Young Switch went back on him.

Mayor Waters occupied a ringside seat and His Honor thoroughly enjoyed the evening.

PASTIME A. C. AMATEUR CARD FRIDAY AT OLYMPIC

The Pastime A. C. will run their regular semi-monthly amateur card Friday night at Olympic hall. Another strong lineup of boxers is predicted with boys entered from several surrounding towns, including Westerly, New London, Danielson, Putnam and Willimantic, in addition to the local punchers and a team from New Haven.

Several of the old favorites who have appeared many times on local cards have signed to appear and the promoters are already beginning to match them and think of a packed house.

BASKETBALL BRIEFS

The C. F. C.-Academy series looks like a real "natural."

This extends the Academy season longer probably than any other school in the state.

But no one will kick, for there ought to be a lot of thrills in these meetings.

The Plainfield Pros and Taftville Crescents start another thrill-making factory tonight with their series for the eastern Connecticut semi-pro title.

The Y Emps, who have not played in a couple of weeks, are still longing for another game with the New Britain Phantoms.

Meanwhile, the Emps will without doubt carry the favorites' colors into the Intermediate championship tournament at the Y next week.

What goes up came near not coming down in the C. F. C.-Mystic game last Saturday. One of Joe Belair's boys tossed in a basket and as it was dropping down through, a C. F. C. player gently shoved it back up over the rim again. The basket, of course, was allowed.

The Naugatuck defeat by Crosby last night was some surprise. The Waterbury team, here last Saturday, didn't look like a team capable of beating Naugy.

CROSBY HIGH BEATS NAUGATUCK, 28 TO 22

WATERBURY, March 13.—(AP)—In the biggest upset of the state high school basketball season, Crosby high defeated Naugatuck, eastern champions of the University of Pennsylvania tournament here tonight 28 to 22. Tying the score at the close of the third period, Crosby turned loose an attack in the last quarter which the Garnet and Gray failed to halt.

The Academy beat Crosby here last Saturday, 20 to 16.

'BOUT SPORTS

Word comes from the Pacific coast that Jack Dempsey's much-reported "bum eye" is nothing more than a myth. In a talk with a leading fight writer out on the Golden Slope the other day the former heavy champ had a hard time, it was said, in keeping track of which eye was the afflicted one. Many think that Dempsey's repeated denials of a comeback are but to boost sales at the present eliminations, seeing as how Jack is a stockholder in the Madison Square Garden corporation. They think that after all the eliminations have been accomplished and but memory remains of "logical contenders" as is fast becoming the case, that Dempsey will then step out ready for his third try at Gene Tunney.

It is rather unique to find a high school and an independent team fighting for a city title for these two types of teams are supposed to be in a class of their own. However, that is what the Academy and C. F. C. intend to start doing Saturday night and, if interest so far in the affair meant anything, they ought to do their fighting before large audiences.

BASEBALL NEWS

SENATORS AND BRAVES IN NINE INNINGS DEADLOCK

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 13—(AP)—The Washington Senators and Boston Braves battled nine innings to a scoreless tie here this afternoon, with Marberry for the Senators and Hearn for Boston, pitching in mid-season form. Rogers Hornsby went hitless. It was generally a listless affair otherwise, with the Americans getting five hits as compared with two for the Braves. The game was called at the end of the ninth inning by agreement. Score:

Washington (A)	000	000	000	0	5	0
Boston (N)	000	000	000	0	2	1

Marberry and McMullen; Hearn and Taylor.

LUQUE AND EDWARDS PITCH REDS TO WIN

ORLANDO, Fla., March 13.—(AP)—Luque and Edwards held the St. Louis Browns to seven scattered hits and the Cincinnati Reds took the lead in the four game exhibition series by winning the third contest today 2 to 0.

Beck and Wright pitched well for the Browns, but a fluke double, combined with two singles, gave the Reds two runs off Beck in the third.

St. Louis	000	000	000	0	7	0
Cincinnati	002	000	00x	2	8	1

Beck, Wright and Manion, O'Neill; Luque, Edwards and Wingo, Hargrave.

Toledo 19, Indians 8

BILOXI, Miss., March 13.—(AP)—The Toledo Mudhens, American association champions, defeated a pick-upp team of Cleveland Indians 19 to 8 today, scoring a cluster of seven runs in the fourth inning and seven more in the fifth.

Joe Shaute held the Mudhens scoreless for the first three innings but they reached Heidelbach, Bolton and Ferrell, a trio of recruits, for 16 hits and 19 runs in the next three frames. The spree was climaxed by Heinie Mueller's home run with the bases full in the sixth.

Eddie Morgan, Indian recruit outfielder, got a home run and two other extra base hits.

The game was called after the Indians' half of the eighth to enable them to return to New Orleans.

Score by innings:

Cleveland ..	120	102	200	8	15	3
Toledo	000	775	0x	19	18	3

Shaute, Heidelbach, Bolton, Ferrell and Autry, Stahlman; Pfeier, Huntsinger, Maunn and Devormer, O'Neil, Hamby.

White Sox Win

SHREVEPORT, La., March 13—(AP)—Shreveport's early lead was wiped out by a great eighth inning rally by the Chicago White Sox today, the Sox winning their second game in a row from the locals 9 to 6.

The score:

Chicago (AL) ...	000	021	150	5	11	2
Shreveport (TL)	011	000	022	6	8	4

Connally, Wilson, Cox and Berg, McCurdy; Jackson, Thompson, Brown, Kreneck and Hayworth, Campbell.

NEWTON WINS TENTH LAP IN FOUR HOURS, THREE MIN.

KINGMAN, Ariz., March 13.—(AP)—Arthur Newton, the great British long distance runner, showed his heel to the remainder of the field today to win the tenth lap of the Coast to Coast marathon. He covered the 28.8 mile stretch from Oatman, Ariz., to this city in four hours and three minutes.

Already leader n the total elapsed time, the lanky entrant from Rhodesia, South Africa, boosted his advantage heavily again today. His total time for the 345.7 miles covered since the race got under way at Los Angeles March 4, is 53 hours and 32 minutes.

Paul Simpson of Chrlotte, N. C., was the second to complete today's stretch. His time was four hours and 10 minutes, giving him a total elapsed time of 74 hours, 56 minutes and 59 seconds. Simpson led the field at the 18 mile-mark, but relinquished it shortly after as Newton's steady pace carried him to the fore.

The field of contestants showed another slight reduction today, 127 runners leavng the starting pont at Oatman.

ST. GODDARD WINS FIRST DAY'S HEAT AT THE PAS

THE PAS, Man., March 13—(AP)—Emile St. Goddard captured the first day's heat of the three-day The Pas Dog Derby today, covering the 40 miles in three hours, forty-one minutes and thirty-five seconds.

St. Goddard's time was five minutes and fifty seconds slower than his time for the first day of last year's race.

Second place today went to Earl Brydges, whose time was 3:48:35. Harry Olensky was third, seven minutes behind Brydges.

AL KOZIOL MAY GO TO DETROIT CHAMPIONSHIPS

Al Koziol missed his chance to fight in the New England championships at Boston Monday because of the badly damaged right hand received last Saturday afternoon at his home. He made the trip to the Hub but after the commissions of both Rhode Island and Massachusetts had viewed his hand, he was kept from the tourney.

However, it is said that he will be allowed, by a special ruling, to go to Detroit in April for the national championships and Olympic tryouts.

PLAINFIELD PROS AND TAFTVILLE OPEN E. CONN. TITLE SERIES TONIGHT

Taftville	Plainfield
Kiley, lf	lf, Normandin
Harris, rf	rf, Kasper
Martin, c	c, Bernot
Morley, lg	lg, Dissenger
Brown, rg	rg, Benson

The Taftville Crescents and Plainfield Pros open their eastern Connecticut title series tonight at the Plainfield Community House. The Crescents qualified for this two out of three games series by beating the Danielson Town Team in a series of the same length.

FIDDLE MORLEY

Taftville has already announced that it will strengthen with three Boston Whirlwinds, Fiddle Morley, Kiley and Martin and it is expected that even greater reinforcements will be on hand for the Crescents by game time.

Plainfield will use practically the same lineup as has played all season with the exception of Kasper, who has been signed lately and has played the last few games with the Community House bunch.

Last year Plainfield won in two straight games, beating a team heavily loaded with Whrlwind players the second time but since the Whirlwinds have already trimmed the Pros twice this year, the meeting tonight goes as practically an even bet.

In the preliminary the Plainfield Buddies will meet the Laurels of South Manchester. Smith will referee. The prelim will start at 8 p. m. with the main attraction at 9 o'clock. A packed house is expected.

HAHN AFTER MILE RECORD TONIGHT IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP)—Making his last start of the present indoor season, Lloyd Hahn will seek to establish a new mark for the three-quarters of a mile in the Annual Manhattan college games at the 102nd Engineers armory here tomorrow night.

With a new half mile mark of 1:51 2-5 already to his credit this season, Hahn seems to have an even chance of breaking Paavo Nurmi's record for the three-quarters of 3:03 2-5. Despite the fact that he will be running on an unbanked track and without the aid of spiked shoes. In the event that he fails to break the three-quarters of a mile mark, Hahn plans to continue on to the mile in an effort to wipe out the record for that distance of 4:12 held by Joie Ray and Nurmi.

Opposing the stock Boston A. A. star will be Schuyler Enck, former Penn State filer, and several others.

Some 600 athletes have entered the 16 events on th program. Prominent among them are Leo Lermond, best two miler of the year; Dave Adelman, Georgetown's intercollegiate shot put champion; Johnny Gibson, of Bloomfield Lyceum; Vince Lally of Columbus council, Knights of Columbus; Bob McAllister, of the same club; Eddie Hector, Georgetown quarter-miler, and Bernard McCafferty, of Seton Hall college.

ARMY AND HARVARD SIGN FOUR-YEAR CONTRACT

WEST POINT, N. Y., March 13.—(AP)—Athletic authorities of West Point and Harvard, which renew football relations this fall, have agreed upon a three-year extension of their gridiron agreement covering games for 1929, 1930, and 1931.

In makng this announcement today Major Philip Fleming, graduate manager of athletics, announced that the 1929-30 contests will be played at the Harvard stadium in Cambridge, where this year's game will also take place. The 1931 contest will be played in the West Point stadium. No definite dates have been fixed for the games except this year which is booked for October 20.

In renewing relations this year with Harvard after an interval of about twenty years the Army apparently intends to put its rivalry with the Crimson on a footing similar to that with Yale and make it an annual affair. It is in line with the Army policy now of taking on a number of definite fixtures, now that the annual clash with the Navy is off the schedule. Yale and Notre Dame have long been established rivals.

ORIGINAL CELTICS COMING TO PLAINFIELD IN APRIL

Announcement was made last night that the Original Celtics will pay their annual visit to the Plainfield Pros in a few weeks, which would make it in April. The Pros this year stand the best chance of their lifetime to make a good showing against the world's champions for the Plainfield team has had a mighty successful season.

WINDHAM AND NAUGY TO MEET FRIDAY NIGHT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, March 13.—Having been eliminated from the Yale tournament, the speedy Naugatuck and Windham high school basketball quintets have arranged for a match in the Naugatuck Y. M. C. A. court next Friday night. Arrangements for the post-season classic were completed late this afternoon between Coach Thomas A. Callaghan and Coch Foley, Naugatuck mentor. The plans couched a possible return game in this city. Naugatuck has won all but two of 27 games played and issued victorious in the niversity of Pennsylvania tournament last week, also annexing a victory over Wilby last Saturday night in Waterbury. Coach Miss Margery Harvey announced today that the postponed game between the Windham and Stonington girls' teams would be played off in Stonington Wednesday night.

Wndham is still feeling a little raw about its elemination from the Yale tournament, pointing, among other accomplishments, to its victories over the Manchester team which is one of those selected. A communication received by Principal Egbert A. Case of Wndham high school from Dr. A. G. Ireland, secretary of the state interscholastic conference, states that Windham has been selected as a first alternate for the tournament. Mention is also made that the conference believed Captain Edward Nchols was guilty of a charge of professionalism in connection with his playing with the Plainfield Pros. To be selected as first alternate means not to be selected as a regular participant for the tourney and Windham takes the inference as such. It does not appear that much, if anything, has been proven against Captan Nichols although there is an insinuation that an eye-witness saw a monetary transacton between a representative of the Plainfield team and Nichols. Let come what may, Windham is out of the tourney, but hardly feels satisfied that the aims of justice in the game have been satisfied.

DRASTIC CHANGE MADE IN YALE CREW

NEW HAVEN, March 13—(AP)—Coach Ed leader in the most drastic shake-up in the Yale crews, made four changes in the varsity eight today.

Francesco who stroked the varsity in yesterday's workout was dropped to the third boat, Paler of last year's freshman crew who was at number four yesterday moving to stroke.

Taylor, who rowed bow on last year's varsity was demoted to the second boat, Blagden, who had number seven yesterday replacing him in the bow.

Turner who has had no varsity experience was jumped from the third boat to number seven in the first boat.

Griggs who was in the second boat yesterday was moved back to number four in the first boat where he has been most of the winter.

The lineup of the varsity boat in today's workout was as follows: Varsity, cox, Stewart; stroke, Palmer; number 7, Turner; number 6, Quarrier; number 5, Ladd; number 4, Griggs; number 3, Paschall; number 2, Garnsey and bow, Blagden.

RISKO AND HEENEY LEAD IN "POINT-SCORING"

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP)—There have been something like 18 fights within the past year in the heavyweight scramble. Only five ended in knockouts. Most of the other failed to produce even a knockdown. It has been chiefly a merry-go-round as Tex Rickard has tried all possible combinations in an effort to produce an outstanding contender or two.

Here's about how the net results show up, using the hockey system of scoring two points for a victory and one for a draw.

	W.	L.	D.	P.
Johnny Risko	4	1	0	8
Tom Heeney	3	1	2	8
Paulino Uzcudun	2	3	1	5
Jack Sharkey	2	2	1	5
George Godfrey	2	0	0	4
Jack Dempsey	1	1	0	2
Jack Delaney	1	3	0	2

HARTFORD ROLLER POLO TEAM HERE SATURDAY

The Hartford All Stars, one of the leading amateur roller polo (roller hockey) teams in the Insurance City will meet the Norwich Unknown Five Saturday night at the Olympic hall rink. A fast game is expected. Two expert fancy skaters, one from the Threes Aces, a vaudeville act and the other from Hartford will also appear at Olympic hall Saturday night.

City league games for the rest of the season will be played on Tuesday and Saturday nights.

HUNTER WILL BE MISSING FROM DAVIS CUP TRAINING

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP)—Francis T. Hunter, second ranking American tennis star and doubles championship partner of Willam T. Tilden, will be missing when the American Davis cup squads reports for training and team selection next Monday at Augusta, Georgia.

Hughey McQuillan Signs

NEWARK, N. J., March 13—(AP)—Hughey McQuillan, former hurler for the Boston Nationals today signed a contract with the Newark International League club and then left to join the Bears at their St. Augustine, Fla., training camp.

Helen Payson Leads

BELLAIRE, Fla., March 13—(AP)—Helen Payson of Portland, Maine led the qualifying round of the annual Bellaire women's golf tournament today with a medal score of 81 for the 18 holes.

TOMMY LOUGHRAN READY FOR HEAVIES

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP)—The melancholy air hanging over Madison Square Garden since Tex Rickard's heavyweight elimination tournament burned out a bearing in the Jack Delaney-Tom Heeney fiasco and finally bogged down entirely when Johnny Risko trounced Jack Sharkey, lighted a bit today with the appearance of a new face and new challenger on the scene.

Would Meet Heeney Or Risko

Tommy Loughran, champion of the light heavyweights, announced that he is ready to prove his fitness for a match with Gene Tunney in June by fighting either Heeney or Risko or both. He asks only that Rickard guarantee him a match with the heavyweight champion in the case of victory.

After discussing the matter with the promoter, Tommy declared that he will ask the New York state athletic commission Friday for permission to temporarily invade the heavyweight ranks while still holding the 175 pound title. In the case of Jack Delaney, who made the same request, the commission ruled that the Bridgeport Rapier first must discard his championship before tackling the weighter pounders. Loughran gained the title when Delaney did so only to curl up in the face of Heeney's aggressiveness and bruising attack.

Rickard probably will await the decision of the boxing authorities before announcing further plans for the heavyweight elimination tourney, now n a state where all contestants, principally through lack of "color," and drawing power, have removed each other, whether n a victory or defeat, from championship consideration. Tentatively Rckard plans to match Heeney and Risko this spring, but he does not believe that either can become the box office attraction necessary to help draw a gate that will cover the $1,000,000 contract Tunney holds.

Rickard Disgusted

Rickard was just plain disgusted with his heavyweights today. He marched out of the Garden last night before Risko's victory was completed, declaring on the say that as yet he had no fit opponent for Tunney in June. He said he still has three months to develop a contender, however, before the champion is scheduled to stage his first title defense in the Yankee stadium early in June.

ROSTERS FOR CITY TITLE SERIES NAMED

The names of those to wear the Red and White of the Academy and the Orange and Purple of the C. F. C. in their coming city title series have been given out and they list within their ranks the fastest amateur players in the city.

The C. F. C. will use their regular members, which will be Capt. Lambert, Leffingwell and Armstrong, forwards, Neil and Ludlow, centers and Davis, Brown and Moberg, guards. There is some doubt as to whether Neil and Moberg will be fit for the series, as both are now laid up with injuries.

For the schoolboys it is expected that all regular members will perform, which would make it Jarvis, Tigar, Fagan and Pingree, forwards, Viau and Henschel, centers and Capt. Kelly, LaCroix and Swartzburg at guard.

This series is arousing no little bit of interest and prospects for a banner crowd are now very bright.

N. F. A. Meets Coast Guards Friday

Meanwhile, the Academy is putting in preparations for a game here Friday night with the Coast Guard academy, Jr., varsity from New London, the last regularly scheduled tilt of the year for the locals. The Whalers present a rugged lineup, with two members of the New London Y team that now seems headed for the state title, on their roster. However, the Academy only lost by two points in the first meeting on the sailor's floor and with the general improvement noted in the Red and White of late, the chances for victory are even at the least.

WESTERLY

SUIT OVER COFFEE SHOP STILL ON TRIAL TUESDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., March 13—When Washington county superior court adjourned Tuesday the action at law $5,000 damage suit of Anthony H. Bliss of Providence vs. Carrie J. Brucker of Westerly, was still being heard by Judge Arthur P. Sumner and a jury, of which Gorton T. Lippitt of North Kingstown is foreman. The action was started when Carl V. Brucker of Westerly, brother of defendant, entered upon lands on College road, near Rhode Island State college, Kingston, where plaintiff under a five year lease had constructed a building 21 by 45 feet, and was operating the same as a coffee shop. Marshall Samuel Yenna of Wakefield, R. I., testified that he had sought to hire the premises which the Bruckers had taken back, under the claim that the terms of the lease with Bliss had been broken. He said that he had stopped payment on a check for $85 for a month's rent when after securing the rent of the place he learned that legal entanglements threatened and gave up the idea. Janet Allen Bliss, wife of plaintiff, testified to her part in the operation of the coffee shop, saying that the second year's income had shown a profit of $1,500. Following a fire the place was enlarged and would then seat 58 people.

W. Herbert Caswell, superior court clerk for 36 years and a real estate operator for an equal length of time in the eastern end of Washington county testified that the place should rent for from $500 to $600 a year. In the afternoon's session the defendant, Miss Carrie L. Brucker and her brother, Carl V. Brucker occupied the witness stand.

DEFEAT FIRST RESOLUTION—NO ACTION ON THE OTHERS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., March 13—Moderator Lewis Stanton called the largely attended special Westerly financial town meeting to order at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening in the town hall. Town Clerk Everett E. Whipple read the call for the meeting to vote upon three propositions, the first one being:

"That the senator and representatives from the town in the general assembly be and they are hereby instructed and directed to endeavor to produce by proper legislation the repeal of chapter 1450 of the public laws passed at the January session of the general assembly A. D. 1916, entitled 'An act creating a board of highway commissioners in the town of Westerly.'"

At the conclusion of the reading of the call Edwin Sawyers claimed the signers of the petition had asked for a town meeting and Moderator Stanton ruled that the call was for a financial town meeting, when only voters qualified to impose a tax and not registry voters would be allowed to ballot.

The first resolution was moved by Edwin Sawyers and seconded by Thomas Collings.

Joe Stedman reviewed at length the action requested. He said the proponents wanted to take politics out of the roads and that the movement was not backed by a clique, class, or nationality. Newspapers had reflected on it in public slurs and insults; he added, "Remember what I say for tomorrow night's papers will be different!" The move was not an attack upon the highway commission; but the fair play and welfare organizations wanted a square deal and fair play. He was interrupted by Moderator Stanton, who said the meeting was held to take action on highway matters not to hear complimentary remarks on fair play organizations.

James O. Lynch said that if registry voters were not allowed to vote the supreme court would be asked to pass on the matter. The moderator stated that he was willing for Mr. Lynch appeal. Thomas Collings asked that the original petition be read, and Mr. Stanton said that it was not there.

James Jolly moved an adjournment, as he said the meeting would last until 2 a. m. There was no second.

With 600 voters present balloting began at 8 p. m. with the use of tax paying check lists, Edwin Sawyers and Charles R. Berry being tellers.

Moderator Stanton announced the ballot on the first resolution as follows: Total vote, 565; yes, 240; no, 325.

On motion of Everett E. Kingsley the meeting voted to adjourn, without taking action on the other two resolutions.

President Booth C. Davis of Alfred, N. Y., university, and Mrs. Davis are guests of President Davis' brother, Samuel H. Davis of Westerly. President and Mrs. Booth have recently returned from a trip to Bermuda.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Goodgeon and Miss Florence Marriott arrived in Westerly Tuesday afternoon from New York, following a several weeks' trip to Central and South America on the R. M. S. P. cruise.

Merrill O. Steere, 81, textile man and inventor, a former Westerly resident, died at his home, 92 Ridge avenue, Pawtucket, R. I. Monday. Mr. Steere spent nearly 70 years in the textile industry in this state and Massachusetts and was active as the experimental foreman of the Wardwell Braiding Machine company in Central Falls until six weeks ago, when he was taken ill. He started mills in Westerly and Springfield for the purpose of manufacturing narrow fabrics and was the inventor of many improvements on narrow fabric looms in general use at the present time.

He was born in Manchaug, Mass. He was a member of the Woodlawn Baptist church, Pawtucket, and was affiliated with Washington lodge of Masons, Wickford. He is survived by four children, Miss Sarah J., Frederick M. of Niles, Mich.; Wallace S., of Riverside and Francis C. Steere of Pawtucket.

Mrs. Santa Longolucco, 46, wife of James Longolucco died Monday night at her home, 48 1-2 Pierce street. She was born in Italy, but came to Westerly when a young girl. She had resided here for the past 27 years. Besides her husband, she is survived by seven children, Roland, Palma, Flore, Richard, Joseph and Minnie Longolucco of Westerly, and Mrs. Susie Colletti, of Norwich.

Harold W. Merrill post, No. 16, American Legion, of Westerly, plans to hold the next in the series of dances in the town hall. The committee in charge consists of Joseph Sicilian, Grover C. King, Edward P. Foote, James I. Rose and H. Wayland Lanphear.

Earl S. Bavier, Westerly station agent of the New Haven railroad, is to leave Thursday for New Orleans, for a vacation visit with friends in Birmingham, Ala.

Col. and Mrs. Bourden A. Babcock and Capt. and Mrs. Abraham Datson motored to Providence Monday night and attended Governor Norman S. Case's review of manoeuvers of detachments from the 243rd R. I. C. A. C., and 211st Coast Artillery, of Boston, at Cranston street armory.

By rearrangement of train crew operating schedule begun this week by the New Haven railroad on the Providence division Conductor Harry Darling is in charge of the east-bound morning accommodation which makes the Westerly station stop at 7:22 a. m. Conductor C. J. Smith who has operated this train for several years now makes an early morning run from New London to New Haven, then to Providence, returning through Westerly in the early afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Fontana left Tuesday morning by the Federal express for Boston, where they will visit for several days.

Mrs. George H. Utter and grandson left Monday evening for Jacksonville, Fla.

William C. Clarke was in Providence Tuesday.

James H. Burleigh of Providence was in Westerly Tuesday.

Emory Card was a Norwich business visitor in Westerly Tuesday.

Edward J. MacKnight has returned to his duties at the Wauregan hotel in Norwich having spent the week end at his home in Pawcatuck.

Philip Leibovitz left Tuesday morning for Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burnham of Pawcatuck were in Boston Tuesday.

Mrs. Maude E. Freestone was in Providence Tuesday.

Mrs. Lester G. Herlihy and two children of North Chelmsford, Mass., are spending a few days this week with relatives in Putnam.

Earl B. Thompson of Grove street was in Boston Monday, attending the Boston Auto show that is being held there this week.

Principal and Mrs. E. L. Robinson of Church street returned to Putnam Monday from Hinsdale, N. H., where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Robinson's mother.

Rumors as to who might be a possible successor to Willis B. Carroll, resigned, to serve as democratic alderman in the city council from ward four have not gained any credence yet. The democrats are busy working and searching through their district to get a man to accept the position.

Many people are interested in coming appointment and many inquiries have been made as to who might be selected by the committee. The committee must have a candidate selected and ready to be presented to the mayor and council for ratification at the regular meeting of the council April 3.

The mercury in the thermometer reached one of its highest points this season when it topped the 68 mark at noon today. Last week's snow has passed out and the city was freed of its snow and slush from the result of Tuesday's high degree of temperature. The older residents of the town are taking little stock in the early spring weather and many of them feel that while March is in vogue there will be much March weather.

Local sportsmen living on the outskirts of the town said Tuesday that they had been watching the trout brooks during the two days of this week, while the mercury was at high points, and that the trout that have been released by the state board of fisheries and game made occassional dashes out into the stream during the forenoon. High hopes are being held that the fish will be of considerable size and will be worth going after when the season opens in April.

NOANK

IDENTIFYING BANDMEN IN PICTURE 30 YEARS OLD

At the waiting room on East Main street is an old picture of Noank Brass band, taken 30 years ago. There are 27 in the band, with Freeman Rogers leader. It was rated one of the best bands in the state, taking many prizes. Then every week a band concert was given on Church street, where a crowd of 600 would listen. About 75 people have seen the picture. The first one who picks out all the players will be given a box of cigars by the Sardine club. President Billie Fitzgerald will leave it with the owner, Lester Smith, at the waiting room. All day long many of the local boys were trying to pick out the musicians. Ivan Crossman had them all but two, then Red Eldreigh said, "Gee! that was close!" Eddie Morgan looked over the 27 for two hours and got all but one right. Putting on his gold-rimmed glasses, he tried to see if he could get that fellow right, but had to go home and claimed he will be on deck next day to try again. Two judges, Harry Johnson and Toney Passi, are on the job to see who is the lucky one to win the prize. Billie O'Brien had another picture, taken from his trunk in the attic, which he has put on exhibition at Mrs. Jane Carson's store. It shows the Noank Fire company at a picnic in Fishtown woods about 40 years ago. It was watermelon time. Many old-timers are in the picture. In those days Noank was like New York—a real Indian town, with 2,000 people and the shipyard going strong. Those were the happy times, Mayor John Ashby told the group at the news store.

George Carpenter, Jr., is out after being ill with grip.

The Noank Fire company had a radio put in Monday evening, in their parlor, through the kindness of the DeBiasi shop, also put in a $275 loud speaker, so the smoke-eaters and their guests could get the fight all right. Sifting around the room were fully 100. Pinochle was played by the young women and a five-round boxing match was on the program. This was between Battling Blacksmith George Deveau and Long Range Sam Carson while Chief Park was the third man in the ring. The women players put away the cards and the smoke-eaters got their places as Timer Elmer Hewitt pulled the bell. Blacksmith Deveau came with a rush from his corner, but Long Range Carson had a high right hook and twice it went on the chin of Deveau—but it was like rocking a lion to sleep—no damage on his cement jaw. Deveau was trying a cross-fire punch to weaken the giant Carson down. In the final round, Blacksmith's overhand left caught Long Range Carson on the chin and sent him to the land of many dreams. It was a good battle. Then a voice over the radio, worked by Millard DeBiasi, announced that the big fight of the evening was on between Jack Sharkey and Johnny Risko, hard-hitting baker from the west, the rubber man that bounded back from an upper cut from a 191-pound man. The smoke-eaters were for Risko to win and the news came in fine, starting lots of cheering. When it was told that Risko won, the crowd went wild and three cheers were given. Then Mrs. H. Park and Miss Mary Robertson made a Chinese dish, chop suey, and it was served to all by hosemen of Squad No. 4, led by Eddie Schoonmaker. Cookies and coffee were passed. Then the snake dance was done by Robert Lamay, the way he used to do it in Rhode Island. The girls invited the men to dance, as it is Leap Year. Sullivan's Harmonic orchestra played.

Eddie Wolverston has joined Eugene McDonald's carpenters at Groton Long Point.

Angus MacQuarrie has returned to Montauk, L. I., after a few days' visit in Noank.

Rodney Campbell of Fishers Island was home Monday.

Pearl street and Main street were like a young river, with water over the shoe tops. On Pearl street, when the fog hit the village and melted the snow, Monday, row boats could have been used to get the mail, but everybody is glad to see the snow go no matter if feet get wet. The gutters were stopped up and would not let the water run off. The fog keeps the fishing fleet tied up at the docks.

Fishing boat, Nancy, owned by the late Frank Fitch, has been purchased by Capt. Ivan Crossman. It will be used for the lobster game.

Sidney Butson has returned from a visit in Waverly, Mass.

Jerry Bacon has returned after a three months' visit in Cuba, where the sun shines on both sides of the fence. Mr. Bacon was manager of Clark's tea room last summer. He was surprised to see snow on the ground.

Earl Bogue spent a day in East Boston recently, calling on his uncle, Sidney Scott.

Miss Ruth Fitch has gone to Brooklyn, N. Y., to spend a few weeks with her brother, Howard Fitch.

Eugene Butson has returned from Deep River.

Freeman Rogers has motored to Hartford for a few days' visit.

NORTH STONINGTON

Funeral services for Judge Charles C. Gray, 68, were conducted at his late home Saturday afternoon by Rev. Lucian Drury, assisted by Rev. Dr. C. A. Burdick of Westerly. There was a large attendance and many beautiful floral tributes. Burial was in Pendleton Hill cemetery, Rev. Mr. Drury conducting the committal service. The bearers were the three sons, Cressingham L., Lyle C. and C. Ernest Gray, a cousin, Charles A. Palmer, and two neighbors, Dr. T. P. Maine and William E. Bromley.

The supper given jointly in the Congregational church vestry Wednesday evening of last week by the Woman's Union of the Congregational church and the Woman's League of the Baptist church was a pleasant and successful affair. Following supper two amusing plays were staged. The net proceeds are reported as $35.

The marriage of Madge Swain and Wilfred D. Albro, both of this town, is announced to have taken place at the home of the bride on March 10.

Mrs. C. E. Williams of Northampton, Mass., is visiting her sister, Miss Delia A. Wheeler.

Mrs. F. T. Whitman has been in town for a few days.

Mrs. Charles C. Gray was a guest at dinner on Sunday at the home of her son, Lyle C. Gray.

HOW TO TREAT ECZEMA AND ITCHING SKIN

What every sufferer wants is quick relief from the terrible itching that almost drives them mad.

Nothing acts more quickly than Peterson's ointment when rubbed thoroughly into the skin. Many times all itching disappears overnight.

As a remedy to banish eczema and to rid the skin of pimples, blotches, and eruptions Peterson's ointment has been in great demand for many years—it's mighty healing power is marvelous.

A South Dakota woman writes: "I have found nothing so good for itching skin and insect bites as Peterson's Ointment."

An Iowa woman writes: "It is the only Ointment that helps control my Eczema," and from the State of Washington another woman writes: "It is the only Ointment I can find that will cure eczema."

36 Hollywood directors say:

Smooth, exquisite skin is woman's most alluring charm

In the luxurious bathrooms of great stars and in the dressing rooms of the big film companies this soap cares for the skin of the most beautiful women in the world.

"Nothing is more important to a girl than lovely skin. A screen star especially must have rarely exquisite skin, 'Studio Skin.' I take the greatest care of mine—I always use Lux Toilet Soap for it keeps my skin so beautifully smooth that the close-up is no ordeal."

Mary Pickford

The close-up is the cruelest test a woman's skin can meet

"A star has to have the smoothest skin in the world—make-up shows so in the close-up. I keep my skin like satin by using Lux Toilet Soap."

Vera Reynolds

FIERCE Klieg lights blazing down, drenching the stars' skin with light—the camera mercilessly recording! Only exquisitely smooth skin—"studio skin"—can defy the cruel lights of the close-up which permit of very little make-up.

Smooth, exquisite skin is essential for popularity, leading motion picture directors declare.

Every star in Hollywood knows that smooth, velvety skin means even more to her than it does to most women—it means her very career. How she guards it! Nine out of ten screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap!

It cares for their skin the true French way. For this lovely, white, fragrant soap is made by the method France developed and uses for her finest toilet soaps.

And the great film companies, following their stars' example, have made Lux Toilet Soap the official soap in their studio dressing rooms. Beauty is important in Hollywood!

You, too, will be delighted with the velvety bloom of your skin when Lux Toilet Soap cares for it. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Smooth skin essential—a statement representative of leading directors

"The most appealing single beauty a girl can have is certainly exquisitely lovely skin. A screen star, to survive the merciless lights of the close up that permit of practically no make up, must have rarely beautiful skin—'studio skin'. The beauty of her skin distinguishes every star I know."

3,913,500 SHARES OF STOCK TRADED IN; NEW HIGH RECORD FOR STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, March 13—(AP)—All trading records on the New York stock exchange were broken today in a wild orgy of speculation centering in Radio Common, coincident with the beginning of an investigation to determine whether a "technical corner" existed in that stock. Radio opened 21 1-2 points higher at 160, a new peak, crashed to 140 in a few minutes, rallied to 150 and then bobbed up and down within a range of 8 points of that figure, closing at 146.

Total sales of all stocks today were 3,913,400 shares as compared with the previous record of 3,909,000 established yesterday.

The sensational advance of more than 50 points in Radio during the last ten days, following a jump of more than 20 points in General Motors, caused the urgent retreat of a short interest in about a dozen other specialties, which were marked up 3 to nearly 11 points. These gyrations, however, led to active profit taking in other stocks with the result that the general list disclosed widespread irregularity.

Call money renewed at 4 1-2 per cent. and appeared to be in plentiful supply at that figure, despite the increasing demand for funds in connection with income tax payments, and the large increase in public participation in the stock market. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Radio opened with a block of 25,000 shares at 160 but dropped to 140 on a long string of transactions within 15 minutes. From then on it appeared on the tape at frequent intervals, blocks of 1,000 to 5,000 shares being quite common. Meanwhile, shorts in other issues took fright and hastened to cover part of their commitments at the market. American Linseed ran up to a new high record at 97 and ceased to 94 1-4, up 10 3-4 net. American International jumped 9 points but lost half its gain. International Nickel converted an early gain of 4 1-2 points into a loss of 4 1-2 points. Houston Oil scored 10 points and fell back 2 1-2.

U. S. Steel common closed 2 1-2 points net lower at 145 1-2 after opening at 147 3-4. General Motors, which has been reactionary for the last two days, closed a point lower at 155 1-2 after fluctuating between 153 1-4 and 158 1-2. Pronounced heaviness also was shown by A. M. Byers, General Railway Signal, International Harvester and Standard Milling, all off about 3 points.

Railroad shares showed increased strength, presumably on commission house advices suggesting a switching from the industrials to the rails on the theory that the latter group was behind the general market. Texas & Pacific advanced more than 4 points to a new high record for all time at 121 1-2 but lost part of its gain. The new St. Paul common and preferred stocks also reached new high ground.

Only minor changes were recorded in the principal commodity markets. Wheat futures were quoted a fraction of a cent higher on reports of drought in the southwest and cotton ranged from 3 points higher to 1 lower. Coffee and sugar prices were steady.

Foreign exchanges were easier, featured by a drop of 6 points to 16.82 cents in Spanish pesetas and a 5 point recession in Portuguese rates. Sterling cables were quoted a shade lower around $4.87 7-8 and French francs unchanged at 3.92 1-4 cents.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Great Excitement in the Old Orchard

The robin and the bluebird bring Assurance of approaching spring.
—Old Mother Nature.

Gentle Sister South Wind had swept away the snow from the Green Meadows and the Old Orchard. Jack Frost still came of nights, but he hurried away and hid every morning when jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun began his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky. Yes, sir, Jack Frost hid then and he remained hidden all day. He didn't come out again until after the Black Shadows had taken possession of the Green Meadows, the Old Orchard and the Green Forest.

So Peter Rabbit and all his friends of the winter knew that sweet Mistress Spring would soon arrive and their hearts were filled with happiness. They knew that she was coming up from the Sunny South and they knew that just ahead of her would be certain feathered messengers to bring them the news that she would soon arrive. So every morning Peter Rabbit spent a great deal of time just looking and listening. It was the same way with the other little people, especially the little people up in the Old Orchard. They would stop in the middle of something they happened to be doing to look and listen. Why were they looking and listening? They were looking and listening for the return of old friends who had been a long time away.

It was Peter Rabbit's long ears that first heard the sound that all had been listening for. Peter was up at the Old Orchard. He should have been at home in the dear Old Briar-patch, but these days he was so uneasy he couldn't stay in any one place long, certainly not in the dear Old Briar-patch. So on this particular morning, instead of returning home as he should have done, he decided to spend the day on the edge of the Old Orchard. He felt that it was perfectly safe there because, you know, he has some wonderful holes underneath the old stone wall. So it was that Peter was sitting with his long ears pointed straight up at the blue, blue sky as he listened to the chitter-chatter of Tommy Tit, the Chickadee, Sammy Jay, Dotty the Tree Sparrow, Slaty the Junco, Speckles the Starling, Happy Jack Squirrel, Chatterer the Red Squirrel and Striped Chipmunk. Suddenly those long ears of his caught the faintest, softest, sweetest of whistles. A queer little tingling feeling went all over Peter. He did his very best to shut out all the other sounds and strained his ears for that whistle again. There it was! It was a little clearer this time. But just where it came from Peter couldn't tell for the life of him. It came from nowhere in particular. It sounded as if it might come from a place quite near and it sounded as if it might come from a place far away.

Peter thumped. Everybody stopped talking to see what Peter was thumping for. "Listen!" cried Peter, and there was excitement in his voice. "Listen!"

Everybody listened. They listened and they listened, and there was great expectancy on all their faces. But they listened in vain. "Pooh!" exclaimed Sammy Jay. "Peter imagines he's hearing things. He——".

Sammy didn't finish. Everybody heard it that time. Instantly there was great excitement all through the Old Orchard. Yes, sir, there was great excitement.

"Winsome Bluebird!" cried all together. "Winsome Bluebird has come. That means that sweet Mistress Spring is surely on her way."

Then everybody began looking for Winsome Bluebird. They could hear that sweet, plaintive whistle, but they couldn't find the whistler. They looked here, they looked there. Finally it was the sharp eyes of Sammy Jay that discovered a bird high up in an elm tree in front of Farmer Brown's house. Sammy flew over there at once. When he returned Winsome Bluebird was with him. Then the excitement in the Old Orchard was greater than ever.

"Listen!" cried Peter, and there was excitement in his voice.

WESTMINISTER

The recent letters written by Cretia to the Social Corner page, recalling the families and their homes in this vicinity in the sixties has certainly been enjoyed and much discussed by Westminster folks. There are very few descendants of the rugged old stock who still own or live in the ancestral homes. Among the few are Mrs. Agnes Wood, a granddaughter of Peter Spicer, and Amos Green, the son of Henry Green, a schoolboy mentioned by Cretia. Below Westminster hill to the east, but not included in Cretia's letter lies the Barstow farm, a splendid example of generation after generation of the best old New England type. The buildings are spic and span and on the door of one of the so-called new additions there is the date Built 1870. Charles Barstow is the present owner.

Will Davis of Elm Arch farm is credited with the first swim of the season in this vicinity. While harvesting ice this week Mr. Davis suddenly found himself in the water. He had stepped on thin ice where it had been previously cut and frozen over. Will came out so quick the boys say he left a hole in the water. No ill affects followed the cold plunge.

At a meeting of the Ecclesiastical Society of the Congregational church it was decided to defer calling a permanent supply minister for the present. There will be special clergy every Sunday and Sunday school will be carried on as usual.

A. T. MacLeod has had two up-to-date Socony pumps installed to replace the one which was removed when the new state road came through. Mr. MacLeod was also obliged to move his grain building farther back from the street. He now has a drive on either side of the gas pumps, an appreciable improvement for motorists.

W. H. Heywood of Moosup, driving one of the new model Fords, was a caller at A. T. MacLeod's Friday. The car was the first of the new type seen in Westminster.

Several cases of mumps are reported in Westminster. Some of the children who have been exposed have been excused from attending school for the present.

Grouches were in evidence up this way Saturday morning, also snow shovels. Commissioner MacDonald's men had the snow cleaned from the state road with the usual dispatch. The only ones who welcomed the snowfall were the kiddies. They have not had much coasting this winter.

Archie Green is on the sick list.

Mrs. Nick Vitiaz and infant daughter, born in Backus hospital, are at home on Westminster Hill.

T. Trim has sold all but one of his cows to Fred Burnham of Hampton.

BOLTON

Mrs. Ruth Ebelles, music teacher, visited schools in town this week.

Miss Doris Liponetzky spent the week-end at her home in New Haven.

The grange met Friday evening. Deputy Harold Hanson inspected the grange and gave a very favorable report. The program was as follows—Roll call; interesting happenings of your school days and favorite teacher; talk on Trees by the master, David Toomey; talk, In which Would Rather Entertain, Kitchen or Dining Room, Adelia Loomis. An oyster supper was served. Bolton grange is invited to Bloomfield April 17.

Miss Lavinia Fries, who was operated upon recently at the Hartford hospital is slowly improving.

Samuel Alvord of Hartford spent several days at his farm here.

Mrs. Samuel Alvord is spending a few days with relatives in New Jersey.

The Ladies' Aid society will meet at the basement Thursday afternoon

Miss Rose Nieviedzai spent the week-end at her home in Thompson.

Supervisor L. T. Garrison met with Clarence Quimbey, principal of South Manchester high school Monday afternoon to discuss requirements at South Manchester high.

HAMPTON

Keesh-Covert Wedding

The wedding ceremony was performed at the Nathan Hale hotel, Willimantic Saturday evening, March 10, at 8.30 p. m., by Rev. F. C. Williams, rector of St. Paul Episcopal church, when Miss Ermina Covert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Covert, of Hampton, became the bride of Jerome C. Keech, son of Mrs. Maude A. Keech of Danielson. The bride wore a gown of blush rose georgette over rose satin and had picture hat to match. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow tea roses. Mrs. J. N. O'Dell of Hartford, aunt of the bride was matron of honor, wearing silver grey crepe satin, trimmed with blue and cut steel. She had a hat to match. Her corsage bouquet was of pink sweet peas. The bride was given in marriage by her father. The groom had as his best man Donald W. Armington, a friend and classmate. The groom is a graduate of Killingly high school, 1922, and is engaged in business with his brother in Danielson. After the ceremony a supper was served for the wedding guests. Those present were Mrs. M. A. Keech, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Keech, Miss Helen Keech and Donald Armington of Danielson, A. S. Briggs of Moosup, Mrs. J. N. O'Neil of Hartford, Miss Isabel Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Covert, Homer Odell, Mrs. E. A. Darrow and C. H. Kies of Hampton. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Keech will reside in Hampton.

GALES FERRY

After the snow storm of Friday when the snow was eight inches deep, the trees and shrubs were beautiful.

Ideal service, Acts 20.24 was the theme of Rev. Jerome Greer, at Sunday morning worship, in the M. E. church, one in a series of World Service sermons Rev. Mr. Greer is giving. At the offertory, Lead Us, Heavenly Father was sung with solos by Grace A. Stephenson, soprano and D. R. Povey, tenor. The altar flowers were cherry blossoms from the green house of Mrs. Henry W. Hurlbutt, at Wood Lawn farm.

At the church school at noon, under the direction of Supt. C. E. Colver, a new feature was proposed. It was arranged that each class present some interesting topic Sundays, at the session of the school. One class only for its particular Sunday. The Men's class is to take the initiative, Sunday the 26th.

At the Sunday evening service, The Mote and the Beam—The Second Mile, was the subject of Rev. Mr. Greer, beginning a series of experiments in Christian practice. The Junior girls sang Answer the Call, with Mrs. Robert Miller at the organ.

The March meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society is to be held this (Tuesday) afternoon at the home of Mrs. Nelson Parker.

Mrs. Charles A. Satterlee and her daughter Miss Alice Satterlee, who were guests at the Hotel Hamilton, Washington, D. C., for January and February came to New London last week. They are guests at the Hotel Mohican and will open their home here this week.

Mrs. Billings F. S. Crandall, Mrs. Fanny A. Molthrop and Miss Alice Satterlee, members of Anna Warner Bailey chapter, D. A. R. of Groton and Stonington attended the March meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles W. Noyes at Pequonnoc Bridge, Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Robert Miller who joined Mr. Miller in Boston, for a visit of a week, returned Friday.

Nelson Parker returned Saturday from a business trip, covering Providence, Woonsocket, R. I., and Worcester and Holyoke, Mass.

At the meeting of the Ladies' Aid society in the vestry, Friday afternoon the president, Miss Alice Satterlee presided. The scripture selection was read by Mrs. Eugene LaFontaine. Mrs. Dudley C. Perkins, secretary and treasurer gave her report. Mrs. LaFontaine, chairman, of the committee on the furnishings of the new M. E. parsonage, reported on the sale of some of the furnishings of the old parsonage, also of the purchasing of new furnishings, subject to approval of the society. A bill of $83.90, was read by Mrs. Perkins, secretary and treasurer and she was authorized to pay the bills on furnishings as received. On motion of Mrs. Elmer E. Tubbs, a rising vote of thanks was extended Mrs. LaFontaine and the committee.

Mrs. Fred E. Richards and Mrs. Earl B. Dawson, members of the Long Cove auxiliary were present.

Saturday morning, following the near-blizzard deer tracks were seen in the deep snow at Perkins' place in the village, also around the summer colony cottages on the bluff.

MONTVILLE

MONTVILLE, March 13.—In spite of the severe snow-storm of last Friday, there were 70 members of the American Legion posts of the fifth district and their auxiliaries present at the district meeting held in the Montville Community house, included representatives from Lyme, New London, Noank, Norwich, Taftville, Baltic, Jewett City and Montville. Montville post No. 112, known as the "baby post" gave a good time. After the two business meetings of the posts and the auxiliaries, the Cinderella Inn orchestra arrived and furnished music for dancing. Both round and square dancing was enjoyed until midnight. Refreshments were served by members of the local post. The next district meeting is set for Friday, April 13, when posts of the fifth district will be the guests fo the Lyme post. The May district meeting is scheduled to be held at Colchester, where the Legion has just recently been started and many of the Montville boys are looking forward to renewing old acquaintances with friends in Colchester.

The Women's Missionary society of the Union Baptist church was entertained at the parsonage this afternoon by Mrs. Edward L. Nield.

Pine Cone Troop No. 6, Girl Scouts of America, held its usual interesting meeting Saturday afternoon in the Palmer Memorial school building with 18 members in attendance. After the opening exercises, the usual business meeting was in order. A portion of th afternoon was given to the writing of letters to Scout Eloise Edwards out of sympathy for her in being quarantined on account of the illness of her brother with scarlet fever. The shower of letters will help to make the days pleasanter for her. Many of the girls are looking forward to next Saturday's meeting, when their tenderfoot pins will be awarded them; and next Saturday will also be mother's day, when mothers and other relatives are invited to the meeting.

Work has been commenced upon a play entitled "How St. John Came to Bancer's School." The play has a boarding school setting and the girls hope to have it ready in early spring.

The committee for the April social is Marion Chasnoff, chairman, with Norma Allen and Alice Sawyer as assistants, and the committee for the May social is Eleanor Bingham, chairman with Audrey Bogue and Edna Paton as assistants.

The afternoon was brought to a close with the singing of taps and the court of honor.

The snow plow of the town of Montville had the roads open in good season Saturday morning. The state road crew were also on the job, commencing work at 3 o'clock Saturday morning.

Doctor Found What is Best for Thin, Constipated People

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of Dr. Caldwell's 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875), he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in Dr. Caldwell's private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.

Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have gotten many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us that it helped them when everything else failed.

W. B. Caldwell M.D.
AT AGE 83

Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Keep a bottle in your home—where many live someone is sure to need it quickly.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

La Salle

FIVE-PASSENGER FAMILY SEDAN

$2350 f. o. b. Detroit

A Matchless Motor Car Investment

The new La Salle five-passenger family sedan, at $2350, means vastly more than just a motor car. ¶ It means long years of that supreme motoring luxury which the whole world has learned to associate with only a Cadillac-built car. ¶ It brings to its possessor the distinction of that vogue which La Salle created—that vogue which will be the symbol of good taste in motoring long after the transient enthusiasm for cars designed merely to look like La Salle has waned. ¶ For, as everybody knows, the slightest vestige of resemblance vanishes in the light of the surpassingly brilliant performance of La Salle's famous V-type, 90-degree, 8-cylinder, Cadillac-built engine.

Five new models. Substantially lower prices on the entire La Salle line. Only a small initial outlay is required under the liberal General Motors convenient payment plan.

POETRY

Nocturne

The few stray trees swing in the breeze,
The light begins to die;
The stars troop out in careless rout
Through an uncaring sky.

The street lamps rise like burning eyes
To stare into the gloom,
Where Misery walks and Terror stalks
The silent streets of doom.

The hurried beat of unseen feet
Pierces the night's veneer;
A beggar's staff, a lover's laugh,
Startles the brooding air.

The newborn wail and old hearts fail
(The old pain and the new),
And only bricks and plastered sticks
Are thrown between the two.

The gilded house of gay carouse—
The palace and the den—
Glare at the skies with their bright eyes,
Aflame with lust of men.

Here Hunger prowls and Luxury rolls
In silks of far Cathay,
And madness drips from painted lips
That pray for break of day.

The seething marts that barter hearts
Are hushed and empty now;
A spirit creeps, while Chaos sleeps,
With blood upon its brow.

Its head is low with many a blow,
Its face is stamped with fear,
And soft and faint it makes its plaint
With no one there to hear.

And all night long, with prayer and song,
Men live and love and die,
And all the night the stars take flight
Through an uncaring sky.

—Max Press in New York Telegram.

The Sky

The ancient sea can shrive the soul
Of all earth's sin and stain;
The sea-winds make the spirit whole,
The sea-song stills its pain.

But fisher-folk and sailors brown
And lords of high degree
Alone can leave the field and town
To seek the shining sea.

With joyous hearts their way they fare
To greet the singing deep;
For some no endless ebb and flow
That lull to quiet sleep.

But, like the cup of God's own hand,
There shelters you and me
And every soul in every land
The sky's tranquility!

—Philadelphia Bulletin.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"Have you a cigarette lighter?"

"Yes, but he's at college now."—Life.

"You came in awfully late last night, this morning."

"That's all right. I'm going to sleep until this evening tomorrow."—Judge.

Lady—I like it, but there's something wrong with it.

Milliner—Well, you must wear your head at a little more extreme angle with that hat.—Detroit News.

Lady (interviewing prospective help)—I may tell you that we are vegetarians.

Girl (anxious to be engaged)—I've attended that church all me life, mum.—Montreal Family Herald.

She—I hear the Scotchmen are trying to put an end to all the jokes about them.

He—And why?

She—Every one of them are at a Scotchman's expense.—Pathfinder.

Guest—Who is that awful looking frump over there?

Host—Why, that's my wife.

Guest—Oh—er—beg pardon. My mistake.

Host (sadly)—No; mine!—Yorkshire Evening News.

"Why don't you smoke my kind?" said a young man to a friend who was coughing.

"I do," replied the friend, "but you see, I'm on my second carload now, and I can cough all I want to."—Kansas City Star.

The little girl returned from church deeply musing on the sermon, in which the preacher had declared that animals lacking souls could not go to heaven.

As the result of her meditation, she presented a problem to the family at the dinner table when she asked earnestly:

"If cats don't go to heaven, where do the angels get strings for their harps?"—Tit-Bits.

KALEIDOSCOPE

Taxicabs have been introduced into Jerusalem.

Thunder can rarely be heard at a distance of more than 12 miles.

Halley's comet is estimated to contain about 25,000,000 tons of material.

Among the pigmy negritoes of the Philippines a man may not own property until he is married.

Passenger trains between Moscow and Leningrad are to be equipped with radio-telephones, it is reported.

A German inventor has exhibited an electric dry cell battery clock which he asserts will run without winding for several years.

An expedition from the Field Museum has sailed for British Honduras to seek new light on the ancient culture of the Maya race.

Evidence has been found indicating that the Indians who lived in cliff dwellings of New Mexico 1,000 years ago built roads 15 to 20 feet wide covering miles of country.

The bureau of mines has introduced the use of wire cable as a saw, materially reducing the waste in quarrying operations. A three-strand cable runs as an endless belt, the cable replacing the saw blade, and sand grains carried in the spiral grooves acting as the teeth.

Standardization has struck the American cheese industry and efforts are being made to reduce to a minimum the varying sizes, not only of cheeses, but cheese boxes, hoops, bandages and other supplies. It is believed that if the 400,000,000 pounds of cheese produced yearly can be prepared for the trade in less than the ten or more present sizes the industry will save time and money.

Engineers developing a hydro-electric power plant near Sao Paulo, Brazil, caught a couple of rivers which had the habit of flowing westward, reformed them to flow east and then led the waters by a series of dams and syphons up over a mountain range to the penstocks. Now the plant has an effective head of 708 meters, produces 100,000 horse power and can generate 800,000, and the annual rampage of the rivers, which once resulted in flooding 10 square miles of valuable land within the city, have been squelched.

Motion picture theatre proprietors in northern Malaya are having crowded houses even though films are somewhat late in reaching them from Singapore and equipment of their houses is primitive. Native men and boys have no objection to paying from 11 to 34 cents to occupy the wooden benches of the lower floor. Native women spend 11 cents to sit in the side galleries. The Europeans, chiefly transients and rubber growers seeking to escape the monotony of plantation life, and the better class Chinese pay 27 to 85 cents to sit in the willow chairs of the main gallery.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE

The legal voters of the Town of Preston are hereby warned to meet in town meeting at the Town House on Thursday, March 15, 1928, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of laying a tax on the Grand List as last perfected by the Assessors and the Board of Relief; also to take action as to whether the Town School Committee shall pay all transportation expenses of children attending the State Trade School at Putnam, Conn.

ALBERT D. BENJAMIN,
WALTER S. TARBOX,
WALTER R. McCLEVIN,
Selectmen.

Dated at Preston, March 9, 1928.

ATTENTION SIDEWALKS

The ordinances of the city of Norwich impose a penalty of $5 upon any owner, occupant or person having the care of any land or buildings abutting the public highways of the city where there is a sidewalk, either graded or paved, who fails to have removed therefrom all snow, sleet or ice within three hours after it shall have been deposited, or within three hours after sunrise when the same has fallen in the night season, and also upon any such party who fails to have the snow on such sidewalk removed or properly sanded within two hours of its becoming so deposited during the daytime, for each successive period of four hours thereafter that it so remains after proper notice given.

This will give notice to all affected by the foregoing ordinances that the same will be strictly enforced and anyone failing to comply therewith prosecuted from this time forward.

J. C. DONOVAN,
Street Commissioner

WARNING

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

The legal voters in Town meeting of the Town of Norwich are hereby warned to meet in a Special Town Meeting to be held in the Town Hall, Norwich, on Wednesday, March 14, at 8 p. m., to determine what, if any, action they will take in relation to the employment of outside aid to assist the Board of Assessors of this Town in making a revaluation of the taxable property of this Town in accordance with modern methods and in compliance with the statutes of this State.

Also to decide whether they will authorize and empower the Board of Selectmen to enter into a contract in behalf of the Town of Norwich for the employment of such help and whether they will make an appropriation to meet the expenses of such work.

Also to do any other business necessary or proper to carry into effect the matters above proposed or any of them.

Dated at Norwich, Connecticut, this 6th day of March, A. D. 1928.

WILLIAM S. MURRAY,
CHARLES P. BUSHNELL,
PATRICK T. CONNELL,
Selectmen of the Town of Norwich.

TAX NOTICE

To the taxpayers of the Town of Sprague:

All persons liable to pay taxes in the Town of Sprague, State of Connecticut, are hereby notified that I have a warrant to levy and collect a tax of Ten (10) mills on the list as made by the Board of Assessors and perfected by the Board of Relief of said Town, for the year 1927, due and payable April 1, 1928.

All persons neglecting this notice will be proceeded against as directed by the laws of this state.

For the purpose of collecting this tax, I shall be in my place of business, known as Caron's News Store, every day during April from 2 p. m. to 9 p. m., and at the Parish House in Hanover, in the village of Hanover, from 4 to 7 p. m., April 19; also, at Versailles Postoffice, April 20, from 4 to 7 p. m.

After May 1, 1928, interest at the rate of 9 per cent will be added from the time these taxes become due. All taxes must be paid direct to the Tax Collector and all bills receipted by him. If sent by mail enclose postage if you wish a receipt.

Dated at Sprague, Conn., this 10th day of March, 1928.

E. J. CARON, Collector.

LEGAL NOTICES

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Norwich, within and for the District of Norwich, on the 13th day of March, A. D. 1928.

Present, NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

Estate of Mathilde Stapfer, late of Norwich, in said District, deceased.

George R. Fellows, of Norwich, Conn., appeared in Court and filed a petition praying, for the reasons therein set forth, that an instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased be admitted to probate.

Whereupon, it is Ordered, That said petition be heard and determined at the Probate Court Room in the City of Norwich, in said District, on the 20th day of March, A. D. 1928, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and that notice of the pendency of said petition, and of said hearing thereon, be given by the publication of this order once time in some newspaper having a circulation in said District at least three days prior to the date of said hearing and that return be made to this Court.

NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

The above and foregoing is a true copy of record.
Attest, HELEN M. DRESCHER, Clerk.

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Norwich, within and for the District of Norwich, on the 13th day of March, A. D. 1928.

Present, NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

Estate of Peletiah L. Mabrey, late of Franklin, in said District, deceased.

Lloyd P. Ayer, of Franklin, Conn., appeared in Court and filed a petition praying, for the reasons therein set forth, that administration be granted upon the estate of said deceased alleged to be intestate.

Whereupon, it is Ordered, That said petition be heard and determined at the Probate Court Room in the City of Norwich, in said District, on the 20th day of March, A. D. 1928, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and that notice of the pendency of said petition, and of said hearing thereon, be given by the publication of this order one time in some newspaper having a circulation in said District at least six days prior to the date of said hearing and that return be made to this Court.

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Montville, within and for the District of Montville, on the 13th day of March, A. D. 1928.

Present, DAN D. HOME, Judge.

Estate of Charles E. Johnson, late of Montville, in said District, deceased.

The Administratrix exhibited her administration account with said estate to the Court for allowance; it is therefore Ordered, That the 19th day of March, A. D. 1928, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, at the Probate Court Room in Montville in said District, be, and the same is, appointed for hearing the same, and the said Administratrix is directed to give notice thereof by publishing this order one time in The Norwich Bulletin, a newspaper having a circulation in said District, at least five days prior to the date of said hearing, and make return to the Court.

DAN D. HOME, Judge.

The above and foregoing is a true copy of record.
Attest, CARRIE W. CRAIG, Clerk.

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Montville, in and for the District of Montville, on the 12th day of March, A. D. 1928.

Present, DAN D. HOME, Judge.

Estate of William Walden, late of Montville, in said District, deceased.

This Court finds from sworn return on file that the notice ordered by this Court on the 1st day of March, 1928, upon the application for the appointment of commissioners to receive and decide upon the claim of the creditors of said estate was given as in said order directed and said return is found to be true, accepted and ordered to be recorded.

After due hearing, this Court appoints John J. McGarry of New London, Connecticut, and P. Ambrose Sullivan, of Montville, Connecticut, disinterested persons, to be commissioners, who, being first sworn, shall receive and decide upon the claims of the creditors of said estate, and it is Ordered, That Edward Walden, Administrator of said estate of deceased, deliver forthwith to said commissioners all claims against said estate presented to him within the time limited by this Court by order passed on the 4th day of February, A. D. 1927, and cause notice of the names of said commissioners and of the time and place of their meeting to be given to every person who has presented a claim against said estate, and due return make.

Ordered, That the commissioners, as soon after the expiration of the time limited for the exhibition of claims as it can reasonably be done, report to this Court a list of all the claims exhibited to them, specifying particularly the claims and amounts presented, allowed and disallowed.

DAN D. HOME, Judge.

The said commissioners will meet at the Probate Office in the town hall in Montville on the 26th day of March, 1928, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon for the purpose of attending to the business of said appointment.

JOHN J. McGARRY,
P. AMBROSE SULLIVAN,
Commissioners.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given to all persons liable to pay taxes in the Town of Bozrah that I have warrant to levy and collect Fifteen mills on the dollar on the grand list last perfected. This tax is due and payable April 1, 1928. Interest added after 30 days. And for the purpose of collecting same I will be at the store of Ira C. Wheeler Wednesday, April 4; after that date will be at the office of the Town Clerk daily. All persons neglecting said notice will be dealt with as the laws of the state direct.

JOHN K. PROCTOR, Collector.

NEW LONDON COLLEGE TRUSTEES TO MEET THURSDAY AT NEW HAVEN

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, March 13—At the Hotel Taft, New Haven, Thursday afternoon, March 22 at 3 o'clock, the adjourned meeting of the trustees of Connecticut College for Women will be held. At this time action will be taken on the resignation of Benjamin T. Marshall, president of the college and whose act in resigning was the result of numerous conflicts with officials at the college, subordinate to President Marshall. Notices of the date of the meeting were received by members of the board today and Mayor James A. May has already made it known that he intends to be present.

The snow storm of Friday last was costly to the city for it was announced at the municipal building this afternoon that the expense of trucks and shovelers in removing the snow from the streets was $1,800. This money was expended Saturday, Sunday and Monday when the snow was carted to the municipal pier and dumped into the Thames river.

The March meeting of the Foremen's and Executives' club of New London was hled last night in the Central Y. M. C. A. Supper was served by the Y cafeteria, following which a reel of moving pictures, furnished by the Connecticut Anti-Tuberculosis association was shown, depicting, in story form, the need of making sure, through the advice of a physician, that there is no tuberculosis in one's body. President G. S. May, of the Connecticut Power Co., presided at the meeting, and appointed a membership committee, W. B. Watrous, Max Pollack & Co., chairman; David M. Bennett, Sea Sled Corp., Mystic; George G. Berry, Standard Machine Co., Mystic; Eugene Chapman, Palmer Bros. & Co.; Judson T. Cousins, Robert Gair Co.; John J. Gaskell, Edward Bloom Co; A. W. TEACHERS' SALARY RAISE VOTED BY SCHOOL BOARD

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, March 13—At a meeting of the board of school visitors at the Hotel Mohican last night it was voted to grant all teachers of the public schools with service of 15 years or more an increase in salary, the increase to begin next September. The increase is at the rate of $10 per year for each year of service in excess of the 15 years. The teachers have been seeking an increase in salary for several months.

By the will of William Henry Harrison Chappell, of Waterford, the testator's widow, Mary C. Chappell, "shall have the use of the income of the estate, both real and personal, during her life and while she remains unmarried and during such time she shall be executrix and trustee of the estate and guardian of testator's children," it was revealed when the will was admitted for probate this afternoon. The testator's daughter, Mrs. Mary C. Leland, of Waterford, has qualified as administratrix. The will was drawn Nov. 11, 1882 and was witnessed by Cornelia C. Avery, George G. Avery and William Belcher.

RUMORED STREET FIGHT OF A COP WITH A SAILOR

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, March 13—Captain of Police Charles A. Pinney has been quietly conducting an investigation into the alleged conduct of one of his officers. After reports of the officer's alleged conduct reached Captain Pinney's ears and anonymous communications were received by City Manager Holt regarding the purported conduct of the officer, the investigation was started. Where it will end is not known. The report reaching the hearing of Captain Pinney is that Street Sergeant Patrick Murphy last Thurday evening, four hours after he had gone off duty, engaged in a street fight with a former sailor. The alleged fight took place on Washington street, near Brewer and was witnessed by hundreds of people, many of whom were on their way to attend the mission in progress at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church. However Captain Pinney has been unable to ascertain the identity of any one who will admit having seen the fight, although it is reported that spectators formed a ring around the combatants. Sergeant Murphy, who is reported to have received a severe beating, has not been on duty since, for the following day his son reported that his father was ill. After the rumors had reached Captain Pinney and anonymous letters were sent the city manager, the former yesterday afternoon caused City Physician George F. Cheney to examine Sergeant Murphy. This was done at 2 o'clock. City Physician Cheney, reported in writing to Captain Pinney that the officer was found in bed at his home, had much fever and was suffering from bronchitis. The report said that the officer was being attended by a physician and was receiving proper treatment for the maladies from which he was suffering.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah C. Button, widow of Edward W. Button, formerly of New London, who died in Groton Monday, was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at 15 Masonic street, the services being conducted by Rev. George R. Atha, pastor of Groton Heights Baptist church. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

The funeral of Charles Cooper, former electrical engineer at Fort Wright, was held at 1 o'clock this afternoon at his residence, 50 Center street, the service being read by Rev. Philip M Kerridge, rector of St. James' Episcopal church. The body was forwarded to Mr. Cooper's former home in Newport, R. I., for burial tomorrow.

The annual banquet of New London lodge, No. 360, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, was held tonight at the Hotel Mohican and was attended by about 200 members and guests. An excellent chicken dinner was served after which Mayor James A. May delivered the address of welcome. Grand Trustee Thomas Cotter, of Hartford, was the only other speaker. He talked briefly, but interestingly and instructively, dwelling principally on Elkdom and was liberally applauded. The entertainment comprised an elaborate vaudeville entertainment, including about a dozen high grade acts. Several members of Norwich and Westerly lodges were among the visitors to enjoy the evening.

But one arrest was made by the police today, a fellow who was found roaming aimlessly about, intoxicated.

Emmett Flanagan, United States coast guard, was in the police court today charged with breach of the peace, but was discharged. Flanagan, a former stool pigeon for the local police, was arrested last night upon complaint of Mrs. Robbins of 29 Tilley street, but when court convened the complainant was not on hand to press the charge. Mrs. Robbins, however, appeared at police headquarters, shortly after the adjournment of court and said that she did not desire to cause the prosecution of Flanagan, but did say that her husband was more deserving of arrest than was Flanagan.

Two cases of intoxication were also presented. One, an old offender, who was arrested last night upon complaint of a North Bank street store employe, was fined $10, but execution of the sentence was suspended. The other case resulted in a suspension of judgment.

Miss Anna J. Dewey, 70, died early today at her residence in Center Groton, after an illness of but a few days. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth L. Fitch of Mystic and Mrs. Frances Fairbanks of New Haven and a brother, Edson Dewey, Pleasant Valley, Groton. Several nieces and nephews also survive. Miss Dewey was a member of the Center Groton chapel. She was born in the home where she died and had always resided in Center Groton. She was the daughter of the late Capt. Benjamin and Amanda Holdridge Dewey.

DOMBROWSKI BOY STRUCK BY AUTO WHILE SNOWBALLING

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, March 13—Thomas Dombrowski, 8, residing at 80 Potter street, is a patient at Lawrence Memorial hospital, probably fatally injured last night when struck by an automobile driven by Leslie Hewitt, of 72 Phillips street. The youth has remained unconscious ever since he was admitted to the hospital and at the institution this afternoon it was stated that the boy was on the dangerlist as his condition was critical. The Dombrowski family has been pursued by ill luck of late; two months ago the father of the boy died. A month later Mrs. Dombrowski gave birth to a daughter, which new arrival makes six children that Mrs. Dombrowski has to support because of the death of her husband. The boy was on Main street last night and near John street, he had his companions engaged in a snowballing combat. The boy darted into the street just as the automobile was about to pass. Before Hewitt could bring the car to a stop the boy was struck and hurled to the pavement. He was picked up unconscious and bleeding and placed in the auto and rushed to the hospital. An examination revealed a fracture well forward on the head; the wound indicated that he had been struck by the mudguard for a deep laceration exists. Automobile Patrol Officer Clarence Martin and Patrolman Patrick Sheehan investigated the accident and arrested Hewitt on a charge of reckless driving. Hewitt at first denied all knowledge of the accident, but finally admitted that it was his machine that had struck the boy. Hewitt was given a hearing in the police court this morning. The case was continued to March 19, pending the outcome of the boy's injury. Hewitt furnished a surety on his bond of $1,000 for his appearance on the later date.

Cora L. Minson, 50, wife of Benjamin F. Coffin, formerly of New London, died yesterday at her residence in Orange, N. J. Besides her husband, Mrs. Coffin is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Dexter Daniels, of Waterford and Mrs. Abbie Churchill of St. Petersburg, Fla. Mr. and Mrs. Coffin moved to East Orange five years ago. Mrs. Coffin was born in New Brunswick, N. J., the daughter of John H. and Sophia Minson of Waterford.

Louis Cuneo, 67, died early this morning at his residence, 27 Brooks street after illness which started nearly four months ago when he was stricken with pneumonia. He is survived by his widow and a daughter, Miss Olga Cuneo. Mr. Cuneo was a member of Phonic lodge, No. 96, F. and A. M., of New York and the Union chapter and Cushing council of this city. He was born in Milan, Italy and came to this country when a youth of 14. He had been in New London 32 years and during that long period he had been employed by the Corticelli Silk company.

Mrs. S. Herman Sawyer of Weymouth, Mass., who was injured two weeks ago while riding with her husband when the automobile skidded on the slippery highway at Niantic and crashed against a telephone pole, was discharged at Lawrence Memorial hospital today. Other patients discharged were Miss Maria May, 88 Blackhall street; Roger Sherman, Mystic; Mrs. Wallace Frank, 736 Bank street and Herbert Hayden, Eastern Point road, Groton.

The funeral of Mrs. Annie Gallagher, wife of Robert Gallagher, of 524 Bank street, was held at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, a mass of requiem being celebrated by Rev. Raymond O'Callahan. The bearers were Charles Boyle, Christopher Guerin, Lawrence Grimes, Daniel Walsh, Harold McGrath and Edmund Condon. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

The funeral of Frank Korendowitz, of Chesterfield was held at 10 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church and was attended by a large gathering of mourners. A mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Michael Reagan. Relatives acted as bearers. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Miss Harriet Emmerich of Connecticut avenue employed as stenographer in the probate court, was admitted to Lawrence-Memorial hospital this afternoon as a medical patient and tomorrow she will undergo a minor operation.

The New London police force is again crippled by the illness of several officers. Street Sergeant Patrick Murphy is confined to his home on Bayonet street ill with bronchitis; Detective Sergeant Nelson Smith is ill with grip at his home on Rogers street and Patrolman John Foley is indisposed at his home on Huntington street as the result of a severe cold.

Patrolman Albert Iverson in making his rounds on Huntington street last midnight discovered six windows at the Chevrolet Automobile Sales station open. The officer was able to secure the windows for the balance of the night.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

St. Mary's Players.

You have heard that if you ask for a thing you may get it. It depends, however, on the way you ask. Ask loud enough and often enough and the chances are that you will get considerable. Yell, and without doubt you will obtain a great deal more. Yell, that's it! Bull the market! If anyone says—Ssh! Not so loud! keep on yelling. You'll finally get what you are after,—maybe. A storm can follow a calm as well as preceed it. What is this all about? It is part of the comedy in Nothing But the Truth. Be sure and see it.

Breed Theatre.

For today and tomorrow the Breed theatre management has picked out two of the cleverest photoplays that have as yet been presented at this playhouse.

"Breakfast at Sunrise" an amusing farce of sophisticated Paris in which Miss Constance Talmadge is starred, heads the program.

The story is laid principally in the Hotel Splendide in Paris. It concerns the adventures of two persons disappointed in love (Constance Talmadge and Don Alvarado), who marry to spite their sweethearts. One laugh-production situation follows another as the two find countless rocks of discord lining their martial path.

The role of Madeleine is convincingly portrayed by Miss Talmadge whose inborn senses of the humorous makes her difficult part so spontaneous. Don Alvarado, her leading man, is comparatively new to the screen, but his performance in "Breakfast at Sunrise" is a notable piece of work. Others in the cast are Bryant Washburn, Marie Dressler, Alice White, Paulette Duval, David Mir, Burr McIntosh and Albert Gran.

"Home Made, the other feature on this bill, is declared to be the funniest comedy Johnny Hines has ever made, giving the comedian an opportunity to appear as a country boy, a pullman porter, a ladies' maid, a waiter in a hotel, and a high-powered jam salesman. In fact, the story deals with the successful attempt of Johnny to put his mother's home-made jam on the retail market. If advance reports mean anything, "Home Made" should be a hilarious laugh-fest, as it scored heavily during its pre-views in Hollywood.

Palace Theatre.

The most costly and elaborate South American scene yet constructed for the screen is that of the shrine foreground in Douglas Fairbanks' new production, Douglas Fairbanks as The Gaucho, which will be shown for the last times today at the Palace theatre.

Not only the dozen buildings of the plaza and street, but the details of decoration, including an unusual variety of merchandise properties, constitute an ensemble of rare architectural and artistic importance.

The long flight of steps leading to the shrine at the back accommodated several companies of soldiers. The palace and adjacent buildings represent the finest architecture of the South American metropolises, having been designed by Carl Oscar Borg, the eminent Swedish artist.

On the block approaching the plaza are store displays of ponchos, sombreros, pottery, fruit, flowers, plants, framed pictures, statuettes, beads and laces and posters, while parked at a corner of the plaza is a small traveling circus. At times as the production unfolds, the set is occupied by hundreds of white uniformed soldiers, peons, civilians, and a dusky horde of gaucho bandits led by Fairbanks.

Tonight is gift night at the Palace. Twenty-five dollars in gold and ten valuable presents will be given away absolutely free. The management has just received a new lot of gifts which are far superior to any that have been given out so far.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday "Under the Tonto Rim" the picturization of Zane Grey's latest novel will be the screen attraction. On the stage five big acts of vaudeville will be presented. These acts have been selected with great care and will surely please all lovers of stage attractions. In addition to the picture and vaudeville there is a surprise in store for the Palace patrons but from what we can gather it's going to be good and it's certain that the Palace midwinter cernival is going to be a big success.

St. Patrick's Night Dance

At a joint committee meeting held in A. O. H. hall on Main street, on Sunday, final arrangements were completed for the Hibernian dance to be held St. Patrick's night. This year the committee, headed by Edward Sullivan, chairman, has worked especially hard to insure a good time for those attending this annual dance. Mr. Sullivan stated that cars for all parts of the city will be available at the close of the dance. Extra police protection is promised and the most careful attention has been given to the arrangements in both the ladies' and gentlemen's coat rooms.

The program committee has arranged a fine program of dances, including the tag dance and a moonlight dance. And of course, it would not be a real Hibernian dance unless it included one or two old fashioned dances for the old-timers, who always look forward to this chance to renew their youth.

All in all, this year the Hibernians are looking forward to the greatest success they have yet achieved.

Werrenrath Coming Friday.

The announcement of the return of Reinald Werrenrath, America's most distinguished and best-loved baritone, to Norwich where he sang at the beginning of his career at one of the Bass Clef concerts, will bring delight and interest to local music-lovers. Wherever he returns, whether to the north, south, west or east, it is always to larger audiences warmer receptions and more enthusiastic and devoted admirers. His constant growth as an artist during these years that he has been before the public has been followed with the keenest interest by all who are in touch with music in America. He has created for himself an individual place in the musical world and not only in America but also in Europe holds an enviable position among contemporary artists. Whether in London, Paris, Copenhagen, the native city of his father, the Danish tenor who was famous throughout Europe and America—or wherever his recitals are given, laity and professional cities alike, give him unbounded praise.

SOUTH KILLINGLY

William Potter, Ada and Myra Spaulding of Auburn, R. I., spent Sunday with local relatives.

Betty Slater who has been spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. William Hughes of Providence, returned Sunday.

Several local residents attended a dance in East Killingly Saturday evening.

AIRPLANE FORCED DOWN BY FOG ON STONINGTON MANOR INN GOLF COURSE

(Special to The Bulletin)

STONINGTON, March 13—The airplane, NC-2779, owned by the Boston Airport corporation and carrying three passengers, besides the pilot, R. T. Wickford of Boston, was forced down by the heavy fog at the Manor Inn golf course here at 5:45 o'clock this afternoon. The plane, which was bound from Boston to Hartford, sustained a broken left wheel, a lower left wing and a bent propellor. No one was injured. The identity of the passengers could not be learned.

After entering the thick fog which shrouded this vicinity late in the afternoon Pilot Wickford steered his plane in a circular course in the hopes of finding a satisfactory plane on which to land without causing injury to his passengers and damage to the plane. From the air the golf field seemed to have ample space on which to land and after circling a few more times to get a better idea of the lay of the land a forced landing was attemuted.

Driving his machine towards the ground Pilot Wickford narrowly missed the cupola of the hotel before landing on the No. 1 tee of the golf course. His plane came to a halt only after riding a bunker and going into a sand trap, located a few feet from the water of the north shore of the Pine Point Cove.

Miss Mary Heath, who conducts the Manor Inn and was one of the witnesses of the accident, notified Greenkeeper John Gilmore, who resides on the property of the landing of the plane. Greenkeeper Gilmore immediately went to the plane to ascertain whether or not any one had been injured.

In conversation with Pilot Wickford in regard to the damage to the course which had been caused by the plane "he wanted to know who was to pay for the damages." Pilot Wickford responded that "the damage would be covered by the Boston Airport corporation" by which he was employed.

Shortly after the landing, the pilot and three passengers went to Stonington to find accommodations for the night. As there are no hotels or rooming houses in the town they were entertained for a time by a physician there and later left his home. It is understood that two of the passengers and the pilot went to New London to get sleeping quarters at a hotel. The other one is said to have gone to Westerly by automobile and continued by train to his home in Boston. In going to Westerly the passenger had planned on taking a train for Hartford, but when he learned from the ticket agent the time of departure of the train he changed his mind and continued to Boston.

A representative of the Bulletin interviewed the members of the plane while they were in Stonington in an effort to ascertain their identity, but they would not divulge their names. Further inquiries as to their identity were made in the district and of the pilot of the plane, but their names could not be ascertained, nor could their names be learned at the Stonington residence where they were guests for a while after leaving their plane.

It was learned that the three passengers were young men who were carrying brief cases. One of them asked for directions to New London and it was thought that they might have gone to that place, but up to a late hour tonight they had not made their appearance there.

Pilot Wickford made the statement after communicating with Hartford mechanics, who are to come to Stonington to repair the damages to the plane, that he did not expect to leave with the plane until some time tomorrow.

CHIEF AVIATION INSPECTOR WILL INVESTIGATE CRASH

HARTFORD, March 13—(AP)—State Aviation Commissioner Clarence M. Knox announced tonight that Chief Inspector George M. Pranaitis would be sent to Stonington tomorrow to make an investigation of the accident. The state aviation law, like the motor vehicle law, requires pilots involved in accidents in this state to make a report to the aviation department.

TRUSTEES WILL CONSIDER RESIGNATION OF MARSHALL

The adjourned meeting of the board of trustees of Connecticut college, at which action will be taken on the resignation of President Benjamin T. Marshall, has been called for Thursday afternoon, March 22, at 2 o'clock in the Hotel Taft, New Haven. Notices to that effect were received by members of the board through the mail Tuesday.

BROOKLYN EDITOR WILL SPEAK AT ST. MARY'S

The devotional services at St. Mary's Memorial church at 7.30 this (Wednesday) evening are to have a program appropriate to the observance of St. Patrick's anniversary, with an address by Rev. John Finn of Brooklyn, N. Y., associate editor of the Brooklyn Tablet. A special musical program of Irish airs will be rendered by the choir and organist.

New London Police Shoot Straight

Firing at a distance of 45 feet, several members of the New London police force succeeded in obtaining perfect scores in the small arms target practice last week. The target was a silhouette of a man's body, with a hit in the more vulnerable parts counting a five points, and the less vulnerable hits being scored as from 1 to 4 points. The regulation police positive revolver of 38 calibre was used, six rounds of ammunition was fired by each member of the force, those obtaining a score of 30 being as follows: Sergeant William T. Babcock and James D. Gaffney and Patrolmen Linehan, Michael Dorsey, Carlos Selesnitsky, John Courtney and Cornelius Moriarty.

Will Tour in Europe

For the first time in a quarter of a century, Col. Robert O. Eaton, collector of internal revenue, will be absent from the republican national convention, when it opens in Kansas City this year. Colonel Eaton, accompanied by his granddaughter, Catherine A. Potter, a student of physical culture at Arnold college, New Haven, will sail for Europe on June 3 and at London will join Col. W. Ellery Allyn, chief field deputy of internal revenue and Mrs. Allyn of Waterford, for a tour of Ireland, Scotland and England and the North Capes. Colonel and Mrs Allyn are planning to sail from New York on May 11. The entire party will return to this country about July 8.

A. M. E. Zion Church Conference

Clergymen and workers of the A. M. E. Zion church all over New England will assemble in New London at 10.30 a. m. for the annual midyear New England conference of the denomination. The meeting place is the local A. M. E. Zion church, the Rev. I. B. Walter, pastor, at Bank street and Ocean avenue. The presiding officer will be the Rev. L. W. Kyles, A. M., D. D., of Winston-Salem, N. C.

Wins Trinity Fellowship

Millard Fuller Manning, senior at Trinity college, has been awarded the Mary A. Terry fellowship there for one year's graduate study for the year 1928-29. Manning has been an honor student throughout his course at Trinity. He graduated at Norwich Free Academy and plans to use the Trinity fellowship in studying physics next year at Yale graduate school.

MOVING PICTURE ACTRESS FIGHTS DIVORCE CHARGES

A beautiful blonde moving picture actress, in real life Mrs. Beatrice Mary Palmer, sat on the witness stand in the superior court at Hartford Tuesday and defended her character and the status of her 7-years-old daughter, Loretta Palmer, in a divorce case brought by George Arthur Palmer, a trolleyman in Bridgeport, on ground of desertion.

Palmer was 20 years old when he married Beatrice Mary Valentine in Hartford on July 12, 1919. She was a Norwich girl, attending school in Hartford. He was a milkman then, but some few months afterward, they moved to Bridgeport, where Palmer got a job on the street cars and they lived in a furnished room.

Palmer's story in brief was that they broke up in 1921 because he heard she had been going out with other men and they could not get along where she had a position as a housekeeper for a man with two children. On cross-examination, he said he had never contributed anything for his wife since the separation nor contributed anything to the support of the baby. The reason was, he said, that he had doubts about the child being his.

Accusations Surprise

Mrs. Palmer told Judge Dickenson that her husband had never made any accusations against her and the first time she had ever heard of such suspicions was in court, when Palmer voiced them on the witness stand. She said in fact they had parted the best of friends, that they wrote letters to each other and she had letters to show how he praised the baby. She had taken the baby and gone to see Palmer, who was in the hospital, a few months ago.

Mrs. Palmer said the trouble eight or nine years ago was that George would stay out from work and lose his jobs and they had no money. He had borrowed money from her to buy a uniform when he got back on the cars after a lay-off. She said in Bridgeport she went out only with a girl friend who had a boy friend and Mr. Palmer did object to her going when the boy friend was along. Mr. Palmer had always brought her home from any dance where she had been at a late hour.

Palmer left her, she testified, three weeks before the baby was born in a hospital in Bridgeport and they had not lived together since. She had written him several times to come back but he didn't even attend the christening of the baby, which has been brought up by Mrs. Palmer's mother. Mrs. Valentine, in this city, assisted in the early years by Mrs. Palmer's brother, Clarence J. Valentine. Mr. Palmer never seemed to have any means, although Mrs. Palmer said that through an arrangement, with a Hartford lawyer, Palmer had sent $3 a week to the baby in Norwich for a couple of months a few years ago.

Testifying that she is an "extra," Mrs. Palmer said she receives $150 a week some weeks, other weeks $75 and thinks she averages about $100 a week. She is able to take care of her daughter, but said she thought her husband should be made to realize some of the duties of a father. Mrs. Palmer has a cross-complaint of desertion in the suit and was represented by Attorney David Goldstein of Bridgeport. George Oider appeared for Mr. Palmer.

Judge Dickenson, who reserved decision in the case, asked Mrs. Palmer's mother, Mrs. Valentine, whether she wished the custody of her granddaughter or whether it should go to the mother. The judge drew a word picture of Mrs. Palmer marrying again and taking away the child and Mrs. Valentine broke into copious weeping at the thought of separation from the little girl.

FIRST BAPTIST WOMEN HELD MISSIONARY MEETING

The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the First Baptist church met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Emma Tyler, of West Main street, Mrs. Louis Browning presiding. The hymn, Jesus Calls Us, was sung and scripture from Ephesians 5 was read by the president, Mrs. Browning. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Tyler. The treasurer's report showed a good balance in the treasury. A letter was read from Ellen Hibbell in regards to making a visit to the First Baptist church and coming in the interest of of Christian Americanization. The date is to be settled later. A letter from Jennie Riley giving a good outline of her work in South India was read by Mrs. Edwin Olcutt. In checking up on the 16 points on standard of excellence it was found that the circle had attained 10 points. Mrs. Frank Davis reported a supply of surgical dressing ready to be sent to some point overseas. Mrs. Louis A. Wheeler had charge of the program and portions of the book entitled, Cobra's Den, were read by Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. Davis. There were 13 present. The collection amounted to $5.30. The next meeting is to be held with Mrs. Wheeler on Cliff street.

GROTON HEIGHTS CHURCH AT ITS 85TH ANNIVERSARY

The 85th anniversary of the Groton Heights Baptist church will be celebrated this (Wednesday) afternoon and evening.

The anniversary observance will begin at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when the Rev. George R. Atha, pastor of the church will preside at a service of prayer and praise.

A supper will be served at 6.30 o'clock by women of the church. At this time it is expected to have a full attendance and the church roll call will be answered. It is expected to have older members of the church speak briefly during the supper hour.

The main service, at 7.30 o'clock will be held in the church auditorium, and it is to attend this service that the Rev. Mr. Atha, has extended a special invitation to the general public. The speaker will be Rev. D. B. Gaines, pastor of the First Baptist church at Waterbury. He will tell of the mission of Baptists.

In charge of the anniversary observances are the pastor of the church, the Rev. Mr. Atha, and the church deacons, Albert F. Crumb, David W. Bosworth, Albert A. Daniels, Alvah B. Cone, and William O. Perkins.

NARRAGANSETT BAY FOR SCOUT FLEET MANEUVERS

Summer maneuvers of the navy scouting fleet, consisting upwards of 50 large surface vessels with attendant destroyers, submarines and airplanes, including practically all of the submarines attached to the submarine base, will be held in Narragansett bay with Newport probably as the base of operations, during July and August, according to present advance schedules of the navy department. The plans, however, are subject to change, especially as to the ships which will participate.

Joint maneuvers in which the scouting fleet will participate are planned for this spring in Hawaiian waters, after which the ships will disperse to various ports for the crews' shore leave over the Fourth of July. After that time, however, the scouting fleet is expected to proceed to Narragansett bay.

Battleship division two of the scouting fleet, together with the aircraft squadrons, will assemble in Narragansett bay July 6, to be in and out of that base until Aug. 29, when the fleet will depart for southern waters, according to present plans. The battleship division, which is in command of Rear Admiral George W. Laws, will consist of the Nevada, Oklahoma and Wyoming. The other three battleships of the scouting fleet, the Utah, Arkansas and Florida, have been detailed as the training squadron for the midshipmen for Annapolis, and will include Narragansett bay in their summer's itinerary.

The aircraft squadrons are in command of Rear Admiral J. J. Raby, on flagship Wright. At least 30 seaplanes will be included in the squadrons ordered to Rhode Island waters for the summer maneuvers, it is said.

Summer Schedule

The summer schedule, as issued by the navy department, indicates the withdrawal from the Asiatic fleet of eight cruiser division three, which is a part of the scouting fleet. This cruiser division, which comprises the Richmond, Cincinnati and Marblehead, now in Chinese waters has been ordered to proceed to Hawaii to participate in the spring maneuvers in the Pacific. If it is found that the situation in the far east requires the return of the light cruisers, division three may be sent there. On the other hand, if conditions in China are improved at the conclusion of the Hawaiian maneuvers, it is possible that these cruisers will rejoin the scouting fleet for the summer activities on the Rhode Island coast.

Light cruiser division two, comprising the Trenton, Raleigh, Milwaukee and Memphis, will be with the Narragansett bay fleet this summer, and the light cruiser Detroit, now in European waters, and which is returning soon, will also join the fleet, it is expected.

Destroyer squadrons nine and 14 of the scouting fleet, including seven divisions, are designated to train naval reserves during the summer, and their schedules will include week-end visits to the Newport rendezvous. In destroyer division nine there are 18 destroyers, with the tender Dallas, a light cruiser. In squadron 14 are 25 destroyers, with the tenders Dobbin and Whitney.

In addition to the craft enumerated above, there will be a control force of several ships, the fleet base force of some 10 supply and hospital ships, and the airplane tenders Sandpiper and Teal, which probably will accompany the fleet to the Rhode Island waters.

HARTFORD MEETING FOR TAX COLLECTORS OF STATE

Governor Trumbull, Mayor Norman C. Stevens, Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Persky of New Haven and other prominent tax, insurance and town officials will address the tax collectors of Connecticut at the all-day conference called by State Tax Commissioner William H. Blodgett for Monday, March 26, at the capitol, according to the program given out by Mr. Blodgett.

The meeting will be at 10 o'clock in the hall of the house of representatives by Frederick L. Phelps, tax collector of Middletown, member of the collectors' advisory committee.

"Personal Tax Collection" will be discussed by William J. Smith, Avon's tax collector, and Dr. William L. Higgins, first selectman of Coventry, the former taking up the subject from the collector's point of view, the latter from the enrolling officer's standpoint. Next will come Mr. Persky, New Haven's corporation counsel, and Edward L. Kelly, tax attorney of Bridgeport, speaking on "The Tax Lien Law of 1927." Luncheon will be served at 12.30 p. m.

EAST LYME WOMAN POISONED BY IODINE

Suffering from iodine poisoning Miss Anna Sheverz formerly of East Lyme is in a critical condition at the Bellevue hospital New York according to Chief Inspector Lahey of the metropolitan police department who requested the New London police to advise the girl's relatives to this effect. The authorities were successful in reaching Mrs. Regina Wilshensky a relative of Miss Sherverz in East Lyme, who said that she would communicate at once with other relatives.

Whether the girl swallowed the iodine with suicidal intent, or by accident could not be learned.

SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT AND SUPERVISORS ARE RE-ENGAGED

The town school board at its monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the court house, voted to re-engage Edward J. Graham as superintendent of schools for another year. President Walter F. Lester presided at the meeting. Routine business was transacted and bills were ordered paid. The board accepted the schedule of salaries for teachers for the next school year as submitted by Supt. Graham. The list of teachers recommended by Supt Graham for re-appointment was also adopted and the board voted to re-engage for another year the several school supervisors. The meeting adjourned shortly before 9 o'clock.

LOS ANGELES CITY BLAMED FOR THE DAM DISASTER

Ventura Valley Officials Declare City of Los Angeles Should Be Approached For Funds For Rehabilitation—Dam Was Built as Part of the Water System of Los Angeles—Death Toll Now Stands at 251—Searching Parties Continue to Recover Bodies From the Silt and Slime Left in the Wake of the Flood.

SANTA PAULA, Calif., March 14—(AP)—Rehabilitation work got under way today in San Francisquito canyon and the Santa Clara valley which were laid waste early yesterday by the breaking of St. Francis dam with a known death toll of 251.

While searching parties continued to bring in additional bodies recovered from the silt and slime left in the wake of the flood, telephone and telegraph repair gangs, steam shovel, wrecking, and bridge crews took the field in the first steps to restore the stricken area to its former beauty and industry.

Meanwhile a committee was organized here to formulate a general rehabilitation program. Speakers charged that the city of Los Angeles, which built the dam as part of its water system, was responsible for the disaster.

Red Cross and county and city organizations kept step with all demands on them for food, clothing and medical attention, and policing forces, augmented by American Legion volunteers, kept the affected territory under strict supervision, amounting almost to martial law.

Officials of Ventura county, whose activities are centered here, estimated that 10,000 acres of orchards had been swept by the flood. Accurate damage estimates were impossible, since all competent to judge the situation declared weeks of survey would be necessary to fix the total. Unofficial figures ranged from $7,000,000 to $30,000,000.

Morgues scattered throughout the flood area were focal points for lines of survivors seeking to identify their dead in the long rows of shrouded bodies.

C. C. Teague, resident of Santa Paula, and president of the California Fruit Growers' exchange, was chosen chairman of the rehabilitation conference, which met at the call of Mayor M. L. Steckel of Santa Paula.

Teague headed the fight waged against the building of the St. Francis dam by the residents of the Santa Clara river valley, the latter charging that Los Angeles, by means of the structure, was usurping the water rights of the valley by diverting the flow of the Santa Clara river.

Legal suits to test the disputed points are still in the courts.

Dr. D. W. Mott, former state senator, declared that one of the first duties was to fix responsibility for the disaster. He said that Gov. C. C. Young had asked him to express an opinion on the question of responsibility.

Mott's reply to the governor, as he gave it to the meeting today, was:

"The responsibility is that of a selfish city that took the water belonging to us."

Mott quoted the governor as saying that the events of yesterday proved by the way the water flowed out of San Francisquito canyon that it was "confluent to the Santa Clara valley." He reported to the meeting that Governor Young had promised a full investigation into Santa Clara valley water rights.

The speaker's closing declaration to the meeting was:

"We want Los Angeles to know that it has taken millions from us."

Chairman Teague asserted that "the responsibility of the city of Los Angeles to our community must be determined.

"There must be an early and just appraisal of the damage done to individuals.

"The city of Los Angeles will try to minimize the damage and to prove that we are not entitled to anything. We probably will have to appeal to the courts."

Teague said that probably 200 homes had been damaged "in this vicinity," and if the damage to each averaged $1,000, this phase of the loss in Santa Paula alone would total $200,000.

A committee member interrupted to say that he had received upwards of 40 offers of financial aid from individuals through Southern California which he had tentatively declined. The committeeman asked for instructions regarding similar offers in the future and Chairman Teague replied:

"The great city of Los Angeles which caused the damage should be approached first of all for funds for rehabilitation."

A. H. Call, Ventura county horticultural commissioner, in estimating that approximately 10,000 acres of orchards had been swept over by the flood, said preliminary surveys indicated an expense probably of $500 an acre would have to be undergone to restore the silt-covered area. The producing land normally is valued at about $5,000 an acre.

buried under many feet of mud and silt.

10 important bridges destroyed.

State and county highways washed out at numerous points.

Telegraph and telephone lines disrupted over an area connecting half a dozen towns and a dozen smaller communities.

1500 pesons virtually homeless and many of these, temporarily at least, destitute.

Livestock killed and drowned, unestimated total.

The aggregate property loss cannot be determined at present. Officials declared today that it would require weeks to fix the figure, which might be found anywhere between $7,000,000 and $30,000,000.

50 NATIONAL GUARDSMEN PATROL STRICKEN AREA

SANTA PAULA, Calif., March 14—(AP)—The general relief committee in charge of rehabilitation following the breaking of the St. Francis dam, today requested Gov. C. C. Young to order 200 national guardsmen to the stricken area.

C. C. Teague, chairman of the general committee, made the request. He said Governor Young had assured him on the visit of the state executive here last night that he would grant the request if made.

Teague said the national guardsmen would replace Los Angeles peace officers now assisting in the rescue work.

ESTIMATED TOLL IN LIFE AND PROPERTY

SANTA PAULA, Cal., March 14—(AP)—San Francisquito canyon and the Santa Clara river valley were struggling nobly tonight to pull themselves out of the mire of death and destruction poured over them by the breaking of the St. Francis dam yesterday.

The toll in life and property, estimated from official figures and the surveys of careful observers, stood as follows:

264 lives lost.

St. Francis dam demolished.

Los Angeles municipal power house below dam demolished.

500 homes destroyed or greatly damaged.

20 lineal miles of citrus orchard land

COSTIGAN RESIGNS FROM THE TARIFF COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP)—The controversy that for more than two years has surrounded the activities of the tariff commission moved to a sharp and sudden climax today with the resignation of Commissioner Edward P. Costigan, last of the original Wilson appointees.

In a letter filled with frank personalities, Costigan simultaneously assailed President Coolidge and Commissioners Marvin, Lowell and Brossard. At the white house, it was announced that the resignation had been accepted.

Costigan charged Mr. Coolidge with a refusal to act on decisive evidence that certain tariff rates should be lowered. The president's course, he said, had "helped to wreck the commission's usefulness."

Terming the three commissioners "the Marvin group," Costigan asserted that they had worked steadily for higher rates and against important reductions, "reckless on ocasions in their treatment of facts and laws."

Costigan's charges were contained in a letter addressed to Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic floor leader, chairman of the senate committee appointed two years ago to investigate the tariff commission.

Mr. Costigan declared that the "manipulation of the commission since 1922 is but part of the total picture of present-day Washington," contained "in an era which history may yet summarize as the age of Daugherty, Fall and Sinclair."

Chairman Marvin he described as a "tireless and fanatical protectionist, known in Washington as a tariff lobbyist for New England protected interests."

"No exposures, however discrediting, of bias, partisanship and the distrust of his associates, have sufficed to break this New England slate," the letter added, asserting that "it is well known in Washington that President Coolidge has long ceased personally to consult or place confidence in his own designated tariff commission chairman."

PASSENGERS ON TRAIN ENDANGERED BY FIRE

CAIRO, Egypt, March 14—(AP)—Returning from his hunting expedition in Africa, George Eastman, camera manufacturer of Rochester, N. Y., suddenly found himself at an early hour this morning in greater danger than he had ever been in pursuit of big game. He was sound asleep aboard a luxor to Cairo express train when fire broke out in the coach in which Mr. Eastman and his personal physician, Dr. Alfred D. Kaiser, were travelling.

So rapid was the spread of the flames that the occupants of this coach and one of the Pullmans had difficulty in making their escape. Some of them did so through the windows, clad in scanty night attire. When the engineer first discovered the fire, from the reflection, he stopped the train. It may have been this, or the fumes that awoke the travelers, but by that time the flames were shooting down the corridors.

Neither Mr. Eastman nor Dr. Kaiser had a chance even to seize their clothes and were compelled to make the best of it in pajamas and a blanket.

When a correspondent visited Dr. Kaiser at the hotel where he and the others had put up, the doctor apologized for his appearance then remarked: "But perhaps you have heard that Eastman and I lost all our hand baggage by the train fire early this morning. Our wardrobe trunks, however, are safe as they were in the luggage van."

FED. TRADE COMMISSION TO SUBMIT FIRST REPORT

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP)—The federal trade commission will submit its first monthly report on its investigation into the public utilities under the Walsh senate resolution to the senate late tomorrow. The report will cover a short hearing held last week at which representatives of the American Gas association and the National Electric Light association testified.

The Walsh resolution provides that the commission must make reports on its investigation every thirty days

REPORT OF STATE FREE EMPLOYMENT BUREAUS

HARTFORD, March 14.—(AP)—Of 834 applications for employment received at the free employment bureau in Hartford, 550 situations were secured, it was announced today by the state commissioner of labor and factory inspection, under whose auspices the fire free employment bureaus throughout the state are run. Applications received from employers for workers in Hartford totalled 565. Of the applications for employment 600 were from men and 234 were from women, while employers applied for 324 men and 241 women workers.

In the five free employment bureaus in the state, 4,006 applications for employment were received, of which 2,403 were from men and 1,603 were from women applications for help totalling 2,362 were received from employers, including applications for 1,109 men and 1,253 women. Situations were secured for 1,043 men and 1,173 women.

Of the male applicans for employment, 43.4 per cent. were supplied with situations, as against 41.1 per cent. in January. Of the women applicants, 73.1 per cent. were supplied with situations, compared to 72.2 per cent. in January. Fifty-five per cent of all applicants for employment were supplied with positions, as against 535 per cent. in the previous week.

ARREST MIGHT CLEAR UP A SERIES OF BURGLARIES

NEWTOWN, Conn., March 14.—(AP)—State police of the Ridgefield barracks, with the arrest today of Elmer K. Underhill, of Newtown, and Alexander Titus, of Bethel, believed they had cleared up the mystery which had surrounded a series of 20 to 30 burglaries which have taken place around Newtown within the past two and a half years.

Sergeant Leo F. Carroll and Trooper Walter Boas made the arrests late this afternoon, after an extensive investigation which began over two years ago, when the first of the series of breaks was committed.

The men are lodged in Danbury jail charged with breaking, entering and burglarizing. Underhill is the proprietor of a gas station on the Bethel road.

The breaks have been made for the most part during the winter months when summer residences have been vacant. The districts which have been the scenes of the robberies are Bethel, Elmwood district, Newtown, South Britain and Oxford.

ACTION FOR INVOLUNTARY PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY

NEW HAVEN, March 14—(AP)—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was brought against Dworkin, Inc., of Hartford, in the United States court here today by Sidney Blumenthal & Co., Inc., of New York and the American Pile Fabric Co., Inc., of Philadelphia.

The petitioners stated that the Hartford corporation with debts of $240,030.93 is insolvent. The petition further stated that "probable claims held by them would mount in the aggregate in excess of securities held by them of $25,646.19."

The creditors claim that Dworkin, Inc., committed an act of bankruptcy in asking for appointment of a receiver on March 8. The appointment was made by the superior court in Hartford on the same day.

Judge Edwin S. Thomas, of the United States court, appointed William C. Wolf, of New York, and Edwin Ryan, of Hartford, as receivers and ordered them to file a joint bond of $25,000.

THEATRE STOCKS TRADED IN ON STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, March 14—(AP)—Stocks of two large theatre-owning concerns today were added to the list of amusement shares already traded in on the New York stock exchange. The Keith-Albee-Orpheum corporation henceforth will be represented by 921,184 outstanding shares of no par common, and 100,000 shares of 7 per cent. cumulative convertible preferred of $100 par value. This is the first listing of any stock of the Keith-Albee-Orpheum group. The standing 150,000 shares of $6.50 cumulative preferred stocks of Loew's Inc., whose common stock already was listed, also were admitted to trading.

Among a score of other securities listed were $41,500,000 United States of Brazil 6 1-2 per cent. bonds, $31,000,000 New Haven railway 4 1-2s and common stock of the Hamilton Watch company.

CONN. WILL FEATURE NATIONAL EGG WEEK

HARTFORD, March 14.—(AP)—National egg week will again be featured in Connecticut this year during the week of May 1 to 7, according to action taken by poultrymen and egg dealers at a meeting held at the state capitol, it was announced today by Philo T. Platt, state commissioner of agriculture.

Commissioner Platt was elected chairman of a committee to formulate plans and to carry out the wishes of both producers and dealers. Others on the committee are C. L. Sibley, president of the Connecticut Poultry association; Thomas Smith, of Kingsley and Smith, Hartford merchants Professor W. F. Kirkpatrick, of the Connecticut Agricultural college; W. H. Corbin, secretary of the Hartford chamber of commerce, and F. C. Miner, of the Connecticut Poultry Producers' association.

COMPTROLLER MAILS CHECKS FOR PAYROLL

HARTFORD, March 14.—(AP) — An important step toward bringing all state disbursements under the direct supervision of Comptroller Frederick M. Salmon will be taken tomorrow when approximately 1,000 checks, the monthly payroll of two of the largest state institutions will be mailed from the comptroller's office. Heretofore, one check for the entire payroll has been sent to each of the institutions, and the salaries of the employes has been paid in cash.

Adverse to Conn. on Diversion of Waters

Secretary of War Davis Sustains Bay State Claim of Right to Divert Water of Ware River

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 14—(AP)—The war department has rendered an adverse decision to Connecticut in the matter of the Ware river.

Decision on the Swift river is reserved.

Secretary of War Davis today announced his decision that the diversion of waters of the Ware river does not affect the navigability of the Connecticut river and that no permit is therefore required from the war department to allow the work of diversion to continue. That leaves the matter of the Ware river entirely in the supreme court. The waters of the Swift river will be considered by the war department separately, as the secretary believes the case is more complicated and requires more time before the department renders a decision than was reached in the Ware river case. Connecticut men here are greatly surprised at the decision and deplore it, but continue to hope the supreme court will decide in favor of Connecticut.

SENTENCED TO EXECUTION FOR DEATH OF DAUGHTER

WORCESTER, Mass., March 14—(AP)—Nathan Deselnick, 24, a fruit peddler whose home is in Dorchester, was sentenced to die in the electric chair the week of July 15 by Judge Charles H. Donahue in the superior criminal court late today. He was convicted by a jury on November 3 on a charge of being an accessory before the fact in connection with the death of his four months old daughter, Stella, whose body was found in Lake Quinsigamond.

Before sentence was imposed the defendant said that he was not guilty and asserted he never hired anyone to commit the murder.

The child which it is alleged was murdered was born to Anna Goldberg in Boston in January 1927 and was taken a few weeks later by Miss Goldberg and the defendant to the home of Mrs. Florence G. Jackson, a Salvation army worker at Arlington Heights where it was boarded. It was charged that on June 5, the defendant took the child from the woman's home. The next afternoon the body was found in the lake. The defendant claimed he gave the child to a friend to take to New York to find a home for it with a Jewish family and had no knowledge of the murder until the body was found.

TEAPOT DOME INQUIRY LEADING TOWARD CHICAGO

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP)—The branching trail of the senate oil investigation led toward Chicago tonight as two members of the Teapot Dome committee—Nye and Norbeck—headed for that city to explore further ramifications of the Sinclair-Continental liberty bond transactions.

As a sub-committee, the two investigators will hold hearings in Chicago tomorrow, Friday and Saturday. From the two score of witnesses who have been summoned they hope to get a line on how some of the bonds contributed by Harry F. Sinclair toward wiping out the 1920 campaign deficit of the republican party were used, there may be other developments.

Nye, who is chairman of the committee that has established that Sinclair in 1923 gave Will H. Hays $260,000 in securities for political purposes, and his republican colleague from South Dakota left for the west late today after a rather colorless session of the committee, which came as an anti-climax to the appearance before it yesterday of Secretary Mellon, William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee and Hays.

13 PERSONS WERE INJURED WHEN BRIDGE COLLAPSED

SCHOHARIE, N. Y., March 14—(AP)—Thirteen persons were injured, five of them seriously, when the west span of a bridge across Schoharie Creek collapsed here today. More than a score of persons were on the span at the moment it collapsed, but the majority escaped injury either through chance or by leaping to firm ground as the span fell.

Those on the bridge composed a group of spectators who were watching the extrication of an automobile truck which earlier in the day had broken through the bridge flooring. The weight of the crowd was too great for the strength of the span and it buckled, plunging the spectators into six feet of water and in some instances burying them in wreckage.

A half dozen doctors from nearby towns were summoned to the scene and a call put in for ambulances from Albany hospitals. Rescue work, directed by two state troopers, was conducted from a small boat and canoe and from the shore.

The seriously injured, all of this village, were rushed to Albany hospitals.

MAYOR WALKER WELCOME D HUNGARIAN DELEGATION

NEW YORK, March 14—(AP)—The official delegation of the Hungarian government here for the dedication tomorrow on Riverside drive of a statue to Louis Kossuth, Hungarian patriot, received the city's welcome from Mayor Walker in the same chamber of the city hall in which Kossuth was welcomed in 1851.

There was no disturbance at today's ceremonies such as the conflict when the delegation landed last evening between police and demonstrators opposed to Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary.

The opposition today confined itself to distribution of handbills under the noses of hundreds of police.

HARTFORD STABBER PRONOUNCED INSANE

HARTFORD, March 14.—(AP)—Lorenzo Desmarais, 17 year old Hartford stabber, was today found insane by a commission of alienists appointed by Judge Marvin of the superior court, and will be committed Thursday to the Connecticut state hospital for the insane at Middletown.

The youth, who has confessed to stabbing three Hartford women during his brief reign of terror here was found to be a "constitutionally psychopathic inferior," who was developing into a state of dementia praecox. He was arrested by Hartford police, February 16, two months after his stabbing career began.

Little Difference in Income Tax Returns

Payments so Far This Year Total $1,143,438,407—Same Period Last Year $1,164,547,309.

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP)—American taxpayers dug into their purses again today to meet tomorrow their annual dues to Uncle Sam—but with the gratifying knowledge that on the basis of their income tax payments this year a permanent reduction in rates may be possible in years to come.

Awaiting the returns from the first installment of income taxes which must be paid up by tomorrow, the senate finance committee is suspending judgment on what total to insert in the tax reduction measure it received some time ago from the house.

While taxpayers the country over were worrying today over the amounts they owed the government as dictated by the complex return schedules, treasury officials withheld any prediction of what harvest was in sight.

The returns of tomorrow will give the first real gauge on the financial condition of the country during the last year and if there is any appreciable drop in the nation's income it will cloud the prospect of a measureable reduction at this session.

There is no indication of such a trend, however, on the basis of preliminary returns, although an official survey conducted by the government recently was declared by Senator Smoot, chairman of the finance committee, to indicate a falling off of 9 to 10 per cent in income last year.

Income tax returns made during this month up to the 12th totalled $34,938,331 as compared with $31,110,210 made during the same period last year. A slight reduction, however, is shown in the total of payments during this fiscal year, from last June 30 to March 12. Payments so far this year total $1,143,438,407 as compared with $1,164,547,309 during the same period a year ago.

The treasury ended the last fiscal year with a surplus of more than $600,000,000 and there is little difference so fa rthis year in the returns, but tomorrow's contributions will tell the real tale.

Despite the $600,000,000 surplus, the administration is opposing the $290,000,000 tax cut voted already this season by the house.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF RADIO COMMUNICATION IN DOUBT

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP)—Federal control of radio communication was tonight in the process of temporary reversion from the radio commission to the radio supervising service of the commerce department.

The commission itself was uncertain whether its grant of life under the law creating it expired at midnight tonight or will cease at ten o'clock tomorrow morning, but at one hour or the other the commission loses its executive authority because a committee of conferees have failed to compose differences between the house and senate over a bill passed by both to extend the commission's life for one year from tomorrow.

Until the differences are straightened out, sprinkling from amendments tacked on in the house, the commission will continue active as a sort of appellate tribunal, to rule upon complaints and controversies from the radio field. The conferees probably will not act for several days.

Acting Chairman Sykes said tonight that in view of the situation and the contemplated action by congress, the members of the commission all expect to continue in their present duties, anticipating only a temporary interruption in the body's authority to control radio communication.

The theory of the creating act was that the commission during its first year of existence would lay down broad regulations for radio operation, turn over administration of the system created to the commerce department and then retire except for the judicial function. The present proposals now contemplate keeping the regulation of radio under the commission for another year.

FRANCE TO UNDERTAKE WORLD'S LARGEST INSURANCE

PARIS, March 14—(AP)—France undertakes the world's largest insurance by the chamber's adoption tonight of social insurance affecting half the French population. The measure, which the senate has already adopted and which has been in parliament for seven years, makes obligatory the collection of ten per cent of wages and salaries, half from the workers and half from the employers, totalling $200,000,000 annually.

From this, death and disability benefits, old age pensions and general medical services will be paid. The law will be made effective gradually and will operate fully when the reserve reaches $4,000,000,000.

The plan, it is admitted, must be revised from time to time to meet objections, particularly of the farmer.

DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE WILL OPEN IN GENEVA TODAY

GENEVA, Switzerland, March 14—(AP)—Hopes for any eventual reduction of world armaments will be raised or dashed, it is believed, in accordance with the success or failure of the preliminary disarmament conference scheduled for opening here tomorrow with delegates from many nations, including the United States, Russia and Turkey, participating.

DEATH OF G. W. BUNKER, GEN. GRANT'S BODYGUARD

HORNELL, N. Y., March 14—(AP)—George W. Bunker, 81, one of General Ulysses S. Grant's bodyguard at the time of Lee's surrender at Appomattox, died today at his home in Greenwood, where he had been a life-long resident. He enlisted when 17 years old with Company N, 189th New York Volunteers.

CONVENTION WITH HONDURAS RATIFIED BY THE SENATE

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP)—A supplemental extradition convention with Honduras, signed at Tegucigalpa February 21 last year, was ratified today by the senate. It adds crimes against laws for suppression of narcotics production and violations of customs laws to the list of twenty-one other extraditable offenses already covered by the original treaty of 1909.

NO NEWS OF HINCHLIFFE OR HIS MONOPLANE ENDEAVOUR

British Aviator Expected to Arrive Over New Foundland at Dawn Yesterday—At Normal Consumption Gasoline Would Have Been Exhausted at 7 P. M.—His Objective Was Philadelphia—His Whereabouts Since the Flight Started Have Been Unknown.

LONDON, March 14—(AP)—Captain Walter G. R. Hinchliffe and Hon. Elsie Mackay are the sole occupants of the Detroit Stinson plane Endeavour, which started a trans-Atlantic flight Tuesday morning and at midnight tonight was becoming one of the tragic mysteries of the North Atlantic.

This became known definitely when Major Gordon Sinclair, close friend of Hinchliffe and whose whereabouts since the flight started have been a mystery, appeared at Purley, the suburban home of the British war ace. He said that Miss Mackay was the only passenger on the plane.

Mrs. Hinchliffe, dry-eyed, but maintaining her fortitude with difficulty, welcomed Major Sinclair and his wife as companions of her vigil. Throughout the day and evening she scarcely stirred from the telephone over which she momentarily hoped to hear news of her venturesome husband.

"I will not give up hope," she said. "The whole thing was rather hurriedly arranged," said Major Sinclair, in telling the story of the start from Cranwell. "It was originally intended that I should accompany Captain Hinchliffe, but Miss Mackay was keen on going, so I gave way to her.

"At her request I agreed to be a party to the fiction that I was flying with the captain. She did not wish her family to know anything about her trip, as she desired that they be spared anxiety.

"So far as Hinchliffe was concerned, he was indifferent as to whether Miss Mackay or I accompanied him."

Major Sinclair explained that after the flight started he went back to Grantham where the party had spent Monday night. From there he proceeded to London. He would not reveal where he had stayed in this city, but he said he had been "lying low until things got under way."

"It was only a couple of hours before the Endeavour started that Miss Mackay finally decided to fly," continued Major Sinclair. "I had been working for a fortnight to get the plane ready and was so busy at that task that I did not take much notice of the repeated conferences which Miss Mackay had with Captain Hinchliffe.

"We were up all night Monday completing the preparations, and suddenly at 2 a. m., Tuesday, I was told that I was not going.

"Captain Hinchliffe, Miss Mackay, her friend, Miss Ries, and myself left the Hotel St. George at Grantham about 4 a. m., in Miss Mackay's car. As soon as we reached the airdrome, the Endeavour was wheeled out, the engine was started and Hinchliffe and Miss Mackay climbed into the machine.

"I had made the plane completely ready so there was nothing left for them to do but to take off. I shook hands with both of them and wished them luck.

"The next thing I remember, I was waving cheerily to the Endeavour as it became a smaller and smaller spot upon the horizon. That was the last I saw of them.

"Now we are waiting anxiously, but I am full of hope.

"Hinchliffe told me many times that he would make Philadelphia, if possible, and I think it quite likely that the Endeavour slipped past the watchers at Newfoundland in the fog. There was enough petrol aboard to last 50 hours, so he may still be flying."

The secretive movements of the flight party were ferreted out just previous to Major Sinclair's sudden reappearance. A hint that he would soon be seen, was given by Harry Lloyd, English agent for Hinchliffe. Then word came from hotel employes at Grantham that the major had been there several hours after the flight started in company with Miss Mackay's friend.

Miss Mackay's automobile with two chauffeurs brought Miss Ries back to London with baggage and other belongings of the adventurers. Captain Hinchliff's portion of this property was delivered to his house at Purley this evening by another car from Miss Mackay's city home.

Newspaper investigators at Cranwell learned that for a fortnight Miss Mackay had been staying at the George hotel in Grantham. She hid her identity but accompanied Hinchliffe.

BOSTON AIRPORT REPORTS HAVING HEARD PLANE

BOSTON, March 14—(AP)—The Boston airport tonight reported that a plane was thought to have passed over the field about 9:30 tonight. The attendant on duty said he "wouldn't swear to it, but we thought we heard a plane."

The information from the airport followed close on reports from Portsmouth, N. H., Salem, and Lynn that a plane, apparently a big one, had been heard in those localities flying south.

PLANE HEARD FLYING OVER NORTHFIELD, N. J.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 14—(AP)—A large plane was reported heard flying over Northfield, near here toward Philadelphia at 11:20 p. m., tonight.

E. N. Wells, of Northfield reported that he had heard the "big" plane flying over Northfield apparently heading in the direction of Mays Landing, which would be in the direction of Philadelphia.

Mr. Wells said that he connected the mystery plane with the Hinchliffe flight because he had heard radio reports of the progress of a south bound plane over New England.

MITCHEL FIELD AWAITS ARRIVAL OF HINCHLIFFE

NEW YORK, March 14—(AP)—Every possible preparation was made at Mitchel field, Long Island, tonight for the arrival of the trans-Atlantic monoplane, Endeavour, but army aviation officials acknowledged they had little hope that the plane would arrive.

The landing lights were ordered kept burning all night and 50 soldiers were assigned to remain under arms to police the airport in the event that Capt. Walter Hinchliffe and his companion, generally believed to be the Honorable Elsie Mackay, should arrive.

The Endeavour took off in England for an attempt to fly the perilous western air line to America at 3:46 eastern standard time, yesterday morning. Enough gasoline was carried to keep the plane in the air, under normal conditions, only until 7 o'clock tonight.

The Endeavour's cruising speed was 105 miles an hour and it was expected to reach Newfoundland about dawn this morning. But after its take-off not one definite report was heard of its progress. No liner saw anything of it, and watchers in Newfoundland scanned the skies all day in vain.

Before the Endeavour set out, other planes had attempted the western passage but none had ever succeeded and fly persons, one a woman, had paid for their daring with their lives.

The expedition was sponsored by Miss Mackay and was shrouded in the greatest secrecy. Associates of Hinchliffe explained that this was necessary because Miss Mackay, herself an experienced aviator, feared that if her father learned of her plan to fly the ocean, he would not permit it.

DIVERGENT VIEWS ON COAL FIELDS CONDITIONS

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP)—Widely divergent aspects of the unsettled situation in the Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio coal fields occupied the senate investigating committee today, with Ohio operators, a railroad purchasing agent and a self-styled "human engineer" following varied courses in their testimony.

Frank Mallot, treasurer of the Shick Coal company, and president of the First National bank of Bellaire, Ohio, testified that the Baltimore & Ohio railroad had ceased purchasing coal from his concern when he announced that union miners would not be repudiated.

This happened, he said, after a "Mr. Dyson," purchasing agent for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad had inquired by telephone whether the Shick Coal Co. was going to continue on a union basis.

"I told him we would continue," said Mallot, "and he said he did not think they would be interested in buying more coal but he would leave it up to the proper authorities."

Thomas K. Maher, Cleveland, Ohio, president of the Maher Collieries Co., entered statistics which showed a decline in prices paid by railroads to his five mines for coal between 1919 and 1927. He denied blaming the railroads for depressing prices in the past, and having used that as an argument for reduction of miners wages.

"We usually got better treatment from the railroads than from others," he said.

DIED WHILE TAKING PART IN ENTERTAINMENT

EASTON, Conn., March 14—(AP)—Chileon Dickerson, Sr., supervisor for the Bridgeport Hydraulic company of the lower section of its Easton lake property, died suddenly tonight, while taking part in an entertainment in the parish hall of the Jesse Lee Methodist Episcopal church. A moment before he had been an active participant in the entertainment, which was conducted by Davis Beach Boothe, of Stratford, and he had just returned to his seat. Suddenly, and without any outcry, he fell from his chair to the floor.

There was considerable delay in communicating with a physician, but finally Dr. Stanton R. Smith, of Bridgeport, was reached, and he responded. He said Dickerson had died instantly, of shock.

Nearly 150 persons were present in the hall, including Dickerson's wife and two daughters, Mrs. Howard Kuehn and Mrs. Arthur Bush. He also had a third daughter, Mrs. William Garrity, of New Canaan, and a son, Chileon, Jr.

SENDING PROVISIONS TO SNOWBOUND TOWN

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., March 14—(AP)—A snow motor loaded with approximately one thousand pounds of provisions for snowbound and hungry residents of Detour, 60 miles south of here left here at two o'clock this afternoon reporting an average speed of about 15 miles an hour. It was hoped the machine, barring engine trouble, would reach the isolated upper peninsula village tonight.

Shortly after the departure of the snow motor, Dr. John F. Deadman, veteran dog runner and pioneer prospector, accompanied by F. W. Leunin of Milwaukee left by dog sled for Raber and Detour. The sled is carrying medical supplies to the two villages for Mrs. Wallace Benson of Raber, reported critically ill and Russell Goetz, of Detour, suffering from a throat infection.

17-YEAR OLD GIRL HELD ON A CHARGE OF BURGLARY

NEW YORK, March 14—(AP)—Stella Bullets, a 17-year-old girl of Brockton, Mass., was held in $5,000 bail today on a charge of burglary with Thomas Casey, who was arrested with her.

WILLIMANTIC, March 14—A contest among the school children of the towns of Mansfield and Coventry for the collection of tent caterpillar egg clusters is being sponsored by Earl W. Green post, No. 52, American Legion, of those towns. Prizes have been offered for the contest which will last for three consecutive weeks. The pupils will be divided into three classes, first, second and third grades; fourth, fifth and sixth grades, and seventh and eighth grades, respectively. First and second prizes will be awarded in each class for boys and girls, the sum of $25 having been voted by the post for this purpose. An effort will be made to interest other organizations and that of the authorities of the Connecticut Agricultural college has already been aroused. The college has asked that the clusters be turned over to the experimental department of the institution. The present plans call for a gathering of the contestants on Memorial day, when the awards will be made, with exercises at South Coventry, and an address will be delivered. Arrangements are in charge of a committee headed by R. L. Hahn, instructor of vocational agriculture at Windham high school. This work of the combined legion-posts of Coventry and Mansfield is meeting with the highest commendation.

WELFARE BUREAU DOES GOOD WORK WITHOUT FUNDS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, March 14—Effective work done under the trying handicap of lack of funds was shown in the annual report of the secretary of the Welfare bureau at the annual meeting of the organization Tuesday. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. R. H. Fenton, the vice-president. P. J. Laramee, the treasurer, read his report and was given a vote of thanks for his continued and faithful service. His report showed disbursements of $2,155.83, a balance on hand last year of $281.23 and receipts of $2,324.28, leaving a balance on hand of $168.32. The meeting then elected the following directors-at-large, who will choose officers at a meeting Friday night: Charles F. Risedorf, A. R. Handfield, William E. Webber, Louis H. Arnold, Mrs. Valentine L. Murphy, Dr. C. E. Simonds, Mrs. Bertha Thompson, Mrs. A. E. Greene, Mrs. C. S. Higbee, Mrs. C. C. Case, Miss Ines Paton, and Miss Elizabeth Stone. The report of the secretary, Miss Elizabeth P. Anderson, which was the 14th annual, showed intensive work done with the methods of this bureau's function being adapted to the large scope of activities and change of the nature of the work. Social work is rapidly taking the place of the dole system. It has been necessary, however, according to the report, to turn over much of this work to other agencies because of lack of public financial support. The report read in part: "Problems have presented themselves to us, most often for the following reasons: unemployment, desertion and non-support, neglect of children, intemperance, immorality, family friction, illegitimacy, illness and mental defects. Among the types of service rendered are physical and mental treatment, employment (when possible), food, fuel, clothing, friendly advice and help, the care of adults and children especially, by home finding and placing through numerous other organizations or institutions.

"Our statistics for the year show 1,285 office visits, relief given to 207, 957 telephone calls, 75 letters written, 768 outside visits and Travelers' Aid to 12.

"Through this organization, the secretary holds membership in the National Travelers' Aid society, the State Probation Officers' association, Social Workers' council of New London and Windham counties, annual State Conference of Social Work and the Family Welfare Executives of Connecticut."

SOCIAL CORNER HOLDS ANNIVERSARY MEETING HERE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, March 14—The 18th birthday of the Social Corner of The Norwich Bulletin was fittingly observed at a largely attended meeting of Corners No. 5 and 6, and many guests of other Corners held in the Chamber of Commerce parlors today. About 100 members from Westerly, R. I., Hartford, Norwich, this city and other towns, attended the forenoon and afternoon sessions. Mrs. Will Green (Theoda) was in charge of the sessions. At noon an excellent meat pie dinner was served, with a large birthday cake as a feature. The decorations consisted of yellow crepe, the Corner color, and candles. The program was highly entertaining and consisted of excellent musical numbers, recitations and a snappy comedy, The Country Wedding. Mrs. Clarance Barrows was in charge of the program. Assisting Mrs. Green and Mrs. Barrows were several members, including California Girl, Honeysuckle, White Clover, May, Just Gill, Ready Helper, Wiltwyck, Marigold, Phyllis and others.

For the first time since the numbered immigration of Irish descendants there will be no public celebration of St. Patrick's day, Saturday, of this week. The day will not even be observed among Irish organizations, this breach in the ancient custom not being due to any lack of respect and interest in the saint, but to the fact that no location of suitable size could be found within financial means for an Irish play or musical entertainment. The Ladies' auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians has led in the celebration of the day for the past 20 years with a famous Irish drama, lecture, banquet, musicale or other form of attraction. It had been planned to stage a play this year, but the theatres were not available and so St. Patrick's day and its significance will be recalled only in family gatherings. One of the customs of years past which is still vivid in the memories of old-timers was the St. Patrick day banquets of the defunct Montgomery Hose company.

Mrs. Ariena May Griggs, wife of Walter H. Griggs of this city, died at the Hartford hospital this morning. She had resided here for some years and was one of the active members of the Methodist Episcopal church. The deceased was born in Winsted, March 22, 1891, a daughter of Monroe and Della Cooke Loomis. Besides her husband she leaves two brothers, Fred of this city, and Robert Loomis of Storrs; one sister, Mrs. Jennie Baker of this city; a niece, Ellen Warren; one nephew, Albert Baker, and several uncles and aunts.

The forest fire wardens of Tolland and Windham counties held their annual meeting in the Nathan Hale hotel today with a dinner at noon. There were 31 in attendance, including State Forester Austin F. Hawes of Hartford and Assistant Forest Fire Warden C. Huntington Lathrop of Lebanon. State Forester Hawes presided at the morning and afternoon sessions. He delivered an instructive address on How to Prevent Fires. Assistant State Forester Lathrop talked on methods and systems of fire fighting and this was followed by a general discussion on fire prevention during the spring and fall months. Prof. J. A. Gibbs of the extension department of Connecticut Agricultural college was the speaker of the afternoon. Deputy wardens of this vicinity who attended included Alfred P. Abbe and John Hrnsdo of Windham, Forrest Gray and Harold Storrs of Mansfield and Wilbur G. Stevens of North Windham.

District Deputy John S. McIntyre of Hartford will conduct the installation of the newly elected officers of Yembo sanctorum, No. 261, A. M. O. S., at the town hall Saturday evening, March 31. Willis of Stafford, and Henry Willis of Baltimore, Md.

The founding of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society was noted with an elaborate program of entertainment at the Methodist Episcopal church Tuesday. Mrs. Cora Nye presided and devotions were led by the first vice-president, Mrs. Wesley D. Morse. Interludes during the presentation of two missionary plays were sung by Mrs. Ruth Shedd and Mrs. Cora Rice, accompanied by Mrs. Clara Williams. Mrs. Nellie Parkhurst presented the annual incense offering with a recitation, My Gift. The cast in the first play, With or Without, consisted of Mrs. Ada L. Burlingham, Mrs. Anna Spellman, Mrs. Alice Freeman, Mrs. Marion Meass and Miss Ruth Smith. The second play was Ruth and Naomi and was given by Mrs. Florence Lewis and Mrs. Hazel Nichols. Mrs. Sadie Morrill served refreshments.

Mrs. Myron E. Lyon was tendered a surprise birthday party at her home in North Windham Tuesday evening. Three tables of whist were in play, the prize winners being Miss Pearl Lyon and William Sibley, first, and Mrs. Blanche Sibley and Harvey Scott, consolations. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Myron E. Lyon and daughters, Ruth and Pearl; Mrs. Ruth Lyon, Mrs. Mary Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. William Sibley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spencer and Benjamin Chappell, all of North Windham; Mr. and Mrs. Ture T. Olson of Willimantic, and Harvey Scott of Scotland.

Nine tables were in play at a whist given Tuesday evening by the Catholic Daughters of America at the rooms on Main street. The three prizes went respectively to Mrs. T. J. Connelly, Mrs. William A. Costello and Miss Connors.

The funeral of Miss Myra Johnson was held at 62 North street at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. T. Hawthorne Jones of Mansfield and Rev. Walter E. Lanphear of Eastford officiated. Burial was in the Bedlam cemetery. The bearers were James Lynch, Frank Walker, Frank Johnson and David Church. Arrangements were by Avery & VanZandt.

JEWETT CITY

SPECIAL MEETING VOTES $7,500 FOR FIRE PUMPER

There were 150 property owners and citizens of the borough present and by unanimous vote they appropriated $7,500 for the purchase of fire equipment. Fire Marshal George H. Prior at some length set forth the borough's urgent need. He explained the use and value of a pumper and cited conditions that might occur when such apparatus might save the town. He told of valuable information received by him today from Chief Howard L. Stanton of Norwich, which, taken with his own knowledge of local fire problems that may arise was of much value.

L. M. Carpenters, agent of the Ash-Cotton Co., explained among other conditions a pumper's need in case of a fire at the Riverside grammar school, where the borough is responsible for the safety of 500 children. G. F. Goodenough and F. J. Cosgrove spoke briefly in favor of the project.

A largely attended meeting of the borough freemen was held in the town hall this evening, to see what action would be taken relative to the appropriation of a sum to be used for the purchase of adequate fire apparatus for the borough.

The meeting was called to order by Warden Edmond J. Jodoin, who spoke as follows:

Public opinion called for this action. It is also the opinion of the local government board, foreman of the fire company and fire marshal, that we should have more adequate fire protection. On recent exhibitions given by the present truck it has proven unequal to the task.

There has been a rumor going the rounds as to whether we could afford a new truck. We can't afford to be without one. Also as to a possible raise in taxes—that is a myth.

We have adopted a system fo economy that we will strictly adhere to and I predict a reduction in taxes rather than a raise at an early date.

Perhaps there should be $7,000 appropriated, if we are to have a new fire truck. We can meet that appropriation and still have $23,000 on hand and in the sinking fund. We have also taken steps to have all back taxes collected. Some of these taxes have been running for 15 years. We expect to get between 3 and 4 thousand dollars in back taxes and interest, which will go a long way toward paying for a new fire truck.

Our grand list is larger than last year, which will mean that we will have larger revenue.

We can trade in the present fire truck in part payment for a new one.

Under our present system of economy we will be able to put one mill in the sinking fund as usual. In other words, we will be able to save as much as was saved last year, pay interest in our bonded indebtedness, meet the bonds as they come due for payment, and still have the borough in a healthy condition financially.

The local government board has gone into the matter thoroughly and sums up by recommending that $7,000 be appropriated for a new fire truck. Undoubtedly it would be the recommendation of the fire insurance underwriters also.

The French public is cordially invited to attend the French Foresters' initiation tonight 7.30. Rioux hall. Good speakers and entertainers. Absolutely free.—adv.

At an informal meeting of the American Legion post, which was well attended, plans were made for a social time at the next regular meeting, two weeks hence. Dr. G. H. Pharmacist Offers Prescription for Joint Agony and Rheumatic Pain

At Trifling Cost

12 Days' Trial Free

It was a studious pharmacist who saw prescription after prescription fail to help hundreds of his customers to get rid of rheumatic swellings and twingy inflamed joints.

And it was this same man who asserted that a remedy should be compounded that would bring comfort to swollen, inflamed, pain-tormented joints.

Now this prescription, rightly named Joint-Ease after being tested on many cases, is offered through progressive pharmacists to the millions of people who suffer from ailing joints that need helpful attention.

Swollen, twingy, inflamed, pain tormented joints are usually caused by rheumatic trouble and Joint-Ease being a penetrating, pain subduing emollient when rubbed thoroughly into the skin helps to bring relief.

Remember, Joint-Ease is for all ailments of the joints, whether in ankle, arch, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder or finger and when you rub it on, you may expect gratifying results.

It is now on sale at druggists everywhere in America for 60 cents a tube.

Better give your feet a good rubbing with Joint-Ease if they burn and ache and are sore most of the time — you'll probably be joyfully surprised.

"The Hubbards said they'd be here by eight. I wonder if they've had an accident."

Mr. and Mrs. Brown are disappointed, worried. The game is delayed. Yet it really isn't the Hubbards' fault. For Tom Hubbard would surely have called them up from the nearest pay station and told them that an exasperating puncture was the cause of the delay. That is, he would have—if the Browns had a telephone.

A telephone in the home is really an economy. It saves endless time and steps. It keeps your home within speaking distance of your friends every hour of the day or night. In times of emergency its worth cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

The value of a telephone lies not only in the calls you can make, but in the calls you can receive.

And it costs so little!

For as little as $2.25 a month you can enjoy the benefits of a telephone in your home. Convenience, economy, protection, contact with the outside world at all times, day and night. All this at so small a cost to you.

The above rate applies in the local base rate area.

DANIELSON

TO INCREASE CAPITAL STOCK OF PACO CONCERN

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, March 14—Thursday of next week there will be before the stockholders of Powdrell and Alexander, Inc., at a special meeting in Boston a proposal to increase the capital stock of the concern to the extent of $1,000,000, this to consist of 10,000 shares of preferred stock at a par value of $100 a share. If authorized, action also will be taken to determine the terms and manner of disposition of the new stock and to amend the agreement of association and articles of organization accordingly.

Another proposal that will be before the meeting will be to increase the capital stock to the extent of 13,334 shares of common stock without par value and in all respects similar to the existing common shares of the company.

A proposed amendment of the by-laws to be considered at the meeting will provide that the board of directors shall consist of seven persons who need not be stockholders. If this amendment is adopted, two additional directors are to be elected.

A vote of two-thirds of the stockholders is required to authorize the issue of the proposed additional stock.

Powdrell and Alexander, Inc., is now the largest textile plant doing business in the town of Killingly, in point of number of plants operated and persons employed. They have two mills in Danielson, one at Attawaugan, one at Sallouville and one at Pineville.

The concern rates the largest manufactures of window curtains in the country. It turns raw cotton into finished curtains, and then disposes of them to the trade through its own selling organization.

There was interested speculation here today as to what uses the new capital will be put if its issue is authorized and whether it will be used in further expansion of the activities of the concern in this town.

Henry Ford might purchase an ancient piece of fire apparatus if he applied in Danielson, and then again he might not, all depending how the borough might feel about it. This thought is suggested by today's press despatches telling of how the voters of Jaffrey, N. H., after two hours of debate, declined to sell the motor king the old handtub "Firefly," which has not been in practical use for half a century.

Danielson has a similar piece of apparatus, and it is many a long day since it has seen action at a fire, not far from half a century. Chief A. P. Woodward of the fire department said this afternoon that as near as he could recall the Danielson handtub dates back to 1854. There are a few venerable citizens remaining in Danielson who can recall the use of this ancient piece of apparatus when it was used in fighting fires, and of the bone-bending labor that manning the pump entailed. Equipment similar to hand rails running along the sides of the apparatus allowed a row of men to stand along the length of the machine and, grasping these rails, pump up and down, up and down until exhaustion forced them to step aside for fresh men. Being a fireman or helping the firemen man the tub in those days was anything but romantic. Ia was more like accepting the lot of a galley slave. Water for use in the old tub was drawn from cisterns scattered at advantageous points about the borough, and it figured in many a stirring battle against the flames.

Today the old tub is retired to obscurity—stored in a barn on the T. E. Hopkins estate. At one time it was in possession of the Williamsville Fire company (now Goodyear) but when replaced by more modern apparatus, the historic old machine was given back to Danielson, where it is treasured as a relic significant of the early days and history of the borough.

Arrangements are well advanced for the opening of an information bureau here for the benefit of tourists. F. O. Plummer is to be in charge and it is to be located at his place of business on Main street. A sign with the inscription Tourists' Information bureau is to be conspicuously displayed at the bureau. Road maps, information as to hotels and inns in this and nearby territory, mileage distances to different points and other such information will be quickly available to all tourists calling at the bureau, which will be open early in the spring.

Last night Rev. David A. Pitt, D. D., of Norwich, president of the Baptist state convention was the principal speaker at the annual roll call and supper of the Danielson Baptist church. His subject was The Meaning of the Gospel. About 150 members and friends of the church attended the supper and enjoyed the program of the evening.

Beginning next Sunday the Baptist church will conduct a week of Lenten services, with Rev. Elmer E. Scates of Jewett City as preacher. The services are to be held every evening but Saturday and open at 7.30. A cordial invitation is being extended to all interested to attend these services. Rev. Chester J. Armstrong, pastor here, will go to Jewett City for the week to conduct a series of similar services.

At the Goodyear church Sunday morning Rev. Charles A. Downs preached on the Economic Value of Adversity, and took as a text Kings 17.7. Mr. Norton sang a solo and the choir sang a special offertory selection. A Sunday school committee meeting has been held with Jesse B. Child for class reorganization.

Just at this period of the year it is of interest to numbers of sportsmen that the fish and game laws of Connecticut contain a provision fixing the closed season for fur bearing animals not otherwise provided for in chapter 159 of the public acts of 1923 to from March 16 to October 31, both inclusive, except that the closed season for muskrats shall be from April 1 to October 31, both inclusive. The provisions mentioned do not apply to the taking of foxes.

News has been received here of the death in Colorado of Judge Robert Kerr, a former resident of Danielson. The following is reprinted from a Colorado Springs paper dated March 8th:

Judge Robert Kerr, prominent Colorado Springs attorney and Civil war veteran, died this morning at 8.40 o'clock at the Fitzsimons hospital at Denver where he had been undergoing treatment for the last three weeks. His condition had been critical for a number of days and the word of his death was not unexpected. His wife, Mrs. Lillian H. Kerr, prominent Colorado Springs clubwoman, had been with him since he was removed to the government hospital. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Judge Kerr enlisted in the Fourteenth Connecticut infantry, June 7, 1862, and was wounded in February 1864. Upon his recovery he went on recruiting duty in October, 1864 and was honorably discharged on June 10, 1865.

Judge Kerr, who was 81 years old, was born in Ireland, but came to this country as a small boy. He was fitted for college at Exeter, N. H., and was graduated from Dartmouth in 1873, where he took a prize for the greatest improvement made during his course. For two years he taught high school at Plainfield, N. J., and entered the Boston university law school in 1875, taking his law degree there two years later.

Shortly afterward he moved to Archer county, Texas, where he was prominent in legal and political circles, serving as county judge there from 1884 to 1888.

Judge Kerr came here in 1895 from Texas and began the practice of law in the local courts. He was appointed referee in bankruptcy here in 1902 and served until he took office as county judge in 1905. He served sa county judge for four years.

He had been practicing law here with J. E. McIntyre since that time and was quite active, despite his age until just a few weeks ago. A complication of troubles, some of long standing, forced him to his bed and it was decided to remove him to the army hospital at Denver. There the surgeons found that an operation would not be possible.

In turning down two applications to permit carnivals to show within the limits of the borough the coming warm weather season the warden and court of burgesses have indicated a policy opposed to the presence of these exhibitions in Danielson proper. Last year, it will be recalled, carnivals that came here did business on the west side, which is within the limits of the town of Brooklyn.

Acknowledgments are being received here by sportsmen of applications they have filed with the state for pheasants for release in territory hereabouts during the summer season. Small allotments are made to successful applicants.

Mrs. Kent A. Darbie was leader of yesterday's W. C. T. U. meeting at the Westfield Congregational church, and the importance of work for children at schools and homes was stressed.

Borough officials have authorized the purchase of a new type of traffic signal to be placed at the junction of Broad and Reynolds streets, where several different devices have been tried out during the past few years with indifferent success. The new type is expected to prove more satisfactory.

With fog and rain pulling the frost out of the ground, some country roads in this territory became next to impassable for motor vehicles.

F. O. Plummer was in Boston today attending the automobile show.

Brewer Eddy is to be the guest and speaker for the church family night at the Westfield Congregational church Thursday of next week.

Under a provision of the new charter, Warden Harry E. Back will prepare the annual budget of the borough and present it to the voters for their consideration. Notices were distributed today for the annual borough caucus to be held Tuesday evening of next week.

This evening a retreat continuing for three days for the married women of the parish was begun at St. James' church. There are to be both morning and evening services. A series of such retreats for different groups of the parish will continue weekly through the Lenten season.

It is understood that the work of going over the surfaces of trunk line highways in this section to smooth them up after the wear and tear of the winter season will be undertaken as early as weather permits and will be followed at once by the usual spring applications of road oil.

Holy week services are being arranged by the Danielson Federation of Churches, and announcements relative to them will be made in due time.

Hi-Y and Tri-Y groups met last evening. The usual routine business was considered and there was a discussion period. Following this there was a joint gathering of the two organizations, the boys entertaining the girls and serving the refreshments.

Much of the material coming out of the large frame business building being torn down at the corner of Main and Academy streets is being salvaged while more of it is going for kindlings and firewood. Good progress has been made on the demolition work during the present week.

ROAD SOCIETY

Frank Main has had an electric light plant installed in his house.

The grange meeting will be entertained with a radio concert, Friday evening in the church parlors.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaff and Miss Nancy Roche of Sheffield, Mass., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Little over the week end.

William Hine of Tenafly, N. J., was at his summer home here for several days last week.

A dance was enjoyed at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Little Saturday evening. Refreshments were served.

Cards have been received from Mr and Mrs. Harry Durant (Edith Denison Cook) en route for California by automobile, also friends have received cards from Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sinclair as they are making the trip by automobile from the South and were at Arizona.

Superintendent of Schools William Snyder visited the schools here Thursday and Friday.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward J. Nestler of South Norwalk visited their new home near the church Saturday and while here enjoyed a sled ride through the kindness of Joseph Noyes.

Fred Chase and family are moving from the Thomas Palmer place, recently purchased by William Hine, to the late Herman Brown farm at Anguilla.

Friends here were grieved to learn of the sudden death from pneumonia of Miss Borodell Denison Wheeler at her home in Natchez, Mass. Miss Wheeler was descended from John and Ann Borodell Wheeler who used to live on the farm now owned by Maurice Main. Years ago the family moved south, the children married there and Miss Wheeler is a descendant. She had been a guest at Maple Lawn.

The snow storm made the roads muddy again, they had been good for several weeks.

Cards have been received for the marriage of Miss Marian Grey of Mystic and Eric Thompson Bradley of New York, on the 24th of March at Bella Vista.

SILENT COPS TARGETS FOR HIT AND RUN DRIVERS

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, March 14—Keeping corners guarded by silent policemen has become an added task for Captain Jarvis of the Putnam police. During the past few weeks the police department have been busy keeping the silent arm of the law erected on McGarry's corner on Grove and South Main streets. Hit and run drivers have been improving their aims by using this dummy as a target. Tuesday morning the dummy was broken and placed on the sidewalk for the officers to send to the repair shop.

A new dummy has been placed on that site and up to late Wednesday afternoon it was in position silently doing its duty in an unharmed manner.

Autoists who have knocked these dummies down have not taken the trouble to report the accidents to the police, so that the cause may be checked up. The police have reason to believe that it is the work of drivers looking for a thrill, but if they are caught Captain Jarvis has stated that a thrill will be waiting for them in the "Little court across the river."

Thomas Marlow of Farrows street celebrated his fifty-second birthday Sunday and during the day many friends called at his home. In the afternoon a birthday party was held in his honor. The guests present at dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith Mrs. Joseph Parker of Norwich, Miss Florence Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Robert King and family, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Boulais of Danielson.

Mr. Marlow for many years has been caretaker of the local telephone exchange and of the local banks.

Workmen are now engaged in repairing the city hall and the police station in the municipal building on Church street. The council had the council chamber painted and new lights installed a few weeks ago. Men are now painting and varnishing the town and city hall. Improvements that were recommended by the council at the last meeting have been started in the police station.

An extra cell that was of no use to the police department has been sold to the state police. An extra room in the station is being made into a private office for the captain. The cell room that is badly in need of paint will be improved. The station room is to undergo a coat of pain soon. The police station has been neglected for many years and repairs will be much appreciated by the members of the force.

The weekly noonday luncheon of the Putnam Rotary club was held at the Putnam inn Wednesday. During the course of their dinner the Rotarians were entertained with selections to the Israel Putnam school band. The band is composed of students in the first grade and is under the supervision of Miss Gertrude C. Warner.

There are nine different nationalities represented in the band and all are promising artist with their musical instruments.

After the dinner the Rotarians listened to a very interesting speech by L. Edwin Hill of the Windham county Y. M. C. A. Mr. Hill chose as his topic the work now being done throughout the world by the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Hill's address was very interesting and very much to the point.

Engineers from the state highway department have been working on the town line on the north end of School street, staking out a line on each side of the road from that point to the Rhode Island state line. Although no confirmed statements have been made by highway authorities it is assumed that the state intends to widen the road and improve it from that point on. That portion of the road is in poor condition and the widening and repairing will be a big improvement over the line.

BOWNE-IDE LAND CASE PROVES VERY COMPLICATED

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, March 14—The adjourned session of the Windham county superior court opened here today with Judge Edward O. Yeomans on the bench. The only case heard was that of Richard D. Bowne et al vs. Samuel L. Ide of Southbridge. The case was one of the most intricate cases that was ever heard in court and when Judge Yeoman's ordered court adjourned until Thursday the case did not seem to have made any headway.

The arguments in the case grew out of the sale of a tract of land in Woodstock to a number of different parties. When lawyers traced the land records in that town they found many more parties named in the different sales of the land and there were many deeds of transfers given out that it made the case confusing and interesting. Neither the attorneys or the judge came to any conclusion Wednesday and at four o'clock Judge Yeoman's ordered the court adjourned until Thursday morning at 10:45 a. m., when the case will be continued.

At the regular session of the Putnam lodge of Elks held Tuesday evening at the lodge rooms on Main street, the following officers who had been nominated at the previous meeting were elected to office: Exalted ruler, Keyren H. Cotter; esteemed leading knight, Lionl H. Charron; esteemed loyal knight, Frank M. Bedard; esteemed lecturing knight, Sidney P. Marland; inner guard, Alexander Lepier; secretary, George M. Lewis; treasurer, Lucius P. Merriam; tiler, William P. Present Exalted Ruler John H. Bulger Wheatley; chaplain, Henry N. Benoit. was elected to serve as a delegate to the grand lodge convention in August that is to be held in Miami, Florida. George Lewis, Jr., was appointed as an alternate.

At the regular annual meeting of the Putnam Country club held Tuesday evening at the club house, Silas M Wheelock was re-elected president of the club. The members also elected Charles E. Dean as first vice-president, W. K. Litch of Danielson, as second vice president; J. Dyer Potter as secretary; treasurer, Thomas H. deGoudres. The following were elected to serve as governors for three years: Ernest C. Morse, Robert Bannigan of Danielson, and Frank Davis of Chepachet. R. I. Herbert H. Pepler of Danielson was elected to serve as a governor for one year.

After the election reports for the year were submitted by the various officers. These reports showed that the club was in a prosperous condition. No changes were made in dues nor were there any changes in greens fees.

John A. C. Warner of South Bend, Indiana, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar M. Warner of South Main street was the guest of his parents Wednesday. Mr. Warner is assistant director of the research department of the Studebaker corporation of South Bend and is making an extended tour of thirty states in the interest of the Studebaker corporation.

Alfred F. Kleindrenst of Webster and Miss Alice M. Joslin of Thompson were quietly married on Monday at the residence of John E. Duxbury, pastor of the Methodist church of this city. Following this ceremony Albert E. Bochman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albin E. Bochman of New Bedford and Miss Florence Fusco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquarie Fusco of New Bedford were married at the Methodist parsonage by Rev. John E. Duxbury.

Carl Hopkins of South Main street was in Boston, Wednesday attending the Boston Auto show.

This morning in assembly the honor roll for the month of February was read by Principal E. L. Robinson of Putnam high school. The following received no marks below .90 and are listed in the first honor roll: Freshman, Beatrice Greene; sophomores, Helen Varbedian; juniors, Aline Touirville; seniors, Blanche Bonin, Ruth Bryden, Judith Sabin.

The following pupils received no mark in any subject below .85 and are listed on the second honor roll: Freshman, Ulysses LaBoissirre, William Moss; sophomores, Ellis Haines, Marion Hayden, Walter Janket, Edna Kent, Edgar Laboute, Elite Pahlkainen; juniors, Ruth Hawkes, Gerard Lavelle; seniors, Madelyn Hopghton, Edwin Mann, John Myers, Milton Nelson, Karl Whitehouse. Co-operative course (high school and trade school) John Currier. Eighth grade, Walter Hayden, Theodore Dodz, Natalie Dean, Kathleen Kerr.

The well child conference of the Connecticut state health department was held Wednesday afternoon in the Emergency hospital in North Grosvernordale. Many mothers were on hand when the conference opened at 2 o'clock to have their babies examined by the nurses. The well baby conferences are gaining much favor from the mothers in this vicinity as the examinations of the babes prove to solve many of the "Staying Awake" problems that many folks experience when the baby is in its infancy.

Mr. and Mrs. William Syle and family of Ring street are moving to Stafford Springs, where Mr. Syle is engaged in the automobile business.

Final arrangements for the junior prom that is to be held on April 13, by the members of the junior class of Putnam high school have been completed. Invitations have been printed and are now being issued to the members of the class. Music will be furnished by Dick Newcomb and his orchestra of Northampton, Mass. The annual junior affair will be one of the first social functions to be held in the new armory.

The regular weekly meeting of the W. R. C. was held in Odd Fellows hall Wednesday afternoon. The corps made plans for the coming spring at this meeting.

PLAINFIELD

The Lincoln club met Monday evening in the vestry of the First Congregational church, the president, Mr. Royle, presiding. Rev. Charles Smith of Montville addressed the club, his subject being "The Man That Counts the Days." Music was furnished by Joseph Shippee, violin, and his daughter, Mrs. Otto Opperman at the piano. Mrs. Alfred Struthers sang several selections. Supper was served at 6.30. The committee in charge was Mrs. John C. Kingsley, Mrs. Winifred Gardner, Mrs. Everett Dawley. The supper was given by the O. J. S.

John C. Kingsley has been spending a few days in Boston.

The funeral of Earl Stanwood Butler was held at 2.30 Sunday afternoon at the First Congregational church, a large number of friends attending. The service was conducted by Rev. William C. Prentiss. There were unusually beautiful floral tributes including a large pillow from the employ of the Harvard club, Boston, a spray of roses from Alpha Phi fraternity, Storrs college, wreath from the high school class of 1924, wreath from class of 1928 of Plainfield high school. Baskets from the teachers of grammar school and friends; floral pall, children of grammar school and other pieces from the Congregational church, Christian Endeavor, O. J. S., Lincoln club, Young Men's Bible class. The body was placed in the receiving vault at Evergreen cemetery, Central Village where a committal service was read by Rev Mr. Prentiss. Burial is to be in Franklin, Me., later. The bearers were LeRoy Dessinger, Donald Lackard, of Pennsylvania, Edward Herbner of Pennsylvania and Samuel Dorrance, Mrs. Henry Leach of Wauregan played the organ at the services.

Charles E. Dwelley of Franklin, Me., came to Plainfield to attend funeral of the grandson, Earl S. Butler.

STUDEBAKER SALES LARGEST IN HISTORY

Both January and February set new high marks in purchases by public!

SOUTH BEND, IND., Mar. 8.—Studebaker sales continue to climb to new goals of achievement! The number of Studebaker-built automobiles delivered to owners by dealers in the United States during the month just closed, was the largest of any February in history and 31% in excess of February, 1927.

Coming immediately after the greatest January sales in Studebaker history, this continued flood of public preference for Studebaker is particularly significant.

Motorists appreciate Studebaker's advanced engineering—an automobile you can drive 40 miles an hour the day the new car is delivered—that requires lubrication but once in 2500 miles—that holds all the highest speed and endurance records for fully equipped stock cars, regardless of power or price. The public has rightly interpreted these achievements as conclusive evidence of Studebaker's championship value due to One-Profit manufacture.

By all means see and drive these new Studebaker and Erskine cars! Know the feel of championship power at the touch of your toe! Know the results of Studebaker's advanced engineering, tested on Studebaker's million-dollar proving ground. You'll realize then, if you know cars, that Studebaker stands for stability—76 years of it!

THE ST. FRANCIS DAM

With hundreds of lives lost and great damage to property done, the breaking of the St. Francis dam in California has caused a disaster that awakens the sympathy of the entire country.

Whether it will ever be possible to determine just what was the cause is uncertain, but all possible effort should be made in that direction. In the first report it was attributed to an earthquake. That doesn't appear to be substantiated. In that particular region there has been much trouble over the water supply and there have been those engaged in dynamiting for the purpose of cutting off Los Angeles' supply. So far as is known there is no evidence that anything of the kind was responsible for the breaking of the St. Francis dam.

The generally offered explanation is that the break was caused by seepage which undermined the structure and permitted the great volume of water to rush down through the canyon and river valley taking everything with it. It was a tremendous wave that brooked no resistance, and in almost a twinkling it was over leaving devastation in its wake.

The collapse of this dam, especially if it is determined that it was the result of seepage, will cause increased attention to be directed toward other structures of a similar character and also to those which are contemplated. It is for that reason that the most thorough investigation should be made of the circumstances surrounding the St. Francis dam, the conditions which have been known to prevail prior to the collapse and all evidence that may be found which will throw any light upon the actual cause. If there was a vital flaw in the construction of that dam it should be disclosed. If there was failure to look after leaks it should be fully established. The full effect of that terrible lesson needs to be studied not only for the purpose of determining the responsibility but for the guidance of others who are contemplating the building of large dams for similar purposes. The prevention of any more such disasters is of the utmost importance.

MUSCLE SHOALS

Muscle Shoals has again been getting the attention of congress. It has been before the senate in the shape of the Norris resolution which calls for government operation of the plant for the production of nitrates in time of war and for the production of fertilizer and power in time of peace. By a vote of nearly two to one, with the parties dvided, the senate had given its approval to government operation and it now remains to be seen what the house will do with it.

The action of the senate two years ago was also favorable, and an attempt was made to get the senate to adopt it again as an amendment to the Norris resolution, but that failed. Whether the house will take any more kindly to the senate plan this time than it did back in 1926 is a quandary.

Up to the present time there appears to be an excellent example of government operation. Muscle Shoals was developed for the purpose of meeting a wartime need. The country needed nitrates and needed to be independent of outside supplies. Had the war lasted longer the nitrate plant might have been put into operation but the vast expenditure there never amounted to anything. After the war it became desirable to make such use as was possible of the development and the electric energy generated there has been sold to a power company.

Under the Norris plan the government would devote that expensive plant to power and fertilizer purposes in time of peace and in case of war utilize it for the making of nitrates. This action is approved in spite of the fact that since the end of the war a much cheaper method of making nitrates has been discovered and is being used, so that if the government ever resorted to the use of the plant for nitrates it would be employing an uneconomical method. In other words we would be going to needless expense just because we have put money into Muscle Shoals. That is however quite a prominent characteristic of government operation.

The house frowned upon the previous bill from the senate and it is possible that it hasn't changed its mind.

FIGHTING THE FENCES

As the result of a thorough investigation which was made last year the national crime commission discovered that there was a well organized business of dealing in stolen goods. Those who made a study of the situation knew what kind of goods were in demand, where they were made and transferred their information or orders to others with the result that storehouses and trucks were robbed by gangs, the goods in large amount were seized and through the system that had been created were forwarded throughout the country wherever there was a demand for them.

Last year there was a loss suffered to the extent of $500,000,000 by the owners of such goods, but in addition to that the manufacturers and merchants were obliged to stand the effects of the cut rate at which such goods were put upon the market.

In view of such conditions there can be no surprise that the commission has made such a good impression with the information it has collected that it has awakened much support in behalf of a bill introduced in congress which would make the shipping of stolen goods across state lines, or the receiving of such goods after being shipped across state lines, a federal offense.

There are state laws dealing with the theft of the goods and there is a federal law which deals with cases where goods in interstate commerce are stolen. The need of the federal law is to overcome the handicaps that still exist and make more effective the treatment of that great number of "fences" responsible for robber gangs and much lawlessness.

In the state of New York the legislature has just responded to the demand for a law that would make possible more effective prosecution of the "fence" in order to reach those who are responsible for many of the criminals. If it is a good thing to deal with these people more effectively in the states it ought to be equally desirable to provide all the federal legislation that is necessary. If present state and federal laws do not meet the situation the quicker the federal law can be adopted the better.

REVALUATION

The townspeople of Norwich clearly manifested by the number in attendance at the special town meeting and the action taken that they recognize the need of a revaluation of taxable property and are anxious to have it accomplished in the most efficient manner possible and in a reasonably short time.

Recognition is thus given to one of the crying needs of the town and it is firmly believed that the judgment displayed by the town meeting was the correct one. This means that experts will be brought here to do by the end of the year what would take an indefinite time if performed by the assessors, and it means compliance with a state law without the undesirable publicity of having the state step in and take charge of the situation because of our negligence.

It is unfortunate that action of this kind could not have been taken a few years ago when a special committee wrestled with the situation and no small amount of credit must be given to the chamber of commerce for the manner in which they have brought the importance and need of this action to the attention of the citizens. This organization has acted solely for the welfare of the community in order that the injustices of the existing method of assessing property may give way to a scientific system and assessments for all may be made upon a similar basis, and the citizens have so accepted its good work.

The action of the town meeting means the departure from another of the antiquated policies which have long been a handicap and a bad advertisement to the town. It means falling in line with the up-to-date methods of progressive communities. Although long delayed Norwich has at last been brought to realize the need of doing something to equalize taxation through a revaluation.

NEW HAMPSHIRE'S CHOICE

By the action of the voters of New Hampshire in their primary for the choice of convention delegates it becomes evident that Hoover and Smith are favored as the leaders of the republican and democratic standards, respectively.

There was interest in this primary chiefly because it was the first, although there was the added feature that one of the enthusiastic advocates of the renomination of President Coolidge was seeking a place on the delegation.

It doesn't appear that the republicans of New Hampshire undertook to participate in a contest between President Coolidge and Secretary Hoover as their candidate. From all indications they accepted the statement made by the president that he was not to be considered and confined their expressions to those who are acknowledged candidates.

That Mr. Hoover was their choice under the circumstances was by no means surprising. He has all along had the hearty endorsement of Senator Moses of that state.

Because Maine is usually the first state to hold elections it is commonly said that as Maine goes so goes the nation. Whether this can be applied to the action of New Hampshire will be worth watching. There will be states where contests will develop, particularly over favorite sons, and yet even in those instances it has been made evident that the secretary of commerce has a strong following. Whether he can command sufficient delegations at Kansas City is of course the all important question and tabulations will soon be in order.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The man on the corner says: About time for someone to report the first plow in action.

Even though they are numerous, rumors about Lindbergh cannot fly quite as long and fast as he does.

Now that the blizzard anniversary is back of us, are you planning to get out and oil up the lawn mower for early duty?

The mayor of New York says he wasn't late in Washington, but he certainly adds to that reputation wherever he goes.

Of course you have noticed the increase in the day's length and are anticipating the time when you can enjoy even more of it?

Just because the president thinks it will be possible for congress to complete its work by the middle of May, that is reason enough for some congressmen to set out to prevent it.

THE STRIKE BREAKERS

Gloria Spaulding crossed the hall and rapped on the door of the Scarboroughs' apartment cautiously.

"Good morning, Winifred. I'm terribly sorry to bother you so early, but I've got the laundress today, and there's something horribly the matter with my washing machine. She'll have to do everything by hand and, of course, the electric wringer's no earthly use."

Winifred's nimble mind leaped readily to the logical conclusion.

"Of course you can borrow my wringer. I've been sending our things out lately, but I'm sure it's still in the storeroom. Wait and I'll get the key."

Together they descended to the cellar, and together gazed doubtfully at the tangle of odds and ends revealed by the opening of the plank cupboard dignified by the appellation of "storeroom."

"Here it is," announced Winifred at length. "My dear, did you ever see such a mess? I've been after Harry to clear it out for ages."

"You think that's bad?" Gloria's tone was scornfully superior. "Just look at mine. We had to take out two radiators to make room for the new furniture."

"Isn't it sickening we can't have more room?"

"Oh, there's room enough," admitted Gloria grudgingly. "It's just that I can't get Gregory to take time to clean it up, and I can't move those beastly radiators myself."

"Then they'll stand there until you're able to. It's perfectly impossible to get any work out of a man after he comes home."

"It shouldn't be," pronounced Gloria. "Do you know what I'm going to do, Winifred? I positively am going on strike until Gregory fixes this."

"What do you mean—'strike'?"

"First of all, I'm not going to wear myself out coking for him if he won't do a little thing like this for me.

"Tonight he gets canned beans—and whatever else happens to be lying around."

"Gloria! What a perfect idea! I'll try it on Harry."

Winifred knocked on the door of Gloria's apartment.

"I'm sorry, dear. Have you got any bicarbonate of soda?"

"I think I have a little," confessed Gloria wanly. "I don't suppose Harry's sick?"

"Not Harry. He loves beans."

"I understand—honestly, I do. Well, after this I guess I'll have to see to it that we get decent food, but I'm not going to do any housecleaning until he fixes that storeroom."

"We'll try that instead," agreed Winifred.

The next morning Gloria knocked on Winifred's door.

"Pardon me, dear," she begged, "but could I borrow your vacuum cleaner? My place is in such a mess I can't stand it any longer."

"Of course you can. You don't know how you relieve me. I felt so guilty when you came home yesterday; I was sure you'd hear me going over the rugs."

"Well, anyway," Gloria suggested, "we don't have to do any darning or mending."

"Now that sounds like a real idea," Winifred approved enthusiastically.

"Hello, Gregory," Harry Scarborough called, knocking on the Spaulding door. "Say, I'm awful sorry, I said I'd be ready to go to the lodge meeting with you at 7, but the fact is I haven't any socks fit to wear."

"You can't borrow anything from me, Harry. I've only got one pair in commission and there isn't a button on my tuxedo."

"Say, that's too bad. Then you'll be a little late, too? Winifred says she can't turn those spats into socks in less than fifteen minutes."

"That's about right. Gloria figures it'll take that long to put a few buttons where they'll do the most good."

A half hour later the two wives watched their husbands go cheerfully into the night.

"You can't let a man go around looking like a tramp," remarked Winifred defensively.

"No, I suppose not," agreed Gloria wearily.—Exchange.

Fellowship of Prayer

DAILY LENTEN DEVOTION

By Rev. Jay T. Stocking, D. D., Federal Council of Churches in America — Copyright 1928.

"Life, A Mission"

SCRIPTURE: Memory Verse: "Ye did not choose me, but I chose you" (John 15:16).

Read: John 15:8-16.

MEDITATION: Jesus was trying to give his disciples a view of their relation to Him that would keep them faithful and sustain them in the face of difficulty and fatigue. They were not volunteers. He told them, but conscripts. True, they had chosen Him, but He had also chosen them to become His servants and messengers. The religious man feels that God has called him for a great work. He has duties to perform, and a place to fill. He cannot flee from those duties without being a deserter from God. This sublime sense of responsibility to almighty God is one of the greatest moral incentives in the world.

PRAYER: Increase, O God, the faith and zeal of all Thy people that they may more earnestly desire and more diligently seek the saving of their fellowmen through the message of Thy love in Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

INCOME TAX TIPS

An application for an extension of time in which to file an income-tax return should be addressed to the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer files his return and must contain a full recital of the causes for the delay. The request must be made before the return is due.

Application for an extension of time for payment of the tax or an installment thereof should be made to the commissioner of internal revenue through the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer's return is filed. The application should set forth under oath the specific reason for desiring an extension and should clearly indicate what hardship, if any, would result if the extension were not granted. The commissioner will not consider an application for such extension unless made on or before the due date of the tax or installment thereof for which the extension is desired. A request for an extension of time for payment of one installment does not operate to procure an extension for payment of subsequent installments. If the extension is granted, interest at the rate of 6 percent a year is added from the date the payment should have been made until the expiration of the extension.

Former Norwich Leaders

Capt. Edmund D. Roth.
(From Norwich Bulletin, Feb. 26, 1891)

Wednesday morning Capt. Edmund D. Roth died at his home on Church street at the age of 88. He had been an invalid for the past ten years and had been confined to his house and gradually failed since July, 1890. He was born in Norwich in 1803 and spent his active life in this town, of which his ancestors were among the first settlers; and his family still hold part of the land originally purchased by them from the Indians.

About 65 years ago, when Col. Wait came to the "Landing" to establish a law office, Capt. Roath was conducting a successful retail grocery store with a partner named Hyde, having succeeded Lyman Brewer, the first cashier of the Thames bank. Later in life he sold out the grocery business and became engaged in the coasting traffic. He became a proficient navigator, and as early as 1836 had risen to the captaincy of the steamer Kingston, which plied the waters of the Connecticut under his guidance for two years.

For the following three years he commanded the steamer Charter Oak, which ran between Norwich and New York. In 1841 he took command of the steamer Globe on the Connecticut river, and for eight years stood at her helm. He also commanded the steamer Worcester and steamers engaged in the southern trade.

He was a democrat in politics and enjoyed the confidence and respect of his party. In 1850 he was chosen with James Stedman to represent this town in the legislature, and made a faithful and capable representative. Between the years of 1850 and 1860 he was frequently honored with nominations for public office by his party. He took a lively interest in the Norwich jubilee in 1853, when the two hundredth anniversary of the settlement of the town was celebrated and was a member of the reception committee.

Later in life he became a republican in politics, and the principles of the party had no more enthusiastic exponent than he.

In 1871 Capt. Roath was wedded to Mrs. Aliva A. Tyler of Norwich and since has resided on Church street.

He has been a director of the Norwich Mutual Insurance company for twenty-seven years, and a vestryman and warden of the Trinity church for the past forty years.

Capt. Roath was highly respected for his sterling qualities and his honorable deportment in all the walks of life.

Mrs. S. B. Bulkeley of Cliff street is his sister.

Mrs. Roth survives him.

IN THE DAYS NEWS

County Donegan Will Keep Name.

County Donegal, Ireland, has had its name confirmed by historians and geographers following a recent attempt to change this musical appellation. "Although in the same latitude as northern Labrador the northwest county of the Free State enjoys the temperate climate of Virginia," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. "This freedom from severe cold Donegal owes to one of the pleasant little pranks of the Gulf Stream which washes its rocky coast with warm waters from the American tropics.

"Although slightly smaller than Delaware, Donegal was in ancient times the kingdom of the clan O'Donnell. Scattered throughout the county are many interesting ruined castles of the days of the Irish kings and later struggles with the Danes and the English. Parts of the country were not subjugated until the last years of Queen Elizabeth's reign.

"Ireland became Christianized at a very early period and from its cultured monasteries missionaries went forth to convert many sections of northern Europe. St. Columba was born and lived in Donegal and founded several religious sanctuaries.

"The county is a land of wild mountains and lakes, less than half of the surface being under cultivation. Its streams are noted for salmon and trout fishing. The coast is rocky and indented, bold headlands jutting out into the sea. Though boasting nearly 200 miles of coast line there are no good harbors from Killybegs in the south to Lough Swilly in the north. Rye, oats, and potatoes are the chief crops of the valley farms. In Donegal cottages are woven some of the homespun tweeds for which Ireland is famous.

"Attempts have been made in recent years to give impetus to the fishing industry along the coast. Fishermen still use the ancient coracle or skin boat without keel or rudder. They are easily handled in fine weather but become extremely dangerous when surf pounds against the rocks. These primitive boats probably represent the next step in navigation after the raft and have not changed during many centuries of use. Now fine seaworthy fishing craft are being introduced.

"On the north shore of Donegal are several modern resorts with luxurious hotels frequented by Irish and English holiday makers because of the excellent golf and sea bathing to be had there. Two of the best known of these gathering places are Rosapenna and Portsalon. Further south Bundoran, with its scarred and weather-beaten cliffs, offers a splendid view of the sea. Here three galleons of the Spanish Armada, staggering homeward from the famous defeat in the English channel, were washed ashore in a storm and completely wrecked. Only a few antique cannon and anchors were recovered. When Philip of Spain learned of the destruction of his supposedly invincible fleet he is said to have philosophically remarked that he had sent them against the English, not the elements.

"Donegal town from the dawn of history has been the seat of the O'Donnell family. Their ruined castle, is still the most interesting sight of the countryside. It remained in the hands of the O'Donnells until the days of Charles I when their line ran out and the castle passed to Sir Basil Brooke, an English Catholic supporter of the king. Donegal town is now chiefly noted for the Irish tweeds and soft steamer rugs which it exports.

"Inhabitants of County Donegal are noted for their courtesy and quick intelligence. Though the district is poor, hospitality is universal and beggars are rare. Country customs hark back to ancient times. It is a common sight to see women riding pillion fashion on horseback, behind the men, and bare feet are not unusual. Though lying in the far northwest Donegal forms a part of the Free State, its population being largely of Celtic origin."

A bulldog bites first and barks afterward.

YOUR HEALTH

The Healthy Woman of Forty

By Marion Craig Potter, M. D., Rochester, N. Y., Member Gorgas Memorial.

By an artificial menopause, either surgical or X-ray, years of incapacitating ailments due to hemorrhage, the cause of the proverbial ill health of this period, can be averted, and incidentally periodic headaches often cured. As one woman expressed it, from being "puny" she became healthy and able to earn her own living.

To my knowledge, no one has taken on excessive weight from this treatment, developed anthritis, or lost any of her feminity.

Fair, fat and forty is a desirable achievement gained by many women. However, for others it is a critical time. In modern civilization there is no place for mid-Victorian semi-invalidism. The handicap to business women and the economic loss of prolonged ill feeling at forty makes relief imperative. A complete physical examination is important.

In men the fourth decade has been the prime of life, the zenith of physical vigor and capacity for accomplishment. With millions of women in industry it must be made the same for them.

Autopsies reveal that 40 per cent. of women over forty years of age have uterine fibroids, one great cause of sterility. The tendency of such tumors is to bleed and to prolong the menopause, possibly into the fifties. Flashes may be said to be the only normal discomfort attending this age.

Tradition has surrounded this period in women with an atmosphere of mystery and superstition and taught them to look upon the climacteric with foreboding. They have learned to think of it in terms of disease rather than in terms of health. In the past they have been told that their trouble was physiological rather than pathological and would disappear in time. Though this policy of delay women have suppressed their symptoms and have accepted the edict "what can't be cured must be endured," and many curable conditions have been neglected. The old sophistries contain the danger of half truths, for although the symptoms may cease in time, as predicted, the constitution has been undermined and the foundation laid for early aging.

The first recorded mention we have of an artificial menopause is by Luke, the physician. There have been two thousand years of dark ages for women since then; in fact, near the close of the child-bearing age they have always been martyrs to diseases that cause depleting hemorrhages.

Radio-therapy is epoch-making, it is practically devoid of danger, and for the treatment of persistent hemorrhage, in suitable cases, it is one of the great boons modern science has brought to women.

Difference Between Politics and Church Government

Mr. Editor: When St. Paul wrote the epistles to Timothy he was giving him instructions in church government and not in the promotion of political purposes or creeds. There is a vast difference between politics and church government. The silence which St. Paul advocates is found in 1 Cor. 14:34. The word "usurp," according to Webster, means "illegal seizure of place, power or functions, or the like without right." Applying this definition to the political activities of women, it does not appear that any of them are holding office illegally, for they are either appointed by the lawful authorities or elected by the citizens. While a great many anti-suffragists forbid or would debar women from activities in either religious or political fields and quote the Book of Books as their authority, they seem utterly oblivious to the fact that the dedicatory epistle of the edition known as the King James version of the Bible names a woman, whose strong mind prevailed over a council of hesitating cabinet ministers, and brought upon her country at that time, a greater measure of religious and civil liberty than they had before enjoyed. She is called, "that bright occidental star, Queen Elizabeth of most happy memory." In the days of secession agitation America had many learned, wise, eloquent men who condemned secession. Their speeches and writings have almost all passed into history and have been forgotten. It remained for a woman to write a few lines, which upon their publication, rallied the loyal men and women of the north into a band of union firmly resolved to destroy secession and abolish on this continent the curse of slavery, which, most happily they did, inspired by Julia Ward Howe's triumphant song, Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory of the Coming of the Lord. And there is an account of a woman, who, in spite of great opposition of men, trained her way and accomplished purpose and won the master's approval, and the assurance "Where this gospel shall be preached in the whole world, there shall also this, that the woman hath done, be told for a memorial of her," Matt 26:6-13.

Boys and Girls made Strong in Two Weeks!

It is what they eat—and how it agrees—that has most to do with the sturdy growth of youngsters. Fruits are fine; apples, dates or figs. But don't ask them to eat more of these than is their natural inclination. For the same wonderful aid is found in California fig syrup —and no child has ever tired of that! Once start this daily treat, and any child will always remind you of it. And in two weeks, or less time, you'll see sure signs of healthy appetite, sound digestion, and a general quickening of energies. This rich, fruity syrup is a gentle invigorant of liver and bowels. Its quiet persuasion is all that even severe or chronic constipation calls for, and it is fairly tonic in its action on the young system. More regular elimination is begun with the first spoonful of fig syrup; in a few days you will see a clear-eyed and care-free child whose tongue doesn't coat, and whose mind and body are not slowed by sour bile or any other accumulations. It is much the same with a bilious baby; no harm, but only good can come from fig syrup even though given the tiniest infant. So don't use harsh cathartics, even though the children apparently suffer no ill effects. A spoonful of delicious fig syrup is far better. But the genuine California fig syrup is the kind to buy, and if you always say "California" and look for it on the generous sixty-cent bottle, you'll get the pure product.

Of the graduates of New York state normal schools and teachers' colleges in the past six years, it is known that 94.25 per cent. taught the year after graduation, and that 96.42 per cent. of those who taught were employed in the schools of the State of New York. The relatively small number recorded as teaching includes those who are continuing their studies, those who were unable to find positions, those who failed to report their movements, and those who married or died.

Powerful, Penetrating Antiseptic Oil Heals Eczema and Other Skin Diseases

Must Give Results in 7 Days or Money Back, Say All Druggists.

Make up your mind today that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well.

You've probably been like a lot of other people convinced that the only thing to use was an ointment or salve (some of them are very good) but in the big majority of cases these sticky salves simply clog the pores and the condition primarily remains the same.

Go to any good druggist today and get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil.

The very first application will give you relief and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your skin troubles will be a thing of the past.

Don't expect a single bottle to do it all at once but one bottle we know will show you beyond all question that you have at last discovered the way to restore your skin to perfect health.

Remember that Moone's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful, penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue and that it must give complete satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.

Winsome Holds a Reception

Friendship is a gentle art
Whose demonstration warms the heart.
—Old Mother Nature.

Winsome Bluebird had arrived at the Old Orchard. Yes, sir, Winsome Bluebird had arrived from the Sunny South. And the Old Orchard knew it. You see, Winsome had been watched for and waited for and now everybody hurried to pay his respects to him and greet him. He held a reception. He had to hold a reception whether he wanted to or not. He was simply surrounded.

My, my, my, how the tongues did fly!

"How far have you come from?" asked Peter Rabbit.

"Is Mrs. Winsome with you?" inquired Tommy Tit.

"How far away is sweet Mistress Spring?" demanded Yank Yank the Nuthatch.

"Do you think we are going to have any more cold weather?" piped up Slaty the Junco.

"Who else is on the way now?" inquired Dotty the Tree Sparrow.

"Did you have any snow down where you were?" Happy Jack Squirrel wanted to know.

"Are you here to stay?" asked Chatterer the Red Squirrel.

My, how the questions did fly! Everybody talked at once. Nobody seemed to expect a reply to his question. If he did he didn't wait for it. Winsome's eyes twinkled. It was good to be back in the Old Orchard. It was good to see those old friends. To be sure, the trees were still bare of leaves and the grass had only begun to show a little green here and there, but just the same it was home. So Winsome whistled softly just out of sheer joy and everybody instantly stopped talking so as to hear that whistle. There is nothing quite like it among all the bird voices. The moment Winsome stopped whistling the tongues began to fly again.

"Did Welcome Robin come along with you?" inquired one.

"Have you seen anything of Little Friend the Song Sparrow?" inquired another.

"Are you very, very tired?" Tommy Tit asked.

At this last question Winsome shook his head. "No," said he, "I'm not very tired. Why should I be?"

"But you have had such a long journey!" cried Tommy Tit.

"And I've been a long time making it," replied Winsome.

"Oh!" exclaimed Peter Rabbit. "I thought you folk who go away down to the Sunny South made the trip all in one flight."

"Are you here to stay?" asked Chatterer the Red Squirrel

"Some do, but I don't," replied Winsome Bluebird. "In fact, I didn't spend the winter so very far down in the Sunny South. I went only far enough to be sure of plenty to eat. And both going down and coming back I flew only a little way each day. Sometimes I stayed in a place quite a while."

"Then you don't really know whether sweet Mistress Spring has left the Sunny South to come up here!" exclaimed Happy Jack in a disappointed voice.

"Oh, yes, I do," replied Winsome Bluebird. "You see, I didn't start until she caught up with me. She is almost here."

At that a happy sigh ran through the group of little people gathered around Winsome. It was good to know that Spring was so close at hand.

DID HINCHCLIFFE PLANE PASS OVER NORWICH?

Telephone messages from two different sources were received in The Bulletin office Wednesday night that the humming motors of an airplane had been heard over the city about 9.50. It was thought this might possibly be the plane supposed to be flying from England with Capt. Hinchcliffe as navigator.

One report was that a plane was heard at the Greeneville car barn and the other was from nearer the center of the city, but both agreed about the time.

New London Heard Plane

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, March 14—Several residents this evening at 7 o'clock detected the whirring of a motor and believed the airplane was that of Capt. Hinchcliffe in his flight from the European continent to this country passing over the city. One resident observed the golden wings of the plane and said that it was traveling in a southerly direction and appeared over the city from the east.

OBITUARY

Raymond George Perry

Raymond George Perry, 27, of No. 586 West Main street, died Wednesday morning at 6:15 o'clock at the Hartford hospital where he had been a patient for about two months. He had been seriously ill for about nine weeks. Mr. Perry was born at Madison, Me., March 1, 1901 and was the son of Archie H. Perry and the late Evangeline M. O'Donnell Perry. For 20 years he had made his home in Madison and came to this city about seven years ago. He was a graduate of the Madison high school and of Maine Wesleyan seminary at Kent's Hill, Me. He was also a graduate of Shaw's business college, Portland, Me.

November 24th, last, which was Thanksgiving day, he was united in marriage with Miss Emilie Marie Thumm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Thumm of this city. Mr. Perry was employed as paymaster at the plant of the American Woolen company. During his residence here he made many friends and was popular with all who knew him. Mr. and Mrs. Perry had been residing for about two months after their marriage at No. 586 West Main street. Since his illness Mrs. Perry had been with him constantly at the Hartford hospital. Mr. Perry is survived by his wife and his father, both of this city.

Word of Mr. Perry's death was received with deep regret by his many friends here who extend deep and heartfelt sympathy to his wife and father.

Mrs. Benjamin F. Coffin

Mrs. Cora L. Minson Coffin, wife of Benjamin F. Coffin, formerly of New London, died Monday at East Orange, N. J., where she had resided for the past five years. She was 50 years old.

Mrs. Coffin, born in New Brunswick, N. J., was the daughter of the late John H. and Sophia Minson, of Waterford.

After her marriage she resided at Chicago for a number of years, later moving to East Orange, where she has since resided. Her husband was head of the B. F. Coffin Manufacturing Co. of Newark.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Dexter Daniels of Waterford, and Mrs. Abbie Churchill of St. Petersburg, Fla., and one brother, Fred Minson of Uncasville.

TOWN MEETING VOTES FOR RE-VALUATION AT EXPENSE NOT TO EXCEED $28,000

A special town meeting held Wednesday evening in the town hall voted, by almost an unanimous vote, to empower and instruct the board of selectmen to employ the services of a competent appraisal company to make a re-valuation of the taxable property in the town, at an expense not to exceed $28,000. The resolution provides that the appraisal company work in conjunction with the board of assessors. Close to 1,000 people crowded the town hall, many being forced to stand throughout the hour and a half session.

At 8 o'clock promptly First Selectman William S. Murray called the meeting to order and the warning was read by Acting Town Clerk Mary G. Ward. Selectman Murray inquired if anyone had a resolution to offer. Judge Nelson J. Ayling presented the following resolution, moving its adoption:

Resolution Offered

Resolved, That the board of selectmen of the town of Norwich be and the said board hereby is, empowered and instructed, for and on behalf of said town, to make and enter into a contract with a competent appraisal company, which contract shall provide for a revaluation by said compnay, in conjunction with the board of assessors of said town of the taxable property located in said town, at an expense not to exceed $28,000 that the said sum of $28,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated for said purpose and the said board of selectmen be and the said board hereby is authorized and empowered, for and in behalf of said town, to borrow said sum of $28,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, and for and in the name of said town, to execute such evidence o evidences of indebtedness thereof as may be necessary.

Speaking in favor of his resolution Judge Ayling said, in regard to assessing property in Norwich, that there is no established system except guess work and judgment. He said that it is up to the town to establish some system whereby every dollar should be located equitably. He said he had no criticism of the board of assessors and expressed the opinion that no board could make a reassessment. Judge Ayling said there are in the town of Norwich, 5,230 houses, 1,507 barns, 627 store buildings, 10,000 house lots and 8,000 separate lists. There are 20,000 separate items of real estate. Giving each piece of property 10 minutes inspection, it would take the board of assessors 24 years to make a revaluation. Judge Ayling said that anyone who is now willing to secure a revaluation believes that he is "under" and would therefore be opposed to the resolution. I see no objection, said Judge Ayling. I move it be adopted.

Seconded the Resolution

Corporation Counsel William H. Shields seconded the motion. Mr. Shields said there is no local man willing to come forward and state that he will do the work in a certain time. The speaker said he believed it necessary to secure outside help in order to get the work done in a reasonable time. After referred to the fact that the directors of the chamber of commerce had come to the conclusion that the Manufacturers' Appraisal company is the one to do the work, Mr. Shields said that if the resolution were adopted, it will be up to the selectmen to decide who shall do the work.

Judge John H. Barnes followed Mr. Shields, speaking in favor of the resolution. I agreed as a member of the chamber of commerce and as one of the signers of the petition (the petition asking for the special town meeting) to come here and state my reasons for signing, said Judge Barnes. I am a taxpayer, and was born here in Norwich and I always have the interests of Norwich at heart. It is up to us to do something. It might appear that $28,000 is a lot to pay out at this time. Judge Barnes went on to say that this proposition is a mere bagatelle to a proposition which will soon confront the city. He was speaking of the pollution of the Shetucket and Yantic rivers. When this subject of pollution of the Shetucket and Yantic rivers comes up and the state water commission forces you to take up this matter you will be up against it, he said. If we start in now and have an honest revaluation, then when that time comes we will be able to meet it, as we will be in a better financial condition. There is no question but that this is an absolutely proper thing to do. Pass this resolution!

Former Assessor Speaks

Michael J. Curran, a former member of the board of assessors, in a 45 minute argument, spoke against employing outside help to make the revaluation. He was in favor of a revaluation but thought that it should be done by the board of assessors. It seems as if all the legal fraternity in town has been gathered here to discuss this resolution, which affects every man, woman and child in the town, said Mr Curran. He expressed the opinion that the chamber of commerce is trying to steal the thunder from those who started the revaluation movement. He said the revaluation movement was started in 1919 by the assessors. Being anxious to comply with the law the chairman was asked to go to the board of selectmen. We were told that it was politically inexpedient to have a revaluation of the town, even every 10 years.

He told of a revaluation being ordered by the state and of the town refusing to do it. Did you see nay penalty? No, said Mr. Curran. Three years ago we discussed this matter and I thought we had settled the matter by leaving it where it belongs, with the board of assessors. I was in favor of a revaluation and I am now. Don't mistake me. There is nothing that will do as much good as a revaluation. We want to do all our citizens justice.

Judge Ayling has told you it would take the assessors 24 years to make a revaluation. I am afraid Judge Ayling's mathematics are a little faulty. I want to ask the merchants of Norwich just one question. Are you in favor of the people of Norwich going out of the town of Norwich to purchase their goods, rather than trade with the local merchants. After advocating a keener and livelier and more articulate expression of appreciation of the work of the town's public officials, Mr. Curran paused in his discussion on the resolution to pay tribute to the late Town Clerk Charles S. Holbrook.

Tribute to Late Town Clerk

The town of Norwich has suffered a loss, he said. I will ask the chairman to ask the citizens to rise for half a minute in memory of an ideal citizen and a faithful servant, Charles S. Holbrook. Chairman Murray quickly complied with the speaker's request and asked the assemblage to rise for a half minute as a tribute to the memory of Mr. Holbrook. (Mr. Holbrook whose death occurred suddenly several days ago was for 28 years town clerk and town treasurer of Norwich).

We can bear willing testimony to his value as a public citizen, resumed Mr. Curran when the assemblage was again seated. His honesty was never questioned. He cared not an iota for public praise or censure because he knew he always did his duty.

Mr. Curran, resuming his discourse on the resolution before the meeting, said he was going to prove to those present that there is no such thing as an expert as far as taxation is concerned. He referred to the state law which provides that the assessors shall do the assessing and went on to say that values for taxation purposes remain a matter of opinion.

He spoke of the answers of the chamber of commerce to questions as to why the town should secure outside assistance in making a re-valuation. One of the questions he referred to was as to whether the town has a local man who could do the work. Mr. Curran said that the only qualification a man needs is to go out and inspect systems in use in other cities and then install a system here.

Estimate on Time Required

They (the chamber of commerce) paid $1,500 for a Babson statistical man to come here and tell them, what we told them three years ago for nothing, he said. The state tax commissioner said last Wednesday that he can't come here and force a revaluation, said Mr. Curran. He could come here and find out why the board of assessors are not doing what the town told them to do in 1925. In 1924 the assessors had already started to make a revaluation. There are 20,000 pieces of property in the town. The chamber of commerce says it is too big a task for three men and a girl. Mr. Curran voiced the opinion that taking 300 working days in the year and starting in 1925, revaluing 2 1-5 pieces of property a day, that they could have completed the work of revaluing the town's proprty by 1928.

Questioned after the meeting as to the accuracy of this statement, Mr. Curran admitted that he had made an error in computing the number of pieces of property that would have to be revalued each year in order to accomplish the work in three years. On the basis of the figures he quoted, the revaluing of 2 and 1-5 pieces a day for 300 days a year, it would require about 30 years to accomplish the work of revaluation.

What Are Experts?

Experts are manufactured so quickly, I don't see why we can't manufacture some here tonight, said Mr. Curran. He spoke of the tax map which was authorized several years ago and said that the assessors had stated that they had already taken the first map chart and valued the property thereon. They said they felt they were justified in placing the values by the sales in that section, Mr. Curran stated.

With reference to experts Mr. Curran said the only thing the experts agreed on was the price. He quoted opinions expressed by several experts who have considered the local valuation as to the time the revaluation would require and the cost, showing that there was a wide division of opinion.

Speaking of one man who engaged in business as a taxation expert after "two months' experience in Deep River," Mr. Curran said: "I want you to figure this out. If it takes two months in Deep River to make an expert out of Arthur O. Lamb, how much longer will it take to make experts out of the assessors? If you vote $20,000 for an expert you are paying $20,000 for a card that any school boy would be capable of filling out. The question is, shall we hire experts? The first thing a man needs is a thorough knowledge of local conditions. The chamber of commerce says we have reached our borrowing capacity. Mull that over in your minds."

Speaking of the zoning laws, Mr. Curran said that we had a proposition that we engage a zoning expert and that the work could not be done by local men. But Brother Shields and Brother Pettis did it themselves, Mr. Curran said. "Is that right, Brother Shields?" he asked. Mr. Shields informed Mr. Curran that he was not exactly right about that matter.

Five-Minute Limit on Speaches

Following Mr. Curran's lengthy discourse, Charles S. Stewart said, "We have spent one hour and seven minutes and we have got nowhere. There are hundreds of people in the hall tonight and many are standing. If we must be edified by oratory, I move you, Mr. Chairman, that the speakers be limited to five minutes." The motion was put to vote and unanimously adopted.

Grand List Too Small

After the five-minute limit had been adopted, H. H. Gallup took the floor. He said it was a pleasure to see such a large audience. He said that if he understood the motion correctly the matter of who should do the work is left with the selectmen. He told of trying to get a revaluation 25 years ago. To bring new industries to Norwich we have a great handicap by our tax rate. Our grand list is way below. New London has a grand list of $43,000,000. Their tax rate is about 26 mills. A tax rate of 5 3-4 per cent doesn't look good. It would be lower if the grand list is increased. Mr. Gallup said we need fair values. Don't let us be considered as the worst town in the state, he said. Let's do our duty and pass this thing tonight.

Let Assessors Do It

George H. Gilman was the next man to be recognized. He said he didn't believe there was a man or woman in the hall who didn't believe in a revaluation. He said he believed that the law should be enforced and that the law says that the assessors shall do the assessing. He said he didn't believe the asessors are incompetent, dishonest or lazy. Mr. Pollock (one of the taxation experts) said his company would send a couple of men here and that the work would be done by a committee of citizens and real estate men. Mr. Gilman informed the meeting. New London has the Summers system. The assessors can ask New London to lend them a couple of their cards and the system could be used here, he said. Let the assessors get the people of Norwich to do the work, he concluded.

Speaks for Revaluation.

James P. Sheridan said that the town of Norwich was revalued in 1860. That's longer than I can remember, he added. There are very few people here tonight who are that old. This is a business proposition. I am not a member of the chamber of commerce and I am not a lawyer. Our grand list is $22,000,000 or $23,000,000. Does it look right? You know the property in town is worth twice as much or more. We have tried it (revaluation) for three years. What have we got? We could have had a $40,000,000 grand list without the assessors leaving their chairs. Don't wait for the assessors to do that work. If you do you will wait 15 years. Break away from the political ring around your neck.

Criticises the Assessors

I told you three years ago that if you want to lower taxes, to stop voting money, said Albert Boardman. The chamber of commerce is back of this. That is the reason why these three men (board of assessors) have not done their duty. If the chamber of commerce puts this over on you the next thing will be that they will take away your right to vote on questions of this kind.

If the assessors can't or won't do the work, let them out. That's what you ought to say to them tonight.

The chamber of commerce has no control over the assessors, said Herbert W. Cary.

Assessor Manning Speaks

Arad R. Manning, a member of the board of assessors, said that the assessors have not refused to do their duty. I am making a sacrifice every day and am working to the best of my ability, he said. Mr. Manning expressed the opinion that when the grand list be increased, that all the increases should go into effect at one time. He did not believe in raising one man's property and letting the rest go.

He said that one speaker (Mr. Curran) would "lead you to believe that all we have to do is to work 300 days a year on the revaluation. He was in that office for ten years. Did he show results?" Mr. Manning said that the board of assessors were making slow progress on the revaluation.

For Expert Help

Dr. James J. Donahue stated that when the matter of revaluation first came up he was opposed to it and also opposed to outside experts. Since then I have come to the conclusion that we need a revaluation and that we need expert help, he said. I cast no reflections on the board of assessors but I don't believe they have the ability or the time to do this work. I ithink the sentiment of this meeting is in favor of a revaluation and in favor of experts doing the work.

This is not going to mean less taxes for you, Mr. Boardman said.

Mrs. Gilman asked if $28,000 was the smallest bid for the work and Chairman Murray, in answer, said that he didn't know. The question was then called for and when put to vote, the resolution was adopted almost unanimously. The meeting adjourned shortly after 9:30 o'clock.

FASHION SHOW STAGED AT OSGOOD MEMORIAL

On Wednesday evening, a unique entertainment of special interest to the women of the city was given at the Hugh Henry Osgood Memorial parish house of Park Congregational church. Under the management of the parish house department of the Women's Federation, with the active co-operation of a number of merchants, a fashion show of unusual variety was staged.

Through the courtesy of Geduldig's greenhouses, an attractive background of palms, with baskets of spring flowers in pastel shades, was arranged by Otto F. Ernst for the stage setting at the end of the parlors. Preceding the program a variety of musical selections were played on the orthophonic victrola loaned by the Plaut Cadden company and operated by their representative.

Miss Katherine Hempstead, a recent graduate of the Prince School of Store Service and Education, in a few gracious words of welcome, named the merchants showing models, stating that Collins Millinery had supplied the hats for the firms not carrying them, the furs were from the Model Fur Shop, all shoes from the Model Bootterie, and jewelry furnished by Ferguson. She expressed the hope that the fashion show might stimulate buying in Norwich.

Miss Hempstead stepped to one side and to the strains of a musical number, the pages, Misses Betty Hitchon and Carol McGregory, daintily gowned, advanced to the stage, bearing the placard "Hagberg," which announced the opening display. They were followed by the models, Miss Constance Learned wearing a sport costume and Mrs. Manley Eastwood, featuring a handsome coat. These were typical of the first group, showing the latest styles for sports, for morning, or all day street wear. Posing on the stage, while Miss Hempstead noted the special features, each model passed down the long parlors giving all opportunity for a closer view.

With the pages bearing the placards announcing each firm, every merchant made a splendid display of attractive styles. The second firm was the Boston Store, with their own models, Miss Nonie Nagel and Miss Alice Gallup wearing the costumes.

The Clever Craftsman was represented by little Miss Janet Pullen, completely equipped for the rainy day, with coat, cap and school-bag of Permatex in Chinese red trimmed with gold stripes.

For the Worth Shop, Miss Ruth Eaton, Mrs. Henry D. Johnson and Miss Phyllis Brewer displayed models suitable for varied types and ages.

The Porteous and Mitchell company featured morning wear suitable for young women and young matrons, worn by Miss Margaret Camp, Mrs. Aurin E. Payson, Mrs.s Flint Brayton and Miss Louise Norton.

The costumes from The Fine Feathers, Inc., were displayed advantageously by their professional models, Misses Estelle Wranger and Elvan Hall, from New York.

During the intermission, under the direction of Mrs. H. Clinton Atterbury, the ushers Misses Esther and Louise Evans, Janet Harris, Mary Shaver, Marjorie Wolfe and Louise Higgins passed about selling home made candy from the table, prepared by a group with Miss Alice W. Cogswell, chairman, and in chrage of Mrs. William Douglass and Mrs. Frank L. Crowell. Also in the corridor, a table of tempting cakes was in charge of Mrs. James A. Morton, Mrs. Raymond B Sherman, Miss Beatrice Eastwood, Mrs. Kenneth B. Church and Mrs. Frank C. Goring.

Following the intermission, the same firms dressed their models in afternoon frocks and more dressy ensemble suits, some showing the summer-like coats of georgette. In this division, four models, Misses Evon Broadhurst, Janet Blackstone, Janice Richards and Mrs. George E. Johnson wore the attractive costumes from Mandel.

A rare treat was afforded by the musical selections of an artist from New London known as Madalyn Damon, the accompaniment sympathetically interpreted by Henry LaFontaine, Miss Damon sang Mi Chimano Mimi from La Boheme and for an encore Lass with a Delicate Air (Arne).

In the third period, evening models and frocks fro more elaborate wear were displayed, and it was demonstrated that the most fastidious woman need not leave home for the purchase of her spring wardrobe, for a bewildering number of all styles of dress were on exhibition, and shown to the best advantage, with each shop sending a representative to dress the models. Even the needs of the Easter bride were anticipated, when, for the closing pageant, the Fine Feathers, Inc., staged a wedding procession, with Miss Estelle Wranger as the charming bride in a frook of white satin with the new fish-tail train, the latest draping of veil, the slippers from the Smith shoe shop, and the bridal bouquet presented by a New London florist. Miss Janet Blackstone posed as maid of honor or in shades of orchid, Miss Alvan Hall and Miss Phyllis Hankey of New London, in peach and pink, attended as brides-maids, and little Misses Catharine Mitchell and Elaine Douglass in dainty flowered georgette over pink, with their Colonial nosegays in pastel colorings, furnished by Geduldig's, created a picture of the harmonious blending of delicate tints.

The entertainment was arranged by the members of the program committes of the parish house department, Mrs. Frederick W. Cary, chairman, Mrs. Frank Hempstead, Mrs. Alfred N. H. Vauhn, Mrs. Aurin E. Payson, Miss Louise C. Howe, Mrs. Leonard Church, Mrs. Howard L. Stanton, Miss Amy Cogswell, Mrs. Edward J. Grahnm, Mrs. William B. Birge and Mrs. W. Tyler Browne.

CITY PINOCHLE LEAGUE WILL CONTINUE TOURNEY

The City Pinochle league leaders, Duwells and Polishers will meet tonight (Thursday) in the first half when the league meets in Grotto hall. This game means a good deal to each contestant especially the Duwells as they meet the on-coming Eagles team, who now are in second place, in the second half of the night's play.

Although admitting he has two hard opponents to meet Mgr. Cramer of the Duwells feels confident of a double victory, while the Polishers manager, Petrone, remains silent on the question of who will be the league leader after this (Thursday) evening's games.

Through an oversight it was stated that the league would be entertained by the Colonial club. The league will be the guest of the Grotto team instead.

The schedule for tonight is as follows:

1st half—Duwells vs. Polishers; Colonials vs. Grotto; Moose vs. Sons of Hermann; Junior Order vs. American Legion; Eagles vs. K. of C.; Foresters vs. Yantic.

2nd half—Duwells vs. Eagles, Colonials vs. Foresters; Moose vs. K. of C.; Junior Order vs. Yantic; Polishers vs. Sons of Hermann; Grotto vs. American Legion.

Cuticura Heals Eczema Over Face Scalp And Back

"Eczema broke out in pimples on my forehead and soon spread all over my face, scalp and back. It itched and burned and kept me scratching all the time. Scratching caused very large eruptions which disfigured my face. My hair fell out and was dry and lifeless, and my clothing aggravated the breaking out on my back. The trouble lasted about six months.

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they gave instant relief. I continued the treatment and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and about three boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Lillian Herriman, East Lebanon, Me., July 8, 1927.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum are all you need for all toilet uses. Soap to cleanse, Ointment to soothe, Talcum to powder.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. 17B, Malden, Mass.

ST. PATRICK CELEBRATION AT NORWICH CHURCH SUNDAY

The religious celebration of the feast of St. Patrick is to be held Sunday next, the 18th, in St. Patrick's church. It will begin Sunday morning at 7:30, when both divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and their auxiliaries will receive holy communion in a body at the first mass. This will be a high mass for the Sunday, sung by the officiating priest. There will be music by the volunteer choir, including familiar Irish airs and the majestic hymn to St. Patrick.

Because of the extra length of this early mass and the great number to receive communion, the children's mass usually read at 9 o'clock will begin a half hour later for this Sunday, or at 9:30. The other services will be at the usual hours.

The day will conclude with vespers in the evening, with a sermon by a missionary priest from the Passionist monastery at West Springfield, Mass. Organist Henry J. LaFontaine will play Irish melodies and the soloists of the quartet will sing Irish airs.

PLAINFIELD PROS TAKE FIRST GAME OF SERIES FROM TAFTVILLE, 35 TO 28

(Special to The Bulletin)

PLAINFIELD, March 14—The Plainfield Pros, playing one of their best games of the season, took the Taftville Crescents into camp in the first game of their series 35 to 28 at the Community house here tonight. The game was a very good one to watch and the terrific pace that Plainfield set had the crowd constantly thrilled. The great floor work of the team as a whole and the sharpshooting of Brusso and Bernot had the Taftville team on the run throughout, in spite of the fact that the latter team had Morley, Kiley and Martin of the Boston Whirlwinds. Bernot was in his prime, dropping the ball in from about any angle and from any distance. Brusso, too, piled up a lead that was not overcome with five goals in the first half and one in the second, although his opponent Morley, right guard for the Crescents, after being outplayed in the first half came back in the second half and copped four goals and a foul which together with his two field goals and a foul made in the first half took the honors for high scorer.

Benson shot a foul goal to start the scoring for Plainfield, while Morley came through with a foul soon after for Taftville. Brusso shot a pretty field goal and took the lead for Plainfield which the Crescents tried hard to overcome but fell short. Plainfield assuming the aggressive took advantage of the least misplay by Taftville and passed the ball to either Brusso or Bernot who invariably dropped it in the basket. Fields by Kiley, Brown and Morley and Fouls by Morley, Harris and Brown gradually increased the Crescents' score and the half ended with Plainfield in the lead by ten points, 23 to 13.

Taftville came out for the second half with a vengeance and with a field by Martin started off the scoring. Brown made a brilliant overhand shot, while Bernot kept on slipping the ball in from anywhere. Morley started to get warmed up and piled up a few points which had the Taftville fans hoping that their team could catch up. But Bernot's work with the help of Benson, Dissinger and Kasper ended the game with the seven point margin.

The addition to the Taftville team of the three Boston men was no doubt a valuable asset although they have been in the habit of playing together so much that they failed to take advantage of the "cuts" that the original Crescent men, Harris and Brown, made and who had several chances to take the ball in a clear field. Both Harris and Brown, notwithstanding the fact that this was their first time in such fast company, played an excellent game especially the latter who kept on top of his man throughout and refused to let him take any advantage. Harris missed a couple of baskets unfortunately, but he too played his man tenaciously. All in all it was an interesting game and the next game will no doubt pack the crowd in even more.

In the preliminary the Plainfield Buddies overwhelmed the Taftville Jrs 55 to 19. Mercier alone accounting for 21 of the points. This gives the Buddies a total of 800 points for the season against a total of 468 for their opponents.

Summary:

Plainfield

YALE GRID PLAYERS TO REPORT WEDNESDAY

NEW HAVEN, March 14.—(AP)—Yale's football players, prospective candidates for the 1928 varsity squad, were ordered to report next Wednesday afternoon by the newly appointed head coach, Marvin A. Stevens, today.

When the men go on Pratt field it will mean the first appearance of Stevens in his new capacity as head coach, and he has stated that work this spring will cover two weeks before the Easter vacation and three weeks after. All the work will be in the open.

Coach Stevens said today that his coaching staff has not been selected but probably would be announced before Wednesday.

HARVARD CREWS OUT FOR FIRST OFFICIAL WORKOUT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 14—(AP)—Ten Harvard crews took part today in the first official outdoor practice of the season on the Charles river. Although a few of the oarsmen had taken advantage of the mild weather by getting a workout on the river in January their practice was informal. Coach Ed Brown was on hand today to direct the squad. Among the candidates out today were the four veterans of last year's crew, Captain Jack Watts, Guy Murchie, Tim Clark and Bill Saltonstall.

HOREMANS SHOWS FINE FORM IN WINNING FOURTH BLOCK

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—(AP)—Edouard Horemans won the fourth block in his world championship billiard match with Jacob Schaefer late today by a remarkable display of cuemanship. Horemans' grand total was 1206 after today's block while Schaefer's score was 964. The Belgian star had a high run of 23 today.

BIG BOY BURLAP TO BOX PADDY JONES AT WILLIMANTIC

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, March 14.—The big thrill of the Willimantic A. C. boxing card to be staged in the Al Pierre Tabarin here tomorrow evening under the auspices of the Connecticut A. A. U. will be furnished in the meeting of Paddy Jones of Waterbury and Big Boy Burlap of Westerly. The bout is featured as a heavyweight go and should prove a big attraction when one considers the ability and reputation of the two fighters. Jones has been going over big in the state amateur ring. Since he came over from Ireland less than one year ago the colored battler from our neighboring state always provides stiff opposition and showed it in Norwich Tuesday night when he kayoed his colored brother, Henry Bell of Hartford. There have been no changes in the list of boxers as announced in Wednesday's Bulletin other than the addition of Al Dowd, 126, of Manchester, and another Silktown boy weighing 135. Young Lesniak of Lower Village has become an entry and will be matched up against a Moosup lad. The promoters said today that everything was going well and that they were satisfied with the showing that a number of their boxers made in the Duwell A. C. card in Norwich last night. A good ticket sale was reported tonight and the portable bleachers are now installed ready for the big show. The first round goes on promptly at 8.15 o'clock.

McGRAW INJURED AT GIANTS' TRAINING CAMP

ATLANTA, March 14—(AP)—Exhibition contests and the "big brother" act—the farming of recruits to the minor leagues, held the center of the American and National league base ball training stages in the south today.

Five games furnished the Florida fans with plenty of baseball, the Philadelphia Athletics meeting the Buffalo Internationals at Ft. Myers, the St. Louis Cardinals playing the Boston Braves at St. Petersburg, the Boston Red Sox meeting the Baltimore Internationals at Auburndale, the Brooklyn Robins facing the university of Florida at Clearwater, and the St. Louis Browns meeting the Cincinnati Reds at Orlando.

Bill McKechnie, Cardinal manager, released Stan Dyer, southpaw hurler, to Topeka of the Western association while Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators had a conference arranged for tomorrow with Roy Ellam, Tampa, Fla., Southeastern league manager, concerning youngsters that club is trying for.

"Bill Doak Day" was being planned at Bradenton, Fla., where the Robins will Doak a member of their squad, will invade the Boston Americans field. Doak's fellow townsmen will present him with a gift.

An injury to John McGraw, Giant manager, who was struck on the foot by a batted ball upset training at Augusta. The extent of the injury was not at first determined but X-ray pictures were to be made to see if any bones had been fractured.

The Chicago Americans at Shreveport, La., plan to leave tomorrow night for a nine game road trip into Texas.

Detroit had an exhibition game on in Fredericksburg, Texas, today while the Cleveland Indians at New Orleans went through a base running drill.

CALIFORNIA COMMISSION REINSTATES JOE DUNDEE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14—(AP)—Commissioner Charles F. Traung, of San Francisco, chairman of the state athletic commission of California, announced today that he had reinstated Joe Dundee, welterweight champion, who was suspended five months ago for his failure to appear for his fight with Ace Hudkins in Los Angeles.

Dundee had been suspended when he did not appear for a bout with Hudkins because his $60,000 guarantee was not forthcoming.

INTERCOLLEGIATE BOXING CHAMPIONSHIPS THIS WEEK

PHILADELPHIA, March 14—(AP)—The drawings for the intercolegiate boxing championships at the Pennsylvania Palestra on Friday and Saturday, were held today and the 56 men entered were placed in their bouts for the first round.

Four of the seven champions of last year will defend their titles and all will have to box in the first round. Twenty-eight bouts were scheduled for the first night, 14 for Saturday afternoon and 14 for Saturday night.

Wins European Middleweight Title

EDINBURGH, Scotland, March 14—(AP)—Alex Ireland tonight won the European middleweight boxing championship from Tommy Milligan, the titleholder. Milligan fouled in the ninth round and was disqualified.

A line a mile long formed outside Waverley Market hours previous to the start of the bout and the doors closed an hour before it began with 20,000 persons crowded inside. It was believed to have been the only occasion on which two Scots fought for an European title.

Payson and Wilson Win

BELLEAIR, Fla., March 14.—(AP)—Helen Payson, Portland, Maine, the medalist, today defeated Mrs. Edmund Guggenheim, Roslyn, L. I., 6 and 5 in the opening round of the annual Belleair women's golf tournament.

Virginia Wilson, Chicago, another favorite, also survived the day's play, beating Mrs. Edward Hodges, New York, 5 and 4.

'BOUT SPORTS

Sports doings hereabouts are many lately and present indications are that this situation will persist for some time. Amateur boxing has now taken a stranglehold on the public with the crowds far above expectations of the promoters turning out for each show. After a lull last week the fans are again getting their fill of this rugged species of the game with two shows in the city this week and one in Putnam and Danielson. Basketball will not be denied and it blazes forth with two titular series, the Plainfield-Taftville affair for the eastern Connecticut semi-pro championship, that started last night, and the C. F. C.-Academy brace of games for top honors in the city. Just for variation there is the big track meet slated for Hartford Saturday night, promoted by the Massasoit and featuring such well-known performers as Roland Locke, Falt Elkins, Jackson Scholz, Walter Hussey, etc.

While the sport program in these parts at the present time is rather heavily loaded indications point to even greater work for the fans in the not-so-distant future. To begin with the Duwells will be turning to the outdoors within a month or so after a few more bouts at the armory where they are having a most successful time, then the Academy, state champions of 1927, will have their heavily loaded diamond schedule of 23 games to tackle with every one of these games in eastern Connecticut and 17 of them on the home layout. No doubt, Taftville and Riverview will again have baseball teams (although nothing is forthcoming from their camps) while the Industrial league, so successful in its first season in 1927 is already showing signs of preparing for the coming year. Eastern Connecticut is not so bad off for its athletic bill of fare, after all.

The Academy's basketball outlook has brightened considerably during the past week or so until now, there is a fair chance of the season being, at least a good one. True, the Red and White has won 7 and lost 11 but with at least three more games to go, this percentage can be improved. That win over Crosby Saturday carries quite a bit of significance for the local cause in view of Crosby's win over the champions of the eastern state, Naugatuck high, Tuesday night.

BOXING JABS

The Kid Kaplan-Georgie Day bout set for New Haven next Monday night has been called off. Kaplan's hands went back on him in training and he was forced to call for cancellation of his contract to fight.

Phil McGraw or Stanislaus Loayza will be selected as Day's opponent.

Sheik Leonard, local welterweight, has signed with Denny McMahon of Meriden, handler of Kid Kaplan, Al Beauregard, Eddie Lord and others.

Billy Petrolle, and Bruce Flowers tangle at Madison Square Garden Friday night in the main bout while Joey Sangor and Eddie Cannonball Martin are also on the program.

The Mandell-McLarnin bout in May now looks like the next big event in the fistic world.

Chick Suggs and Sammy Fuller will meet for the New England featherweight championship at Boston Friday night.

Jimmy Rossi lost to Johnny Curcio down in Providence Monday night.

Another community in the state has been invaded by amateur boxing. Naugatuck, home of great high school athletic teams, made its debut at this rugged end of the boxing game.

HOWIE MORENZ SEEMS SURE OF HOCKEY HONORS

NEW YORK, March 14—(AP)—Barring a sensational spurt by one of the contenders, Howie Morenz, flashy star of the Montreal Canadiens seems assured of scoring honors in the National Hockey league this season.

With the league schedule rapidly drawing to a close, Morenz holds a six point margin over his closest rival, Aurel Joliat, also of the Canadiens, on the basis of figures compiled for games up to and including those of last Sunday.

Morenz has tallied 26 goals and 15 assists for 41 points, while Joliat has compiled 25 points from 25 goals and ten assists, third place is held by Hay, of Detroit, leader of the American division, with 29 points. Then follow two more Canadian division stars, Nelson Stewart of the Montreal Maroons and Gagne, another of the Canadiens with 28 and 27 points, respectively. Frank Boucher, of the New York Rangers, second in the American division, holds sixth place in the general standing with 26 points.

Ernie Shore, husky defense man of the Boston Bruins, has a firm grip on the season's penalty "honors." Shore has served 155 minutes in the penalty box. Ching Johnson, of the Rangers, stands second with 139 minutes of compulsory rest.

WARREN HARDING PLAYER SIGNS WITH HARTFORD CLUB

John Michaels, who was on the Warren Harding team that went down to defeat before the Academy in the Memorial day game last year, has been signed for a tryout with the Hartford Eastern league club.

He is a pitcher by trade, although he cavorted in right field in the game here, and he had a no-hit-no-run game to his credit during last year. It will be remembered that he was the last out for Harding, fanning with a man on base.

ROBERTI KNOCKS OUT HERMAN IN FIFTH ROUND

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 14—(AP)—Roberto Roberti, Italian heavyweight champion, knocked out Tiny (Jim) Herman of Barberton, Ohio, in the fifth round of a scheduled ten round bout here tonight. Herman gave Roberti a rousing battle up until the finish came and was slugging the big Italian all over the ring just before he was dropped for the final count.

Roberti weighed 220 1-4; Herman 222 1-2.

American League Basketball Playoff

At New York: New York Celtics 32; Philadelphia 24.

BASKETBALL BRIEFS

Chapman Tech dropped a 25 to 19 decision to the Coast Guard Jr., varsity Tuesday night at New London. This latter team is the one that meets the Academy Friday night at the Y gym.

As the C. F. C.-Academy series nears, interest seems to mount.

Plainfield and Taftville will play out their series on Wednesday nights at the Plainfield community house.

The Plainfield Buddies had little trouble with the Putnam Silk Sox on Tuesday night. The Buddies have a very classy passing team, one that is a credit to the coaching of Roy Dispenzer.

PACIFIC COAST CHAMPIONS TO BOX AT PASTIME A. C. SHOW FRIDAY NIGHT

Friday night's amateur boxing card under the auspices of the Pastime A. C., will take on something of a service battle for a team from the Submarine Base will clash with a team from the Coast Guard. These two branches of government service get along wonderfully well, like two strange bull-dogs when it comes to sports. There will be four boxers on the Sub Base team, headed by Young Bobby LaVallee, who is the bantamweight champion of the Pacific fleet. Others on the team will be Dinny Moore, 120 pounds, Jimmy Frazier, 135 pounds and Young McTigue, a heavyweight at 175. This team was recently transferred from the Pacific coast to duty with the Sub Base flotilla.

Coast Guard Team.

The personnel of the Coast Guard team is not known but Joe Connelly has promised the local promoters that he will send up a fast bunch of boys who will go well against the Base team. The Base team is under the supervision of C. J. Gallagher and his men are trained to the minute.

Of course there will be a number of the local favorites, including Mush Moriarty, who is training very faithfully for his opponent tomorrow night. Mush regrets that Mickey Ward has deserted the Connelly stable as he hoped to get another crack at the New London boy. Vic Darr, another local lad, has changed his style and those who have seen Vic in his workouts during the past two weeks have noticed a decided improvement in the boy. Young Yacca of Greeneville after a poor start at the last show has been training faithfully during the two weeks since the last show to get an opportunity to make a comeback.

New Willimantic Team.

From Willimantic comes an entirely new wteam of boxers who have been training under the guidance of "Mac" McLean, old timer, who was a trainer for K. O. Palitz, Young Corbett and a number of others. Reports from the Thread City say that the MacLean stable is the fastest stable in the eastern part of the state. Boys from Westerly, Danielson, New London and Colchester will be on the card.

It was announced that there will be a surprise for the fans attending the show. Just what this was is not known but the promoters said that it would be worthwhile.

BASEBALL NEWS

BRAVES MAKE ONLY ONE HIT AND LOSE

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 13.—(AP)—Three Cardinal hurlers collaborated in pitching a one hit game here today to defeat the Boston Braves 1 to 0. Alexander and Sherdel each hurled three innings without a semblance of a hit while Frankhouse went the rest of the route.

Rogar Hornsby chalked up five putouts and two assists in his field but at the plate walked once and popped out flies to the outfield three times. Score by innings:

St. Louis (NL)	000 100 000—1 5 1
Boston (NL)	000 000 000—0 1 1

Alexander, Sherdel, Frankhouse and Mancuso; Greenfield, R. Smith and Taylor, Urban.

Browns 6, Reds 4

ORLANDO, Fla., March 14.—(AP)—With four of the Brown's six runs scored through the superb batting of Fred Schulte, the St. Louis club bested Cincinnati 6 to 4 here today. A triple play by the Reds in the first inning snuffed the Browns' early threat after two runs had been scored.

Score by innings:

St. Louis (AL)	200 003 100—6 7 3
Cincinnati (NL)	000 010 030—4 7 0

Blaeholder and Schang; Rixey, Jablonowski, and Picinich, Sukeforth.

Brooklyn 17, U. of Fla. 3

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 14.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Robins swamped the University of Florida Nine by 17 to 3 in their first spring exhibition game here today. The National leaguers sewed up the contest in the opening inning with a five-run splurge.

Score by innings:

Brooklyn (NL)	512 003 05x—17 17 3
U. of Florida	000 102 000— 3 6 6

Marsh, Untriner and Helvenston, Shirley; Koupal, Danforth, Rauch and Lopez, Wise.

Athletics 4, Buffalo O

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 14.—(AP)— The Philadelphia Athletics blanked the Buffalo Bisons 1927 international league champions, today 4 to 0.

The game was played on a muddy field and was held up for a half hour in the fifth inning by a downpour of rain.

Joe Hassler, Mackmen recruit from Waterbury, made his debut in the lineup at short, handling 15 chances without a miscue.

Buffalo (I)	000 000 000—0 9 1
Philadelphia (A)	100 100 20x—4 7 0

Batteries: Profitt, Auer and Pond; Bush, Daney, Powers, Lyons, Quinn and Perkins.

Red Sox Tie Orioles

AUBURNDALE, Fla., March 14.—(AP)—After being led all the way, the Boston Americans staged a ninth inning rally to tie the Baltimore Internationals 4-4 here today in an exhibition game which was called at the end of the ninth by agreement. Boston collected nine hits off three Baltimore pitchers, while the Orioles touched four Red Sox hurlers for the same number of safeties.

Score:

Boston (A)	000 000 112—4 9 1
Baltimore (I)	001 000 030—4 9 2

(9 innings agreement).

McFayden, Wiltse, Russell, Stirling and Heving; Cantrell, Cates, Bolen and Dixon.

Cubs

AVALON, Cal., March 14—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs today went through a light batting and fielding workout, ran a few relay races, and then prepared for departure for the mainland where they will play a series of exhibition games with three Pacific coast league clubs.

Tomorrow calls for a game with the Portland Beavers, at Santa Ana. Manager Joe McCarthy intends to use Guy Bush for the first five innings, and Lefty Weinert to finish the game.

The National league pilot made the trip to the main land by airplane, while his charges boarded the trans-channel steamer.

WHITE SOX WIN THIRD STRAIGHT

SHREVEPORT, La., March 4.—(AP)—A barrage of hits, coupled with their opponents' errors in the first inning, gave the Chicago White Sox their third straight victory over the Shreveport Texas leaguers 9 to 4 today.

The score:

Chicago	603 000 000—9 7 2
Shreveport	010 000 003—4 9 5

Thomas, Goodell, Luque and Berg, Crouse; Nuhlick, Lewis, Price and Heyworth, Blankenship.

Pirates

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 14—(AP)—For the fifth time in succession, the Pittsburgh Pirates' "Yannigan" team defeated the regulars today, the score being 4 to 2. The veterans made 12 hits to the youngsters' 3, but were unable to bunch them effectively. Burleigh Grimes pitched three innings for the Yannigans, allowing two hits and no runs. Glenn Wright chalked up a home run.

George Grantham, first baseman, lifted a long fly over the right field fence in batting practice, the third he has sent out of the lot.

The sensation of the camp has been the fielding and batting of Coburn Jones, Denver rookie. The Yannigans credit him with a big share in their victories.

Detroit 13, San Antonio

FREDERICKSBURG, Tex., March 14.—(AP)—The regulars of the Detroit American league team, including a few newcomers on the Tiger squad, traveled from their training camp at San Antonio today to defeat the San Antonio Texas league club decisively 13 to 3.

The score:

Detroit	212 121 103—13 17 1
San Antonio	100 000 110— 3 10 2

Teachout, Stoner, Van Gilder and Farrell, Shea; Robertson, Hinkle, Cox and Myers, Arzatti.

Taberski Beats Lauri

CHICAGO, March 14.—(AP)—Frank Taberski, of Schenectady, N. Y., advanced another step toward retaining his National pocket billiard title today by defeating Onofrio Lauri, New York state champion, 125 to 114 in 25 innings. It was Taberski's sixth straight victory and maintained his lead of one game over Ralph Greenleaf and Erwin Rudolph former National champions.

MANDELL SIGNS TO MEET M'LARNIN, MAY 17, AT 15 RDS.

NEW YORK, March 14—(AP)—The promotorial battle of Tex Rickard and Jim Mullen, for the right to stage a lightweight championship match between Sammy Mandell, the titleholder, and Jimmy McLarnin, Pacific coast sensation, ended today in a complete victory for the czar of Madison Square Garden.

While the flashlights of photographers boomed in Rickard's office and Mullen boomed threats of injunction suits in Chicago, the managers of both fighters signed a contract for a 15-round match on May 17 at the Polo Grounds here. The contract awarded Mandell 37 1-2 per cent of the gate receipts, McLarnin 12 1-2. Rickard believes the bout will draw about $200,000.

Inter-city dickering for the bout became heated following McLarnin's sensational one-round knockout of Sid Terris here several weeks ago. Mullen, who had Mandell's signature to a contract calling for a fight with McLarnin in Chicago, June 21, failed to tie the baby faced Irishman to an agreement before Rickard finally won the champion to his side when Mullen's constantly rising offers failed to lure McLarnin back to Chicago.

Eddie Kane, manager of Mandell, declared that he accepted Rickard's offer only when convinced that Mullen could not secure McLarnin's services. Mandell has a forfeit of $5,000 posted with the Illinois state athletic commission biding his June match for Mullen.

"Mandell will fight for Jim in June just as he agreed to," Kane said today. "But there is nothing in our contract with Mullen that prevents the champion fighting here in May. I had the choice of fighting McLarnin here for Rickard or losing the shot entirely, so I made the only decision I could."

After signing the contracts, Rickard snapped his desk shut for his third vacation of the winter season. He will leave tomorrow for a two weeks stay in Miami, Fla., where the scrambled condition of the heavyweight elimination tournament will come in for serious discussion with Gene Tunney, possessor of a $1,000,000 contract with Rickard for a title defense this year.

JIMMY QUINN BEATS JOE HUSSEY AT NEW HAVEN MEET

NEW HAVEN, March 14—(AP)—Jimmy Quinn's sensational win over Joe Hussey and Jackson Scholz, two of the leading short distance runners in the world, in the 40-yard dash, was the feature of the annual track meet of the New Haven fire department held at the Arena here tonight. The Holy Cross flash did his race in 4 3-5 seconds. Sabin Carr did 13 feet six inches in the pole vault.

The summaries:

NEWTON CONTINUES TO HOLD LEAD IN MANHATTAN

PEACH SPRINGS, Ariz., March 14.—(AP)—Arthur Newton, Rhodesia South Africa rambler, today won the eleventh lap of the Trans-Continental marathon, when he paced the 51.7 miles in 7 hours 50 minutes.

Winning today's lap of the race materially increased the 44 year old speedster's lead in elapsed time since the runners left Los Angeles on their trek to New York city. Total elapsed time since the start for Newton is 61 hours, 23 minutes. The distance covered to date is recorded as 397.4 miles.

Newton passed Nestor Erickson, Port Chester, New York, after the latter had held the lead for 45 miles. He passed the Finn when the latter stopped to change shoes. Newton also won yesterday's lap by pacing the 28.6 miles from Oatman to Kingman, in the lead of the field of runners.

Today's victory gave the sinewy runner from Rhodesia his sixth first place in the eleven legs of the jaunt run to date.

Giacomo Clarizio, Chicago, who was one of the leaders in elapsed time, was struck by a motorcycle when within 10 miles of his goal today and suffered a strained tendon which probably will prevent him from starting again. He was brought to the hospital here. Clarizio ranked eight in total time when today's stretch started.

MULLEN TO FILE SUIT HALTING MANDELL BOUT

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

Squash rackets is the favorite indoor game of the Prince of Wales.

Patrons of the ring say that pugilism is 2,000 years old. Theseus invented boxing.

Some of the electrically-controlled parimutuel betting machines, such as are used at the race tracks in Australia, cost as much as $10,000 each.

Some of the baseball-wise ones are already expressing the opinion that the Chicago Cubs will be the club to watch in the National league pennant race about to start.

In no other sport has Harvard rolled up such a fine record against Yale as in baseball, the Crimson nine's victories outnumbering those of the football and track teams and the crews.

Foxcroft academy of Dover-Foxcroft, Maine, claims the distinction of being the only secondary school in the east which broadcast its basketball games during the season just concluded.

The ancient Olympic games, which constituted the great national festival of Greece, were held once every four years, in July, at Olympia, in the Peleponnesus, over 200 miles from Athens.

The horses that run the fastest are those that can see best. Tests made with special instruments and powerful lights in an attempt to increase the speed of racehorses have shown that one horse out of every ten suffers from defective sight.

LLOYD HAHN MISSES MILE RECORD TRY

NEW YORK, March 14.—(AP)—Lloyd Hahn, crack Boston A. A. middle distance runner, failed tonight in his effort to break his own indoor record for the three quarters of a mile, covering the distance in 3 minutes, five seconds to win the "Jasper Three-Quarters," feature event of the Manhattan games at the 102nd Engineers armory.

Hahn's time was one and three fifths seconds back to the standard of 3:03 2-5, he set for the distance at the Manhattan games three years ago.

His opposition tonight came only from Johnny Theobold, of the New York A. C., who finished second, 60 yards back to the Boston A. A., star and Murray Goldfish, of the Millrose A. C., who trailed Theobold by only a few yards.

Hahn stopped at the tape, making no effort to continue on to the mile in a scheduled effort to break the indoor record for the mile of 4:12 held jointly by Joie Ray and Paavo Nurmi. The Boston flier ran tonight on an unbanked track and without the aid of spiked shoes.

Lermond Easily Wins

Giving away handicaps up to 200 yards, Leo Lermond, Boston A. A. distance star, ran a huge field into the boards in the two-mile handicap. Although not apparently exerting himself unduly, Lermond, nevertheless covered the distance in 9 minutes, 25 seconds, remarkably fast time under the conditions. Far to the rear of Lermond, came W. Schulze of New York Stock Exchange, handicapped at 125 yards, T. Thorenson, of the Norwegian Turn, given 150 yards, was third.

INTEREST MOUNTS FOR TITLE SERIES

The Academy quintet gets back hard at work today for its two stiff games of the week end, the Coast Guard Jayvee tilt Friday and the first game of the city title series with the C F. C. Saturday night. Both games will be played at the Y gym.

The Red and White has not had a successful season so far, but there still remains time for such an event to happen. There will be at least three remaining games and in winning these the schoolboys can bring their mark for the year up to a most respectable figure.

So far they have won 7 and lost 11. This record, however, is not far below that of many other schools in the state that have had basketball longer than two years. Crosby, Hartford High, New Britain, Stonington and others have done little better, although most of them do not show so.

The locals advanced several big steps last week in winning three games in as many nights. While the Plainfield victory was expected the other two were upsets with the latter one, over Crosby, was a complete surprise. Crosby's feat in beating Naugatuck on Tuesday night probably adds a bit more to the local's win here.

Coast Guards Strong.

The Coast Guards are rated above the ordinary high school team. They beat Chapman Tech Tuesday night and also have two decisions over Stonington in addition to that of a two-point margin over the Red and White early in the season. They will give plenty of trouble, there's no doubt about that, and the Academy, from the present outlook, will have to show all of her recent form to stretch her winning streak to four straight.

The C. F. C. game bids fair to be a complete sell-out for it seems to be the general talk about the city. The C. F. C. is drilling hard for their major tests of the year and should be at top form for the fray.

JURY GIVES PLAINTIFF $1780 IN COFFEE HOUSE CASE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., March 14—At 5.30 Wednesday afternoon the jury which has been hearing the $5,000 damage case, Anthony H. Bliss of Providence vs. Carrie J. Brucker of Westerly, in which suit was brought when the Coffee Shop premises at Kingston were taken over from lessee Bliss by the owner and let to other parties, returned a verdict for the plaintiff fo r$1780. The jury had retired at 2.10 p. m. after the attorneys' arguments and Judge Arthur P. Sumner's charge.

At 4.20 Judge Sumner sent for the jury could agree. He replied that he thought the jury could if some points of law could be cleared up as to what constituted an agreement, what proof was necessary and if it was necessary for both parties to an agreement to testify to its existence. These were answered by the judge and the foreman agreed to leave the courtroom again with the jury, remarking "We'd like to talk it over again, anyway."

With the departure of the Bliss-Brucker jury a contested divorce case was started. Clara L. Morris vs. Henry B. Morris. Mrs. Clara L. Mitchell Morris, of Weekapaug, testified to abuse and threats of bodily harm carried out by her husband H. B. Morris, who went away last October. Her suit asked for custody of her three sons, 16, 14 and 2.

NOANK

IS THE 13TH UNLUCKY? ASK CAPT. ALLEN DEVINE

Capt. Allen Devine, of Boat Diamond, Tuesday morning left the packing house dock for the fishing ground. Reaching there he started to put his net overboard and for two hours he dragged along with the rest of the fleet. Then taking the net on board to learn his luck found only one fish in the net. Capt. Jack Stone told him his net was upside down and that was why the fish did not get caught. He said: "It must be the 13th is my unlucky day!"

Then it got time to eat dinner, but he found no dinner pail in sight. Thinking for a few minutes he realized that he left it on the dock. More hard luck! So starting back to the packing house dock with no luck for the day, half way home his engine stopped and wondering what was the matter now he found there was no gas in the tank! So the Diamond had to be towed in by the boat Scott.

Noank's song bird, George White went to Hartford Tuesday evening and was the guest of Station WTIC. A ballad was given by Noank's song bird. It was June Brought the Roses and his voice was clear as a bell. The fans said: "That is George White of the fishing village!" He sang several other songs. This is his fourth time to sing over the radio from different stations. The local songbird got his start in singing while working on the section gang of the railroad. One day near the station as 40 people were waiting for a train to Boston they heard him sing and gave him a big hand. Lester McBride of Providence got the songbird's name and wrote it down and asked him to come down to Providence and sing over the radio. This Mr. White did and made a big hit for his first time on the air. He also went to New York and to different lodges where entertainments were given. He has been singing for 18 months and smoe day the goal that the song bird wants to reach is singing on the stage, going all over the country. The people of the village hope he will make it.

Parker Wilde of Spring Hill is spending a few days in the village.

Albany Cunnery spent the day with friends in Essex.

When news of the death of Nicholas Nelson reached the village it was a shock to the fishermen who knew him. He was in the lighthouse service for 31 years and spent nine years as captain of the lightship, at Rain Island, near Fishers Island. Capt. Nelson owned a house on Prospect hill for many years, later moving to New London. A crowd of local fishermen attended the funeral in that city Wednesday.

Austin Lamb of Ledyard has been a business caller in Noank.

Capt. Patterson of Norwood, R. I., is spending a few days in the village.

George Marks has resigned as carpenter with Eugene McDonald.

Peter Deveau has returned to Fishers Island after a short visit with his family.

The East Main street school pupils are interested in drawing posters in the eighth grades under the direction subject for the pictures must be original and each poster must have a slogan. The Noank school took two prizes last year first and second. Alber Thompson is art instructor of the school.

Mrs. Howard Durfee has returned after a visit in Hartford.

Philip Steele attended a dance in Hope Valley on Tuesday evening making the trip by auto.

William Crowell has gone to Saybrook to visit his uncle, Jack Tiger, for a few days.

Mrs. Wallace Brown spent Tuesday in Westerly.

POETRY

Coming

I hear the wild geese honking
From out the misty night—
A sound of moving armies
On-sweeping in their might;
The river ice is drifting
Beneath their northward flight.

I hear the bluebird plaintive
From out the morning sky,
Or see his wings a-twinkle
That with the azure vie;
No other bird more welcome,
No more prophetic cry.

I hear the sparrow's ditty
Anear my study door;
A simple song of gladness
That winter days are o'er;
My heart is singing with him,
I love him more and more.

I hear the starling fluting
His liquid "O-ka-lee";
I hear the downy drumming
His vernal reveille;
From out the maple orchard
The nuthatch calls to me.

O spring is surely coming,
Her couriers fill the air;
Each morn are new arrivals,
Each night her ways prepare;
I scent her fragrant garments,
Her foot is on the stair.

—By John Burroughs.

Snow Melting

Warm rain does it, and next day
Almost all the snow's away.
Ground's quite soggy, roads a mess,
The landscape less of loveliness
Than lonely, withered, drabbled earth,
Waiting for the kiss of mirth.
The smile that through the sordid gloom
Brings the miracle of bloom.

Entrance to the wood—and here
The ruts are mire, or very near;
The moss will never hold you up,
Each tree bole is a drinking cup,
Holding its measure of the drink
That makes a very fair wink—
For in this melted snow, you see,
Nature dissolves in mystery.

Under the pines that last white fold
Of stainless beauty gasps and goes!
Warm rain, then sun—and naught can hold
The revelation of the snows;
Only a sogging, weeping land,
A road all rutted deep with mud;
A forest with a mist in hand—
And spring's warm promise in the blood.

—Baltimore Sun.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Arnold—Oscar is pretty mean, isn't he?

Hoyle—That lad is so mean he'd hide his grandmother's lipstick!—Detroit News.

His Wife—You always act like a fool.

Mr. Meek—Well, my dear, I always follow your advice.—Boston Transcript.

Missionary (a captive)—"May I ask what course you intend to take with me?"

Cannibal Chief—"The regular one. You follow the fish."—Capper's Weekly.

Aged Criminal (after receiving a sentence of ten years)—Oh, yer honor, I shall never live to do it.

Judge (soothingly)—Never mind. Do as much as you can.—Montreal Star.

Mrs. Meechum—"A man isn't always just as good as he thinks he is, John."

Mr. Meechum—"No, nor just as bad as his wife thinks he is, Jane."—New Bedford Standard.

"Do you believe in the use of money in elections?"

"No," said Senator Sorghum. "It's immoral. And what's more, the rules of the game appear to have changed so that nobody can get away with it."—Washington Star.

"How is business?" inquired a recently arrived guest.

"On the dad-burned bum, but don't say anything about it!" replied the landlord of the tavern at Tywopplty. "It's the truth, though, that the clock is the only thing that has stopped here so far this week."—Kansas City Star.

A cub reporter, frequently reprimanded for prolixity and warned to be brief, turned in the following:

"A shocking affair occurred last night. Sir Edward Hopeless, a guest at Lady Panmore's ball, complained of feeling ill, took his hat, his coat, his departure, no notice of his friends, a taxi, a pistol from his pocket and finally his life. Nice chap. Regrets and all that."—Pure Oil News.

KALEIDOSCOPE

Orchard mice are reported seriously troublesome in Washington state.

Gorillas are less imitative than chimpanzees, recent experiments show.

The beaver's flat tail serves as a rudder and as a propeller when swimming.

Fossil bees have been found in rocks several million years old in Germany, and many have been found buried in amber.

There are only two complete fonts of type of Egyptian hieroglyphics in existence, one at Oxford university and one at the University of Chicago.

There seems to be little danger of a food shortage in this country in the next seventy-five years, a government statistician and food expert says.

David Pullman, sixty-eight years old, of Belfast, Me., is taking daily dips in the icy waters of Belfast bay. He was able to stay in the water for twenty minutes a few days ago.

So great was the grief of Dante Gabriel Rosetti at the death of his wife that he buried all of his poems, none of which had been published, in the coffin. They were rescued by Charles Augustus Howell seven years later.

American motor cars twice within a month broke the record time for the 966-mile run from Cape Town to Johannesburg. The second reduced the record by 2 hours and 34 minutes, making the run in nearly seven hours less than the fastest express train and averaging about forty-three miles an hour.

Whether it would be proper to list bootlegging as an occupation in the Galesburg (Ill.) city directory is what is puzzling James Barrett, publisher of the directory. When he approached a man in soliciting his address and occupation for the book, the man replied: "Put me down as a bootlegger." When Barrett demurred, the man insisted: "That's my business—put it in," he said.

When social workers at the Kansas bureau of child research set out to make some individual growth studies of Indian children they found the little brown-skinned Americans so much heavier than the white children of the same age that the ordinary height-weight-age tables did not "fit" them at all. Through the courtesy of H. B. Peairs, formerly superintendent of Haskell institute, a federal Indian school at Lawrence, Kas., data and measurements were obtained on 21,637 Indian girls and boys from government Indian schools throughout the country, from which a new set of tables was constructed. Contrary to what one would expect, the Indian children were found to be shorter as well as heavier than their white brothers and sisters. The Indian boys ran from one to four inches shorter and from one to six and a half pounds heavier than white boys, while the Indian girls were from one to two inches shorter and from one and a half to four and a half pounds heavier than their white contemporaries.

Pioneer

Hudson has pioneered many of the great advancements which make American motor cars the greatest dollar value of any commodity in the world.

It introduced and popularized such body types as the Sedan, Town Car, Speedster and Cabriolet.

It invented the Coach, which turned the entire industry to closed cars.

It invented the exclusive Super-Six principle which is still the industry's ideal of motor smoothness.

It developed the companion invention to the Super-Six principle which turns waste heat to power. Together they combine the highest known efficiency in power generation and power transmission.

Hudson, too, invented the patented spring suspension, which makes these cars the easiest riding in the world.

Hudson's leadership of mode is but another expression of the value that has been the first principle of Hudson manufacture since the beginning.

The resources, which in a moderate-priced car attained the highest mechanical possibilities of the day, have been brilliantly employed to create and lead a new vogue in beauty, comfort and luxurious appointment.

The wealth of quality detail you see, feel and touch—and every refinement that surrounds you—is typical and expressive of the quality that Hudson gives where character must guarantee the unseen values.

MARKET SAGGED AT CLOSE UNDER THE WEIGHT OF PROFIT-TAKING SALES

NEW YORK, March 14—(AP)—Wild speculation for the advance was resumed in a number of specialties in today's market, but the general list sagged under the weight of heavy profit-taking sales. Extreme gains in some of the pool favorites ranged from 5 to 17 1-2 points, but these were materially cut down in the late selling movement. Trading failed to maintain the dizzy pace set earlier in the week, the day's sales aggregating 3,185,000 shares, compared with yesterday's record-breaking total of 3,913,400 shares.

Investigation of the alleged "technical corner" in Radio had a sobering influence on that stock, which opened eight points lower at 135, rallied to 152 1-2 and closed at 150, up four points net. American Linseed was the outstanding feature in today's session, soaring 17 1-2 points to a new high record at 111 3-4 and then slipping back to 107. The day's transactions in this one issue totaled nearly 100,000 shares, or more than half of the outstanding capitalization of 167,500 shares. The run-up was at the expense of an over-crowded short interest.

"Bear" traders also were hard pressed in such issues as American Zinc common and preferred, Houston Oil, Timken Roller Bearing, and Vanadium Steel, all of which closed with net gains of five points or more. Short-covering also stimulated the advances in International Nickel, International Match preferred and Hudson, the last-named touching a new high level since 1926, at 98, and then easing up to 95 1-2, up three points net.

Unconfirmed reports that some of the large banks disapproved the recent market pyrotechnics, and made their views known to several of the large pool operators, were circulated in Wall street during the day, and undoubtedly stimulated the late selling movement. Rails, which have not participated extensively in the recent up-swing, attracted a good sized following, with some handsome gains in the stocks of carriers involved in the eastern trunk line consolidation scheme.

Call money was in plentiful supply all day at the renewal figure of 4 1-2 per cent despite the heavy demand for funds in connection with dividend, interest and income tax payments tomorrow. There was no change in other monetary accommodations.

Steel trade reviews were not quite as optimistic as heretofore, the Iron Age stating that the steel market has lost some of its momentum, while the Iron Trade Review reported that "symptoms characteristic of the peak of an up-swing are more evident." Resumption of dividends on Atlantic Gulf & West Indies Steamship preferred apparently had been well discounted as the stock broke six points and rallied 1 1-2 on the announcement.

Motor shares showed a revival of activity and strength on the announcement of an increase in the price of some of the Studebaker models. General Motors shook off its sluggishness and closed 1 3-4 points net higher at 157 1-4 after having touched 159, or two points below last week's record-breaking high.

Wabash, with an extreme gain of nearly six points, all but a fraction of which was maintained, was leader in the railroad group, touching a new 1928 peak at 70 3-4. The St. Paul issues and Texas & Pacific also reached new high ground and Delaware & Hudson retained two-thirds of an early gain of six points.

Return of the Canadian dollar to parity, after selling at a slight discount, and a sharp break in Portuguese escudos to below four cents, the lowest rate in recent years, divided speculative interest in the foreign exchange market. Sterling cables held steady around $4.87 7-8, but most of the continental rates were slightly easier.

Commodity markets were mixed with no changes of importance. Wheat closed unchanged to a fraction of a cent a bushel lower and active cotton futures closed around yesterday's final quotations. Coffee reacted 11 to 20 points.

JAIL AND MAXIMUM FINE GIVEN CARL L. MILLS BY NEW LONDON JUDGE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, March 14—Carl Lee Mills, United States Coast Guard, state rater, was in the police court today on a charge of lascivious carriage and driving an automobile without having a license. With him was presented his companion of the night before, Ruth O'Donnel, 16, of 242 Williams street, who was charged with lascivious carriage. Mills was heavily penalized, the sentence of the court being one of the most severe meted out to a prisoner on like or similar charges in years; for Mills was fined $100 and costs on the first charge and sentenced to six months in jail, while on the second charge a fine of $10 and costs was given. Judge Victor Prince stated that he only wished the statute provided a more severe penalty and if such were the case, that penalty would be imposed. Mills had a bank book among his effects, which showed that he had about $140 on deposit in a savings bank here and the money was withdrawn that he could pay the fine and costs, which totalled $136. Immediately following the adjournment of court, Mills was dishonorably discharged from the federal service. The case of the girl was continued to tomorrow.

Mills was arrested in February charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor and was fined $100 and costs, at which time his license was suspended. Mills and the girl were arrested at 2 o'clock this morning by Patrolman Lawrence Fardy. The officer had noticed a closed automobile motionless on Mohegan avenue, near Connecticut College for Women and decided to investigate. Going to where the auto was parked the officer observed that it was occupied and pulling his flashlight, what he saw warranted him in making the arrests and preferring the charges he did against the pair.

Mills, although only an ordinary seaman, had been able to make numerous deposits in the bank for his bank book showed deposits made in three days that aggregated several hundreds of dollars. How he obtained the money it is not known, unless it was by gambling and four sets of dice were included among Mills' effects. Before Mills was taken to the county jail he was photographed and fingerprinted.

Charges of conduct unbecoming an officer have been made against Patrolman George McCaskey by Samuel Polinsky, employed by the New London News company, on Bank street. The charges were made in writing today and handed to Captain of Police Charles A. Pinney, who in turn delivered them to City Manager William A. Holt. No date for a hearing of the charges has been made, but it is expected that one will be announced tomorrow or Friday with the probability that the hearing will take place Friday or Saturday. Polinsky claims that he was attacked and struck a vicious blow by the officer on State street yesterday. McCaskey admits striking Polinsky, but asserts that he did so only after he was provoked to do so and when Polinsky made a move as though he intended to strike the officer. McCaskey in a statement, said that he went to the post box, corner of State and Bank streets and was in conversation with Traffic Officer William Corcoran when Polinsky came up to the officer and said, "Have you got a match?" McCaskey said that Polinsky had made the same query on numerous occasions and more particularly when the officer was in conversation with acquaintances, and Tuesday when Polinsky referred to the match question McCaskey decided to inquire the reason for Polinsky's remark. When McCaskey did so, he claims, Polinsky instead of answering him, turned to Traffic Officer Corcoran and said, "What do you think of a fellow who will go to your lady friend's house at 11:30 o'clock at night and ask her for a match?" McCaskey denied the allegation and informed Polinsky to that effect in strong language, which act brought about additional harsh words. McCaskey ordered Polinsky to move on with threat of arrest and, according to McCaskey, Polinsky defied him to make the arrest. McCaskey started to arrest Polinsky and as they stepped from the curb McCaskey says that Polinsky made a movement which indicated that he was about to strike the officer. Then McCaskey delivered a blow to Polinsky's head that felled the latter. Traffic Officer Corcoran stepped between his fellow-officer and Polinsky and prevented further hostilities. Polinsky went to police headquarters, although he did not prefer charges, but did so today. McCaskey denies any knowledge of the matter of his alleged going to the house of Polinsky's friend and says that he does not even know her identity. Traffic Officer Corcoran has made a signed statement in which he corroborates fully the statement of McCaskey as to what occurred between the latter and Polinsky.

Two cases of intoxication were heard in the city court today. One old offender was sent to jail for 30 days. He was found drunk at Williams Memorial park yesterday. The other was given a suspension of judgment.

NEW LONDON, March 14.—Daisy Clark and Florence K. Crandall have leased the building, 233 Bank street to Joseph Santangelo for a term of five years and at an annual rental of $1,200, rental to be paid in equal monthly installments of $100. It is stipulated that in the event of the trans-oceanic line making this port its terminus the rental will be $1,500 and that the increased rent will become due on the first day of the month following the arrival of the first liner here.

WATERFORD BOY KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY TRUCK

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, March 14.—Frederick Carlson, eight year old boy of Logger Hill, Waterford, was instantly killed last night when struck by a truck on the Niantic road near Jordan Village. The accident occurred at about 6.30 as young Carlson was walking on the left side of the road. According to report the truck was being driven by Mrs. Thomas Wood of Camp View farm, Durfee hill, Waterford. Mrs. Wood had no opportunity of evading the lad and the truck struck him with such force that the body was hurled many feet before the driver had stopped and rushed over to where he was lying he was dead.

Medical Examiner Dr. Ross E. Black was summoned and he declared, after viewing the body, that death was probably instantaneous. The skull was crushed in and the boy was injured internally. Mrs. Wood was placed under arrest by state police on a charge of reckless driving. She was presented before Judge F. N. Dimock, of Waterford, and after a short hearing was released on $1000 bonds, which were furnished by her husband. Carlson was extremely popular in his neighborhood and his death causes great regret. The accident occurred as the lad was returning from Jordan, where he had done several errands and made some purchases for his mother. Because of the fatality the Men's Brotherhood of Jordan Baptist church postponed an entertainment that was scheduled for the church last night, also one that was to take place Friday evening.

A surprise shower was given Miss Marjorie Peabody, who is soon to be married, at the new home of Mrs. Burton T. Gates. The party was arranged by Queen Esther circle of the Methodist Episcopal church. The table decorations were suggestive of St. Patrick's day. Gifts for Miss Peabody were brought in on a wagon attractively decorated in green.

The condition of Thomas Dombrowski, 3, of 30 Potter street, who was struck by an automobile driven by Leslie Hewitt, 79 Phillips street, on Main street, Monday night, remains unchanged at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, although today it was said that the boy had displayed a very slight improvement. He is still on the danger list.

City Manager William A. Holt has started an investigation of the reports reaching him of Street Sergeant Patrick Murphy engaging in a street fight while off duty last Thursday night. Today City Manager Holt had Captain of Police Charles A. Pinney, who provided the former with a physician's report of Murphy's condition and the nature of the malady that has kept the street sergeant confined at his home since the night of the fight is alleged to have occurred, go to the municipal building for questioning. The report stated that City Physician George P. Cheney, who examined Murphy had reported that Murphy was suffering from bronchitis, had a high fever and was confined to the bed. It also said that Murphy was being attended by a physician. City Physician Cheney was also summoned to the city manager's office this morning. Whether Murphy will be tried on charges is not known.

Charles Rorke, of 207 Bank street; Mrs. James Barrett and infant son, Groton; Robert Olsen, 184 Garden avenue; Mrs. Donald Bliven and infant son, Groton; Miss Mary Murphy, 281 Crystal avenue; Kenneth Jackson Quaker Hill; Timothy Foley, 270 Huntington street; Miss Dorothy Reed, Carl Zimerla, United States Coast Guard and Mrs. Carlisle House, 140 Main street, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Mrs. Nellie E. DeWolf, about 70, widow of a former passenger conductor on the New Haven railroad, died last night at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Maurice D. Wilson, 20 Squire street, after an illness of five weeks. Besides her daughter, Mrs. DeWolf is survived by three sons, Earl, Edward and Frank DeWolf and a daughter, Miss Florence DeWolf. Mrs. DeWolf was born in Niantic, but had resided in New London many years.

William Groves, 21, United States Coast Guard cadet, died last night at Lawrence-Memorial hospital where he had been a patient but a few days. His home was in North Carolina. No arrangements have been made for the funeral for the military authorities are awaiting advices from the young man's parents.

Funeral services for Capt. James W. Buddington, of Groton, who died at Sailors' Snug Harbor, Staten Island, N. Y., Sunday, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of Mr. Buddington's son, Walter A. Buddington, 130 Monument street, Groton. The funeral was attended by a large gathering of mourners. The services were conducted by Rev. George R. Athi, pastor of Groton Heights Baptist church. The bearers were Charles Kessler, William Harris, William Chambers, Edward Weeks, Latham Avery and Henry Marquardt. Burial was in Groton cemetery.

The funeral of Nicholas Nelson was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at his residence, 59 Raymond street, the services being conducted by Rev. Chester H. Howe, pastor of the First Baptist church. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

Ellen M. Davidson has sold a building lot on Vauxhall street to Robert Tetreault.

A reunion of campers and councilors of the Y. W. C. A. summer camp is to be held at the local Y Saturday, March 24. The meeting will open at 11 a. m. and will last until 5 o'clock. Miss Gladys Taber, secretary of the association reports that during the month there have been 29 applicants for positions as house workers while 74 requests for workers of this kind were sent to the office. This is unusual, as ordinarily there are more applications for work than positions waiting to be filled.

An all-day meeting of Beatrice Mansfield Sunshine society was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Edward L. Raub of Ocean avenue. Twenty-nine members were present and devoted the entire day to the cutting out of paper dolls for the pleasure of sick children of the city. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Carrie Leeds of Montauk avenue.

A twenty-table whist party was held last night in Herwegh hall by Aerie No. 594, Fraternal Order of Eagles. Several attractive prizes were given.

NEVILLE AND LEIKIEWICZ HAD NORWICH HOME-BREW

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, March 14—Joseph E. Neville of Yantic and Sigamund Leikiewicz, 402 Central avenue, Norwich, were arrested in New London tonight, charged with violation of the liquor law. They were apprehended by Prohibition Officers Harry Avery and Stanton L. Briggs, and Acting Sergeant William Graham and Patrolman George Perkins, the specific charge being transporting. Both are being held at police headquarters, pending their obtaining surety on their bonds of $1,000 each. They will be in the police court tomorrow morning.

The prohibition officers received a tip this afternoon that Neville and Leikiewicz were to make a delivery of liquor in this city and they came here for the purpose of detecting them if the report proved correct. They obtained the services of the New London officers and a watch was maintained on North Bank street, where it was understood that the liquor, of the home-made brand, was to be delivered. After a long wait, Neville and Leikiewicz put in an appearance and when they were held up, they had already made a partial delivery and were in the act of making a completion of their mission when confronted by the officers, and a small quantity of liquor was found in their possession, the liquor being in hot water bottles. At the same time the officers were searching Neville and Leikiewicz, Paul Bychkowsky, 247 Huntington street, appeared, and when he espied the officers he hastily retreated to the rear of the former Soltz block, where he hid himself beneath a porch and peered from there to watch the work of the officers. His act was observed and the officers took him into custody. Water bottles of the liquor were also found on him. When questioned as to whether he had additional liquor, Bychkowsky said that he had plenty and unhesitatingly informed them that it was at his home. The officers went to his house and there found a still of five gallons, and a quantity of home-made whiskey and alcohol, which was seized. Bychkowsky was liberated when he obtained a surety on his bond of $1,000.

Bychkowsky intends to combat the charge in the police court tomorrow. He has retained counsel, who assured him that the officers did not have legal right to take the steps that they did take to procure a seizure and make an arrest and so informed those present at police headquarters.

A farewell party was given Miss Viola Federici at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Federici, of 33 Walbach street, last night. Miss Federici and her mother will leave March 17 for Italy, to visit for a few months. Many attractive gifts were presented Miss Federici. Games were played, after which refreshments were served.

Mrs. John W. Robbins, 29 Tilley street, caused the arrest of her husband tonight on a charge of breach of the peace. He was liberated after he furnished a surety on his bond of $300 and will be presented in the police court tomorrow morning. Several days ago, Mrs. Robbins complained to the police because of a row at her residence and officers who went there arrested Emmett Flanagan, United States coast guard, on the same charge. The following day when Flanagan was presented in the police court, Mrs. Robbins did not appear to press the charge, but did arrive there after court had adjourned. At that time she stated that she did not care to press the charge against Flanagan, but said that she did desire that her husband be arrested. After ascertaining the facts in the case, Prosecuting Attorney Daniel M. Cronin issued a warrant and tonight Detective Sergeant John Cavanaugh arrested Robbins.

Misses Elizabeth, Eleanor and Helene MacDonald of 33 Lee avenue entertained a party of ten members of the Glee club of the University of Notre Dame at their home this week. The young men, who are making a concert tour of New England, are classmates of Wallace A. MacDonald, brother of the Misses MacDonald, who is a senior at Notre Dame. At midnight supper was served by the mother of the hostesses.

GEO. WILCZEK, NORWICH, DROVE CAR WITHOUT LICENSE

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, March 14—Deputy Sheriff Dolan arrested, tonight, George Wilczek, 19, of 309 Asylum street, Norwich. He will appear before Grand Juror George Helmboldt Thursday night. He is charged with operating a motor vehicle without a license. He was driving a Willys-Knight touring car owned by Peter Bohara of Star street, Norwich, and was going toward Moosup. Near Tunnel Hill, Lisbon, the machine was sideswiped by an American Felting & Batting Co. truck, driven by Samuel Izrelli, of 225 Broad street, Norwich. The touring car was badly smashed from front to rear, on the left side.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Strand Theatre

"We Moderns" is the British expression of pseudo-sophisticated youth—a trifle more cynical and serious in their attempts at irresponsibility than our American youths. Colleen Moore, as enchanting as ever, is cast in the leading role, and with the aid of Jack Mulhall renders a perfect characterization of modern reckless youth. The plot has to do with Mary Sundale's association with the Blue Bohemians, an ultra-modern set that ridicules anything old-fashioned. You'll find "We Moderns" just about the best thing Colleen Moore has played so far, so be sure to see it at the Strand tonight or tomorrow night. "He Who Laughs Last" is a stirring drama starring Kenneth McDonald, supported by an all-star cast including David Torrence, Geno Corrado, Margaret Cloud and Harry Northrup. There are plenty of highlights to this interesting story, and a happy romantic ending, with the lovers united and the crooks in jail.

"Aesop's Fables" add a touch of humor to this splendid double feature bill which is being shown tonight and Thursday night.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Hudson Super-Six.

Announcement is made by the Hudson Motor Car Co. that it has been granted patent rights on the "F-Head" high compression motor which has been used in all Hudson Super-Six cars since early last summer. The patent—No. 1,656,651, relating to internal combustion engines—covers the entire arrangement of valves, spark plugs and combustion chamber.

A Hudson engineering executive says the patent design is important because it permits high compression benefits in a large motor like the Hudson Super-Six. High compression, it was said proved a far more difficult problem with large motors than with those of smaller dimensions. The task has been accomplished in motors specifically designed for anti-knock gasolines, but the Hudson design is intended for any standard or even sub-standard fuel.

With the new patented design Hudson motors now are built with a compression ratio of nearly 6 to 1—or 20 per cent. above the average—with correspondingly high standards of acceleration, fuel economy and power. The company engineers say that it is practically impossible to make the motor knock under even the most adverse operating conditions. The motor is described as the liveliest, most powerful and economical Hudson has ever built.

In the patented F-Head design, the intake valve is located in the head of the motor and the exhaust valve at the side. In a way, the motor is valve-in-head as to intake the L-Head design as to exhaust. The intake valve opens to admit fuel in a location just above the exhaust valve. Hence, it is stated, the incoming fuel is drawn directly over the exhaust valve—with a dual effect. First, all "wet" particles of fuel are subjected to the heat of the exhaust valve and chamber, which tends to vaporize them and make them fit to clean and speedy combustion. Secondly, the exhaust valve is subjected to enough of this cooling action so that it never becomes excessively overheated.

Very hot exhaust valves have long been recognized as one of the chief causes of pre-ignition—or knocking—in high compression motors. Hudson engineers have succeeded at once in moderating the valve temperature and at the same time making it serve the purpose of a "hot" spot. The fuel charge enters the motor so easily and exhausts so cleanly that only moderate-size valves are used.

Another important feature of the patented arrangement is the location of the spark plug. This is at the extreme side of the combustion chamber. The effect of this is that the first intense explosion of the fuel charge is confined to the small space around the valves. By the time the combustion has extended into the cylinder proper, the action is a pushing instead of an explosive one. This results in especially smooth operation.

The new patent—which was obtained after several months' study by the U. S. patent office—covers all these and other arrangements, "each in relation to and in combination with all others."

The compression ratio made possible—about 6 to 1—is practically the same as that used in the smaller Essex motor, where an L-Head design has been found quite satisfactory.

Breed Theatre

In "Breakfast at Sunrise," showing at the Breed theatre today for the last times, Constance Talmadge does one of the most entertaining impersonations of her entire career as a Parisian belle who embarks on a strange matrimonial venture. Opposite her in the case are Don Alvarado, Bryant Washburn, Paulette Duval, Alice White, Marie Dressler, Burr McIntosh, David Mir, Albert Gran and Nellie Bly Baker.

Johnny Hines will close this splendid bill in his latest First National Picture, "Home Made," produced under the personal supervision of C. C. Burr and directed by Charles Hines. The picture is adapted from the story of the same name by C. B. Carrington.

A splendid cast of players and comedians appears in support of Johnny Hines with Margery Daw in the leading feminine role. Others figuring prominently are Edmund Breese, De Witt Jennings, Charles Gerard, Margaret Sedon and Maud Turner Gordon.

Fox Films great mystery production, "The Wizard," featuring Edmund Lowe, will come to the Breed theater tomorrow. This story, based upon the great French play by Gaston Leroux, is said to be something new in the way of screen entertainment. Richard Rosson, who directed the picture, has surrounded the leading romantic actors with an excellent cast. Leila Hyams has the feminine lead.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Strand Theater.

In a high silk hat, an evening gown of exquisite sheerness and a Zeppelin de luxe, little Colleen Moore is back again in our midst to demonstrate her latest theory of evolution in the younger generation. The picture is called "We Modern." The screen has never seen greater daring, or more brazen effrontery than that exhibited by the Blue Bohemians, wildest set of convention smashers ever to infest a civilized community. Jack Mulhall is the leading man and portrays the serious-minded lover whom Colleen scoffs at, but to whom she turns after she senses the real danger beyond the border line of conventionality. "He Who Laughs Last" is a modern drama and has a mystery plot which is carried out to perfection by an all star cast of players. Kenneth McDonald is the leading man and is supported by Geno Corrado, David Torrence, Margaret Cloud and Harry Northrup. The story ends happily and the lovers are reunited and the crooks land in jail. To enjoy an exceptionally good story and splendid acting, we suggest your seeing this picture, at the Strand tonight. "Aesop's Fables" completes this banner bill.

Be sure to see "The Duncan Sisters" in "Topsy and Eva" on Friday and Saturday at the Strand.

Connecticut College Concert.

That Heifetz who will play in New London, March 23, is one of the greatest violinists the world has ever produced is universally known. To mention his name in any mixed company of people will enlist interest at once. Every one present will know what he does and how well he does it.

Palace Theater.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday the Palace theater will present a Mid-winter Carnival which consists of six smashing stage attractions and a picture taken from Zane Grey's latest novel "Under the Tonto Rim."

This undoubtedly is the biggest attraction of its knd ever put on at the Palace and is one that will surely satisfy the most exacting patrons.

There are two big headlines, "The Garden of Roses," a delightful fantasy featuring Rosemary Deering, Gerald Fowler, Billy Marshall and the four rosebuds in one of the most artistic and beautifully staged acts ever seen in Norwich. The costumes are all specially designed, the scenery is wonderful and the dancing of Miss Deering is almost without comparison.

Ruth Vollmer and her Band present a revue that is full of pep and jazz. Miss Collmer has assembled an exceptionally fine band which has been a decided hit in all the large cities.

Lester Bernard and Company appear in a laughable skit. Mr. Bernard is a screen actor of note and all movie fans will enjoy seeing him here in person.

Kramer and Cross present a knockout comedy act and Ada Duncher entertains with up to date songs. Then comes the big surprise when all five acts combine into one gigantic afterpiece that is sure to take the house by storm.

"Under the Tonto Rim," the picturization of Zane Grey's latest thrilling novel, out rides, out fights, out romances any of his past successes.

It a thrill-swept love story of the days before Arizona became a state, with a wonderful cast of youthful players headed by Mary Brian and Richard Adlen.

NORWICH TOWN

"The Fruits of Religion," the main theme in the Fellowship of Prayer, during the Lenten season, will be continued in the series of special topics, this (Thursday) evening in the Congregational chapel. For this week the topic will be "Religion and the Joyous Life."

The Work department of the League of Service of the First Congregational church, Mrs. Herbert L. Yerrington, chairman, has planned a meeting for Friday afternoon in the chapel. Some of the members will be at the chapel that morning to make preliminary arrangements for two quilts to be tied in the afternoon.

At the Sacred Heart church, Friday evening at 7:30, Lenten devotions will consist of Stations of the Cross and Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament. At this church Sunday, March 18, a one week's mission will be opened by Rev. Father Seraphin, a Franciscan Mission father. The order of exercises for the week, is to be announced at both masses Sunday morning.

At Jewett City Baptist church Sunday evening, Mrs. Davis playing his accompaniment, Theodore Sterry of Norwich Town played Mischa Elman's "Canto Amoroso," on the violin, during the evening hour of worship. Wednesday evening, Mr. Sterry attended the basketball game in Plainfield, playing in the orchestra for the dancing that followed.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Peck of Otrobando avenue entertained at dinner, Wednesday, Mr. Peck's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Cross, of Moodus.

Attend Methodist church Friday, 7.30 p. m. Mrs. W. E. Manning, reader. Special music and other features, 25c.—adv.

BUILDING ON GAIN IN CONNECTICUT TOWNS

Building permits issued by Connecticut towns and cities during the month of February showed a marked rise in volume as compared with the state's building totals of February 1927, according to figures compiled by the committee on industrial development of the New Haven railroad. Thirteen of the 22 communities reported upon by the railroad's committee showed gains of varying proportions.

The cities and towns making the most substantial increases in building permits were Greenwich, Meriden, New Haven, Norwalk, Stamford and West Haven.

New Haven led the state in the value of permits issued during February with a total of $627,310, Hartford was second with permits valued at $573,107, while Stamford with a total of $462,050 topped Greenwich and West Hartford, both of which were over the $400,000 mark.

In Norwich the building totals for 1928 was $24,560, for 1927 $29,544. In New London it was $92,000 in 1928 and a thousand dollars more in 1927. In Willimantic there was a big gain from 1927 when the figure was $1,245 to 1928 when the figure was $6,040.

NEW YORK, March 14—(AP)—Women hold 21 per cent of the 53,264 shares of 8 per cent preferred stock of G. R. Kinney Co., Inc., and comprise 32 per cent of the 1,280 stockholders of this issue.

Studebaker corporation has advanced prices $15 to $25 on various models.

Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern, expects earnings for several months to continue ahead of last year. February gross was $7,500,000 against $6,502,000 a year ago, and net operating income $1,000,000 against $572,580. March loadings were running 12 per cent ahead of a year ago. An increase in miscellaneous loadings was an encouraging feature, he said.

Stockholders of Isaac Silver & Bros. Co., operating a chain of 22 five cent to $1 stores, will vote March 28 on a proposed issue of $3,000,000 of new preferred stock and an increase in common to 135,334 shares from 113,334.

Indications of a slightly firmer tendency in prices of cast iron pipe are reported in that industry. One seller has announced $31 a ton, Birmingham, for six-inch and over, but the trade doubts whether such a high quotation can be held on actual business.

The statement of Standard Oil Co. of Kansas at the close of 1927 shows a profit and loss deficit of $190,820 in contrast to surplus of $636,937 the year before.

Retail sales by General Motors dealers in February rose to 135,029 cars, from 107,278 in January and 102,025 in February last year. Gains by virtually all car divisions contributed to the result, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president, reported. The month's sales to dealers were 169,232 cars compared with 124,426 a year ago.

Negotiations for a combination of F. A. Ferris & Co. and Otto Stahl, Inc., two of the largest meat packing firms in the east, are nearing completion. The merged business will be continued under direction of the Stahl organization.

General business is improving; activity in the fundamental industries is increasing and credit conditions continue to be favorable, in the opinion of Leonard P. Ayres, vice-president, Cleveland Trust Co. There is clear evidence of this, he says, despite a good deal of unemployment. He finds that the foremost fundamental of American prosperity is the condition of ease and availability of credit accommodations. Three other basal factors are conditions in building construction, iron and steel, and automobiles, in all of which activity has increased notably since the year began and is now at, or close to, record-breaking figures.

THREE CRIMINAL CLASSES IN MOTOR LAW VIOLATORS

There are at least three types of motor vehicle law violators who should be classed and prosecuted as criminals says Commissioner Robbins B. Stoeckel in discussing the "Automobile Criminal" in the March bulletin of the state motor vehicle department. The offenders he considers deserving of this treatment are drunken operators, evaders of responsibility, and reckless drivers. Especially does he hold that "the most blameworthy of all motor vehicle crimes is that of operating while under the influence of intoxicating liquor."

To raise the punishment for serious motor vehicle offenses above that usually given for misdemeanors, the commissioner feels that the "intent" to violate the law should be determined as in other criminal law prosecutions. "There appears to be no reason," he says, "why certain intentional offenses cannot be termed and treated as crimes and others where such intent is not present be termed and treated as misdemeanors."

He suggests a classification of this sort for future law "in the belief that if the crime, so called, can be sharply distinguished and made to stand out, public attention will be focused upon it and sentiment will soon compel better enforcement and more serious punishment." In the three offenses specially mentioned he finds that the intent to violate the law is seldom absent.

"There are some acts and omissions which can take place through inadvertence into which intent to commit a crime does not enter," says the commissioner. "These cannot by a fair interpretation be classed with others which are planned and intentional. So there has long since been a classification of public offenses based upon intent. Why isn't it just to apply the same rule to breaches of an automobile law and to recognize and term as automobile crimes those offenses into which intent enters, while providing a separate and distinct nomenclature and handling for those offenses where it is not present"

It would be well also, Commissioner Stoeckel says if police and court discipline could further distinguish between offenses which constitute danger to life and limb and those which are purely breaches of a rule of convention. Breaches of the automobile law, even misdemeanors, and especially those omissions which relate to the equipment of the car, may occasion serious accidents. He considers it more important that misdemeanors which take place in connection with the actual operation of a car should be corrected that it is that mere formality should be complied with. As example he cites the one-light or no tail-light offenses, as against not carrying operator's license or registration certificate.

Automobile law violators and violators of other laws are "criminals" upon the same theory, Commissioner Stoeckel holds. "Authorities generally agree," he says, "that the criminal is the product of heredity plus environment. Heredity in this sense does not mean that actual tendency to commit crime is inherited but that certain qualities which are strongly present in the parents when transmitted make a child more open to the influence of criminal environment. As to the automobile criminal, he is a criminal upon the same theory. His character plus his traffic environment has made him so. Let us say that he has inherited a tendency toward cowardice and likes to evade the consequences of his improper acts. It is easy to see how much a person, successful in one or two minor escapes, would become a hit and run driver of the worst type."

Commissioner Stoeckel draws a final conclusion in his article, regarding all automobile offenses. It is that "those which are committed in connection with and through the medium of automobile driving ought to be graded and segregated and a differentiation made in accordance with intent. If this can be done, judges of courts will probably feel the seriousness of a charge more than is at present the case, and a more careful investigation into the evidence will be made.

"Misdemeanors will be handled much as they are now for a long time to come. It will be necessary to keep up the morale of the driving public to an extent where, without unduly harrassing or making trouble for any well intentioned man, it will be possible nevertheless to make that same man conscious of his many obligations. If this result can be obtained, then any difficulty experienced will not be on account of any breach of any law, either as a crime or a misdemeanor."

MENTAL HYGIENE SPEAKER ADDRESSED PRIMARY COUNCIL

The March meeting of the primary council was held at Broadway school Tuesday afternoon. Supper was served at 5:30 o'clock, Miss Gladys Holmes hostess. The president, Miss Jennie Congdon, preside at the business meeting. A tribute was paid to Miss Mathilde Stapfer, a loyal member of the council since its organization.

The chief feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Hester Crutcher of New Haven, executive secretary of the Connecticut Society for Mental Hygiene. She gave many valuable suggestions for dealing with varied types of children and quoted several examples from her own experience in the child guidance clinics. After her address, many local problems were brought up by the teachers, and advice given by Miss Crutcher as to the best methods of dealing with them.

PATRONIZE THESE WELL KNOWN CONCERNS

LET SPENCER HANDLE YOUR BUILDING PROBLEM

Favored with unusually pleasant weather, many persons who have been planning to have building work performed as soon as the weather opened up are beginning to get busy. Some have made arrangements with contractors for their work and many others have not. In looking for a man capable of handling any kind of a building job, whether it be a new building or a reconstruction proposition, you will find W. S. Spencer of the Disco Bldg., Norwich, just as reliable a man to take care of your work as it will be possible for you to get. Mr. Spencer has had extensive experience in remodeling homes, and if your work happens to be of this particular nature you will find it to your advantage to have him give you an estimate. Mr. Spencer's reputation as a contractor and builder is widely known and he can supply any number of references from satisfied customers.

ANTONIO LONGO PROVIDES ONLY BEST OF FRUIT

When considering the purchase of fruit there is but one store in Norwich that should immediately be given attention. Antonio Longo of 20 Bath street for many years has made a specialty of dealing in fruits of the better sort and it is here that you can find all the best of fruit at any given season of the year.

Purchases are made as the season begins and nothing but fine stock is carried. Those of you who have already visited our store and have made purchases of fruit or vegetables do not need to be told that we offer only high grade merchandise. Those of you who have yet to learn this fact are the people whom we are desirous of reaching at this time. We want you to come to our store and see for yourselves that everything we claim about our high grade fruits is correct.

Every purchase made at our store carries with it our guarantee that if satisfaction is not given the purchase may be returned and satisfaction obtained.

Only through constant, better service, have we built up our business until it is recognized as a leader among the fruit stores of Norwich. This service we intend to continue and we trust that, if you have not already patronized us, you will do so during 1933 and become another of the now many satisfied patrons of our store.

Where Quality and Service are the Watchword

BUY YOUR HARLEY-DAVIDSON FROM C. A. DONOVAN

Although there is still snow on the ground, thoughts of warm weather are not far in the future. Why not visit C. A. Donovan of 165 North Main street, and let him show you some of the latest models of the world's best motorcycle, the Harley-Davidson.

There is nothing like getting behind a Harley-Davidson in the spring and summer and spinning through the beautiful country around us. More miles to the gallon and small upkeep has always been a feature of this motorcycle and the hundreds of motorcycle riders in this section of the state will tell you that the Harley-Davidson is all that is claimed for it.

Perhaps your present motorcycle needs tuning up for the coming pleasure months. Why not bring it to us now and give us the opportunity of getting it into first class condition. Little things which will hinder pleasure in a few weeks can just as well be taken care of now and thus save you the trouble when you most desire the use of your motorcycle.

C. A. Donovan has long been known for fair dealings with lovers of the two wheel vehicle. If you are planning to buy, or if you desire information about good trips, let us tell you about them.

Plan to join with the other motorcycle enthusiasts of eastern Connecticut and enjoy the many trips planned for the spring, summer and fall. Visit us any way. We are always glad to welcome a driver, whether or not he is in the market for our product. Let's get acquainted and have better motorcycle outings this coming spring.

WHEN YOU NEED A PLUMBER CALL ROBERT GOLDSTEIN

Now that the winter months are nearly over and you are having time to get things in your house into tip-top shape, let us remind you of the plumbing. Robert Goldstein, Inc., of 86-92 Water street, stands ready to serve you at any time.

Perhaps there are some changes you have contemplated—such as making your bathroom or kitchen plumbing more modern, and thus more convenient for us.

Everyone knows that a contract followed out to the letter is cheaper than one changed frequently. Because of this the Goldstein company suggests that one of their men be called in to make measurements and give estimates of any work you are planning.

Not only in the heating business is Goldstein ready to serve your wants. In the store will be found painting supplies, hardware of all kinds and many other things necessary about the home. Pay us a visit before making any purchase of paints or hardware and we will try to convince you that our service and materials rank with the best in the city—and the prices are right, too.

HAYES' PULLMAN LUNCH PROVIDES BEST OF FOODS

Norwich people do not have to be told why Hayes' Pullman lunch does a big business in the "feeding" field of our city. They have long since learned that Hayes' food is "cooked differently," that it has that home cooked taste so often lacking in restaurants.

The Hayes brothers made their start several years ago in a small way and business grew by leaps and bounds. Soon there came the necessity of moving the pullman from its first location at the entrance to the New Haven railroad depot. The pullman was then taken to the New Haven railroad property west of the passenger station.

Although not as central, from the standpoint of being visible to everyone passing through Main street, the Pullman really travelled only a few hundred feet to its new home. The hundreds of patrons thought nothing of this slight change and with the moving came a continuation of increased business.

W. B. NOYES & SON SAVE YOU MONEY FOR DECORATING

W. B. Noyes and Son, painters and decorators, say: "In the olden days of wood and coal stoves for heating, gas and oil for lighting, there was a special time of the year for general house cleaning and the removal of the dust and soot resulting. Then there was a spring rush and the services of the interior decorator were in great demand after the close-in season.

"Now, in the days of oil burners, steam heat, electricity and the vacuum cleaners, the necessity of a particular house cleaning, in the old sense, is, to an extent, done away with, at least the soot and dust removal is done away with and cleaning can be easily done by degrees. The newer methods of heat and light leave no grime to darken or spoil the decorations of a house and a room done over in the late fall or winter is as fresh and clean as ever in the spring.

Telephone 2173 and ask them to look over your work. A feature of their service is that they give personal attention to all work, large or small.

CONSULT ABOUT YOUR BUILDING WITH P. F. SWEENEY

With the spring months rapidly drawing near there are many people in eastern Connecticut who are making plans for building a new house, garage, cottage, bungalow, or barn.

Probably the sport of selecting just the type desired has afforded the means of passing many a pleasant evening during the winter. However, now that the choice has been made, the next step is to consult a contractor or builder.

P. F. Sweeney of Chestnut street, Norwich, phone 1208-2, has long enjoyed the name of being a good contractor and builder. Mr. Sweeney has the plans and means of saving prospective house builders money. Before going any further, let us say, before deciding definitely on some thing which might have to be changed later, why not consult with him.

TWO SUITS ON TRIAL FOR INJURIES SUSTAINED BY HALLVILLE GIRL

Two suits tried jointly, in which the damages sought total $12,000, were before Judge C. L. Avery and a jury in the superior court at New London Wednesday afternoon in which damages are asked because of injuries sustained by a Hallville girl, Geneva Genishevsky, a minor. The girl was struck while she was playing in the yard of her parents' home on March 30, 1927, by a motor truck owned by Isadore Fishbone of this city and driven at the time by Israel Chiat of Preston.

Both the owner and the driver of the car are made defendants in the suits, one being for $10,000 damages on behalf of the girl and the other for $2,000 brought by her father, Stanislaw Genishevsky. It is claimed the girl sustained a compound fracture of the left leg from which she will be crippled for life. It is alleged in the complaint that Chiat drove the truck across the yard at reckless speed, had insufficient brakes and failed to give the girl any warning of his approach.

Civil Engineer George E. Pitcher was the first witness called to the stand by the plaintiff's attorneys, Shields & Shields. He explained a plan of the locality and was followed on the stand by Benjamin Hall, who testified as to the existence of a private right of way. The final witness before court adjourned for the day was Mrs. Barron, who lived next door to the Genishevsky family.

Trial of the case will be continued this (Thursday) morning. Attorney John H. Barnes and Brown and James appear for the defendants.

ADDRESS ON ST. PATRICK GIVEN AT VESPERS

Rev. John Finn, associate editor of the Brooklyn Tablet of Brooklyn, N. Y., made the address Wednesday evening at the special vesper service at St. Mary's Memorial church when the music and the address were appropriate to the observance of St. Patrick's anniversary.

The preacher outlined the early history of Patrick, bringing it up to the time on Easter Saturday, A. D. 441 when he lighted the fire of faith on the hill of Tarra, a fire that has never ceased to burn and that changed pagan Ireland into a Catholic country almost from one end to the other. Catholic Irish missionaries carried this faith to all parts of the world and Ireland has done much for the world and the Catholic religion.

Irish airs sung by the senior choir included The Minstrel Boy and The Harp That Once Through Tarra's Hall and the offertory solo was Come Back to Erin, given in fine voice by Mrs. John Marshall. The service closed with benediction, in whch O Salutaris was rendered by the choir and Tantum Ergo was an especially fine duet number by M. J. Farrell and Nicholas Spelman. The recessional was the hymn, Hail, Glorious Apostle, rendered by the choir.

ESTIMATE POPULATION GAIN OVER 14 MILLION IN U. S.

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 14—The department of commerce announces an estimate of the population of the United States made by the bureau of the census. This gives a total estimated population of 120,013,000 on July 1, 1928, as compared with 105,710,620 on January 1, 1920. The total is arrived at by estimating the increase since 1920 upon the basis of the available data regarding births, deaths, immigration and emigration. The population of the several states is then estimated by distributing the total increase for the United States upon the basis of the increase by states from 1910 to 1920 or, where there has been a state census, from 1920 to 1925, except that where there was a decrease between 1910 and 1920 or between 1920 and 1925, the 1920 or 1925 census figures is retained, and no estimate is made.

The following are the figures for the New England states:

	Census Jan. 1, 1920	Estimated Population July 1, 1928
Connecticut	1,380,631	1,667,000
Maine	768,014	795,000
Massachusetts	3,852,356	4,290,000
New Hampshire	443,083	456,000
Rhode Island	604,397	716,000
Vermont	352,428	*352,428

* Population, Jan. 1, 1920; decrease 1910 to 1920.

ADVOCATED REVALUATION IN SPEECH BEFORE ROTARY

Members of the Norwich Rotary club heard a very interesting talk on the tax situation as it applies to the taxpayer, at the weekly meeting of the club held Wednesday noon at the Wauregan hotel. Rev. Alexander H. Abbott, who was the speaker, told the club that he would vote for the revaluation of property because of the great moral issue that it involved beside the economic side of the question.

At the business session of the meeting at which President Clarence A. Spear presided it was announced that the annual ladies' night of the club would be held on the evening of April 13. Flint Brayton who is chairman of the committee of arrangements for that night announced elaborate preparations which are under way. Benjamin H. Palmer, chairman of the local committee for the spring conference which is to be held at Waterbury, made a report on the progress of his plans for the attendance of local members.

William G. Park was the song leader for the meeting. Henry J. LaFontaine was at the piano. Many of the new songs were in the new books were tried out with the Rotary male quartette leading the singing.

RECKLESS DRIVING CHARGE MADE AFTER ACCIDENT

At the city court session Wednesday morning Andrew Przekof of No. 85 Fifth street, was presented on a charge of reckless driving and the case was continued until Thursday morning. He was arrested on complaint of J. Bradford Ricketts of No. 114 Prospect street, who claims that recklessness on the part of the accused was responsible for an auto accident Tuesday night.

It is alleged that the accused operated his machine in such a manner as to cause Mr. Ricketts, who was operating a Ford coupe, to collide with a runabout owned and operated by Albert A. James of No. 52 North Main street. The accident occurred on North Main street.

TAFTVILLE

Alfred Tetreault has resigned his position with the No. 1 weaving department of the local mills.

John K. Doyle of New Bedford, Mass., called on friends in the village Wednesday.

Miss Mary Nolan, the president, presided at the weekly meeting of the members of St. Veronica's T. A. and B. society Wednesday evening in the society's rooms on Providence street.

A local poultry raiser reported an 85 per cent hatch from his incubator on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Day-old chicks will soon be a regular thing in the in-coming mail at the Taftville postoffice.

Rev. William H. Bunker of Wilton, Conn., gave an illustrated lecture on a "Trip Around the World" in the vestry of the Taftville Congregational church under the auspices of the young people of the church.

For book service in isolated sections of Arkansas, a donation of $4,500 has been made by a national sorority to the Arkansas free library service bureau.

WENT TO GLASTONBURY FOR D. OF V. LODGE INSTITUTION

Mrs. Jennie Newberry, Mrs. D. Louise Atterbury, Mrs. Elizabeth Bogue, Mrs. Helena Church and Mrs. Annie Turner motored to Glastonbury Monday evening to St. Paul's church parlors where a new tent of Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War was instituted with a charter membership of 39.

The tent is named Elizabeth A. Bunse Tent, No. 20, after a distinguished woman who was not a regular army nurse. She did much to help to care for the sick and injured soldiers on the battlefields during the Civil war and was the wife of Dr. Bunse, a noted war surgeon. This tent was organized through the efforts of Department President Mrs. Augusta Ranney of Hartford, assisted by Mrs. Lillian Wakefield of New Britain and Mrs. Minnie Tyroll of Hartford and was instituted by the Department President Mrs. Ranney assisted by the Department Senior Vice President Mrs. Jennie S. Newberry of Norwich and Past Department President Mrs. D. Louise Atterbury of Norwich and several other department officers. About 40 other members of the order were present from Hartford, Middletown, New Britain, Meriden, New London and Norwich.

A set of five flags was presented to the tent by Stedman Camp, Sons of Union Veterans, and an altar flag from the three organizers. Mrs. Nellie D. Orchard, past department president of New London will soon give them a large Bible. Mrs. Eva Rouoff, a past department president of Nomons Relief Corp., was installed as their first president and her daughter Mrs. Myrtle Case as guide.

On the trip back the Norwich party arrived home with a flat tire and broken spring on their automobile due to the washouts on the road.

CAMPAIGN UNDER WAY FOR BACKUS HOSPITAL X-RAY

The Women's auxiliary of The Wm. W. Backus hospital enthusiastically launched its campaign on Monday morning to raise $5,000 in public subscriptions, to provide a new X-ray department in the hospital. The lobby of the Dime Savings bank is the headquarters where returns will be made, and it is hoped by the campaigners that a complete report will be secured by Monday, March 19th.

Some of the public spirited men of the community are generously giving of their time to assist the women in making solicitations in this canvass. The following is the list of canvassers who are diligently at work at the present time to accomplish this worthy purpose:

A. H. Tirrell, Mrs. William G. Park, Mrs. Walter T. Camp, Mrs. Flint Brayton, Mrs. F. B. Ricketson, Mrs. Frank I. Royce, Mrs. Allyn L. Brown, Mrs. Donald Bickham, Mrs. Rollin C. Jones, Mrs. Ruby Vaughn, Mrs. John F. Rogers, Mrs. W. K. Tingley, Mrs. C. V. James, Miss Lucy B. Abbott, Miss Jane E. Bill, Mrs. Frederick T. Sayles, Mrs. Robert W. Perkins, Mrs. James L. Crawford, Joseph C. Worth, F. Russell Smith, Edmund W. Perkins, Edward G. McKay, Walter T. Camp, John R. Tarrant, John J. O'Rourke, Walter F. Lester, Mrs. J. J. Donohue, Mrs. Walter F. Lester, Mrs. Robert R. Agnew, Mrs. A. J. LaPierre, Mrs. A. Torrance, Mrs. Harrison Gray, Mrs. Richard Gregson, Mrs. Thomas J. McVeigh, Mrs. William A. Norton, Mrs. Roy C. Judd, Miss Isabelle Mitchell, Mrs. C. E. Carpenter, Herbert B. Cary, Mrs. I. Beckenstein, Mrs. C. Brown, Mrs. P. Silberman, Mrs. J. Lahn, Mrs. S. Cramer, Mrs. A. Segal, A. Schwartz, M. Sussman J. Greenstein, Mrs. Casper Graff, Mrs. B. Mandell, Mrs. J. N. Rosenberg.

In its appeal to the public the committee says:

"The community of Norwich has never failed to respond to a real need of the Backus hospital. This change is known to be an absolute necessity, the benefit of which will be very far reaching in the service it will render. Will you make out your checks and send your contributions to the Women's auxiliary, and in such participation realize that you are rendering a community service, and perchance a service which may be redirected to serve you yourself as well.

"The X-ray picture tells the true story in the accident case, in the acute illness and in the chronic conditions, and is one of the greatest factors in early and direct diagnosis. Will you help to keep our hospital standardized and progressive?"

Entire Fine and Costs Remitted

Dr. J. A. Reynolds of the W. W. Backus hospital staff was presented in the city court Wednesday morning on a charge of failure to have an operator's license with him when he attempted to turn an auto, belonging to Miss Anslow of the hospital staff, around in Rose alley on the night of February 15. He was fined $20 and costs and the entire amount was ordered remitted after the court had learned the facts in the case.

While the doctor was attempting to turn the machine around it was hit by a switcher when it stalled on the railroad crossing at the foot of the alley. It is understood that Dr. Reynolds did not intend to operate the machine after turning it around for the owner.

PAST MATRONS, O. E. S., ELECT THEIR OFFICERS

Mystic members entertained the Eastern Star Past Matrons' association at its annual session Tuesday in Masonic temple at Mystic. Fifty-five members representing the nine chapters of the Order of Eastern Star in this vicinity forming the association were present.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Frances Geer of Sachem chapter, Norwich. At noon the officers of Charity chapter, No. 61 served a chicken pie dinner.

This being the annual session a new board of officers was chosen, after which they were installed by Mrs. Mary Fowler of Fidelity chapter, No. 54 of New London, the first president of the association. She was assisted by Mrs. Angie Dobbins, acting as chaplain, and Mrs. Erminnie Sullivan, acting as installing marshal. Mrs. Geer, the retiring president, who is the present worthy grand matron of the grand chapter, was presented a silver covered vegetable dish by her associate officers of 1927-28.

The officers for the ensuing year are as follows:

COMPENSATION AWARD TO OIL SALESMAN'S WIDOW

Because of injuries which it is found caused the death of her husband, William B. Baker, Jr., and were sustained in the course of his employment, Mrs. Sarg D. Baker, of 56 Maple street, Waltham, Mass., has been given workmen's compensation, according to an award and finding made by Commissioner Albert J. Bailey. Mr. Baker was an employe of the Beacon Oil company, of Everett, Mass. His widow is to receive compensation at the rate of $21 per week for 284 4-7 weeks.

On Aug. 13, 1927, while William Baker, Jr., was in an auto owned by the Beacon Oil company, and while proceeding on the business of the oil company in the town of Colchester, the automobile struck some obstruction in the road causing Baker to lose control of the car as a result of which he crashed into a large boulder, sustaining serious injuries which resulted in his death on Aug. 24, 1927. The commissioner finds that the injuries arose out and in the course of his employment.

Baker left a wife and three minor children. As compensation had been paid from Aug. 13, 1927 to Feb. 25, 1928, at the rate of $21, Commissioner Bailey makes the award mentioned.

HAD DINNER PARTY FOR 55TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Lovell Strongin, whose home is at 53 Pearl street and who spend their summers at Gardner lake, were in New York early this month, when on March 3rd they celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary with a family dinner party at the Level club.

Mr. and Mrs. Strongin resided for many years on Raymond hill and now spend their summers at Gardner lake with all their children and grandchildren.

HANOVER MAN'S SUIT SETTLED OUT OF COURT

After three witnesses had been heard in the trial of the $5,000 negligence action brought by Kenneth H. Doyle of Hanover, town of Sprague against Lieut. Com. Whitney M. Prall, United States coast guard officer of New London, in the superior court before Judge Christopher L. Avery and a jury at New London Wednesday the case was settled out of court.

Doyle claimed that the collision occurred about 8.30 p. m., daylight saving time on July 16, 1927. He alleged that he was traveling in a northerly direction in Pequot avenue and that the Prall machine was being operated by the commander in a southerly direction. The plaintiff claims that the Prall machine attempted to pass another car, traveling ahead of it, and in so doing crashed into the plaintiff's machine wrecking it to the extent of $500 and permanently injuring Doyle.

The defendant made a general denial of the allegations.

The first witness for the plaintiff was Dr. Edward R. Hill of New London. He, in answer to direct questioning by Attorney Edmund Perkins, who with Attorney Edward G. McKay represents the plaintiff, said that he is a member of the staff of the Home Memorial hospital. The physician testified that he attended Doyle right after the crash. He said that the young man was dazed, although not unconscious, and he had a bad cut extending from the middle of his right eye nearly to his ear, which went practically into the bone. In addition, according to the doctor, Doyle had sustained numerous bruises and abrasions to the shoulder.

Dr. Hill said that he immediately had Doyle taken to the operating table, where he closed the cut, taking about 12 stitches on the outside and about the same number on the inside. He told of the pain caused Doyle because of the fact that no ether or a local anaesthetic could be administered. The physician said that his bill was about $45.

Attorney Arthur M. Brown, who with Attorney Charles V. James represents the defendant, cross-examined Dr. Hill.

Robert E. Pellerine, automobile salesman of Norwich, was the next plaintiff witness. He sold the car to Doyle for $945 early in May, 1927. He said the machine was practically totally damaged but that when Doyle bought another new one about a month after the accident, he allowed Doyle $350 for the damaged machine.

Doyle was the next witness and he testified that when he saw Commander Prall's car driving alongside of the other car, he slackened his speed, and turned his car to the right, and then because a pole and hydrant prevented him from swinging out further to his right he turned in the left in an attempt to avoid a head on collision.

The jury in the case was composed of the following men:

New London, Charles R. Ogden and Charles C. Apley; Groton, Adrian C. Hewitt, Ernest W. Brown, Ernest Allen; Stonington, Mason Manning, Everett D. Chapman, Walter C. Merrill; Montville, Walter Beckwith; Ledyard Gilbert Hagen; East Lyme, John Radiker, William A. Green.

COLLEGE ALUMNAE WANT REPRESENTATION ON TRUSTEES

At a special meeting of the Hartford chapter of the Connecticut College Alumnae association held Monday evening in the Old State house at Hartford, it was voted to send the following letter to the board of trustees and to each chapter of the Alumnae association:

"All members of the board of trustees of Connecticut college in the vicinity of Hartford were invited to attend a special meeting of the Hartford chapter of the Connecticut College Alumnae association in the Old State house, Monday evening, March 12, to promote a spirit of understanding between the Hartford chapter and the board of trustees as represented by those present. Three were able to attend. In view of the fact that these trustees could make no statement for the entire board and since unforeseen circumstances had prevented action on the part of the board of trustees up to this time, it was voted that we as a chapter should express our interest in the situation existing at Connecticut college and our confidence in both President Benjamin T. Marshall and the board of trustees until such time as the board of trustees can meet and make public their action.

"We enclose a memorandum which we believe embodies a constructive suggestion."

The memorandum is as follows:

"Inasmuch as the origin of Connecticut college was in the 'College club' of Hartford, the capital of Connecticut, and the Hartford chapter of Connecticut college alumnae is one of the largest groups of its kind, we feel the advisability of presenting a suggestion to other chapters and to members of the board of trustees.

"Be it first understood that we are not presuming to comment on the merits or demerits of President Marshall's administration or the circumstances leading up to his resignation, but merely to further establish the reputation of Connecticut college.

"In this regard it has been previously pointed out that 'parents and teachers have expressed themselves as forced to withdraw their support' until the dissention is eliminated. One who is asked to serve as president or on the faculty would naturally hesitate before accepting under such conditions and furthermore since this is the second instance within a comparatively short time that similar conditions have developed.

"Our suggestion is as follows: To develop a more co-operative spirit between trustees and alumnae, that representatives appointed by the alumnae association be present at future trustee meetings and permitted to vote as soon as possible, the term of each alumnae to be not over two years."

RECALLS BLIZZARD WEDDING AT HEBRON CENTER CHURCH

The fortieth anniversary of the big blizzard of 1888 recalls to those who remember that historic occasion the "blizzard wedding" which took place at the Congregational church at Hebron Center, March 12, 1888, when William Clifford Robinson of Columbia and Miss Jennie Leonard of Hebron were married on the evening of the day of the great storm.

The trip to the church by the bridegroom was made by means of an ox sled drawn by several yoke of oxen, a distance of some miles through drifts which are mentioned to this day with bated breath. The bride and the officiating clergyman lived near the church, the groom stopping for them with his rustic equipage. Guests used improvised snowshoes and the affair went merrily. The bride accompanied her husband to their new home in Columbia on the ox sled behind the four-footed beasts.

This wedding was reported with pardonable exaggeration from coast to coast all over the United States in the newspapers of that time. A New York paper even presented an illustrated story of the occasion showing the ox-cart and bridal party.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson still live at Post Hill, Columbia, and celebrated the fortieth anniversary of their marriage on Monday.

HINCHLIFFE AND PLANE PLACED ON MYSTERY LIST

It is Generally Feared That the Monoplane Endeavour Has Gone the Way of the Two Planes That Attempted the Western Passage Over the Atlantic Last Summer—Recurrent Rumors, Reviving Hope, Prove to Be Groundless.

NEW YORK, March 15—(AP)—The monoplane Endeavour, which left England for America two and a half days ago, still was missing tonight and it was generally feared that it had joined the two planes that attempted the perilous western passage last summer and were never heard of again.

Hope flared fitfully during the day, fanned by recurrent rumors, and rose high in midafternoon when persons on the beach in Maine reported seeing a yellow object and two waving figures on an island two miles off shore. Investigation by the coast guard established, however, that no plane had landed on the island.

Charles Nungesser and Francis Coli, Frenchmen, were the first to be lost in attempting the western passage of the north Atlantic, which never yet has been crossed by an airplane.

Next the Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim set forth in the St. Raphael with two pilots and nothing more was ever heard of them.

On Tuesday morning the Honorable Elsie Mackay, daughter of an English viscount, and Capt. Walter Hinchliffe flew off on their great adventure in the Endeavour, an American plane, and disappeared.

Today's rumors were so persistent that they raised false hopes in the breast of Mrs. Hinchliffe in London and twice she cabled John Gillespie, her husband's American representative, that she had word he had news of the Endeavour landing in Newfoundland.

Each time Gillespie cabled back denials that he had any good news. He reassured her as best he could with promises that everything possible would be done to run down every clue.

ENGLAND'S HOPE BASED ON RESCUE BY SHIP AT SEA

LONDON, March 15—(AP)—England's slender hope that the monoplane Endeavour may yet survive its trans-Atlantic flight venture depended tonight on the chance that Captain Walter Hinchliffe and the Honorable Elsie Mackay were rescued by some ocean vessel without wireless apparatus.

Memories of the rescue of Harry Hawker on his trans-Atlantic attempt many years ago are revived in an effort to stave off despair. Veteran pilots find it hard to believe that their old comrade, a hero of a hundred aerial exploits in war and peace has been conquered by death.

Among the few who refused to abandon hope is Mrs. Hinchliffe who is enduring the terrible strain with marvelous courage. Although pale and looking ill tonight, the young mother of two little girls attempted to carry on the routine of her home. In three days and two nights she has scarcely slept at all.

"We are still waiting," she said quietly, "but there is no news although we have tried every possible source."

ROBERT E. LEE INVOLVED IN ANOTHER INQUIRY

BOSTON, March 15—(AP)—Federal officials already engaged in investigating the stranding of the steamer Robert E. Lee on Mary Ann rocks, off Manomet Point last Friday night, will begin tomorrow hearings on another accident in which the same vessel figured.

Chief Officer Arthur J. Love, of the Robert E. Lee will go on trial before the board of U. S. steamboat inspectors on charges of negligence in connection with the sinking of the Boston harbor tug Neponset in collision on the night of December 12, last.

The Lee, en route from Boston to New York, collided with the tug in Buzzards bay and the smaller vessel was sunk with the loss of two lives. Captain Harland W. Robinson was not on board the Lee at the time and Chief Officer Love was in command.

The inquiry into the Manomet Point grounding was postponed indefinitely today when officials of the Eastern Steamship company, owners of the Lee announced that they were unable to produce certain witnesses until a later date. At yesterday's session Captain Robinson said that he assumed full responsibility for the accident, which occurred during a driving snowstorm.

CASE CONCERNS COTTON MARKET OPERATIONS

WASHINGTON, March 15—(AP)—A startling picture of vast cotton market operations by one Texas trading firm involving millions of bales and an unestimated number of dollars, to "corner" certain market activities at home and abroad and create topsy-turvy prices, was painted before the senate cotton sub-committee today by Arthur R. Marsh, New York cotton broker.

The Houston firm of Anderson Clayton and Company, admittedly a market leader in spot trading, Marsh declared in his opinion to be directly responsible for the cotton price smash of 1927 that precipitated the senate inquiry into what caused it. His own complaint against the firm, he added, was based on his assertion that it had "extracted" huge profits out of its competitors by its manipulations, an dhad not merely made normal profits out of its deals as middle man in merchandising cotton from growers to spinner.

REPORT FINDING OF AIRPLANE WRECKAGE

ST. JOHNS, N. F., March 15—(AP)—The Newfoundland department of marine and fisheries was advised today that airplane wreckage had been found early this month at Point May, near Lamaline, on the south coast of the island. Steps were taken to determine if the wreckage could be identified as belonging to one of the planes lost in attempted trans-Atlantic flights last season.

Thomas Hennebury, fisheries officer at Lamaline, telegraphed the department that a piece of a plane was picked up at Point May on March 3. No particulars were given in the message.

Point May is on Burin peninsula, about 12 miles from St. Pierre-Miquelon, where wreckage believed to belong to an airplane was found recently.

BOSTON NEARLY ELIMINATED AS AN EXPORT GRAIN FACTOR

CHICAGO, March 15—(AP)—Pinched between Montreal with its low water freight rates, and New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore with their preferred rail rates, Boston virtually has been eliminated as an export grain factor, a witness from that city advised the interstate commerce commission today.

Andrew L. O'Toole described himself as the "last grain exporter in Boston." He is a director of the Boston Grain and Flour Exchange. All other grain exporters have forsaken the Massachusetts city because of its disadvantageous position, he explained.

GENERAL GAXIOLA WAS ASSASSINATED IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, March 15—(AP)—General Macario Gaxiola, secretary of the "Obregon for President" organization in Sinaloa and himself a candidate for governor of that state, was assassinated in the Obregon headquarters at Culiacan yesterday.

Word of the tragedy came here in private telegrams sent by Congressman Cuauhtemoc Rios of Culiacan. The messages gave no details, stating only that Gaxiola was killed in his office.

Local leaders of the Obregon party believe that some enemy of their candidate may have been responsible.

INDICTED FOR OWNING AND OPERATING A DISTILLERY

PROVIDENCE, March 15—(AP)—In a partial report returned this afternoon, the U. S. grand jury in seven secret and four open true bills, indicted 28 persons in connection with the ownership and operation of a large distillery seized on Mason street, Woonsocket, Dec. 28, last.

The indictment charged violations of the old internal revenue law as well as conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act.

Among those mentioned in the open indictment are three former prohibition agents. They are Joseph E. Kelly, of Woonsocket, and Ralph H. Borson, alias Ralph Blakeslee, of New Haven, Conn., and George Sabine, also of New Haven.

The indictment also charges that Leif Nelson, Joseph Marchand, Joseph Hess, Richard Brown, Wilfred Daignault, and Frank C. Leary, all of Woonsocket; William Swinson, John Joseph Moore, both of New York; Robert C. Sabine, alias Robert V. Howe, of New Haven, and John Suraka, of Camden, N. J., violated the internal revenue laws for operation of a distillery.

The distillery was seized in a former textile plant. Government agents said that the plant cost about $200,000.

BELIEVES IN INNOCENCE OF DR. HAROLD N. GUILFOYLE

HARTFORD, March 15—(AP)—A statement expressing his belief in the innocence of Dr. Harold N. Guilfoyle and describing as ridiculous the state's charge that Dr. Guilfoyle killed Mrs. Maximin J. Gaudet, of New Haven, in a Maple avenue apartment house last January, was made today by John T. Robinson, counsel for the accused veterinarian.

Mr. Robinson also expressed surprise that the grand jury had indicted Dr. Guilfoyle on the charge of murder in the first degree. He said he had not expected that the grand jury would indict the veterinarian. Mr. Robinson entered the case last Monday and has gone over the case with Dr. Guilfoyle and the associate counsel, Judge Samuel Rosenthal.

GRENFELL ORPHANAGE WAS DESTROYED BY FIRE

BOSTON, March 15—(AP)—Sir Wilfred Grenfell, famous medical missionary, was informed by telegraph today that his northern orphanage at Gordon, North Labrador, has been destroyed by fire. The 50 children living there were saved and are being cared for by fishermen, but all clothing, food and other supplies were ruined.

Sir Wilfred, now in Boston, said that the orphange building was of wood "since that was all the International Grenfell association could afford." It was partially insured, he said, because insurance rates on wooden buildings in North Labrador were very high.

SEN. BORAH TO ENDEAVOR REFUND $160,000 TO SINCLAIR

WASHINGTON, March 15—(AP)—Calling upon republicans over the country to "repudiate" the $160,000 contribution of Harry F. Sinclair, oil operator and lessee of Teapot Dome, to the republican campaign fund of 1920, Senator Borah, of Idaho, set out tonight in a lone hand endeavor to raise the funds to pay off Sinclair.

The Idahoan announced his course after submitting a request several days ago to the republican national committee to collect the money and return it to Sinclair. He said tonight he was going ahead independently "because the committee has not acted."

WOMEN VOTERS PLANNING A CITIZENSHIP SCHOOL

Hartford, March 15—(AP)—Plans for the Citizenship school which is being arranged by the Connecticut League of Women Voters and the Connecticut Agricultural college were announced here yesterday by Miss Mary Bulkley at a meeting of the executive board of the league.

The school will be held at the Agricultural college the first week in May and will teach the students how government touches the citizens through taxes, schools, public health, courts, institutions and legislation. In addition there will be lectures and discussions.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

MANSTON, Kent, Eng., March 15—(AP)—Two British officers were killed in the crash of their airplane after a collision with a second plane. The second plane landed safely.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 15—(AP)—Fifty bluejackets from the cruiser Denver landed here to take the place of marines being moved northward into the area affected by the rebel General Augustino Sandino's activities.

LONDON, March 15—(AP)—The Eastern Telegraph company with its associated lines and Marconi Wireless Telegraph company, announced that a provisional arrangement had been reached for the fusion of their interests through the medium of a holding company.

U. S. Mail Truck, With Registered Mail, Was Stolen in New Haven

NEW HAVEN, March 15—(AP)—A United States mail truck containing registered mail and parcelpost, was stolen from in front of New Haven hospital tonight.

Ernest La Brake, driver of the truck reported that he was in the hospital less than five minutes and that there were no other vehicles in sight either when he went in or when he came out with a pouch of mail.

Finding his truck gone, La Brake ran towards Congress avenue where he learned from a passerby that the mail truck had headed toward Oak street in the opposite direction.

Postal authorities on being informed of the loss, immediately started a check-up of the contents of the truck.

407 AUTO ACCIDENTS IN THE STATE LAST WEEK

HARTFORD, March 15—(AP)—One hundred and forty motor vehicle accidents occurred in Connecticut on March 9, and 407 accidents, of which five were fatal, occurred during the week ending March 10, it was announced today by the state motor vehicle department.

The number of accidents Friday, March 9 is a record for one day's crashes, this year, 54 accidents which occurred February 18 previously being the high record.

The 407 accidents reported to the state department during the week, however, is not a record. 408 accidents occurred during the week ending February 4.

The large number of accidents March 9, was due primarily to the slippery highways during the snowstorm which covered the state with almost eight inches of light snow, it was said today.

Of the total number of accidents last week, 296 were reported from the 14 principal cities in the state. During the corresponding week in 1927, 240 accidents, 163 of which were in the same 14 cities, were reported. Five people were killed in the corresponding week last year, also.

The people killed in accidents last week were: Danbury, Frank Buzak; Greenwich, Ward Shofield; Hartford, Mrs. Sultan Souklassin; Milford, Mrs. Kitty De Sheen; Windsor, Mrs. Agathie Louis.

BOOM FOR GOV. AL SMITH LAUNCHED IN DANBURY

DANBURY, March 15—(AP)—The presidential boom for Governor Al Smith, of New York, in this part of the state was launched at a dinner tonight by Assistant District Attorney J. G. Wallace, of New York city who stated at a meeting sponsored by locally that Smith would get the nomination as the south and the west was tired of supporting losers and would unite for Smith.

Mrs. Lillian S. Abbott, of Norwalk, a member of the national democratic committee urged the women to organize a movement to support Smith in the event he got the nomination.

FIVE INMATES ESCAPED FROM SCHOOL FOR BOYS

MERIDEN, March 15—(AP)—Five inmates of the Connecticut State School for Boys escaped from the institution here tonight. They are Frank Sherwood, 18, of 18 1-2 Ely avenue, South Norwalk; Alfred Sanson, 18, of 125 Wardell street, Stamford; William Clocek, 19, of Pacific street, Stamford; Anthony Japonis, 19, of 91 South Elm street, Bristol; and Domenick Martino, 17, of 15 Palmer street, New Haven.

According to the officials at the institution, the inmates scaled the fence sometime between 10 and 11 o'clock tonight after having concealed themselves on the grounds throughout the afternoon.

"PROPER MINE OFFICIALS" BLAMED FOR EXPLOSION

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 15—(AP)—A coroner's jury tonight placed upon "the proper mine officials" the blame for the explosion Feb. 20 at the Kinloch mine of the Valley Camp Coal company which killed 12 miners. Responsibility for the two lives lost in the adjoining Boyd mine was placed upon officials of the Kinloch mine for their alleged failure to notify the H. W. Boyd company of the explosion in the Kinloch mine.

GIRL STRUCK BY AUTO ON HARTFORD-MERIDEN HIGHWAY

MERIDEN, March 15—(AP)—A girl describing herself as Miss Katherine Isman, 20, of 400 West 134th street, New York city, was struck by an automobile while walking along the Hartford-Meriden highway about 10 o'clock tonight. She was brought to the Meriden railroad station by two men and left there. Bleeding profusely from a deep laceration over one eye, she refused to be treated by a physician who was called. The girl was then removed to the hospital.

MINNESOTA'S 24 DELEGATES ARE PLEDGED FOR SMITH

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 15—(AP)—Minnesota's 24 delegates to the democratic national convention were pledged today to vote for Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York for the presidential nomination.

Amid thunderous applause, the democratic state convention adopted a resolution instructing the Minnesota delegates to "vote as a unit" for the nomination of Smith "until he is nominated or until he releases them."

DAM DISASTER DEATHS HAVE REACHED TOTAL OF 202

LOS ANGELES, March 15—(AP)—An individual check by the Associated Press, completed late today, of every morgue in the St. Francis flood area, known to hold bodies of disaster victims, revealed a total of 202.

Tracing Sinclair Bonds in Chicago

Senators Nye and Norbeck Uncover Details of Financing of the Republican Party.

CHICAGO, March 15—(AP)—Examining more than a score of witnesses of the opening day of the inquiry here the senate Teapot Dome sub-committee today traced disposition of some of the Sinclair Continental Trading company bonds and uncovered some republican party financing that intrigued its two members, [illegible] of North Dakota, and Norbeck, [illegible] South Dakota.

From Miss Flora H. Johnson, secretary of B. A. Eckhart, who twice was examined in Washington, the investigators learned that $2,000 worth of the $60,000 of Sinclair bonds which Will H. Hays sent to the late Fred H. Upham, went to Eckhart on December 5, 1923. This was the day before the republican national committee met at Washington to select the place for the 1924 convention.

Relating a telephone conversation she had yesterday with Eckhart, who now is in California, Miss Johnson said she had been informed that Upham called her chief on the telephone on that day and asked him to take $5,500 of liberty bonds as security and make a donation to the national committee in a like amount.

Eckhart drew his check for that amount and went to Upham's office, but when he arrived he was informed that $3,500 of the bonds had been disposed of before his arrival. He took the remaining $2,000, selling them later, and $3,500 in cash since his check was drawn for that amount.

From Homer K. Galpin, chairman of the Cook county (Chicago) republican committee, the senators learned that the republican national committee had not made a contribution to that organization in early 1924, although the records of the national committee, as Upham gave them to William V. Hodges, the present treasurer, showed that such a contribution was made. Committee members are wondering whether $25,000 of the Sinclair bonds were disposed of, and the Cook county committee credited with the tribution.

After Joseph J. Morand, a manufacturer, had testified that in 1923 he made a cash contribution of $2,500 to the national republican fund through Upham, Chairman Nye indicated that this might represent another liberty bond transaction, but Morand denied that he took any bonds as security and later in the day produced a check for $2,500 representing a contribution made in 1922 and not 1923.

Roy O. West, secretary of the republican national organization since June, 1924, testified emphatically that he did not assist Upham to clean up the deficit in 1923. Asked if he knew of any Liberty bonds made available to wipe out the deficit, West said he had never heard of it until the senate investigation was put underway. He added that he was "surprised" that this method of financing had been restored to by Upham and Will H. Hays, a former national chairman, and others.

STEWART PLEADED NOT GUILTY TO INDICTMENT

WASHINGTON, March 15—(AP)—Less communicative than at any time since he defied the senate Teapot Dome committee in its efforts to trace through him the Liberty bond oil profits of the Continental Trading company, Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, pleaded not guilty today to an indictment resulting from his defiance.

Shortly after he had been granted 20 days in which to decide upon his course in attacking the indictment, his resignation as chairman of the board of the Dixie Oil company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, was announced in Shreveport, La.

The Chicago oil man, who refused to tell the Teapot Dome committee whether he knew anyone who had handled the Continental bonds or whether he had discussed the bond transactions with Harry F. Sinclair, Teapot Dome lessee, was before Chief Justice McCoy in the District of Columbia supreme court less than five minutes.

After the formalities, he departed still under $5,000 bond for his future appearance, and a short time later left Washington. His counsel declined to divulge his destination.

SNOWFALL OF 15 INCHES IN PARTS OF COLORADO

KANSAS CITY, March 15.—(AP)—Winter took a March fling at the eastern Rocky Mountain region today, leaving a mantle of snow that reached a depth of 15 inches in parts of Colorado.

For the farmers the snow was described as "a farm relief measure," and "a fine boost for the wheat crop."

The storm left a trail of fallen telegraph and telephone poles, broken under the weight of a wet, clinging snow, in western and northwestern Kansas.

4 U.S. Marine Airmen Were Instantly Killed

When Two Planes Collided and Crashed to the Ground Near San Diego, Cal.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 15—(AP)—Four United States marine airmen were killed this afternoon over the Rockney air field. Two planes of the marine corps collided and crashed to the ground, the four occupants of the planes being instantly killed.

Officers of the marine air corps rushed to the scene as soon as the news of the crash was received, and soon after arrival, announced that the dead airmen were Lieutenant Lawrence C. Dewine, pilot; Lieutenant J. D. Swartwout, pilot; H. C. Dailey, mechanic, and H. C. Chappell, pilot.

The planes were of the De Haviland type and were being flown in formation when they collided about 300 feet in the air. Both planes were practically demolished in the crash.

ARMAMENT CONFERENCE FACING A NEW ENIGMA

GENEVA, March 15—(AP)—Rumored designs of Maxim Litvinoff, head of the Russian delegation; Count von Bernstorff of German, the Turkish delegates, and Hugh S. Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium, and head of the American delegates, caused commotion in the ranks of old-time league disarmament workers when the preparatory committee of the disarmament conference met today for the second time.

The Russians were represented as ready to fall back on Secretary of State Kellogg in case their disarmament scheme was rejected and to ask the committee to adopt the American secretary of state's proposal for a general agreement to outlaw war. Maxim Litvinoff maintained an enigmatic smile, but remained silent.

Count von Bernstorff admitted that he would press the committee to act on the proposal that all countries must annually publish a full list of their armaments.

Ambassador Gibson, it was said, would insist upon action being taken on the uncompleted draft of the disarmament convention, drawn up last year and left over for the powers to think about. The ambassador said that the American delegation was here to co-operate with the others; he saw nothing to be gained by trying to force things, if the other delegates thought that the pace ought not to be quickened.

"WEDDED BLISS" ENDS FOR FORMER KAISER'S SISTER

COLOGNE, Germany, March 15.—(AP)—Four months of "wedded bliss" of the former emperor's sister, Princess Victoria of Schaumburg-Lippe with the youthful Russian emigre, Alexander Subkoff, has come to a melancholy end. Subkoff has been ordered expelled from Germany by the Cologne authorities, this actio nbeing based on the technical ground that he had not renewed his residence permit after it had expired.

The official expulsion order describes the 27 year old emigre as "a man without a nationality or occupation." One report today was that he had already left for the Congo.

No surprise was caused by the announcement of Subkoff's expulsion because of his recent escapedes, in addition to the irregular passport which he carried. Monarchist quarters show no sympathy, for from the first they regarded Princess Victoria's marriage as a deplorable mesalliance and a serious blow to the monarchist cause. The hope is expressed that his expulsion will save Victoria's private fortune from being touched further by her errant husband.

A MONUMENT TO LOUIS KOSSUTH, HUNGARIAN PATRIOT

NEW YORK, March 15.—(AP)—The tribute of a country whose hero was welcomed in defeat by America was extended today by 5,000 men and women of Hungarian extraction at the dedication of a monument to Louis Koosuth, Hungarian patriot.

Delegations from 150 American cities joined with 500 official delegates from Hungary in picturesque exercises on Riverside drive where the monument was unveiled. The unveiling marked the high spot of the four day visit in New York of the foreign delegates who will be received in Washington by President Coolidge on Monday in a continuation of a good will tour of several cities of the country.

POISON CAUSED DEATH OF MRS. MARY A. DICKINSON

CHICAGO, March 15—(AP)—After less than half an hour's deliberation, a coroner's jury today decided that Mrs. Mary Alice Dickinson, who died recently, leaving a $100,000 estate, came to her death from a poison which paralyzed her respiratory system. The jury said it was unable to determine who administered it.

Mrs. Dickinson, the divorced wife of a former Wall street broker, died last Jan. 4 after a protracted illness.

TILSON DEFENDS THE RIGHT OF SEC'Y WILBUR TO APPEAR ON FLOOR OF HOUSE

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—The presence of Secretary Wilbur upon the house floor during debate of the $274,000,000 new warship construction program brought a vigorous protest today from Representative Huddleston, democrat, Alabama, who said that the house was capable of transacting naval business without assistance from the navy department head.

Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, the republican leader, came to the defense of the secretary. He said that the house rules entitled cabinet members to appear on the floor, that these rules virtually constituted an invitation for them to appear and that he thought "it is a pity that they don't come more frequently.

"Cabinet officers are public officials like ourselves," he continued, "and we often have representatives of special interests in the gallery and what is the difference between being in the gallery and reading something in the Congressional Record."

Representative McClintic, democrat, Oklahoma, replied to Tilson, declaring he regarded the presence of cabinet members on the floor during consideration of bills affecting their departments as an effort to influence congress.

"It is a bad precedent and bad form," he continued. "I don't think it should be done again."

Representative Abernethy, a North Carolina democrat observed that the rules of the house permitted the presence of a cabinet officer and added:

"I am not a special admirer of the secretary of the navy, but I think it comes with poor taste for a member of this house to criticize a member of the cabinet in this way."

The discussion then shifted back to the naval program, Mr. Wilbur remaining in his seat until the house adjourned. Debate will continue tomorrow, with house leaders hopeful that a final vote will be reached at that time.

NARRATIVE OF THE SORDID CONDITIONS IN COAL FIELDS

St. Louis Star Reporter Tells of Squalor and Degradation in the Pittsburg Coal Region—Says All Mining Superintendents Were Warned to Prepare For Inspection of Senatorial Sub-Committee—Describes Conditions in Two Mining Camps as Unclear and Immoral to the Extreme—That Bootlegging and Gambling Were Rampant.

WASHINGTON, March 15—(AP)—Accounts of squalor and degradation in the Pittsburgh coal region, as seen through a newspaper reporter's eyes and of a losing struggle by coal operators to make mining pay, as told by a tabulation of costs and receipts, were given today to the senate committee investigating the bituminous industry.

Harry T. Brundidge, who toured the coal fields in the vicinity of Pittsburgh for the St. Louis Star, prefaced his description of conditions by introducing a document which purported to be an order from the Pittsburgh Coal Co. to "all mine superintendents" to prepare for the recent inspection of its territroy by a senatorial sub-committee.

Calling attention to the pending visit of the investigators, it said:

"Clean up all unsightly conditions. Keep our police in the background, avoid all arrests. Instruct our men to keep out of trouble. If the committee desires to question any of our employes see to it that you present men you can trust and who can be depended upon to give the right kind of answers. If you are examined by the committee do not answer any questions you think might be harmful to our interests. The company will protect you. The company has mailed a spirited letter to each individual employe. If you know of any unsatisfactory condition in company camps or barracks see that it is eliminated at once."

Brundidge said he paid $25 to a Pittsburgh Coal company employe for the letter but declined to name the man when questioned by Don Rose, attorney for the company.

The reporter then told of visiting camps of strikers and strikebreakers. He said that many of the former were found to be well behaved, although suffering from poverty. At Avella, Pa., he said 36 families could not afford shoes for their children.

Conditions at the Moon Run mine camp of the Pittsburgh Coal Co. and the Horning No. 4 and Cloverdale camps of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal corporation were depicted by Brundidge as unclean and immoral to the extreme. Bootlegging and gambling were rampant, he testified, charging that all such practices were carried on to the knowledge of the coal and iron police, who did nothing to curb conditions.

"Lack of cooperation and harmony" among the coal operators was blamed by John H. Jones, Pittsburgh, Pa., president of the Bertha Consumers Coal Co., for depression in the coal industry.

"The operators are their own worst enemies," he said.

Jones, whose concern recently went into the hands of a receiver, entered statistics of disbursements and receipts which indicated an increasing loss recently. He said that the Pennsylvania now paid only $1.90 a ton for coal, adding in response to Senator Wheeler, democrat, Mont., that he did not believe that the railroads ever sought to beat down the price of coal until it was imposable for the operators to get a profit.

Oliver K. Eaton, union attorney, brought out that miners employed by Jones are now paid a basic wage of $5.50 a day, as compared with $7.50 a basic wage under the Jacksonville agreement.

HELD IN BOSTON FOR DEFRAUDING A HOTEL

NEW HAVEN, March 15—(AP)—Richard F. Marshand, alias Frank W. Jordan, 33, of West Haven, held by the Boston police on a charge of defrauding a hotel of $189.50, is wanted here on a charge of being a fugitive from justice.

Marshand was sentenced last June in Waterbury, on a charge of burglary, to serve six months and pay costs of $111.70 which would mean 113 more days as he had no money to pay his fine.

While attending the funeral of an uncle in New Haven in the custody of Chief Deputy Sheriff John W. Hutt on July 27 he escaped by jumping from the car as it slowed to take a corner. He later was picked up by the Canadian authorities but due to a misunderstanding he was released.

He was arrested in Boston and a form letter was sent out by the probation department to Chief H. W. Tuttle, of West Haven. A warrant charging him with being a fugitive from justice was sworn out and sent to Boston.

ONLY 25 MEN IN MEXICAN "REVOLUTIONARY ARMY"

MEXICO CITY, March 15—(AP)—El Universal Grafico, on the strength of information which the newspaper says it received from a secret service agent, states that only 25 men composed the "revolutionary army" of the Roman Catholic priest who, with five companions, was executed at San Luis Potosi.

The newspaper informant has just returned from San Louis Potosi. He is quoted as saying that the priest recently took the field as the leader of this armed band in an attempt to start an uprising against the government. Federal troops pursued them and all but five of the insurgents deserted the priest. He confirms the identity of the priest as Antonio Mendez. (First reports of the happening named Donaciano Villarreal as the priest, but it seems now that Villarreal was one of the five civilians executed.)

SUBMARINE S-4 WILL BE RAISED AND TOWED TO BOSTON

BOSTON, March 15—(AP)—The submarine S-4, which was sunk off Provincetown, Dec. 17 last, in collision with the coast guard destroyer Paulding, will be raised and towed to Boston in the period between March 20 and 31, the Boston branch of the U. S. hydrographic office was informed today by the navy department.

The tow will consist of the submarine and the six huge pontoons which are being used to raise her from the bottom. At the navy yard the bodies of eight members of the crew which are still imprisoned in the submarine will be removed. Thirty-two bodies were recovered by divers in the salvage operations.

GOV. TRUMBULL STRESSES NEED OF FLYING FIELDS

WATERBURY, March 15—(AP)—"One of the most important factors needed in the development of aviation in Connecticut, is adequate flying fields," declared Gov. John H. Trumbull, speaker tonight at the organization banquet of the Waterbury Aero club held in the Hotel Elton. Gov. Trumbull stated that there should be in Connecticut aviation fields every 15 or 20 miles to insure the state its proper place in the aviation world.

Clarence E. Knox, of Hartford, state aviation commissioner, co-speaker of the evening, also stressed the importance of adequate flying fields in his talk, which told of the benefits aviation brings to a municipality.

COL. LINDBERGH HAS ARRIVED IN NEW YORK

CURTISS FIELD, N. Y., March 15.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh landed here tonight and left immediately in an automobile for New York city.

The colonel, accompanied by Major Thomas G. Lamphier, J. T. Trippe head of the Pan-American airways, and Col. Henry C. Breckenridge, his counsel, flew from Washington and enroute made a brief stop at Baltimore.

FORD'S ROAD INDICTED FOR VIOLATION OF ELKINS LAW

DETROIT, March 15—(AP)—The Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railroad, owned by Henry Ford, was indicted today on fifty counts charging violation of the Elkins law for alleged failure to charge demurrage on shipments of material.

The indictment alleges that the defendant concern handled shipments of building material for the Raymond Concrete Pile company, which held a contract with the Ford company for construction work.

Material used by the contractor, the complaint alleges was shipped to the Fordson plant over the D. T. & I. tracts. Each carload of material was made the basis for one count in the indictment.

The railroad faces the possibility of penalties amounting to not less than $50,000 nor more than $1,000,000, on the basis of a fine of from $1,000 to $20,000 on each count.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTE GIVES CREDIT TO WRIGHTS

WASHINGTON, March 15—(AP)—Credit for having made the first successful flight with a power-propelled heavier-than-air machine carrying a man, was accorded to the Wright brothers today by the board of regents of the Smithsonian institution.

Orville Wright recently announced that he had sent the first Wright plane to the British museum and at the same time criticized the institution and the label it had placed on the Langley plane, which is one of its exhibits. He accused the Smithsonian of making false and misleading statements in an effort to give to Langley the credit which he thought was due himself and his brother.

In reply the Smithsonian announced that the Langley label would be revised if Wright would reconsider and again proffer his machine.

A WARNING GIVEN BY INSURANCE COMMISSIONER

NEW HAVEN, March 15.—(AP)—A warning was issued today by State Insurance Commissioner Howard P. Dunham to residents of the state urging them to determine whether or not an insurance company is licensed in Connecticut before a policy is taken out.

The reason for this is the extensive advertising by certain companies who are not licensed in this state. "It should be borne in mind," said the commissioner, "that if a loss should occur under a policy written in an unlicensed company it might be very difficult to collect the loss if the company showed any inclination to refuse or defer payment. A suit could not be instituted in this state, but would have to be instituted in some state in which the company was licensed which would be extremely expensive."

ARMY TRANSPORT PLANE ON MISSION OF RELIEF

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., March 15—(AP)—An army transport plane capable of bearing one ton of freight landed on the ice of St. Marys river here late today to join two parties to relieve the suffering snow bound residents of upper peninsular villages.

The large plane piloted by Lieutenant Joseph J. Soper of Selfridge field fought its way through a fierce storm raging 30 miles south of here to land safely on the ice. In the party was Oscar G. Olander, commissioner of state police, delegated by Governor Green to take charge of operations in the snow besieged region. It is hoped the plane can be loaded with provisions and make the 60 mile hop to Detour, one of the isolated villages early tomorrow.

MERCHANTS CONSIDER PETITION OF CLERKS FOR HOLIDAYS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, March 15—In an endeavor to make a final agreement for the summer holiday schedule locally, a committee was appointed at a meeting of the Willimantic Merchants' association in the chamber of commerce room this morning to prepare a questionnaire. Consideration has been given to a petition of the Clerks' Protective association against a reduction in the number of summer half holidays. While it is generally agreed that the closing day will be Wednesday instead of Thursday as in past years, there is still a question of whether the stores will be closed for half a day during a four-month period or for a full day for two months. President Robert T. Newton presided at the meeting and Secretary Walter S. Barnes recorded the minutes. A committee is to be appointed by President Newton to arrange for a supper gathering of all merchants in a "rousing" meeting of shop-keepers shortly after Easter. It is planned to hold the affair in the Nathan Hale hotel and have a speaker of national fame. A complete co-operation was reported in the springtime opening movement.

That there have not been any racial preferences in the employment of men for the city departments, which also deflects on the lack of denominational as well as political favoritism, is shown in a list of the names and nationalities as secured for publication by Alderman William E. Jackson. There are those who have felt for some time that the street department was almost entirely made up of a "certain element." Such opinions are dashed in the following roster of this department, which has been the center of attacks of this nature: Superintendent Edwin O. Sumner; clerk, Arthur H. Arnold; foreman, Harry Holmes. French: Fred Buleaud, George LeClair, Fred Legace, Peter Mercier, Desire Turcotte, Jerry Rivard, Arthur Gallant (truck driver). Total seven. Irish: Michael Conway, Patrick Curran, William Daly, William Donovan, Charles Gormley, Charles Hurley, Patrick Shea. Total seven. Scotch-French: George McClure, Walter McNickle. Italian: Charles Tamboquello, Tom Wright (Raitano), Joseph Pescatello (sewer department man). American: Theodore Ladd, Walter Wright. Polish: Mike Yurczak (a decorated war veteran).

PUBLIC SCHOOL SCHEDULE FOR 1928-29 ANNOUNCED

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, March 15—The public school calendar as adopted by the Windham town school committee at its March meeting and which comes under the new system now being adopted in surrounding towns of allowing two recesses of one week duration after the Christmas holidays, is as follows: First term, begins Wednesday, Sept. 5, 1928. First term ends Friday afternoon, Dec. 21, 1928 (16 weeks). Second term begins Wednesday, Jan. 2, 1929, and ends Friday afternoon, Feb. 22, 1929 (eight weeks). Third term begins Monday, March 4, 1929, and ends Friday, April 26, 1929. The fourth term begins Monday morning, May 6, and ends Thursday afternoon, June 20, 1929 (seven weeks). The holidays as designated are: Teachers' convention, Friday, Oct. 26, 1928; Thanksgiving recess, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 29 and 30, 1928; Good Friday, March 29, 1929, and Memorial day, Thursday, May 30, 1929. Armistice day, Nov. 11, falls on Sunday and if the day following is considered a school holiday the schools will continue until Friday, June 21, instead of closing on June 20.

William Beauhler of Eastford got himself convicted of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, in the Chaplin town court Wednesday, when he admitted that he had drunk one glass of cider before starting off on a motor trip. Beauhler's car figured in a collision Monday night while he was driving Henry Daubneck to the latter's home in Chaplin village. The accident was with a machine driven by Maro Chappell of Chaplin, accompanied by Mrs. William Hall and daughter, Margaret, who were on their way to Danielson. The cars came head-on on the highway near the home of Grand Juror Reed. Daubneck was treated for cuts at the hospital. In his investigation, State Officer Carmody found that Beauhler was driving on the wrong side of the road and that the man showed signs of intoxication. Justice of the Peace Charles E. Russ imposed a fine of $100 and costs, remitting $50 of the fine. Grand Juror George A. Reed prosecuted the case.

Much work is being done by a chamber of commerce committee in completing the establishment of an information bureau at the chamber office. Communication has been made with other established agencies of this kind and valuable assistance is being received. In addition to a well-stocked rack of time tables, maps, descriptive and directing pamphlets, the committee hopes to get out a pamphlet setting forth the attractions of this particular part of eastern Connecticut. With such a pamphlet and the several rural and main routes well marked, it is believed that tourists will be encouraged to take advantage of the beautiful scenic and historical attractions of this section.

Mrs. George C. Moon read an historical paper of much value to Windham and its neighboring towns at the monthly meeting of the Anne Wood Elderkin chapter of the D. A. R., held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Larrabee. Mrs. Moon's paper, which represents an entire summer's work, will appear in The National Guide to Historical Spots, a book of several volumes to be published in the future under the auspices of the D. A. R. Mrs. Moon has written interestingly on the history covered by the local chapter in the towns of Windham county, including Windham, Chaplin, Scotland, Ashford, Westford, Eastford, Coventry and Willington. In her extensive researches, Mrs. Moon found that the original deed conveying land of Windham to the first settlers is to be found on file at the office of Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton. Mention is made of the battle between Indians and settlers at Indian rock on the land of George Potter in Windham, where many arrowheads have been found. On Coventry is to be found an oak tree on the grounds of Carl Johnson's home, grown from an acorn of Connecticut's famous Charter Oak. There are many other facts listed in her paper, that went to make up the famous history of this section.

Pierre Rondeau died at his home, 74 Elm street, at noon today, after a long illness. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Mary Rondeau, and eight children, Edgar Rondeau of New York, Abram Rondeau, Mrs. Adelard Rivard and Mrs. Dove Lafrennierre of Lowell, Mass., and Mrs. Eusebe Bolduc, Romeo Rondeau, Leo Rondeau and David Rondeau, all of this city.

The winning poster of the recent poster contest for the big springtime opening of Willimantic stores, will be placed on display in six stores in various sections of the business section Friday. The committee had originally planned to have duplicates of the winning poster made for general distribution, but this was found to be too expensive. The alternative was to have the six duplicates made, and this was done by the art department of the Windham high school, Miss Alice Brehant, a sophomore of the school, being the winner of the contest.

Many visitors, including delegations from Wauseon lodge, Stafford Springs, and other cities, attended a degree meeting of Obwebetuck lodge, No. 16, I. O. O. F., held in Odd Fellows hall this evening. A collation and social followed.

Charles Albert, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Gurley of 274 Jackson street, died early this morning in the Clarke hospital. Burial was in the Willimantic cemetery later in the forenoon.

Alderman William E. Webber, chairman of the water committee of the common council, announced today that the contract for the retail sale of the municipal ice at the pumping station plant had been awarded to Louis W. Ives of Main street. Mr. Ives has had several years of experience in handling the city ice and is prepared to give satisfactory service to the citizens. The contract award was pursuant to authority given the water committee by the council.

An invitation has been given Secretary Earl J. Arnold of the chamber of commerce to be one of the speakers at the annual meeting of the Rockville chamber, which will be held Thursday evening, March 29. Neighbors admire my whiter washes

But I never scrub or boil them

I'M proud of my whiter washes. Not only because they're the whitest ever, but because I do them so easily.

No scrubbing or boiling. No hard rubbing anywhere—even at cuffs and edges. I just soak the whole wash in creamy Rinso suds.

That's all I do—soak and rinse. And let me tell you, I couldn't scrub clothes as white and sweet as the Rinso suds soak them.

This way is easy on the clothes, too; they last much longer now. And my hands don't have that washday look any more.

I'd certainly advise every woman to keep the BIG package of Rinso handy. Get it today from your grocer.

DANIELSON

COMMITTEE APPROVES CUT-OFF PLAN OF COM. MACDONALD

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, March 15—Today a special committee of the town made up of Judge Sabin S. Russell, Frederick A. Jacobs and John W. Gallup met and approved a layout submitted by State Highway Commissioner John Macdonald for the new cut-off to be built from Main, near Hutchins streets, through the fields to a point near the junction of Stearns and Reynolds streets.

This committee was appointed at the annual town meeting last October to take up with the state highway commissioner the matter of finding a new outlet for the Providence-Hartford trunk line instead of going on with a plan to widen Reynolds street from Main eastward to the top of Stearns hill. Such a plan would have involved cutting down numbers of fine shade trees, slashing sidewalks and lawns until, to get a 30-foot roadway, some of the homes would be left practically at the edge of the street. The plan approved today will permit of abandoning the Reynolds street program and take the heavy traffic of the trunk line over the new route.

It is not anticipated that any difficulties will be encountered by the state in obtaining the necessary rights of way. Anticipating the building of the new route, the Westcott and Wilcox Old People's Home corporation some time since obtained from the superior court the right to sell several acres of land for which it has no particular use, and it is through this area that the new route will go for at least part of the distance it is to be built.

It was understood here this afternoon that bids for the construction of the cutoff will be asked by the state highway department during April, and that the construction work will be started soon after the contract is awarded, this seemingly giving assurance that the new route will be completed and ready for use late the coming summer season. The distance to be built over is about half a mile.

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHER DEVELOPS SCARLET FEVER

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, March 15.—An illness that Miss Louise W. Danielson, teacher of English at Killingly high school, developed this morning while engaged with her classes was diagnosed this afternoon as scarlet fever. Miss Danielson is now isolated at her home on North Main street and under the care of a nurse.

Miss Danielson's illness is unusual inasmuch as there has not been a case of scarlet fever in town for the past two months, as far as known, and she is understood not to have been out of town recently.

The development of the case adds a new angle to the health difficulties that schools here have been experiencing the past few weeks. There have been numerous cases of chickenpox and mumps among school children in Danielson, and at the opening of the spring term, two weeks ago, a quarantine was imposed on all who were ill or had been exposed to illness, more than two score being excluded from school on the opening day of the term. Meanwhile a careful check of the health of those remaining in school has been kept and other exclusions enforced as required. The situation appeared to be well in hand and improving daily when Miss Danielson's illness with scarlet fever developed today, and with no indicated means of tracing its origin.

Supt. W. E. Parker of Killingly's schools said this afternoon that after conference with Health Officer Dr. W. H. Judson and upon advise of the state board of health the schools will be kept open. Every morning two physicians will be on hand to examine the throat of every pupil, and immediate exclusion from school and quarantine will be ordered where any symptoms of disease are found. By keeping the schools in session an accurate day to day check can be kept on the health of each pupil, something that would be impossible if sessions were suspended. With the daily examinations there will be much better prospect of controlling conditions than would otherwise be the case in the opinion of Supt. Parker, Dr. Judson and the state health board officials.

Mrs. Olivine Dupre died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elzear Dupre, in Wauregan, where she had lived for years. Mrs. Dupre, a native of Canada, was 75 years of age. In addition to her daughter she also leaves a son, A. J. Dupre, of Wauregan.

Talking of the old Minnetexit hand-tub today, Chief A. P. Woodward considered for a moment just what the old cistern system from which the tub used to draw water would amount to in feeding the modern Capt. Put pumper now the chief dependency of the local department in fighting fires. With its hundreds of gallons of pumping capacity per minute, the big machine now at the fire station would empty one of the old cisterns in two chukes of a lamb's tail. They just would not fit in at all would present day requirements, though they served their purpose very well when they were in use.

The first advantage of tearing down the building at the corner of Main and Academy streets became evident today—the clearing of one of the real danger spots or automobile accidents in the central section of Danielson. This is no longer a bad corner for those coming through Main or out of Academy streets. Ample vision is now provided. As the new bank building is to set back about 30 feet from the corner, the present improved condition may be regarded as permanent.

As to the wearing of the green on St. Patrick's day, it is of interest to mention that Daniel Smith of Brooklyn has a beautiful shamrock plant at his home.

Richard D. Banigan and Herbert H. Pepler, both of Danielson, have been named members of the board of governors of the Putnam Country club for the ensuing year. There are numbers of members of the club resident in this town. W. K. Litch is a vice president of the club, also representing this town.

A. A. Jacques, who has been spending the winter season in Florida, is expected to return to his home in South Killingly in the near future.

Mrs. George Gay of Dayville has a broken leg and is a patient at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam.

Like a hundred other towns in New England, Danielson has its quota of those who though they heard the Capt. Hinchliffe aeroplane purring over Danielson, but there is no way to establish that this is true.

Today brought the final rush of getting out income tax returns, this being the last day allowed for attending to this bothersome matter.

Alphonse C. Bretagne of New Bedford is spending a few days visiting with relatives in Danielson.

Woodstock is the latest of the towns of Windham county to authorize a general revaluation of its property.

With the annual borough caucus just ahead, there is no indication of contests for the nominations, the indications pointing to few changes in the present official family of Danielson.

Favors that will be used at St. Patrick's day socials in town were finding a ready sale here today.

Prompter Frank Barber said today that he is arranging an interesting card of amateur bouts for the re-introduction of boxing in Danielson next week, at the state armory.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Colvin, who have been in Florida since the first of the year, are expected to return to Danielson during the early days of April.

George S. Goddard, state librarian, addressed the members of Sarah Williams Danielson chapter, D. A. R., this afternoon at the home of Miss Annie Hutchins, Main street.

JEWETT CITY

VOTE TO PURCHASE PUMPER MEETS POPULAR APPROVAL

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, March 15—Warden E. J. Jodoin said today that early next week arrangements will be made to get in line for the purchase of the new fire truck.

It was with many expressions of satisfaction this morning that borough people, who were not at the meeting, read in The Bulletin, that $7,500 was the figure appropriated for the fire equipment. The first pleasure, was augmented not a little by the second, when it was learned that, with the town hall packed to the doors, there was not one dissenting voice.

The final bargain will not be closed until there have been satisfactory tests on the borough streets and under the local hydrant pressure.

Chief L. E. Boucher said today, that there might not, and he hoped there never would be need for a pumper in fighting the next 20 fires, adding, yet, when the demand comes, it is liable to be imperative, and may mean the difference between "kept in the building where it started," and "the blaze got away from the firemen and swept the street."

The purchase of the new machine, which will be the last word in modern fire fighting apparatus, will be made by Warden Jodoin and Burgesses E. L. French, Thomas McBroome, John McDermott and Henry E. Olsen, Fire Marshal Prior, Chief Boucher and Chief Howard L. Stanton of Norwich will be asked for advisory opinions. Much weight is given here to the kindly advices received from the Norwich chief.

DANIEL L. PHILLIPS ADDRESSES D. A. R. CHAPTER

Mrs. George H. Jennings entertained Anne Brewster Fanning chapter, D. A. R., at her home Wednesday afternoon. At the business meeting it was voted to subscribe to "The National Republic" for the use of chapter members.

Connecticut Daughters have pledged $6,000 from the six thousand members of the state for an endowment fund at Connecticut College. It was voted to accept the assessment of one Dollar per member to be completed in 1929.

This chapter is honored in that its newest member, Miss Ellen Clementine Faust, is to be a page at the Continental congress of the national society at Washington in April.

Several visitors were present to listen to a most interesting address by Griswold's historian, Daniel L. Phillips, on two historical events of a century ago in Griswold. One was psychic phenomena as evinced by the weird visions and prophetic power of Nehemiah Spencer. The other was the passing of the Marquis de Lafayette through Jewett City on his return to this country to participate in the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of American independence. Mr. Phillips' address, given in his usual scholarly manner, held the closest attention of his hearers. With Mrs. F. C. Whiting as assisting hostess, Mrs. Jennings served a delicious supper. The place cards were souvenirs of St. Patrick's day.

Ten per cent. reduction on all tailor made suits at LeClaire's.—adv.

A man who on Thursday crossed the north end of the big cedar swamp a mile above the town declares that he does not believe robins passed the winter there this season. Heretofore for two winters, choppers who were in the swamp when it was frozen, at parts inaccessible in summer time, have often reported the presence of robins. It always was the general belief here that during every winter robins left this locality entirely. Although this theory has often been disproven, it is believed that the first spring robin in this year will hail from some lower latitude than Griswold.

E. L. French, senior member of the borough burgesses, and Chief L. E. Boucher of the fire department, were passengers with Adam Rojeske, on Thursday, on an automobile trip to Boston. Unofficially, it was their plan to look over several of the various new fire trucks and pumpers, on exhibition at the auto show.

One week ago, between 8 and 9 inches of snow fell all through this section. As the result of one partly rainy day and three others with the mercury at 50, scarcely a trace remains in the woods and fields.

St. Patrick's day will be April 28th, and that night daylight saving time goes into effect again, with the advance of time pieces.

The committee which is to have charge from Dorcas circle of The King's Daughters of a supper planned comprises Mrs. Alice Anthony, Miss S. K. Adams, Mrs. E. B. Cheney, Mrs. Ella Geer, Mrs. G. F. Goodenough, Mrs. F. I. Ray and Mrs. E. H. Hiscox. The sale of tickets is in charge of Misses Mabel Wilcox, Sadie Thompson, Ethel Fisk and Eleanor Stetson

JUDGE AWARDS MILLER DAMAGES OF $41.50

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, March 15—The continuation of the civil term of the Windham county superior court was opened at Putnam, Thursday at 11:30 a. m. The case of George H. Raymond, executor of the will of Frank A. Irons, vs. Caroline B. Miles, of Putnam which was scheduled to be heard Thursday was announced as settled out of court.

The next case ordered to be heard was that of Lloyd J. Miller of Sterling vs. Raymond W. Knox also of Sterling. Miller stated that Knox had done work for him while he was engaged in erecting an addition on to his gasoline station in Sterling and that he had agreed to pay him for the services that he had done. Miller also agreed that Knox had done electrical work for him and some carpentering. He further testified that Knox had on various occasions bought from him gasoline and lubricating oil and some automobile accessories. Later he said that he purchased a radio at a dealers price for Knox to sell for him at a retail price and he further stated that Knox in the event that he could not sell the radio would pay for it himself. Miller produced statements and sales slips showing the articles purchased by Knox from him. The judge allowed these slips to be presented as exhibits.

The defendant, Raymond W. Knox of Sterling took the stand and testified that he had done the described work for the plaintiff and stated that he did not think he purchased the oil and gasoline charged to him, stating that his car was of a small make and that it would not have occasion to use the large amount of gas in so short a time as was allowed by the bill of particulars. Knox stated that he had purchased automobile supplies from Miller and that Miller had given him credit for the accessories in exchange for the work done, but he felt that he did not pay him enough, so he put in an itemized bill of labor and supplies for the work he did at Miller's place of business.

Knox stated that the radio deal was not stated correctly as Miller had told it to the court. Knox said that Miller agreed to get him the radio and he was to try to sell it so that Miller would get fifty per cent of the profit on it and if it could not be sold he (Knox) was to return it to the owner, which he did.

Knox stated that in May 1925 he purchased a pair of automobile tires from the plaintiff and that on the 26th of that month he paid Miller $51.50 in cash and received a receipt for it. Miller later testified that his account with Knox was $100 and that he gave him credit for the $51.50 but he received it in two installments on different occasions.

Witnesses from both sides testified to statements made by the plaintiff and by the defendant and the attorneys, Harvey for Knox and Smith for Miller submitted the conclusions to the court. Judge Yeoman's entered judgment to the plaintiff for an amount of $41.05.

Court was adjourned by order of the judge until Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock when the civil session will be continued.

After four days of spring like weather winter again threatened with snow squalls Thursday morning and with a much lower degree of temperature than that which has been prevailing during the past few days.

Putnam people who have been in the south during the winter months have spoken of the many days in Florida during the winter season that one with an overcoat on did not feel out of place and that on many occasions fires in the homes were quite comfortable.

Receiver George M. Coffin of the First National bank, who has just recently returned from a month's stay in Charleston, South Carolina told a Bulletin reporter that many of the residents of that southern city were greatly disappointed with the climate there this winter. Mr. Coffin said it has been much colder there this year than ever before.

After having many of the Florida weather reports throughout the winter season many of the native northerners have not envied the folks who left early in the season to spend the winter in the south.

John A. C. Warner of the Studebaker corporation of South Bend, Indiana, left Putnam Thursday after spending Wednesday with his parents Judge and Mrs. Edgar M. Warner of South Main street. Mr. Warner left for Boston continuing his extended tour of thirty states in the interests of the Studebaker corporation.

Ralph C. Bradford of South Main street was in Boston Wednesday attending the Boston automobile show.

The members of the Hook and Ladder company and members of the Hose No. 1 of the central fire station met Wednesday and elected officers to serve through the year. The following officers elected are subject to the ratification of the common council: Hook and Ladder company: Foreman, Edward Keane; 1st assistant, E. Favereau; 2nd, assistant, Edward Guertin; secretary, Alpherie Lucier; treasurer, Charles Ryan.

The members of the hose company elected the following officers: Foreman, Dr. H. W. Shrape; assistant, Walter Wheaton; 2nd assistant, Harry L. Morse; secretary, Merle Fish; treasurer, Walter Wheaton.

The local Sporting club will present their postponed bill Friday evening at St. Jean's hall. The bouts were scheduled to be held on March 2, but owing to the injuries the pugilists received in recent fights the show had to be cancelled. There will be stars in the ring from Worcester, Jewett City, Danielson and Putnam. The main bout to be fought will be the one between the Danielson star, Rene Peloquin and Vernon Comier of Worcester. Both fighters have a reputation as fast scrappers and the local fans will be promised a good bill when these two artists of the squared ring meet tomorrow night.

The water works question that has had little publication during the past few days is still on the conversational list of many about the business section. The topic still receives much "tip" from barber shops, clubs, and other gathering places. Many are not satisfied with the action that has been taken at the special city meeting held a few weeks ago and it is supposed that the question as to the erecting of storage tanks will be dragged along and thrashed out for sometime to come before any definite work is done on it.

THE LOST FLIERS

With the lack of any information to the contrary the impression grows strongly every hour that Captain Walter Hinchliffe and Elsie Mackay, who accompanied him, have sacrificed their lives in the attempt to fly westward across the Atlantic.

This flight was planned with much secrecy. The American plane was in fact acquired for the purpose of flying eastward across Europe and the fliers set out with no indication of their course and as if they considered it an advantage to get away without anyone knowing it.

What has happened to them there is nothing to indicate. They have disappeared almost as completely as Nungesser and Coli and with no more trace than was furnished when the plane carrying Countess Lowenstein failed to arrive on this side of the Atlantic. The flight was undertaken under fairly favorable weather conditions with the plane in charge of one of the leading British fliers and there was every confidence displayed on the part of the fliers that their effort would be successful.

With such an opening of the ocean flying season it doesn't necessarily mean that it will discourage those who are planning similar flights, and yet from the large number of failures, including the loss of all who have undertaken the westward flight, it cannot be looked upon as giving courage to other aspirants.

The purpose of this, as well as the other flights, was to gain the distinction of being the first to make the crossing. It has its appeal and those who respond cannot fail to appreciate the hazard involved. Thus far it has been a case of win or lose. The chance of being picked up by some vessel has always existed but none has been so favored, among those flying to this country, although in two instances on flights to Europe aviators have been rescued.

Hope that Hinchliffe and his passenger have been or will be found will prevail as long as there is a possibility, but the long time overdue and the absence of any indication as to their whereabouts leave the outlook distinctly gloomy. Regretfully does it appear to be another case of failure and the sacrifice of human life in the undertaking.

GETTING A BAD START

How little assurance there is that one low-record year for fires will be followed by another is plainly indicated by the fire losses which have been experienced thus far this year when taken in comparison with those of a year ago. It is true that the year is yet young, but the start is anything but encouraging.

During the month of January the fire loss for the United States and Canada reached the impressive total of $42,000,000. That represented $5,000,000 in excess of the loss for the same month a year ago and practically $2,000,000 more than in 1926.

That was making a bad start, but February did even worse. In the shortest month of the year there was a fire loss in excess of $41,000,000, an increase of $15,000,000 over the same month last year and $10,000,000 more than February 1926. That was accounted for to a large extent by the huge loss suffered at Fall River but in the compilation of fire losses all have to be accepted as such whether large or small.

If this gain of more than $20,000,000 in two months is maintained throughout the year there will be left a trail of ashes that will prove a valuable object lesson in the exercise of care. But there is no need of waiting for any such picture. There are already figures enough. The months of the small losses tell the story of the great waste that results from fires, and the great regret is that they do not promote that exercise of caution that will be the means of preventing so much property going up in smoke and so many persons losing their lives.

Even though the desirability of keeping down the fire losses can be appreciated there appears to be no certainty that because a favorable showing is made one year that it will be continued the next. Could the fire losses for the first two months of the year have been kept as low as those of 1927 there would have been a feeling of keen satisfaction. When on the other hand they bound upward by almost a third it stresses the importance of insisting upon preventive measures not occasionally but all the time.

TIMBER GROWING

In the state of New Jersey stress is being laid upon the importance of larger part of the wooden area being owned by the state in order to give the right impetus to forest development. Of its 2,000,000 acres it is pointed out that the state owns but about 22,000 acres.

In many states there has been adopted the policy of establishing state forests. This is for the purpose of demonstrating the value of forestry and the opportunity that exists for the individual to pay more attention to it.

It isn't always the case that a state acquires wooded areas solely for the purpose of supporting the forest movement. In many instances it acts for the purpose of preserving certain natural beauty spots out of which there may develop more or less interest in forest development.

It is unquestionably desirable that there should be an awakening of interest on the part of a much larger number in the possibilities of timber growing. There is a need for it and there are those who are simply waiting to be convinced. If the state can through demonstration tracts set forth the merits of reforestation and permit owners of woodland to see what can be done in their own cases it seems plausible that much more interest can be aroused.

In every state there is a chance for increasing the crop of timber. Some need it more than others but it is a matter which ought not to be neglected. New Jersey has its wasteland that might be converted to such use. It has woodland from which greater production could be obtained and there is a good probability that it could produce a larger part of the timber that is used there yearly. That is true of Connecticut and many other states, but it doesn't necessarily follow that a state must purchase its timberland in order to bring about such results. The need does exist of bringing the people to understand the opportunity that lies in the giving of the right kind of attention to the timber industry.

LOCATING THE CAUSE

What caused the breaking of the St. Francis dam is apparently going to furnish a battle of opinion for engineers. There are those who have already expressed themselves and others will be called upon to give their opinions.

The chief engineer of the Los Angeles bureau of water and power declares after an inspection that he believes there was a series of landslides. This will probably be followed up to determine whether there was any earth movement, either as the result of an earthquake or because of other reasons.

It was the opinion of an engineer for the state of California that the collapse was due to fundamental weaknesses in the abutments. Apparently he places no weight on the idea that the trouble existed anywhere else than in the manner in which the dam was constructed.

These two opinions will not determine the final answer, but they indicate the character of the investigation that is bound to be had.

In the meantime, however, there is commendation for the action of Secretary Work in ordering an inspection of all reservoirs and dams operated under the reclamation bureau. This may not be actually necessary but it is a preventive measure which is prompted by the desire to avoid any repetition of the horrors in the St. Francis valley. If the trouble was due to structural weakness it is not improbable that by giving such attention to the dam before it collapsed as Secretary Work proposes for other dams the disaster might have been prevented. At any rate there ought to be no others because of any failure to investigate.

TRAPPED BY HIS OWN WORDS

The resentment in Ohio because there are many of the citizens who want to support Mr. Hoover as the republican candidate for the presidency means a hard fight in the primary of that state. Some idea of the feeling that exists can be gained from the attack which Congressman Brand of Ohio made upon Mr. Hoover from the floor of the house. It was not a sudden resolve on his part prompted by developments in the day's business but a well planned affair in which he spoke against Mr. Hoover because of his alleged opposition to agriculture. It was calculated to have its influence upon the farmers. He made all sorts of charges in this respect and branded Mr. Hoover the enemy of the farmer. The bitterness of the state contest was displayed in the speech.

Congressman Burton of Ohio made an able reply to the attack, denounced the charges and upheld the secretary of commerce. In the course of his address he read a letter which Congressman Brand had sent to Secretary Hoover three years ago. The letter read:

"You have the ideas that will put agriculture on its feet, and you have the confidence of the producers of the country of all kinds that would make your leadership easy. Although some of my friends have suggested my name to the president as secretary of agriculture, I am inclined to go to the president and urge your appointment. I don't know anyone who fits the place as well as you."

That letter was a boomerang for Congressman Brand and completely knocked in the head all of the charges he had been making.

EDITORIAL NOTES

From all indications it now looks like a green week end.

RIGHT FOOT, LEFT FOOT.

Maryrose Keator knew that she had no business to do it. Her cousin, Mrs. McAlpin, with whom she lived, told her so, too.

"You simply allow yourself to be put upon," said Mrs. McAlpin. "I never saw such a person. You give yourself to the limit. I do believe if anybody should ask you for your black hair you'd grab a pair of scissors and shear it off. Now you know you've no business to attempt to read a paper before the Sororis club. You'll make a mess of it, for even if you had the time——"

"Oh, yes, I know, Elinor," Maryrose replied. "I know I haven't two ideas on the subject of what is woman's best value, decorative or economic? I don't consider myself either the one or the other. I'm just I. Which isn't saying much. But I do like to help folks, and Mrs. Ryan was so put about, poor dear. Oh, I'll manage somehow. I shan't shame her. They'll say, 'Maryrose Keator's doing her best.' They always make allowances, you know."

"Maryrose, you exasperate me," said Elinor. "Oh, dear, I do wish you'd get married. Do you suppose Cornelius Blythe will ever propose to you?"

Maryrose's fresh cheeks paled, but that was the only sign of the agony she felt. Elinor did not stop at a dagger thrust if she felt like delivering it.

"Never in the world," Maryrose answered, shaking her head. "He just doesn't care for me enough. How could he? He is the most wonderful of men and I am the most ordinary of women. I don't even think about it any more, Elinor, and don't you. Cornelius will always be cordially my friend, because we were schoolmates and have practically grown up in each other's sight. But if he ever marries it will be a queen among women whom he selects, and even then she will be none too good for him."

Elinor McAlpin laughed.

"I'll forgive you what you do to my husband when you give such praise to his law partner and superior," she said. "To hear you one would think that Cornelius was a superman. Now, to my mind, you're plenty good enough for him, if not too good. It's a shame the way you always run yourself down."

And now Maryrose laughed, for that was the way with Elinor, to bite your hand and then lick it. Maryrose knew that her sister loved her and that made her willing to bear many things from Elinor which otherwise could not be borne.

Maryrose worked hard over the paper on the woman's best value and in the meantime kept up her work as saleswoman in Kearney's department store. This business of Maryrose's was another instance of her tendency to allow herself to be put upon. For instead of staying at home and allowing Elinor to support her she went forth to labor every day, earned her wage and paid her keep, just like a common working woman, as Elinor sometimes rather bitterly said.

It happened that the much-talked-of meeting of the Sorosis Club came at the end of a week during which Kearney's had simply buzzed with business, for there had been three sales in succession and Maryrose had had her hands full. Added to that, Elinor had had a touch of migraine and Maryrose had had to do some waiting upon her. As a result Maryrose found herself very badly prepared for the ordeal of reading a paper before the whole club assembled and their husbands and friends, for it was to be a social event as well as an open meeting.

That evening Elinor took the bandage off her brow, got into her best bib and tucker and was driven to Mrs. Halsey's where the affair was to take place, leaving Maryrose, who was never on time, to follow later.

"Maryrose, I tremble for you." Elinor said encouragingly, the last thing. "You're haphazard. Do look that paper over carefully again. Mrs. Constable will be there and she's so critical. And, Maryrose, do be particular about fastening all the hooks on your dress. I should die of mortification if you were to get up there before that crowd and—gape!"

Left alone, Maryrose read the paper aloud to herself. Of course she was no judge of literary efforts, but it seemed to go quite smoothly. That quotation from Aurora Leigh was particularly apt.

"Well," sighed Maryrose, "I've done the best I could. And now I must dress."

She had barely 20 minutes. Most women would have qualified before this brevity of time, but not Maryrose. Her hair was the kind that always stays "put," and her complexion needed no additions. She had merely to change her dress, stockings and shoes, and as she was well acquainted with these various articles of apparel, she did not think it necessary to draw down the shades and shut out the air, of which there was, that muggy evening, none too great an abundance.

"Well, there," said Maryrose to herself, "I guess I'll pass. My dress is all right anyway." Then she caught up her papers and hurried forth.

She was a late comer. Mrs. Halsey had left her position near the door and gone among her guests, so Maryrose slipped in by herself. Mrs. Kearney motioned to an empty chair in the back parlor and Maryrose went to it gratefully. As she looked about her she saw her sister, Mrs. Constable, and Cornelius Blythe sitting together.

"I wish he hadn't come," Maryrose thought, and then bravely: "Oh, well, it doesn't matter." But she sat in increasing perturbation until her name was announced.

She got through it somehow and was away from all those hateful watchers out in the cool air of the veranda, where Cornelius Blythe found her a moment later.

"You did splendidly, Maryrose," he said, "and now let's take a stroll in this moonlight. It's too hot back there among all those people."

Tactfully he steered Maryrose toward her own home and then spent the rest of the evening in the porch hammock.

Maryrose was abed but not asleep when Elinor entered.

"You did it! I knew you would," began Elinor.

"Yes," murmured Maryrose dreamily.

"I'll never get over it! Maryrose, if you'd seen your ankles! I thought I should die of shame. And Helen Briggs never stopped laughing."

Maryrose sat up in bed. "What—what are you talking about?" she demanded.

"Don't you know?" hurled Elinor. "You had a blue silk stocking on one leg and a white one on the other!"

Maryrose gave a shriek of laughter.

"It's no laughing matter, I can tell you," said Elinor severely.

"Dear old Cornelius!" said Maryrose softly.

"What about Cornelius?"

Maryrose sobered tenderly.

"How he must love me!" she said. "Just think, El! He brought me home and—and we're going to be married in June!" As Elinor stared blankly Maryrose added: "I put on and took off those stockings in the dark, and though I knew something was wrong, I'd never have known what it was if you hadn't told me, Elinor."—Exchange.

"RELIGION AND THE PRODUCTIVE LIFE"

Friday

"Life, a Sacred Trust"

SCRIPTURE: Memory Verse: "To whom much is given, of him shall much be required." (Luke 12:48).

Read: Matthew 25:14-30.

MEDITATION: The doctrine of noblesse oblige is grounded in the teaching of Jesus. A man's life is not given to him in free simple. He is a steward. Paul spoke of himself as a slave of God. God owned him. The sense of obligation, springing out of possession, is a distinctly Christian type of thought. It adds worth to one's life and one's belongings. The greater our gifts, the greater our obligations; the greater our attainments, the greater our responsibilities. The Christian can neither be vain nor scornful. One of the most distinguished illustrations of what this motive can do is Dr. Albert Schweitzer in the heart of Africa. A distinguished author, scholar, physician and musician, he has built himself a hospital in the dark continent and there lives that he may minister to those who lack all that he possesses.

PRAYER: Send forth a mighty call, O Lord, unto Thy servants to live and preach Thy word, and multiply the number of those who labor in the gospel, granting unto them a heart of love, sincerity of speech, and the power of Thy holy spirit, that they may be able to persuade men to turn to Thee. Amen.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Charles S. Holbrook.

Mr. Editor: Sadly, very sadly, we read in the paper, that another good citizen had passed from the garden, of the Rose of New England, to the higher life.

For everyone that was thoroughly acquainted with Charles S. Holbrook knows that in either private or public life his best endeavors were to measure himself by the standards of God's manhood. We think he believed with one of old who said, "To me it seems as if when God conceived the world that was poetry. He formed it and that was sculpture. He colored it and that was painting. He peopled it with living beings and that was the grand, divine, eternal drama.

As a town clerk for more than 20 years at home and abroad he ever had the reputation of intelligence, faithfulness, painstaking, and of being a very courteous gentleman.

As a citizen he stood squarely on both feet, detesting hypocricy and double dealing. He strongly loved his political party, but he loved his town more.

He was human, but he had the very rare quality of believing his fellow beings were also human. He loved the tree of humanity with all of its God-given magnificent height, breadth, and foliage. And he never looked for the withered leaves thereof.

To his near and dear ones we can only express our sincere sympathy, for human words are too fragile to assuage grief, tears must now fall and mingle with the flowers above his grave. But when the rays of the sunrise, of memory paints those tears in all their beauty in the western sky they will see the rainbow. Then the smiles will return to mingle with the flowers of love, as they thank our Father, that the husband, father, and brother, lived and lived so well.

Bible Reading.

Mr. Editor: A vote of thanks is due to Mr. Ringland for service rendered in so well defining the distinct relationship that exists between church government and politics.

Likewise the proper way to read the Bible in seeking personal guidance and matters of doctrine.

Much confusion often results in applying a personal advice in a way as if it was included for general application. Paul's letter to Timothy is a case in point. This letter is the advice of an experienced man to a young and inexperienced minister in order to forewarn him of difficulties he would have to encounter in his ministry.

It is not a formula uttered ex cathedra, for the ruling of all other nor any other church conduct. So St. Paul writes what had guided his own practice and it is all very rational and conclusive.

Any organization that permits either woman or man to "usurp authority and to teach," can only arrive at confusion. This ought to go without saying and really amounts to an axiom.

Three points observed in reading the Bible will save us of much misconception—also true of any other book.

1st—Who is speaking?
2nd—Who is being addressed?
3rd—What is being said?

Even doctrines and creeds are perverted by neglect of these rules. Much that Jesus uttered in His day which was addressed to His disciples in a special manner and not to the multitude is even in our day being applied to the general public ear.

The same use is being made often of the declarations of the apostles, when they were addressing believers specially and not the community at large.

For example they will quote St. John, "Now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be, etc., etc." And they go off leaving the impression that everybody is a son of God and that all in the context is for all to apply. This is a very loose and unintended way to interpret the deep truths of Christianity.

Of course we are all sons of God by creation, but this is not the sonship of which St. John is speaking, nor the relationship his epistle is endeavoring to enforce and impress on his readers.

Very much scripture reading takes this erroneous attitude, and is harmful rather than helpful.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Welcome Robin and Little Friend Arrive

"Cheer up! Cheer up!" doth Robin sing;
"I am the harbinger of spring!"
—Old Mother Nature.

It was while Winsome Bluebird was still holding his reception in the Old Orchard that another voice was heard coming from the top of the big elm tree in front of Farmer Brown's house.

"Cheer up! Cheer up! Cheer up! Cheer up!" this voice kept repeating over and over. And there was cheer in the very sound of the voice.

"No, said he, "I haven't flown far."

"Welcome Robin!" cried all the little people together. "Hurrah! Welcome Robin has arrived!"

Welcome Robin flew down to the top of an apple tree in the Old Orchard and all the little feathered folk at once gathered around him, leaving Winsome Bluebird. But Winsome didn't mind. His heart was too full of joy. Besides, Winsome isn't fond of so much attention. Then, too, he wouldn't have so many questions to answer. So he chuckled to himself and flew over to Farmer Brown's dooryard to inspect the little house that he and Mrs. Winsome had used the year before.

Meanwhile all the tongues were flying around Welcome Robin as they had around Winsome Bluebird. Had Welcome Robin had any hands to clasp over his ears, I am sure he would have made just that use of them. But when at last the little people discovered that Welcome Robin had not been away down in the Sunny South after all, but had spent the winter in a cedar swamp only a short distance away, the questions stopped. Everybody was glad to see him, but somehow it wasn't quite the same as if he had come from far away in the Sunny South.

"Listen!" cried Peter Rabbit suddenly, and, turning, he scampered toward the far corner of the Old Orchard as fast as his legs could take him, lippety-lippety, lip. The others did listen, and right away followed Peter. Down among the bushes along the old stone wall in the far corner of the Old Orchard a modest little singer was pouring out his heart. It was such a sweet, tinkling little song. There were notes in it like the notes of a little fairy bell. No one hearing it would ever doubt where it came from. They would know it came right from the heart. It was the song of Little Friend the Song Sparrow.

"Oh!" cried Peter. "I know now for certain that sweet Mistress Spring is close at hand, for here all in one morning are Winsome Bluebird, Welcome Robin and Little Friend the Song Sparrow. Tell us, Little Friend, have you flown far?"

Little Friend stopped singing long enough to shake his head. "No," said he; "no, I haven't flown far."

"Didn't you spend the winter in the land of Mocker the Mockingbird?" cried Happy Jack.

"No," replied Little Friend; "no, I didn't. What is the use of making a long and dangerous journey like that when it isn't necessary? I wasn't really in the Sunny South at all, only on the edge of it."

"Didn't you go as far south as Winsome Bluebird?" asked Tommy Tit.

"Not quite," replied Little Friend. "Winsome spent some time with me on his way south, but he went a little farther than I did this year. Well, it certainly seems good to be back again."

"And it certainly seems good to have you back here!" cried his little friends of the Old Orchard.

Stories That Recall Others

A Mammaplane

Last summer when Charles A. Lindbergh was making so many flights, Josephine, a little seven-year-old, watched for his picture regularly. Her mother explained to distinguish his plane that it would have one pair of wings, a monoplane. Very often Josephine would come running with: "Oh! mother, here he is. It's a mammaplane." Finally her mother said, "Jo, just what did you say?"

"Why, a mammaplane," and at the laugh that followed, Jo said:

"Well, the ones with two wings are papaplanes, aren't they?"

A Change of Gears

Margaret, age three, has a Boston terrier for a pet and playmate while her brother and sister are in school.

One day Dixie, as she calls him, was lying on his back with his feet high in the air. For some reason this displeased Margaret and she said, "Mamma, make Dixie put his feet down." A little cold water was thrown on him and he came up instantly. Margaret laughed gleefully and said: "Ha! ha! Dixie had to change his gears, didn't he?"

Gas on stomach?

Makes you feel bloated. Pains around your heart, in your side and back are mostly caused by gas. Pepsinic Seltzer gives immediate relief—it won't affect the heart. Don't dose a Child's Cold

CONTINUAL dosing upsets children's delicate stomachs. Vicks is applied externally and therefore cannot disturb the digestion. It acts in two ways:

(1) The body heat releases the ingredients in the form of vapors which are inhaled.

(2) At the same time Vicks "draws out" the soreness like a poultice.

BEFORE HARTFORD COURT FOR CONCEILING AUTOMOBILE

Frank Dennison, 29, who also calls himself Frank Medbury, was charged in the city court at Hartford Thursday with concealing an automobile purchased on a conditional bill of sale. Dennison's home is in Plainfield. Wednesday he was released from the jail in this city where he had been serving a short sentence in default of a fine imposed for reckless driving here. He was re-arrested by Detective Peter A. Anderson of the Hartford police department. It is alleged he connived with George W. Maine of No. 441 Garden street to conceal the automobile in Hope Valley, R. I. Maine purchased the car from the A. C. Hine company. He made his first payment but was unable to meet the first note. It was declared that he prevailed upon Dennison to "steal" the car last January. Maine reported to the police that his car was stolen and steps were taken to collect the insurance. Maine was convicted for his part in the case and was sentenced to jail for 30 days recently. The case against Dennison was continued to Friday.

This is a hard target to shoot on as hits outside of 5 ring which is 1 7-8 inches in diameter, do not count and score as misses. Members trying out for the team, also Hill Pineault and Chabot, will practice March 26.

DEATH IN HONOLULU OF FORMER OLD LYME PASTOR

Rev. J. Charles Villiers, a pastor of the Old Lyme Congregational church 20 years ago, died last month in Honolulu. After leaving Old Lyme Mr. Villiers and family located in the middle west for some years, later going to Honolulu. Mr. Villiers was a native of Scotland but was educated in England and ordained as a Congregational minister. After leaving Old Lyme he became a priest of the Episcopal church. Among his many pastorates he held one at Stratford-on-Avon, where he was married in 1885. He came to the United States in 1890 and made his home in Maui, Hawaii, 1913. He was active in community as well as church affairs during his 14 years in Maui. After his retirement as rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd at Wailuku, Maui, he was made pastor emeritus. The interment was in Makawao cemetery in Wailuku. Mr. Villiers underwent an operation in the Queen's hospital, where he died the latter part of February.

BRIDGMAN CORPORATION IS PRODUCING THIRD SET OF BOX MAKING MACHINES

The Bridgman corporation, which is one of the younger industrial organizations of the city, having been operating its factory off North Main street near the Norwich Belt Manufacturing company's plant for less than a year, is reported to be making encouraging progress and one of the beneficial effects to the community is the fact that the weekly payroll distribution is close to $1,000 and is increasing. Two models of the several important box making machines which the company will build have been completed and two more are rapidly nearing completion.

The programme followed was to manufacture a line of high grade first machines and then follow with a companion machine, this being called number two stripping machine. The other designs will follow as rapidly as possible. The first set of five machines was sold before completed and these are now being installed in some of the largest and best manufacturing plants in Boston where they are reported to be operating satisfactorily.

A second lot of ten machines was started through the factory and these have been sold, though they will not be ready for delivery before the latter part of the month. There has been placed in production in the factory a third set of ten machines and there is no question about the sale of these before completion, according to the officials of the company.

The machines have been demonstrated to many large prospective purchasers and have received their highest commendation. Judging from what has already been accomplished and the bright prospects at present, the officers feel that the future of the company is assured and that a strong foundation is being built for a successful business of large volume and profit.

OIL SPOILING FISHING IN PAWCATUCK RIVER

That the South County Public Co. is dumping crude oil in the Pawcatuck river in violation of the state law and seriously endangering the livelihood of river fishermen declares Harbor Master Edwin R. Lewis of Westerly. Dr Lewis, who is also a deputy fish commissioner, says he has investigated complaints that waters of the Pawcatuck were being so mixed with oil as to interfere with smelt fishing, which has just begun.

"The condition has been going on all winter" said Dr. Lewis. "I have seen oil on the water and have discovered that it does not appear above the gas works of the South County Co. I talked with smelt fishermen and have been to the South County Co. officials with a complaint. They have assured me that the matter will be taken up at once.

"The condition is touching a commercial production and should not be allowed to continue. The boys (smelt fishermen) work hard and make good money during the smelt season. The oil in the water is driving the fish out. If continued it will not only injure this season's fishing but prevent the fish from spawning for next year. The laws say that nothing shall go into a stream that interferes with the life, growth or propagation of fish. If such conditions continue it will mean the end of fishing in the Pawcatuck river."

Westerly smelt fishermen Wednesday condemned the use of the river for dumping of refuse oil. The smelt fishing yields hundreds of dollars annually and comprises the first of the fish harvest of each year. Pawcatuck river smelts attain large size and are considered of superior quality and flavor.

Capt. Prentice Lanphere Wednesday stated that the oil is appearing regularly at week ends.

"It begins to show about Friday and continues through Sunday," he said. "The first of last week we made good hauls, but as soon as the oil appeared the fish disappeared. The fish won't come up the river to spawn when the water is full of oil. The oil leaves a tarry coating along the water edges and gets on our boats and nets. One net worth $150 is worth about $50 now because of the oil coating over it."

"Conditions are worse this year than in a long time," declared Capt. Eugene Larkin, another of the local smelt fishermen. "We have the same trouble every year, but it is lots worse this spring." Both men displayed a large net covered with a black, sticky substance which smelled of tar and oil. They also pointed to black deposits made along the high water line on the Main street docks off which much of the fishing is done.

William C. Clarke, general manager of the South County company, states that no complaint of oil in the river has been made to him.

"We have everything to prevent such an occurrence and I don't see how it could happen unless something has gone wrong in the filter beds or somewhere else," he said. "Now that it has been brought to my attention I surely will see what the trouble is."

TOTAL OF 2,033 MILES IN STATE'S HIGHWAYS

According to an announcement made Thursday by Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald, Connecticut has completed 205 miles of its apportionment of federal aid highway construction and at the present time has 33.4 miles still in the process of contruction. The completion of the federal aid work now being done will bring the total mileage of the state's highway system to 2,033.53 miles, 1,795 miles of which have been built by Connecticut without any assistance whatsoever from the central government.

Federal aid was first accepted in this state in 1915, the first contract under the appropriation being for the building of a concrete pavement 5.29 miles in length in Cheshire and Hamden. The cost of this work was $125,670 and of this sum the government refunded $53,000. Federal aid project No. 2 was cancelled, but the third covered 9.9 miles in Preston, Ledyard and Stonington, while the fourth was the construction of the highway between Glastonbury and New London, a distance of 32 miles.

In all federal aid work, the state pays contractors in full and receives its refunds upon presentation of vouchers to the government. Final payments are not made to the state, however, until the federal aid district office has carefully checked the construction.

BONDS OF $150,000 VOTED FOR FIRE STATION

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., March 15—Moderator Lewis Stanton presided tonight at the adjourned meeting of Westerly Fire district. Clerk Carl E. Burdick read the call for the meeting in the vote adopted at the last adjournment of the Fire district meeting Thursday evening, Feb. 16.

John J. Dunn offered the motion, which was carried, after he had reviewed the finance committee's work, that the fire district issue bonds to the amount of $150,000 to provide funds to pay for the cost of land and building for housing fire companies and fire-fighting apparatus and equipment, also to meet outstanding indebtedness of the district.

The second vote approved the report of the committee appointed by the district to obtain from the general assembly of Rhode Island legislation to authorize an increase in the amount of indebtedness that the district might incur through borrowing money and also authorize the issuance by the district of bonds to provide funds for the payments of land and fire headquarters and for other purposes. The committee was continued with direction to sell the bonds of this district to an amount not to exceed $150,000 to obtain for the bonds the best price possible. Prior to the sale of said bonds, the committee is authorized to advertise for offers for said bonds.

WAS FORMER MANAGER OF MILL IN MYSTIC

Robert H. Nichols, formerly of Mystic, died suddenly Wednesday in Plymouth, Mass., where he has been residing for the past three years.

Mr. Nichols was for 17 years in charge of the finishing department of the Mystic Manufacturing Co., leaving there when the plant closed to assume a similar position with the Standish Woolen Co., of Plymouth. He was prominently identified in the fraternal life of Mystic and was an active member of Charity and Relief lodge, No. 72, F. and A. M., Benevolence chapter, No. 21, R. A. M.; Mystic council, No. 29, R. and S. M., and Charity chapter, No. 61, O. E. S., Stonington lodge, No. 26, I. O. O. F., of Mystic. Mr. Nichols was also a member of Palestine Commandery No. 6, K. T., of New London, and Pyramid temple, Mystic Shrine, of Bridgeport.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Rose Nichols, of Plymouth; two daughters, Miss Florence Nichols of Bridgewater, Mass., and Miss Doris Nichols; one son, Russell, of Plymouth; his mother, Mrs. Maria Nichols, and two sisters, Mrs. Edward Hall and Mrs. Maude Davis, all of Arlington, N. J.

FAINTING JUROR COMPELS POSTPONEMENT OF TRIAL

A fainting juror in the superior court at New London Thursday caused postponement till next Tuesday in the trial of the suits of Geneva Genishevsky, a minor, and her father, Stanislaw Genishevsky of Hallville against Isadore Fishbone of Norwich and Israel Chiat of Preston. The juror who collapsed during trial of the case about noon Thursday was Mason Manning of Stonington, representative in the general assembly from that town. It is understood that Mr. Manning had been taking some medicine for a cold and that it had had an unfavorable action on his heart.

Dr. George P. Cheney, who was on the stand testifying, and Dr. Louis T. Cassidy of this city, who was in the court room, attended to the sick man and he was later taken to the Lawrence and Memorial Associated hospital in the ambulance.

The girl is suing for $10,000 damages and her father for $2,000 because of injuries she received when hit by an automobile driven by Chiat and owned by Fishbone. The accident happened, it is claimed, in the yard of the girl's home at Hallville.

Mrs. Mariana Genishevsky, mother of the girl took the stand Thursday morning. Joseph Panek was interpreter. The mother told of her daughter playing in the yard and of hearing screams and finding one of the men carrying her to the door-step in his arms.

Joseph Gurnko, Louis R. Cassidy and Dr. George P. Cheney were the next witnesses for the plaintiff, the latter testifying to the condition of the girl at the time of the accident and at present.

The jury, hearing the case, consists of the following:

New London—Alton T. Miner, Charles R. Ogden, Charles C. Appley.

Groton—Adrian C. Hewitt, Ernest W. Brown.

Stonington—Mason Manning, Walter C. Merrill.

Ledyard—Gilbert Hagen.

East Lyme—Elvin A. Stanton, John Radiker, William A. Green.

Montville—Walter Beckwith.

PLANE GETS AWAY FROM STONINGTON GOLF LINKS

The big Stinson-Detroiter commercial biplane which was forced down on the Stonington Manor Inn golf links Tuesday night, when Pilot Ralph Wickford and three Harvard students narrowly averted serious injury, was again in the air Thursday afternoon and en route back to its home port at Boston.

Pilot Wickford took off in the machine at 2.40 Thursday afternoon, 10 minutes after his arrival from Boston by train. One of the mechanics engaged in making repairs accompanied the pilot back to Boston.

Five mechanics from the East Boston airport, under the supervision of Zanford Granville of Granville Brothers, Stinson-Detroiter airplane sales and service of Arlington, Mass., were at work repairing the plane since Wednesday afternoon, having arrived from Boston by motor truck, which brought with its equipment a new under-carriage, lower wing and new propeller for the damaged craft.

The big plane was successfully dragged from the sand pit where it had come to grief, following the forced landing, by several helping hands, who were witnessing the operations. It was jacked up and the new under-carriage installed before darkness halted the work for the day.

The plane came to a stop near No 1 green on the course, only a few yards from Lambert's cove and within sight of the Stonington-Mystic state highway. Hundreds of motorists flocked to the scene throughout Wednesday.

Chief State Inspector George Pranaitis, who investigated the accident early Wednesday afternoon, remained at the scene until the mechanics arrived to prevent further damage to the machine by souvenir hunters.

Will of Charles S. Holbrook

With the exception of one bequest of $2,500 to his daughter, Mrs. Josephine H. Metzger, of Palmyra, N. J., Charles S. Holbrook, late town treasurer of Norwich, has bequeathed his estate to his wife, Mrs. Ella P. Holbrook. Mr. Holbrook's will has been filed for probate with Judge Nelson J. Ayling of the local probate court. The will is very brief and was made Dec. 18, 1926, and signed in the presence of the following witnesses: William S. Murray, Harold T. Robinson and Michael J. Curran. Mrs. Holbrook is named executrix of the will.

FORMER NORWICH PRIEST SUCCESSFUL IN HARTFORD

The new church of the Holy Trinity on Capitol avenue in Hartford, where Rev. John J. Ambot, formerly of this city, is pastor, is to be dedicated Sunday. Holy Trinity parish, whose membership is largely Polish and Lithuanian, was reorganized in 1912 and Father Ambot was transferred from this city where he had been pastor of St.

REV. JOHN J. AMBOT

Joseph's church since 1904. The growth of the parish in Hartford has proceeded under his leadership. The foundation and basement of the present church was built in 1915 at a cost of $30,000 and the superstructure in the past year at a cost of $125,000. The church seats about 700. Father Ambot is assisted in his parish duties by Rev. John Baksys.

GOLF CLUB COMMITTEE AT WORK FOR SUBSCRIPTIONS

A meeting of the board of governors of the Norwich Golf club and the ten members of the special committee appointed by President W. G. Park was held Thursday evening at the Wauregan hotel. President Park presided at the meeting and instructions were given the members of the committee with regards to soliciting the membership regarding the stock subscription to the proposed Norwich Golf and Country club. Each member of the committee was given a list of names of members whom they will see during the next few days and secure pledges of subscriptions.

The officers of the club this year are: President, William G. Park; vice-president, John F. Rogers; secretary and treasurer, James E. Roantree; chairman of greens committee, Edward G. McKay; chairman of tournament committee, Earl Mathewson; chairman of house committee, E. LaRue Bliven; chairman of tennis committee, James E. Roantree. The chairmen of the various committees will name the members of the committees in a short time.

BIG SNOW INEFFECTIVE TO STOP STORRS HENS

The heaviest snow fall of the year at Storrs did not disturb the 1,400 pullets in the laying contest, and production remained on an even keel during the 19nieteenth week. As a matter of fact the 5,456-egg score was a gain of 44 eggs over the production for the preceding week, and by an odd coincidence it was exactly the same as that was registered for the nineteenth week in last year's laying trial. The rate of production was 55.7 per cent. Up to last Monday night the contest flock had produced 91,221 eggs. This is an average of 651 eggs for each of the 140 competing entries or an average of 65 eggs per bird. Up to the present time, the seventeenth contest has already gained 7 eggs per bird over last year's trial for a similar period of time. And in the latter competition, it will be remembered, the flock established a new Storrs record of 183.1 eggs per bird for a 51-week period.

Two more entries passed the 1,000-egg mark during the week just closed. These are the Rhode Island Reds entered by Charlescote farm from Sherborn, Mass. with a 19-week score of 1,036 eggs, and the White Leghorns of George Lowry from West Willington, Conn., with a 1,017-egg score for the same length of time. Several other entries are expected to pass this mark within a week or two.

Charlescote and Hanson Tie

Nine entries crowded on to the honor roll for the past week, but none of these were able to outlay the Charlescote Reds that have out-laid all other competitors in the past six weeks. One entry, Hanson's Leghorns from Corvallis, Ore., did match he Charlescote score of 60 eggs, however, so these two pens share the ranking positions on the honor roll for the nineteenth week. White Wyandottes owned by The Locusts from West Cornwall, Conn., laid 58 eggs to gain undisputed possession of second place. In third place, however, there was real competition, with Reds, Rocks, Wyandottes and Leghorns—five entries in all—tied with 56 eggs each. Included in this group are the Rhode Island Reds owned by Frank Bakonyi of Green Farms, Conn., and West Neck farm of Huntington, N. Y.; the White Rocks of A. T. Lenzen of North Attleboro, Mass.; the White Wyandottes of Fisher Poultry farm from Ayton, Ontario in Canada; and the White Leghorns of Hollywood Poultry farm from Woodinville, Wash. Another entry of White Leghorns owned by George Lowry placed fourth for the week with a score of 55 eggs. The geographical distribution of entries on the week's honor roll shows representatives from Connecticut, Massachusetts, New York, Washington, Oregon and Ontario.

Broadview Rallies

The attempt of the Charlescote Reds to overtake the Broadview Leghorns from Winsted, Conn., and move into first place becomes more interesting as the contest continues, and it now appears that the Broadview entry has no intention of being passed. These Connecticut Leghorns increased their production during the nineteenth week, and it may be the start of a rally that will enable the Broadview entry to retain the coveted first place that they have held since the second week of competition. Broadview's score to last Monday night was 1,059 eggs or 23 more than the total production of the Charlescote entry. The latter contestant outlaid Broadview by 13 eggs during the past week, but if the Leghorns continue to increase they will reduce the rate of gain. That is, provided the Reds do not increase their lay, also, though the possibility of increase in the Reds is not as great as in the Leghorns, which are producing less at the present.

"Starting a Poultry Farm" will be the subject of the poultry dialogue to be broadcast from WCAC next Wednesday, March 21, beginning at 7:15 p. m. This will be given by Prof. David E. Warner Jr., and Carl G. Bjork.

BAPTIST PASTORS WILL EXCHANGE FOR A WEEK

The deacons of the Central Baptist church took action Thursday evening in which they recommended and approved an exchange of pastors between this church and the First Baptist church of Bridgeport for a week of evangelism beginning Sunday, March 25.

In accordance with this recommendation Rev. Dr. David A. Pitt of this city and Rev. Charles Hellsath of Bridgeport will exchange for that week, each preaching in the other church at the Sunday morning service and speaking every week night up to and including Friday, the 30th.

Rev. Mr. Hellsath, who is a Texan, came to Yale for graduate work in divinity and was called from there to the Bridgeport church, which is one of the strongest churches in the denomination in the state and its pastor is one of the foremost pulpit orator.

SHOWS 4,918 AUTOMOBILES REGISTERED IN NORWICH

Exclusive of 5,600 dealers' cars there were 291,505 motor vehicles registered in the state during the past year. Of these 27,947 were registered from Hartford. New Haven came second with 26,013, while Bridgeport had 21,864. Waterbury was fourth with 18,618 and Stamford fifth with 10,745. New Britain was sixth with 10,007.

Towns having over 4,000 registrations were, in addition to the six mentioned, Greenwich 7,802; Norwalk, 7,460; Meriden, 6,029; New London, 5,669; Danbury, 5,337; Norwich, 4,918; Bristol, 4,794; West Hartford, 4,771; Manchester, 4,240; Torrington, 4,176; and Middletown, 4,074.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Thursday evening the Aftermath club met with Miss Mary G. Shannon, of Washington street. The prize was won by Mrs. Charles C. McNamara.

Mrs. Louis A. Wheeler entertained the Thursday afternoon Auction club at her home on Cliff street, the prize being taken by Mrs. Charles A. Gager.

Mrs. Fred W. Palmer, who attended the Couch-Palmer wedding in New London and has been in Norwich, the guest of Mrs. Robert W. Perkins, of Broad street, has returned to Cambridge, Mass.

Norwich Delphian chapter held its study hour Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Gardiner Greene and Mrs. William H. Palmer, at the home of Mrs. Greene. Mrs. Edward D. Fuller continued her talk on the life and works of George Sand.

In compliment to her house guest, Miss Louise Gunther, of Omaha, Neb., Mrs. Willis Austin gave a tea Thursday. At the table were Mrs. William A. Norton, Mrs. Lucius Briggs, Mrs. Albert H. Chase and Miss Louise Tyler Norton.

PLEASING NEW MODES SHOWN AT STYLE SHOW

The Tubridy-Weldon company opened the spring season for Willimantic with its tenth semi-annual style show and fashion promenade last evening. The show opened at seven o'clock. The seating capacity of nearly five hundred was taxed and over 150 occupied standing room in the store while a large crowd was forced to remain on the sidewalk and view the promenade through the show windows. Five models from New York exhibited all the latest in apparel for the slim, average and the women five feet four inches or shorter.

The store was attractively decorated for the ocasion with cinerarias, tulips, geraniums and forsythe. Music was from an Orthophonic victrola loaned by the United States Music company.

The models displayed in effective fashion, coats, frocks, millinery, hosiery, furs and bags. Textures shown included Rodier tweeds, Kasha, Kashmir, Twill, Arabian fleece and Twist tweed. Frocks worn were of Indian, Mayflower and Pheasant prints, georgettes, printed georgettes, Rodier scarf dress and flat crepes. The prints, which are the rage of the season, secured a warm response from the audience. The suits were displayed with attractive neckpieces of fox, blue wolf and kit fox. The most favored of fur trimmings are marjellan, fox, phonie, erkinime, butter mole, summer ermine, mink paw, squirrel, fitch and moleskin.

The show lasted for two hours and all of the many atractive articles of apparel shown were taken from the standard stock of the company which is considered as one of the most complete in this section of the state. Mrs Lilly J. Tubridy stated tonight that the spring season opens at the store as an entirely new leaf in business inasmuch as the only remnant of the winter stock remaining was but one single coat of moderate value. The stock was entirely renovated for the opening.

Magnesia Best for Gassy Stomach

Bisurated Magnesia Promptly Ends Gas, Sourness and Acid Indigestion.

If everything you eat turns to gas and your stomach is a constant ferment of sourness and Acid Indigestion, try taying a little pure Bisurated Magnesia after meals for a while and get the immediate relief from stomach trouble this simple prescription unfailingly gives.

It is a serious mistake to seek relief from Indigestion or a bad stomach by using pepsin or other artificial digestants. You get relief but weaken the stomach and do not reach the cause which, nine times in ten, is simply "too much acid" in the stomach. Bisurated Magnesia, taken after meals, dissolves or neutralizes this acid, sweetens and cleans up the stomach, drives out gas and bloat and lets the stomach digest your food as nature intended without a particle of trouble.

Reliable druggists everywhere supply the genuine Bisurated Magnesia in both powder and tablets in sealed packages. Do not confuse with ordinary citrate, milk or lump magnesia. Be sure to get Bisurated, which is not a laxative and is especially prepared for stomach trouble.

How One Woman Ended Eczema

Severe Case All Over Her Body, But Now She Is Better.

Here is just another case of how Peterson's Ointment conquers the terrible itching of eczema after other treatments had failed.

The same kind of a story comes from all over the country. After others fail Peterson's Ointment succeeds.

This letter from Charlotte Brandeau, of Swansea, Mass., is worth reading: "I used Peterson's Ointment and soap for a very severe case of eczema. It was all over my body. I have tried many things to cure it, but not one of them gave me a cure. I saw the ad of Peterson's Ointment in the Fall River Herald and now I am better. I do not go without your ointment and soap in the house, and recommend it very much."

Get a box of Peterson's Ointment at any drug store in America for 35c. It won't disappoint you.

JIMMY QUINN LOSES UNPOPULAR DECISION TO DOWD AT WILLIMANTIC

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, March 15—Earl Champlin, the 160 pound Big Boy Burlap from Westerly, lived up to his reputation as a minute man, in the feature bout of the Willimantic A. C. card staged at the Al Pierre Tabarin tonight by knocking out his opponent, Paddy Jones, 130 lbs., of Waterbury, in one minute and ten seconds in the first round. The Big Boy entered the ring clad in the highly colorful trunks with a decorated rooster of the Providence A. C., a color combination that is contributing to his fame. Paddy Jones had a good reputation with the fans when he stepped out from his corner, but it soon went to ruin when the Big Boy began to cut his opponent into ribbons. Paddy wisely used the canvass as a resting place for the count of nine on two occasions during the brief flurry, then laid in the Big Boy's corner after a hard left to the body for the count of ten. He was in a helpless condition although not exactly out. The bouts staged under the auspices of the Connecticut A. A. U. were witnessed by another large crowd of about 1,000 fans.

In the preliminary bout Anthony Bakker of Moosup won a decision on a technical knockout in the second round over Johnny Leontak of Willimantic. Both weighed 150 pounds. The first round of the 150 lb. boxers provided comedy for the fans and Referee Billy Conway of Hartford stopped the fight in the second round when the local man began to feel the score.

Bout two was a 112 lb. affair in which Eddie Dowling of Waterbury used the one two punch for a decision over his game opponent, Sydney Nichols of Danielson.

In bout three, weights 122, Joe Marfice of Manchester fought an aggressive fight against Charles Gaulet of Danielson, but Gaulet showed fast defensive action and was awarded the decision.

Bruno Gets Close One

In bout four, 147 lbs., Alex Socquet of Danielson fought Joe Bruno of Westerly in what the fans believed would be a draw, but the judges decided a decision for Bruno. Bruno proved a stumper taking two blows to get in one and got his award through his persistent leading.

John Loughrin of Waterbury and Ralph Raymond of Norwich, weighing in at 155 for bout five, Raymond was out of the Waterbury's boy's class and after 50 seconds of fighting, in which Loughrin ran a race around the ring to keep out of the Norwich boy's reach the referee counted ten over Loughrin's body as he laid for the punishment he knew was coming to him.

Bout number six, weights 137, was a lively but rather uneventful match between Joe Dazin of Waterbury and Lucien Brouillard of Danielson. The Danielson boy was awarded the decision on points.

Quinn Bout Thought A Draw

Al Dowd, 126, of Manchester met Jimmy Quinn, 128, in the seventh bout and after a fast three rounds was awarded the decision on points. The decision did not meet with the unanimous approval of the fans, the general feeling being in favor of a draw.

Police Commissioner Frank Murphy of Hartford was announced and Roy W. Downer, time keeper. The judges were Arthur Small and H. N. Bullard.

The next show will be held by this club on March 29.

DONOHUE OMITS DEMPSEY IN RANKING FIGHTERS

Thomas E. Donohue, boxing commissioner of the state and president of the National Boxing association ranks the boxers in their divisions in this month's Self-Defense, a boxing magazine. His opinion carries much significance as he has long been intimately connected with the game.

"Jack Dempsey is not selected in the heavyweights because he has announced his retirement," says Mr. Donahue. All of the champs lead their divisions with the exception of the flyweights where the N. B. A. names Frankie Genaro and the N. Y. Commission designates Corporal Izzy Schwartz as the leader.

The rankings follow:

Heavyweights—1, Gene Tunney, 2, Tom Heeney, 3, Johnny Risko, 4, Jack Sharkey, Jack Delaney, George Godfrey, Paolino Uzcudun, Knute Hansen.

Light heavyweights — Tommy Loughran, Jimmy Slattery, Leo Lomski, Joe Sekyra, W. L. Stribling, Armand Emanuel.

Middleweights — Mickey Walker, Maxie Rosenbloom, K. O. Phil Kaplan, Jack McVey, Joe Anderson, Rene De Vos, George Courtney, Dave Shade, Pete Latzo.

Welterweights—Joe Dundee, Ace Hudkins, Tommy Freeman, Willie Harmon, Sammy Baker, Hilario Martinez, Billy Light, Johnny Indrasano, Al Mello, My Sullivan.

Lightweights — Sammy Mandell, Jimmy McLarnin, Billy Wallace, Louis "Kid" Kaplan, Bruce Flowers, Billy Petrolle, Joey Kaufman, Sid Terris, Stanislaus Loayza.

Featherweights — Tony Canzoneri, Joey Sangor, Andre Routis, Sammy Dorfman, Benny Bass, Harry Bilitman, Charley "Phil" Rosenberg, Santiago Zorrilla, Dominick Petrone, Eddie Shea, Pete Nebo.

Bantamweights—Bud Taylor, Kid Francis, Archie Bell, Al Brown, Bushey Graham.

Flyweights—Frankie Genaro, Corporal Izzy Schwartz, Midget Wolgast, Willie Davies, Marty Gold, Johnny (England), Johnny McCoy, Newsboy Brown, Frenchy Belanger, Billy Kelly, Harry Goldstein, Petit Biguet.

ST. GODDARD WINS THE PAS DOG DERBY

THE PAS, Man., March 15—(AP)—Emile St. Goddard, premier musher of the north, again captured the annual dog derby of The Pas today when he finished the last 40-mile leg of the race well in front of Earl Brydges.

St. Goddard's total elapsed time for the three days' running was 12 hours, three minutes and 45 seconds.

Brydges, who finished second, had a total elapsed time of 12 hours, 12 minutes and 35 seconds.

Pranteau, the 60 year old Indian musher of Grand Rapids, finished the 120 miles in third place in 12 hours, nine minutes and 39 seconds. Solomon Cook, townsman of Pranteau, was the fourth.

'BOUT SPORTS

The state scholastic title tournaments open today with eastern Connecticut heavily represented at Storrs and with no one to uphold her honor at New Haven. That is, unless South Manchester, which is east of the Connecticut river, might be considered in this territory. Today's games bring together Central high of Bridgeport and Bristol, Wilby and South Manchester, Meriden and Warren Harding and New Haven Hillhouse and Hartford Weaver. Bristol, Wilby, Harding and Weaver ought to win, that is, on past performances. Tomorrow afternoon, the winner of the Bristol-Central game will meet the winner of the Wilby-South Manchester game and the victor in the Meriden-South Manchester game will clash with the winner of the Hillhouse-Weaver game. Therefore, this should make Bristol and Wilby and Harding and Weaver in the semi-finals. These should be some stiff tussles with Wilby probably a bit too experienced for Bristol and Harding more capable under fire for Weaver. The finals would then be between Wilby and Harding and there are many who think that's what will come about.

Meanwhile, the two "black sheep" of the titular arranging, Windham and Naugatuck, meet at Naugatuck tonight in probably the most important single game of the year. It was by a cruel twist of fate that these two strong quintets were kept from the tourney and there will always linger in the minds of many the thought that these teams could give the best of them in the tourney a hard run for championship honors.

Big Boy Burlap, or rather, Earl Champlin, continues to slap them down. His knockout victory over Paddy Jones last night is a big advance for the dusky Westerly battler while the win, also a knockout, over Henry Bell of Hartford, ranks Burlap well up in the front of the heavies in this part of New England.

MASSIE MILLER PLAYING BRILLIANTLY IN THE SOUTH

That Massie Miller, professional at Norwich Golf club, is holding his own in the ranks of the leading professionals in the country is evidenced by the account of a best ball match at La Gorce golf course at Miami Beach, Florida, the other day. Miller was paired with Mike Turnesa against Al Watrous and Joe Turnesa in a foursome with Miller and M. Turnesa winning 3 and 2 with a best ball of 64 against the best ball of 65 for J. Turnesa and Watrous.

Massie turned in a card of 70, one under par, taking 33 going out and 37 coming in. Joe Turnesa had exactly the same score. In his round Massie got three birdies on the outward trip and two coming in. The cards follow:

Par:
Out ..... 4 4 4 3 5 4 4 3 4—35
In ..... 4 5 4 3 4 4 3 5 4—36-71

Miller:

J. Turnesa:

Al Watrous:
Out ..... 5 4 4 4 4 4 3 4 5—37
In ..... 4 5 3 3 4 4 3 4 4—34-71

Massie is expected to qualify for the Miami open to be held over this course starting Saturday. This tourney rivals the Los Angeles open in the purses.

VETERANS BEGINNING TO TAKE THEIR PLACES AT CAMP

ATLANTA, March 15.—(AP)—Managers in major league baseball training camps who three weeks ago were talking in terms of recruits are returning now to temporarily neglected veterans as time nears to share the line-ups for the grand opener.

The regulars are beginning to take their customary places, with more and more newcomers daily being assigned to seats on the bench as exhibition contests hold sway. Most of the clubs were engaged in such contests today.

Within two weeks the northward trek will begin and a number of the squads have started concentrating especially on work for regular pitchers. Grover Alexander yesterday retired nine men in order in three innings for the St. Louis Cardinals while Jack Quinn is showing the same early season class with the Philadelphia Americans.

Likewise, Adolph Luque of the Cincinnati Redlegs has shown fine starting condition.

Because of the general activity in exhibition games morning workouts were light today although the Redlegs went through a yannigan-regular contest at Orlando.

E. S. Barnard, American league president, arrived at Bradenton, Fla. today to visit the Boston Red Sox camp. He will participate in the "Bill Doak Day" festivities there tomorrow when the Brooklyn player will be feted by his fellow townsmen.

The Chicago Americans left Shreveport, La., tonight for a 9 game excursion into Texas.

Part of the New York National league squad remained at Augusta, Ga., today for work while the others were at Athens in an exhibition game.

JOHNNY RISKO IS TO MARRY CLEVELAND GIRL

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 15—(AP)—Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight who last Monday proved impervious to the body blows fo Jack Sharkey at Madison Square garden, has been dealt a knockout blow to the heart by Dan Cupid.

His engagement a year ago to Miss Mary Noch became known today.

Johnny, a former baker boy, said he probably would not be married for another year. His fiancee says she will not permit him to "mess up" her kitchen regardless of his ability at kneading dough.

Miss Noch who is a telephone operator, walks four miles to work, and return every day. Risko often gets in part of his road work by accompanying her.

Interscholastic Sports

The Academy's baseball squad still holds workouts at the Y gym.

It won't be long now before they can take to the outdoors.

Bulkeley's basketball team closes its season tonight at Fishers Island, meeting the high school there.

Chapman Tech's baseball players get their first call Monday when indoor practice at the New London Y will start.

Tech opens her season April 7 against Deep River and she expects to have 16 games on the schedule.

The two tournaments for state title open today, that for Class A and B schools and for Class C and D schools at Storrs.

Bacon academy of Colchester is entered in Class D and Stonington in Class C. A busload of supporters will accompany Bacon to the tournament.

Windham and Naugatuck meet tonight at Naugatuck.

MANY FAVORITES ARE LISTED AMONG ENTRIES FOR PASTIME SHOW TONIGHT

A banner card is promised by the Pastime A. C. tonight at Olympic hall for their regular semi-monthly amateur boxing show. Featured by teams from the Sub Base, Coast Guards and Willimantic together with local faverites, this show bids fair to be one of the best of the year.

At Least Ten Bouts

There will be at least ten fast bouts. The Coast Guard and Sub Babe teams will oppose each other to furnish some real lively fireworks. These boys are now in the pink of condition after some stiff training and they should furnish thrills galore. The Base team will include at least one Pacific Coast champ, who was recently transferred to the east. These boys made a great name for themselves on the Golden Slope and they come here tonight fully determined to make their first appearances hereabouts one of great success.

The Willimantic team will feature Young Bicknell, 118, Kid Lavalle, 122, Young McLean, 126, and others and as most of these have appeared here on previous occasions the fans know that any real action usually follows the sound of the gong.

Probably Heavyweight Bout

At least one heavyweight bout is expected with Young Brush and Young Fritz as likely participants. Kid Carpenter is another likely looking prospect for some heavy hitting while there will be probably be more entries among the "big boys" before the show starts, including possible, Tony Turrello of New London, who made a good showing on the last card.

Bobby Mays will referee and another highly capable performance is expected. Jack Carney will be the timekeeper while the judges will not be announced until starting time. A big surprise is promised after the third bout. The show starts at 8:15.

PLACED TOO MUCH STRESS ON ATHLETICS; DISMISSED

CHICAGO, March 15.—(AP)— Too much stress upon athletics, caused the expulsion today of West Virginia university from the North Central association of colleges and secondary schools.

Inadequate supervision of athletic funds, and proselyting by alumni were among the charges filed by the executive committee headed by Dr. George F. Zook of the University of Akron (Ohio), and approved by delegates representing 251 institutions.

The academic, health and character interests of student bodies rank first, the executive committee report declared, recommending a definite stand against the payment of money to students of athletic skill, and the abolition of free training tables.

It was charged that alumni of West Virginia university raised a fund with which to induce athletes to attend the university and encourage athletics.

TOM HEENEY SAILS SATURDAY FOR ENGLAND

NEW YORK, March 15—(AP)—Tom Heeney, New Zealand heavyweight, who came to America without even an overcoat last fall, will sail on the Olympic Saturday for a vacation in England after fighting his way into consideration for a title bout with Tunney.

Heeney's first American fanfare, starting inconspicuously last fall, gained momentum through victories over Jimmy Maloney, Johnny Risko, Jack Delaney and draws with Jack Sharkey and Paulino. He will return within a month to fight Risko again in the final of Tex Rickard's elimination tournament.

While abroad, Heeney will investigate for Rickard the possibilities of a title match this summer in the Wembley stadium, near London. The promoter favors a bout there between Heeney and Tunney if British taxation would not prevent the match being a financial success.

PAYNE, OKLAHOMAN, WINS LAP IN RACE

SELIGMAN, Ariz., March 15—(AP)—Breasting a 40 mile an hour wind that swept the broad plateaus of northern Arizona, Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., raced to victory today in the 38.3 mile stretch from Peach Springs to Seligman in the Los Angeles-New York marathon.

Payne, who holds second place in elapsed time, covered the distance in 5:39:10. His elapsed time for the 435 miles covered is 74:46:12.

The Oklahoman, by winning today cut about eight minutes from the lead of Arthur Newton, British runner, who is ahead of the field in elapsed time. Newton finished second today, followed in order by Dr. Arne Souminen Detroit; John Cronick, Saskatoon, Sask., and Louis Perrella, Albany, N. Y.

The most gruelling course met since the athletes set off to contest for the $25,000 first prize for the first to reach New York caused several runners to drop out today.

C. F. C. PREPARING FOR SATURDAY'S GAME

In preparation for the opening of their city title series with the Academy Saturday night at the Y, the C. F. C. quintet has been drilling hard all week. Coach Davis expects to start his regular lineup of Lambert and Leffingwell at forwards, Ludlow at center and Brown and himself at guards.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

Thousands of turf followers will regret the passing of the Windsor Jockey club track across the river from Detroit. The plant, which was the scene of a Grand Circuit meeting several years go, is being cut up into building lots.

Ohio, which produced the first professional baseball team in America, the famous Cincinnati Red Stockings, has now launched a plan for a state series for junior baseball, as the first step in a campaign to encourage baseball among the boys.

Though ping-pong is an entirely English game, its present great revival is not by any means restricted to that country. The Hungarians have adopted it as their national game, and its devotees are thousands strong in Germany, Sweden, Denmark, Czech-Slovakia and Latvia.

A young English billiard professional, playing in Birmingham recently, established a record in snooker pool which never can be bettered while the rules of the game remain as they are today. He scored the full "possible" 147 points, something that never had been done before. This means that he "potted" the black ball (scoring seven) until each of the 15 red balls was down and then took the rest of the colors in their prescribed order.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, March 15—(AP)—Tex Rickard is hustling south, the boys believe to discourage Gene Tunney from engaging in two championship fights this year but the titleholder may not be so readily convinced.

If, as is generally understood, Rickard guaranteed Tunney something like $525,000 for each of two title bouts, the first bout to take place June 14, the promoter has plenty to worry over. With Jack Dempsey temporarily out of the picture and the elimination process developing no figures more startling than Johnny Risko and Tom Heeney, Tex probably will tell Gene that there is nothing in sight for June 14 that would justify a half million dollar purse to the champion.

Tunney, on the other hand, is anxious to fight—or box. There was no ballyhoo motive in the champion's demands for a two-bout program.

"No one knows better than myself that I cannot keep in good shape on one fight a year," Gene explained, "not only that but I must cash in while the cashing is good. There will be no benefits for me after I have been bumped off the top."

Gene May Sacrifice Money for Bout

Gene may be willing to effect some financial compromise with Rickard rather than forego the prospect of fighting in June. The champion probably will be willing to work on a straight percentage basis for his first fight, especially if assured of the rich return that would come from a prospective third bout with Jack Dempsey in September.

The view still persists that Jack and Gene will mingle again in the fall in spite of the ex-champion's expressde desire to quit the ring for good.

Since becoming champion Tunney has proved himself a shrewd bargainer, well able to take care of his own affairs, but he has not been difficult to deal with, in Rickard's opinion.

The chief thing Tunney insisted upon after winning the title was that for the return bout with Dempsey he get as much as the Manassa mauler did in their first bout. It annoyed Tunney that he got noly $200,000 for beating the champion.

Gene not only achieved this point but exceeded it. Dempsey collected $875,000 for the dreary night's work at Philadelphia where he lost the crown and Tunney received $919,000 for defending it at Chicago.

Mandell-McLarnin

Sammy Mandell hasn't run many risks with his lightweight title since taking it from the veteran Rocky Kansas in July, 1926, but the Rockford sheik is doing no side-stepping by signing to battle the stiff-punching Irish lad, Jimmy McLarnin, here May 17.

McLarnin, the baby-face kid, seems destined to become champion but it is far from a lead-pipe cinch that he will knock off Mandell this spring, the boys believe. For one thing Sammy's chin is more durable than that of McLarnin's latest victim, Sid Terris, his skill and experience may be sufficient to offset Jimmy's present rush toward the top.

ACADEMY-COAST GUARD JRS. TONIGHT

N. F. A.	Coast Guards
Jarvis, lf	lf, Sinton

Viau, c	c, Harding
Kelly, lg	lg, Fahey
LaCroix, rg	rg, Donahue

The Academy meets the Coast Guard Academy Junior Varsity quintet tonight at the Y gym in the last tilt on the regular season's schedule.

The visitors are generally conceded to be above the average run of high school fives for they have beaten all teams in this line this year. Two decisions over Stonington, and one each over Chapman Tech and the Academy have been among their accomplishments.

The Whalers beat the Red and White by two points in New London early in the season, and, of course, they had to travel hard all the way to get that decision. In Sinton, left forward, they present a high scoring man, who will have to be closely watched by the local high school outfit.

However, the Academy has shown tremendous improvement of late, winning three games in as many starts last week. If they continue this pace hopes run high of a victory tonight but any faltering will surely mean disaster.

The main game starts at 9 o'clock with a fast preliminary at 8 o'clock. A large crowd is expected.

BRAVES HAND YANKEES 6 TO 0 BEATING

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 15—(AP)—The New York Yankees experienced something today they seldom have to go through—a shutout. Southpaw Ed Brandt and Henry Wertz, the righthander, pitched the Boston Braves to a 6 to 0 victory over the world's champions, allowing but five scattered singles between them. It was Boston's second victory over the Yankees in as many starts.

"Murderer's row" was quite passive when confronted with the mid-season pitching that Brandt and Wertz served up. Meanwhile the Braves were tearing into Al Shealey, Myles Thomas and Henry Johnson for ten hits. Eddie Farrell led the attack with three singles and a sacrifice.

The "big three"—Ruth, Gehrig and Hornsby—carried their bats to the plate regularly but none of them got a hit. Ruth's best effort was a sacrifice fly. He grounded out twice and hit into a double play with two men on base on his other trips.

Two of the Yankees' five hits went to Sam Byrd, rookie centre fielder.

Score by innings:
Boston (N) ..... 0 0 0 3 1 1 1 0 0—6
New York (A) .. 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0

Brandt, Wertz and Taylor, Urban; Shealey, Thomas, Johnson and Collins, Dickmann.

Giants 11, U. of Georgia 1

ATHENS, Ga., March 15—(AP)—The New York Giants gathered fourteen hits, including several for extra bases, to defeat the University of Georgia, 11 to 1, in an exhibition game here today.

Bill Terry, McGraw's first sacker, kept up his tremendous hitting, driving out a home run, a double and a single. Chester Nichols and Art Johnson allowed the collegians only five hits. Their one run was scored in the ninth off Johnson. Score by innings:

U. of Georgia .. 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1— 1

Nichols, Johnson and Barrett, Witty, Parks, Murdock, Stewart and Keating.

Browns 9, Phillies 3

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 15—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns handed the Philadelphia Nationals a 9 to 3 beating today.

The Browns pushed over five runs at the start, which later proved enough to decide the contest.

The five runs were scored off Alex Ferguson, who was pounded for eight hits and six runs in three innings. Lester Sweetland and Jimmy Ring divided the other six innings on the mound. Kress, Browns' shortstop, made five errors but raped out four hits including a double. Score:
St. Louis (A) ... 5 0 1 0 0 0 1 0 2—9

SENATORS GET FIRST WIN OF SEASON OVER ROBINS

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 15.—(AP)—The Washington Senators scored their first victory of the exhibition season today at the expense of the Brooklyn Dodgers, 3 to 1.

The game, hard-fought from start to finish, was not decided until the eighth inning when Barnes' single scored George Sisler, who had doubled. Incidentally it was Sisler's third double of the game.

Griffin, Wells and Lisenbee were on the firing line for the Senators, while McWeeney and Ehrhardt were Wilbert Robinson's mound choices.

Score by innings:
Washington (A) 000 200 010—3 10 1
Brooklyn (N) . 001 000 100—2 7 2

Cards 9, Orioles 6

AVON PARK, Fla., March 15.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals came from behind to score six runs in the fourth inning and win from the Baltimore Orioles today 9 to 6.

Coumbe started in the box for Baltimore and held the Cardinals to one hit and one run in three innings. Cates took the mound and walked two men and hit another to fill the bases. Slappey replaced him but before he could retire the side eleven Cardinals had pushed over six runs on two hits. Grabowski, who started for the Cardinals, was pounded for four hits and four runs in the first inning.

The score:
Baltimore .... 400 100 001—6 11 3
St. Louis ..... 100 600 20x—9 8 3

MORRIS DIVORCE TRIAL MAY BE FINISHED TODAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., March 15—The superior court for Washington county, Judge Arthur P. Sumner on the bench and without jury continued today to hear the contested divorce petition, Clara L. Morris vs. Henry B. Morris of Weekapaug, former residents of District No. 6.

Thursday morning counsel for the defendant, in cross examination of Mrs. Morris went into detail on the four major attacks of alleged cruel nature, one occurring at the farm in District No. 6, two at the Weekapaug home and one when her husband was the keeper of the lighthouse on Little Gull Island.

Friday morning Mrs. Morris' second son, Edward, who was on the witness stand Thursday when court adjourned, will continue his testimony. Other witnesses who testified Thursday were Mrs. William Bell, a neighbor, Mrs. Anness and William Morris.

The following transfers have been recorded in the office of the Westerly town clerk:

March 14. Arthur N. Nash to Eugene Barney and Anna E. Ford of New Haven, an undivided one-half interest in Watch Hill property known as the Narragansett Hotel property, on the east side of Bay street, bounded northerly and easterly by land of John C. Kebabian, of New Haven, and southerly by land of Walter S. Price, owned by Nathan Nash of Westerly, who died Sept. 23, 1877.

March 14. Administrator's deed, estate A. Anne E. Nash by administrator, the Industrial Trust company of Providence, to Eugene Barney of Westerly and Anna E. Ford of New Haven.

At Bradford Thursday afternoon Miss Ruth Marion Bliven became the bride of Joseph James Holland, also of Bradford. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Elmer C. Adams, pastor of Niantic Baptist church, Bradford. They will make their home in Bradford.

About a hundred and twenty-five members and guests of Westerly Cycle club, George E. Leonard, president, held their thirty-third annual banquet and entertainment at Elm Tree Inn Thursday evening. At 8.30 o'clock the following menu was served:

Tomato Bisque
Olives Mixed Pickles Cucumber
Roast Stuffed Chicken
Cranberry Sauce Peas
Mashed Potato Mashed Turnip
Lettuce with French Dressing
Vanilla Ice Cream Cakes
Coffee

President Leonard was toastmaster with the club's oldest and charter member, Alan A. Palmiter of Providence, a life member, occupying the seat of honor. Boston artists furnished the entertainment.

The funeral of Mrs. Frank Still, 60, for many years a resident of the town of Hopkinton, was held Thursday morning at 8.15 from her home, Laurel street, Potter Hill. A high mass of requiem was celebrated at 9 o'clock at the Church of the Immaculate Conception by Rev. J. P. Cassagne, S. M. Burial was at River Bend cemetery, where the committal service was conducted by Fr. Cassagne. The bearers were Hendrick Malley, Francis McGee, William Malley, Leo Malley, Frank Still, 2nd, and James Winn. Mrs. Still was overcome while in her yard Friday afternoon and she sank unconscious to the ground in the falling snow. Her predicament was not discovered until her husband came home from work. She never regained consciousness.

Thursday the funeral of Mrs. James Longolucco was held at 7.30 o'clock from her home, 48 1-2 Pierce street. A high mass of requiem was celebrated at 8 o'clock at the Church of the Immaculate Conception by Rev. J. F. Vincent, S. M. Burial was in St. Sebastian cemetery, where the committal service was conducted by Fr. Vincent. The bearers were Joseph Freestone, Ralph Scala, Frank Luzzi, Patsy Luzzi, Raffaele Scaglione and Joseph A. Sisco.

West Broad street school auditorium was well filled Thursday evening for the concert given for the benefit of the Westerly Girl Scouts. The program was sponsored by the Westerly Lions club. Mario Fattori, leading basso of the Pennsylvania Opera company; Hazel Sanborn, coloratura soprano; Joseph Cavadori, tenor and Raymond Coon, pianist, the artists. Mr. Coon, who lives in Boston, is a former Westerly boy and a graduate of Westerly high school. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Coon, reside on the old Shore road in the Haversham district. In addition to accompanying the singers, he played several piano numbers.

HONORS PAID MARSHAL DIAZ BY ITALIANS RESIDENTS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, March 15—Solemn requiem mass for Marshal Armando Diaz, Italian army leader in the World war, was celebrated at 10 o'clock this morning at the Church of the Immaculate Conception. The service was attended by representatives of Italian patriotic societies, town and state officials. Rev. Henry Bruno, S. M., curate at the local church, was celebrant of the mass. Rev. Eugenio Gormuto of Chiesa Madonna del Carmine in Providence was deacon, and Rev. Luigi D'Aleno, of the same church, was subdeacon.

The music during the mass was by a quartet, Martin H. Spellman, Mrs. James McMahon, Miss Rose Bannon and Charles St. Onge. Following the mass "Pro Peccatis" from Rossini's "Stabat Mater," was sung by Mario Fattori, basso profundo, who appeared in concert at the West Broad street school under the auspices of the Lion's club Thursday evening. Dr. John E. Rulsi sang "Cujus Animam," also from Rossini's "Stabat Mater." All were accompanied by Mrs. Frank G. Ahern.

A catafalque, draped with the Italian national colors and with crossed sabers on the top, stood before the sanctuary railing. It was surrounded with palms and ferns and tall candles. A guard of honor was furnished by Battery E, 243rd Coast Artillery, R. I. N. G., the detail being composed of Sergt. Harvey and Privates Pellard, Barr and Vacca.

Hope Rebekah lodge, No. 19, Daughters of Rebekah, Thursday evening celebrated its 41st anniversary in Odd Fellows' hall. C. B. Bliven shows a number of pictures of 50 years ago and explained each view. There were piano selections by Miss Nilla Sweet and refreshments were served by the members of the social committee.

This (Friday) evening church family night will be observed in three periods at Grace M. E. church, beginning at 7.30.

The special Lenten speaker Wednesday night next at Christ Episcopal church will be Rev. Edmund J. Cleveland, rector of the Episcopal church of the Ascension, and a former rector of the Episcopal church in Westerly.

Alan A. Palmiter of Providence is visiting Westerly relatives and friends for a few days, coming to attend the annual dinner of the Westerly Cycle club. A keen interest was shown by him in the disappearance of Cookie Hill in the steam shovel excavation of Union street.

Miss Jennie B. Stanton, teacher of elocution in Westerly high school, next week in Calvary Baptist church will present a travelogue stereopticon talk on her visit to European countries the past summer.

Mrs. C. C. Fancher was in Providence Wednesday.

Louis B. Collins and son, Louis H. Collins left Westerly Thursday morning for Boston.

Mrs. Ada B. Mitchell returned to Westerly Thursday morning accompanied by her son, from a visit in New York, and proceeded to her home in Charlestown.

William Mitchell has returned from New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Fontana have returned from Boston.

LEDYARD

The Cost of Discipleship was the theme discussed by Ralph Krout in the Congregational church Sunday morning. Although traveling was difficult a fair sized audience was present.

There was no Sunday evening meeting. Several from this place went to Norwich and heard Miss Margaret T. Slattery speak in the Central Baptist church.

S. E. Holdridge and Carl Holdridge have sold the Samuel Caswell farm, which was purchased last spring to Ray D. and Mildred K. Holdridge of Norwich.

Mr. and Mrs. George Garrapye, who have occupied the Arthur D. Barrett farm for the past three years will move into the house with William L. Allyn. Both Mr. and Mrs. Garrapye before their marriage were employed by Mr. and Mrs. Allyn.

Earl B. Geer has been making improvements to his house and other buildings.

Underweight People Offered 5 Pounds of Solid Flesh or Money Back

Underweight means your vitality is under par, your strength and energy below normal, so no wonder if you are thin, scrawny with sunken chest and hollows in cheeks you always feel down in the mouth, discouraged and rundown in health.

There isn't an underweight man or woman on earth who wouldn't feel better if their weight was what it should be.

That's why every man and woman whose bones are scantily covered and who want to gain in health and have an attractive figure should take advantage of McCoy's offer.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read the ironclad guarantee. If after taking sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at Lee & Osgood Co., or any drug store in America.

Not Too Cold for Golf

He entered the clubhouse with very red nose.
He blew on his fingers and stamped on his toes,
And said to some others: "I'm gosh darn near froze.
But I've been around just the same."

The clubhouse he entered was out at Montclair,
Where Nature's stout bellows keep stirring the air
And shooting the breezes o'er hills bleak and bare.
But can't scare the folks from their game.

Just once let the snow disappear from the grass
And little it matters how low in the glass
The mercury goes, for the golfers en masse
Will gather with golf as their aim.

Now you may consider they're crazy or dumb
To play in a gale while half frozen and numb,
But Wollaston golf goes by no rule of thumb,
And gales they consider quite tame.

ASPIRIN

To break a cold harmlessly and in a hurry try a Bayer Aspirin tablet. And for headache. The action of Aspirin is very efficient, too, in cases of neuralgia, neuritis, even rheumatism and lumbago! And there's no after effect; doctors give Aspirin to children—often infants. Whenever there's pain, think of Aspirin. The genuine Bayer Aspirin has Bayer on the box and on every tablet. All druggists, with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Bayer Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

STONINGTON

DAMAGE AT MANOR INN WHERE AIRPLANE LANDED

Damage of several hundred dollars was done to the golf green at Manor Inn by the landing of the airplane on Tuesday evening and by the footprints of the hundreds of people who crowded there shortly after the landing. The muddy condition of the turf will not permit a take-off. Pilot Wickford returned to Boston, where he was to fly again Wednesday. He will return at the end of the week and attempt a take-off, providing the mechanics have received parts for which they sent to Detroit and the plane is repaired.

The quarterly meeting of the Visiting Nurse association was held this week in the Stonington Free library. The reports of the secretary, treasurer and visiting nurse were read and accepted.

Earnest Raymond Lawrence, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustine Lawrence of 14 School street, died Tuesday evening at 9:15 in the Lawrence Memorial hospital, aged two months. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, Stonington.

William Hines, the recent purchaser of the Browning farm, is the guest of friends here over the week-end.

Miss Jennie Trumbull has returned from a visit with Boston friends.

At the quarterly meeting of Stonington Free library Tuesday evening, the book committee reported 46 books bought—21 fiction, 25 non-fiction. The librarian reported 2,122 books loaned during the quarter ending Feb. 13—2,034 fiction and 178 non-fiction. The treasurer reported a cash balance of $81.89. The following were elected voting members of the Library association: Marguerite B. Sliney, R. N., Miss Lillian Thomas, T. W. Cutler, Miss Priscilla Loper, Mrs. T. W. Cutler, Miss Barbara Muller, J. S. Anderson, Jr., Mrs. W. F. Cole, Lawrence E. Brooks, Mrs. William Edgar.

The Busy Bee group met with Mrs. James H. Weeks Thursday.

Mrs. Charlotte Joseph of Stonington, Ruth chapter, O. E. S., No. 44, was elected president of the Past Matrons' association at the meeting held in Mystic Tuesday.

Windham high school girls defeated the Stonington high school girls at basketball, Wednesday afternoon, 25 to 19.

NOANK

LOCAL BOAT RUNS INTO A BIG SCHOOL OF SEALS

Boat Baby, Capt. R. Brocky, was coming home from Port Jefferson, L. I., Wednesday morning, as the fishing there was poor and the fish were small. Captain Brocky and Mate Alden Burns thought it best to come back to the village and go fishing around Block Island with the rest of the fleet. Outside of Bridgeport, as the boat was steamig ahead, it ran into a school of seals and for a few minutes Captain Brocky did not know if he could get through them, but he made it. It seemed strange to see seals in such a large school in March around here but as the story was told to the old sea captains at the dock, they said that means an early spring. Cold weather has packed up its grip for 1928 and left. Capt. Mike Langson of boat Daisy was following the Baby from Port Jefferson, L. I., and he told the same story about the seals.

Clarence Spink of New Bedford is home on a few days' visit.

Sometime during the early hours of Wednesday morning, the Noank waiting room was paid a visit by burglars. Breaking a window on the west side of the building, they got inside, taking pennies, cigars and candy. The visitors used matches to see, instead of a flashlight. The break was discovered by the owner, L. L. Smith, on opening up the store the next morning. Each year, the waiting room is entered and it does not look like the work of burglars who follow that business every day and who would never play a small town. It might be someone who reads Wild West stories about hold-ups and who thinks the village an easy place to learn before getting a good start in the world. The loss was around $5. A store in West Mystic was broken into the same night. Workmen leaving on the first trolley car saw the window smashed but did not have time to notify anybody.

Schooner Reliance was all ready to leave for Georges banks fishing ground and waited two days for 17 barrels of bait to go halibut fishing. But the bait got lost coming from Boston to Noank in some way. After telephoning for several hours, Captain Eldredge found out where it was. That made him happy again, after losing some fine fishing days. Wednesday, the Reliance sailed out of the harbor, bound for the Georges banks for 14 days' fishing. The schooner is carrying a crew of nine, who came from Boston. The boat will take its catch into Fulton market before coming back to the town dock for more supplies. Mate Tom Carey was at the wheel going out of the harbor. Mate Carey knows every light and lighthouse along the coast, having followed the salt water since he was 14. He came here from Maine on a coaster as mess boy, and has made his home here since. Mate Carey is rated one of the best fishing men in the village.

Flash McDonald has entered the sea sled plant at Groton as inside finisher.

Walter Welles has gone to Salem, Mass., for a few days.

Clifford Phillips is confined to his home by a heavy cold.

At the Spicer avenue crossing of the New Haven railroad, a crossing tender, Amos Packer, flags the trains that go by, also helps autos and people off the tracks when a train is coming. He has never had an accident on that crossing since taking the job seven years ago. If a train was leaving West Mystic, "Careful Packer," as he is called by his friends, would not let any one pass. He has put in 50 years of service on the railroad and is placed on the honor roll. While with the company, he has been trackman, switchman, foreman and draw tender, and is still going strong, good for 25 more years.

The halliards on the liberty pole on Store Hill have rotted away and now that it is getting around toward Memorial day, will the rope stay down and let Memorial day in the village go without a flag flying? A committee that has charge of the pole is around the village somewhere. They could tell all about it. The pole is 100 feet in the air. A man should go up, or lower the top piece and put the rope through again. Without a flag in the town, it does not show up well before strangers and summer residents.

Miss Mary Robertson spent a day at Deep River this week.

Billie Bliven of Westerly was in Noank on Wednesday.

The total amount of damage caused by the recent flood disastor in Vemont is estimated at $30,000,000.

AMAZING Beads of Soap

Revolutionary discovery of a new form of soap now replaces chips and flakes in millions of homes today. An exclusive patented* process makes possible these amazing beads of soap. In fairness to yourself we urge you to read the astonishing facts that follow.

Madam.. please make this amazing 15-Minute Test

It offers you a wonderful new way to wash dishes . . . a way that banishes soapy film . . . saves your hands . . . gets dishes sparkling clean with far less work

GIVE us, please, just 15 minutes of your time. And we'll promise to save you hours of drudgery. We'll show you an astonishing new way to wash dishes. A way that's easier . . . quicker . . . safer than any you ever used before.

It's an entirely new form of soap . . . that leaves no film on dishes . . . that saves drying . . . that cannot harm the dainty smoothness of your skin.

Millions use it daily—acclaim it the greatest household blessing in 25 years.

In fairness to yourself, please test this new soap creation. Try Super Suds just 15 minutes today. And we'll guarantee you'll never be satisfied with any other soap.

Prove to yourself how it saves your hands. How it makes dishes gleam and glisten. How it saves your time and energy, too.

You'll marvel at these unique results

Super Suds is a completely new type of soap . . . different in form, action and results from any you have ever known before.

It is actually soap in tiny thin-walled "beads" . . . the result of a revolutionary manufacturing discovery.

Scientists developed it. Found the way to make soap of microscopic thinness. Many times as thin as flake or chip soap. By far the thinnest type of soap ever discovered.

You can see the difference the instant you pour it into your dishpan. See it in the rich, quick-acting, suds. See it in the lustrous polish on your dishes and in the velvet smoothness of your hands.

Use it for everything Laundry—Dishwashing

Super Suds was especially designed for general household use. You can use it for laundry and dishwashing too.

It cannot harm the daintiest fabrics . . . washes lingerie with complete safety. And for the heavy work on washday, it is absolutely without a rival.

Super Suds dissolves more rapidly than any soap you've ever used before. Its lively suds penetrate every fold of cloth . . . seep around every fibre . . . wash away all grease and grime.

There's no need to use your washboard now. No need to scrub and rub until your back just aches from the strain. Leave it to Super Suds to soak loose the dirt.

And with Super Suds you'll save a great deal of time in rinsing alone. That's because it dissolves so completely. No soap particles are left clinging to fabrics.

Dishes gleam and glisten!

Your clothes dry out snowy white. There's never a trace of soap stain. You simply won't be able to realize that a change of laundry soap can make such an amazing difference in the whiteness of your weekly wash.

Super Suds is surprisingly inexpensive . . . It's the biggest ten-cent box of soap on the market. Simply in fairness to yourself, we urge you to try Super Suds at once. Put it on your grocery list today!

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN NORWICH

During the first ten days of March only four building permits were granted by Fire Marshal Howard L. Stanton. The permits, which include one frame cottage house, amount to approximately $7,000. The permits are as follows:

To Charles J. Bolduc, to alter present frame house at 56 Broad street into a three-apartment house. The work will mean that several partitions will be torn out and replaced and a stairway erected. The cost will be about $2,000.

To Francis M. Toomey, add three rooms to the present house owned by Jack Allegretti on Boswell avenue. Two additions, 4x10 feet, one on each side of the house, will be necessary. The additions will be two stories high and the roof of the main building will be raised four feet. The work will cost about $1,500.

To Leonard G. Partridge, to build a frame house on Geer avenue for himself. The house will be 22x26 feet, with five rooms and bath. The interior will be in plaster and hardwood finish, while the exterior will be done in shingles. The cost will be about $3,500.

To Michael J. Froscello, to build a frame shed, 4x20, at 93 School street. The cost will be about $35.

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

During the past week there were seven sales of real estate in Norwich as compared with eleven sales for the same week in 1927. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $44,877 and $65,211.

In New London last week there were nine sales of real estate, a decrease of five sales from the corresponding week a year ago. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $73,555 and $85,250.

Building Permits

Continued gains in building construction activity are noted in the record of building permits issued during the past week in the leading Connecticut building centers. The week's total, which shows a falling off in the larger cities of the state but a decided gain in several of the smaller cities, consists of 296 permits issued compared with 268 for the corresponding period in 1927. These permits call for construction work estimated to cost $1,268,417, against a total of $1,000,841 for last year.

New London

Belated winter weather interfered somewhat with building operations about the city during the past week, especially on jobs where enclosure had not been completed. A substantial increase in the number of building permits issued during the past month gave indications that the annual spring building boom would get under way at an earlier date than usual this year, but unless more favorable weather sets in soon it is expected that prospective builders will delay the beginning of construction until better weather does prevail. Thus far this winter contractors have been favored by the weather and little delay has been occasioned.

Decided progress was made during the past week on the extensive alterations being made to the Neptune building at State and North Bank streets for the Alling Rubber Co. Three new floor levels have been laid off under the new plans, one level being for the entrance from the north side of the building, and two different levels with entrance from State street. The north part of the ground floor has been designed for use as one large store, and the entrances from State street are for one large-sized store and for a smaller sized one in the middle. New window fronts are being built and the partitions necessary are now under course of construction. The upper floors of the building are being altered and remodeled for use as modern offices. A decided change will be noted in the building when all work is completed.

Building Permits

Thomas Speirs, addition, Mohegan avenue, $1,500.

John Haven, garage addition, Brewer street, $400.

E. A. Moriarty, second-story addition, 16 Hamilton street, $2,000.

Jessie Geer, concrete garage, Cottage street, $3,000.

Joseph Sedarro, cement block garage, Woodbridge street, $700.

Attilio Pierfederici, frage garage, 113 Pequot avenue, $600.

Michael Yurkowitz, veranda, 30 Federal street, $300.

Stella R. Gruskin, dormer window, 837 Bank street, $300.

Americo Canestrari, two-family house, Walden avenue, $10,000.

George A. Williams, Jr., cottage, Raymond street, $6,000.

T. C. Speirs, bungalow, 109 Mohegan avenue, $14,000.

Laura A. Wragg, bungalow, Jefferson avenue, $7,000.

Number of permits for the week, 12; estimated cost of buildings, $45,800.

Cabin at Oxoboxo

Work is progressing well on the construction of a large log cabin being built for Austin Sackett at Oxoboxo. The new structure is 37x22 feet, one story in height, of rustic design. It contains a living room 16x42 feet, with a large open fireplace, two bedrooms, a kitchen and a bathroom.

Westerly

Westerly Zoning Inspector Louis J. Rossie and Building Inspector Thomas Willis for the first week in March have issued the following zoning and building permits:

March 6—William H. Crandall, 18 George street, one-car garage 12x18 feet at 18 George street.

March 6—Mrs. Daniel L. Lyon, Meadow lane, Watch Hill, enclose present piazza of cottage, "Edgecove," with glass. Lewis S. McNeil, contractor.

March 6—Miss Frances C. Griscom, Westerly road, Watch Hill, alterations and new bathroom for cottage, "Ocean Mound." Lewis S. McNeil, contractor.

March 9—Eli Barrowclough, 8 Rocket street, remove partitions in house at 8 Rocket street and install partition for five new bathrooms. William Champlin, contractor.

SUCCESSFUL FARMING

(Written Specially for The Bulletin.)

It can't be too often or too strongly emphasized that "successful farming" isn't always and necessarily money-making farming.

Trade, commerce, manufacturing, transportation, etc., are openly and confessedly devices for making money.

The man who goes into business in any of its multiform branches frankly does so, not for his health or the public good, but for his private advantage.

There is nothing ethically or intrinsically wrong about this. To make money for oneself by honorable dealings in honest traffic is a perfectly justifiable aim.

We all have to get money, more or less, and in one way or another. Even the farmer must get enough from his farming to pay taxes and buy sugar; to purchase overalls for himself and shoes for the youngsters; to pay for wire fencing and certified seed potatoes, etc., etc.

But if he is fit to be a farmer—which not everybody is—he doesn't measure his success at farming by his ability to glean cash enough for these and other purposes. These things he must have. But he seeks them, not as ends in themselves, but simply as stepping-stones to something else.

You see "business is business." But farming is a Life.

Business devotes itself to getting money, and then more money, until enough has been secured either to enlarge the business or else to sell it out and exchange the worries of money-getting for the pleasures of money-spending.

But farming devotes itself not only to money-getting but to home-making, to character-building, to citizenship, to neighborliness, to the making of poor farms good and good farms better, and a score of other aims.

It wants its shilling for its pork. Of course it does. But it actually gets more from its consciousness of its ability to raise the best pork than it does from the butcher's check.

It wants its pay for its potatoes. Of course it does. But it gets more solid satisfaction out of the knowledge that, in five years of shrewd and industrious tillage, it has turned a barren pasture which hardly grew wire-grass into a fertile and big-yielding garden spot than it does for the potato money.

The object of even the fairest and squarest business man is to get a living and perhaps a surplusage out of the rest of the world. The object of the ideal farmer is not only to get a living for himself but to help provide a living for the rest of the world. The aim of the first is to make life more comfortable for himself, the aim of the second is to make life possible for others as well as himself.

—Of course, I'm not talking about the "sharks" of business—of whom there are too many—nor of the greedy, cent-sweating skinflints of farming—of whom also there are too many; but of the well-meaning and honest sort in both vocations. After all, these latter are in the majority.

If I were asked to put into a single sentence a definition of the successful farmer, I think it would run something like this:

"The farmer who makes his farm a little better each year than it was the year before, and leaves it to his children at least twice as productive as when he took it over."

Such a farmer may not, probably will not, leave any big bank account. He won't have his small wealth invested in stocks or bonds but in the hidden bonanzas of the soil. It will be where rust can't corrupt nor thieves break through and steal, but where intelligent and industrious delving will make its increasing dividends always available.

I have occasionally mentioned in previous talks two outstanding farmers of whose lives and works there happen to be existent and illuminating records.

The first was David Rankin of Illinois and Missouri. He began life as a poor boy, one of the poorest of the poor. He ended it as the richest farmer in America. His farming policy was to buy up rich plowlands whenever he could get them at a bargain, till them as cheaply as he could with as much machinery and as little hand-work as was practicable, and then, when he had about exhausted their ages-old stored-up fertility by intensive cropping, move on to some other virgin prairie which his keen eye appraised as likewise full of native fertility, and exhaust that in a similar way. He took everything he possibly could off from and out of his land, wasting little money in returning any portion of his takings and giving no thought to the far-away future. By which means he actually amassed a fortune estimated at over $3,000,000.

The second whom I have in mind was T. B. Terry of Ohio. He took over an 80-acre farm which its previous owner hadn't been able to make pay its own taxes, and in 20 years transformed it into what was repeatedly declared by expert old fellow farmers to be the best farm in the state—the best arranged, best managed, most productive acre for acre, and paying the biggest profit on the investment. His little book in which he tells of the no-thoroughfares he at first got into and how he detoured them, of the difficulties he met and how he overcame them, of the failures he found and how he made them guide posts to success, of the solemn hours he spent in lonely canvassing of possibilities and the hard days he put in transforming those possibilities into actualities—that little book is, to any true farmer, vastly more interesting than any modern novel describing some flapper's flippancy or some degenerate's debauchery. Terry got enough out of his farming to afford him a comfortable competence in his latter years. But he was never what could be called rich. He had enough to keep the wolf from the door and to feed the cat on the hearth rug. He also had the best farm in Ohio, one which he had made the best by his own work of head and hands out of what was universally admitted to be about the worst.

Rankin left behind him much money and vast areas of half or wholly exhausted lands, while Terry left behind him an accomplishment which satisfied his own needs and at the same time added to the common wealth not only in assessable values but in educational inspiration.

Which of these two was the "successful farmer?"

You can't help guessing which I think was. But what do you think? Don't jump to an answer, but let the question simmer a while in your brain-pan. Don't answer it in any one mood but wait till you've run your whole gamut from cheeriness to depression and back again.

It isn't probable that this age is any more money-mad than other ages have been. It's a hundred years since a gentle satirist coined the phrase "Almighty Dollar," to name the god even his old-time contemporaries worshipped. It was the "main chance" then as it is now. But it sometimes seems as if the worship of this yellow-stamped divinity was more open, more blatantly if not more brutally frank than ever before.

If anyone wants to join that church he'd better not try to get in via the farm. Where there was one Rankin there were ten million Hodges working from sunup to dark for nothing more than pork-stew dinners and patched overalls. Rankin was unquestionably a genius. He must have been to get rich on the farm. It is almost as difficult as to extract sunshine from cucumbers. Terry wasn't any such genius. He was simply a level-headed and long-headed farmer-man working at straight farming. Both won out in the ways that they respectively seem to have desired and aimed at. In that sense both were successful. There is success in accumulation. There is also success in accomplishment. Which do you think is the higher? Honestly, now?

The trader is a trader during business hours. When they are over he shuts up his store and goes home. The mechanic is a mechanic during shop hours. After they're over he leaves the shop and goes home.

But the farm is not only the farmer's place of business and his shop, it is also his home. Farm and home are inseparable in his mind. The difference between the two systems of life is abysmal in its separation. To the merchant and the mechanic store and shop are simply places for work and drudgery. Both have to get out of them to find themselves at home. But the farmer is at home all the time, whether he is reading his paper beside the kitchen stove or plowing the back pasture or unloading hay in the barn.

His farm is not only a place for hard work and for earning money, but at the same time a haven for rest and an object on which to spend money. The shop-hand feels no urge to "pretty up" his work-bench, as he does his distant home. But the farmer is—or ought to be—as anxious to "pretty up" his farm as his front porch. They go together. Both are parts of one whole to him.

It must not be forgotten that "prettying up" a farm doesn't consist in trimming its fences with flowering vines and sowing its fields with poppies. It consists in abolishing "hedge-rows" and making its fields radiant with productive growth. "Handsome is that handsome does," runs an old saying.

A field yellow as the famed "cloth of gold" with a spring carpet of full-flowered dandelions may, indeed, be pleasant to the eye of the joy-rider. But it isn't anything like as beautiful to the eye of the born farmer as that same field, lush with the green tops of bugless, blightless potatoes, whose trim rows show the vigor of adequate fertilization and industrious tillage, and gives the promise of an abundant crop.

That's the sort of thing that "prettys up" a real farm, not only in the eyes of its owner, but in those of his admiring neighbors.

THE FARMER.

HANOVER

Mrs. Henry B. Hazen was called to South Killingly last Thursday to attend the funeral of her cousin, Walter R. Fiske.

Henry E. Smith spent a few days in New York last week.

Miss Dorothy Shipman of Waterford spent the week-end with Miss Ruth Lee on the hill, and Miss Helena Crandall of Norwich visited Miss Eunice Lebourveau at the North terrace over the week-end.

Twelve from this church listened to Margaret Slattery at the Young People's service in the United church Sunday afternoon, and many more helped to swell the audience at the Central Baptist church in the evening.

A very interesting party was given by the Y. P. S. C. E. in the parish house last Friday evening.

Mrs. Frank Crombie has so far recovered from illness as to be able to ride out on pleasant days. William Campbell now walks about the village, enjoying the sunshine as formerly. All the other sick and indisposed ones seem to be gaining.

Mr. and Mrs. Stone attended the meeting of the New London County Council of Religious Education held at the Y. M. C. A., New London, Monday evening. Those in attendance had dinner together, after which, measures were adopted for the organization of a local council for the southern portion of the county, centering in New London, as the one already in operation for the north part does in Norwich. It is expected that the county organization will then be dissolved.

Messrs. Fred Eadie, Gauthier and Lebourveau and William G. Park witnessed the hockey game in Boston last Saturday night, returning home in time for a long nap before the hour for Sunday morning services.

Miss Florence Blackburn has practically recovered from scarlet fever, though the quarantine is not yet removed from the house. She and her parents have been very grateful for the many expressions of sympathy extended them during the days of enforced isolation.

The entire community is shocked and saddened by the death of Mrs. Julia Delaney Slater, as she was one of Hanover's choice girls, who was greatly missed when she married a couple of years ago and went to Providence in a home of her own.

Mrs. Asenath Allen is mourning the loss of a nephew whose funeral she and her daughters were called upon to attend in Willimantic recently.

The children are to come to the parsonage today (Friday) as usual. The Daughters of the Covenant will meet with Miss Helen Eadie in the evening.

CHESTNUT HILL

Mrs. G. B. Dimon and son, Richard, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dimon in Wethersfield, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Kennedy and son, Edward, and infant daughter, Phyllis Frances, of Monson, Mass., spent the week-end with Mrs. Kennedy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Stiles.

G. T. Chappell and daughters, Misses Mary and Elinor Chappell, also Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Aspinall attended the services at the Central Baptist church in Norwich, Sunday evening.

Miss Bertha Latham of New York is spending the week at the home of her father, A. A. Latham.

Albert Schweitzer received 2,500 little chickes at his farm here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Dimon and son were in New London Tuesday evening, Mrs. Dimon and son spending the time with Mr. and Mrs. LeGrande Chappell.

The meadow lark has been heard the past week, which shows that spring is near at hand.

P. A. and a pipe - that's all I ask

I DON'T mean that I am easily satisfied. As a matter of fact, I'm as critical as they come about smoking-tobacco. There are certain things I demand in a smoke, and I declare here and now that P. A. has 'em. Has 'em and to spare, if you ask me.

Fragrant as spring blossoms. Cool as "The boss wants to see you." Sweet as "I'm going to raise your pay." Mild and mellow and long-burning, with full satisfaction in every wonderful puff. It seems that there are not enough hours in a day to suit your Prince Albert program. You'll start in early and stay with it far into the night.

But all this conversation won't do you any good, unless you try out the tobacco itself. When it comes to speaking for itself, P. A. is the best little talker you ever listened to. Go get yourself a tidy red tin and get some of this pipe-joy I've been picturing.

More in quality, more in quantity—TWO full ounces in every tin.

PRINCE ALBERT

GENERAL MOTORS CLIMBED TO 164 WITH SALES OF 3,607,000 SHARES

NEW YORK, March 15—(AP)—A broadening demand for stocks, particularly in the railroad group, characterized the resumption of the upward price movement in today's stock market. Radio Corporation and American Linseed, violent advances in which featured the early sessions this week, fell back rather sharply on profit-taking, while General Motors again came to the fore by climbing 7 points to a new record high price at 164, and closing within a point of the top. Total sales were 3,607,300 shares.

The weekly federal reserve report of brokers' loans, issued after the close of the market, showed an increase of $50,355,000, bringing the total to $3,764,064,000. The high record of $3,835,020,000 was established on Feb. 2. Wall street was completely at sea during the day as to what the loan figures would show because of the gigantic speculation that has taken place during the past week. Early guesses ranged all the way from a small decrease to an increase of $100,000,000, or more.

Despite the two billion dollar turnover of funds today call money ruled unchanged at 4 1-2 per cent., with a plentiful supply available. There was no change in time money and commercial paper.

Except for a number of annual reports, which contained no surprises, and the publication of the foreign trade figures for February, which revealed a favorable balance of about $200,000,000, which contrasted with an export excess of $61,000,000 in January and $45,000,000 in February a year ago, there was little in the day's business news to attract interest. Raising of Prairie Pipe Line, General Cable and Air Reduction dividends had a bullish effect on speculative sentiment.

Active bidding for General Motors was influenced, in part, by reports of a heavy increase in February sales, and expectations of increased business in the low priced car line through the alleged inability of the Ford organization to make prompt deliveries. Hudson and Hupp were again active just below their recent high prices, and Willys Overland advanced more than 6 points to a new high at 23.

American Can and Continental Can reached new 1928 high levels on buying inspired by reports of expanding business. Wide fluctuations took place in some of the high priced specialties. United Drug jumped 8 1-2 points al Match preferred climbed more than 6 points to a new top at 115 3-4 and American Machine & Foundry, Dupont, American Sugar Refining, General Railway Signal, Mallinson preferred, National Biscuit and Savage Arms advanced 4 points, or more. Express shares also showed big gains.

Trading quieted down considerably, opened at 151 1-2, climbing to 152 1-4, breaking to 140 2-4 and rallying to 143, off 7 points net. American Linseed closed 8 points lower at 99 after having touched 110 7-8.

Heavy buying of Wabash, presumably based on rumors that the Baltimore & Ohio would guarantee a 5 annual dividend if the proposed realignment of eastern trunk lines were carried out, featured the railroad list. Wabash jumped 5 points to a new 1928 high at 75 and then reacted 1 1-2 points on realizing. The St. Paul issues, St. Louis Southwestern and New York Central also reached new high ground for the year, and Gulf, Mobile & Northern advanced nearly 5 points to 56 1-2.

The advance in the Canadian dollar to a slight premium and the further weakness of Portuguese exchange, which sagged to the lowest levels in years, featured the foreign exchange market. Other rates held fairly steady with sterling cables quoted around $4.87 7-8.

With the exception of wheat futures, which reacted slightly, the leading commodity markets displayed a firm undertone. Cotton and coffee advanced slightly, and sugar held steady around yesterday's closing quotations.

KALEIDOSCOPE

Flour can be made from green bananas.

The durability of leather is being studied at the United States bureau of standards.

The increase in automobiles registered in the United States in 1927 was 1,224,798.

The average dress pattern required almost two yards more material in 1913 than in 1927.

An Arabian legend says that the ostrich is the result of the union of the camel and the dudo-bird.

The dog-fish salmon is a new rival of the cod, since scientists have found that the liver of the dog-fish yields an oil as rich in vitamin D as cod liver.

Policemen in Berkeley, Cal., patrol their beats in automobiles equipped with radio receivers, so that they can receive orders from headquarters at any time.

Some factories and business offices in London have passed a ruling forbidding girl employes to powder their noses during working hours. Before this ruling the average girl spent eight minutes an hour in this operation.

A woman entered a Tilton (N. H.) restaurant and said she wanted something hot to eat. The waitress carefully enumerated the various hot dishes which might be served. After pondering a few seconds, the customer said, "Please give me some ice cream."

One of the most beautiful of Christmas hymns, "Christians, Awake, Salute the Happy Morn," was written more than 180 years ago, in 1745, by Dr. John Byrom, of Manchester, England, to please his daughter Dolly, to whom he had made a promise to write her "something for Christmas."

Of the first 101 men to qualify as airplane pilots and receive licenses from the French Aero Club there are seventy-six still alive and seven of these are still flying. And of the twenty-five who died not all were killed in airplane accidents. Among the first 100 licenses there was no No. 13, No. 12-B taking its place.

Followers of Rene Descartes, the great French philosopher, are determined to have him buried in the Pantheon. If they can't bury his bones they insist they will inter one of his books in the building intended to be the national mausoleum of France's great men. Finding the philosopher's bones appears to be difficult. His body was brought from Stockholm, where he died in 1650, but there is doubt about where it is. In the French revolution the convention ordered his burial in the Pantheon but the order has never been executed.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Jones—"Is your radio set good?"

Green—"Is it? Got Bermuda last night, and the onions made my eyes water."—Allston Recorder.

"How much do you ask, for this place?"

"Ten thousand dollars."

"Thanks. I'm the tax collector."

"You are? Well, I never was offered more than three for it."—Pathfinder.

"To what do you attribute your great age?"

"Well, fer the first seventy years of my life they wasn't no automobiles, an' fer the last twenty-five I've been confined to the house."—Life

Lady—"Can you direct me to the standing room? My husband is there."

Theater attendant—"I don't understand, madam."

"Well, we had two tickets. Mine was in the front row, and my husband had to go back and sit in the standing room."—Christian Science Monitor.

Two stuttering blacksmiths had finished heating a piece of pig iron, and one placed it upon the anvil with a pair of tongs.

"S-s-s-smash it," he stuttered to his helper.

"W-wh-whwhere?" the helper asked.

"Aw, hh-h-hell, we'll have to h-h-heat it again now."—Boston News Bureau.

TWO PROVIDENCE RUNAWAYS TAKEN FROM FREIGHT TRAIN

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, March 15—Raymond McNeild, 11, of 61 Post street, Providence, whose father is a night watchman for Duty W. Flint, and Raymond Davis, 11, of 188 Public street, Providence, were taken from a New Haven freight train near the home of Charles Bliven, on a siding near Westerly, Thursday night, and the Westerly police were notified. Lieut. George H. Champlin took the boys to the Westerly police station, where he telephoned to their parents. The McNeild boy had been reported missing. The boys ran away from home this morning, not appearing at their homes at noon time. They jumped the freight at Providence and rode to Westerly. The freight stopped at the siding and when it became dark the boys were afraid and went to the Bliven house. Mr. Bliven then called the police. The boys' parents came to Westerly and took the wanderers back home.

EASTERN VOLUNTOWN

Your correspondent was sorry to hear that our Eastern Oneco correspondent had passed away. We will all miss his correspondence. He had been a correspondent for a long while. As his health was poor he moved to Central Village from Oneco. That is where he died. He has gone but is not forgotten.

Mason Gray of Campbell Mills has gone to Attawaugan to work at a saw mill for Everett Tillinghast.

Mrs. James Congdon has a bad cold. Hope she will get better soon.

Mason Gray called on William Bitgood.

Mr. Green, Mr. Lewis and Mr. August spent the evening recently with Mr. and Mrs. Bitgood. Mr. Green took his violin with him and they had nice music and singing. Mrs. Bitgood said if her hip had been well she thought she could have stepped out on the floor and showed them a few steps if she is almost 80 years old.

The big snow that came last week is going fast. Glad to see it going as it is too late for snow storms.

Miss Maynard had news that her brother Harry, who hurt his hand last week, is getting better. The doctor has taken out the stitches.

Albert Remington of Hope Valley called on his Brother, Lee Remington, in Oneco, Monday.

Otis Remington of Sterling Hill is helping Fred Whitford of Oneco saw up wood.

Annie Bitgood sold one morning eight dozen doughnuts. I think somebody likes doughnuts.

Joel Barber and Mr. Burbee of Jewett City were callers at Joel's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bitgood, recently. They want to get them a radio. Mrs. Bitgood thinks it would be nice to have one as she can't get out and around.

Mr. Hill of Beach Pond was at Mr. Bitgood's recently laying lumber and Mr. Green was there laying planks.

Arthur Lewis is so he is up and can get around the house with crutch-

WILCOX "CORN SPECIAL" Fertilizer is made to grow good corn and more of it. Six years field tests have proved its good value; don't be put off with somebody's something just as good. "I have not found it." You will make no mistake on Wilcox Corn Special, 2-10-4, for field or sweet corn. James Case, Colchester, Conn. mar12 tf

"SAVING $10.00 per ton in buying materials for home mixing" frequently runs into an actual loss of up to $20.00 by using it. There cannot help but be quite a difference in the uniformity of the mix between the unimproved method of shoveling materials around and the vigorous whirling mechanical double milling process. Wilcox Potato and Vegetable Phosphate 3-8-7 will give you that higher acre yield and consequent lower cost per bushel. I invite field tests under county and state supervision. St. Patrick Party Dance
Colchester Saturday evening is an old-time custom. Its patrons know its surprising features and hospitable welcome. It is always something different from so many other dance parties. The real events are usually unannounced and the more enjoyable. Norwich friends of St. Andrew's church, Colchester, always look forward to the night. All proceeds are for the support of St. Andrew's church.

PAWCATUCK FIRE STATION BIDS AGAIN ARE TOO HIGH
(Special to The Bulletin)
WESTERLY, R. I., March 15—Chief Engineer Francis J. McMahon was chairman of the building committee of Pawcatuck Fire district this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the parlors of the P. S. Barber Hose house, Pawcatuck, when the re-submitted bids were opened for the construction contract for the proposed new fire station to be erected adjoining the Liberty street courthouse. Fourteen contractors two weeks ago submitted bids which ranged from $57,975 to $77,000; and as these were deemed too high, the specifications were revised, with a view of lessening the cost, and bidders again were requested to submit bids.
General contracting bids opened were as follows: John J. Powers, Worcester, Mass., $60,354; Central Engineering & Construction Co., Pawtucket, R. I., $54,000; O. & S. Levine Co., Providence, $53,689; Rawley Construction Co., Pawtucket, R. I., $55,390; R. A. Sherman Sons & Co., $51,881; Patrick J. Flynn, $54,950; Joseph A. Donnelli, $53,545; Arthur Jackson & Co., $61,500, and Peter Nardone, $55,000.
In the heating contract, the bids were: Thames Plumbing & Heating Co., $2,250; Cassack & Robinson, $2,907; Fred W. Harvey, $2,735; Taylor Heating Co., $2,395; Robert Drysdale Co., $3,000; H. & L. Graham & Sons, $3,290; Henry M. Button, $2,915; Ernest Boynton, $3,100; Davey & Maxwell, $3,062.
The plumbing bids opened were: Davey & Maxwell, $2,325; Henry M. Button, $2,615; Thames Plumbing & Heating Co., $2,950; Robert Drysdale & Co., $2,800; Cassack & Robinson, $2,490; H. L. Graham & Sons, $2,800, and Fred W. Harvey, $2,455.
The committee went into executive session and it was understood that no awards would be made as the combined figures would exceed the appropriations voted by the Pawcatuck fire district.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Strand Theatre
"Topsy and Eva" starring the Duncan Sisters is a screen adaptation of the musical comedy of the same name in which the Duncans toured the country for four successive years. It is an uproarious comedy of Uncle Tom's Cabin and ranks as one of the most enjoyable laughing films of the year. Rosetta Duncan in the role of Topsy and Vivian Duncan as the little angel child "Eva" is an excellent foil for her sister's natural gift of comedy. The cruel "Simon Legree" is played by Gibson Gowland, "Uncle Tom" by Noble Johnson and "Marcella" by Marjorie Daw.
"No Man's Gold" is an exciting thriller starring Tom Mix with Tony, the Wonder Horse. If you care to see a treasure hunt in the Hills of Peril, with Tom and Tony doing some daring riding, be sure to see this picture. They have the support of an all star cast including Eva Novak, Mickey Moore, Frank Campeau and Malcolm Waite. The plot is exceptionally good, and is taken from the novel "Dead Man's Gold." These features are showing tonight and Saturday night.

MYSTIC JUROR STRICKEN THURSDAY IN SUPERIOR COURT AT NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, March 15—While serving on the jury this morning in superior court, Mason Manning of Mystic fell from his seat in an unconscious condition, from a stroke. Dr. George P. Cheney of this city and Dr. Louis T. Cassidy of Norwich were in court at the time and immediately rendered first aid after which the juror was rushed to Lawrence hospital. Mr. Manning was serving in the case of Genishevsky versus Fishbone which was a trial, for damages aggregating $12,000 brought for injuries sustained by a boy sometime ago in an automobile accident. Owing to Manning's illness the case was continued to Tuesday next.

BOOTLEGGERS FROM YANTIC AND NORWICH OUT ON BONDS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, March 15—The cases of Joseph E. Neville, Yantic and Sigmund Leikiewicz, 402 Central avenue, Norwich, charged with transporting liquor, who were arrested in this city last night by Prohibition Enforcement Agents Harry W. Avery and Stanton L. Briggs, did not come up in the police court this morning. They will be heard before United States Commissioner Russell H Corcoran Monday next. Neville and Leikiewicz, who when arrested were attempting to make a delivery of whiskey, which was in hot water bottles, are at liberty, having procured a surety on their respective bonds of $1,000. Paul Bychkowsky, 247 Huntington street, who was arrested charged with violation of the prohibition law, will also be presented before Commissioner Corcoran next Monday. Bychkowsky was able to provide a surety on his bond of $1,000. Bychkowsky had a part of the bootleg whiskey in his possession when arrested, confessed to having an additional supply of liquor at his home. When the raiding force went to the house it developed that Bychkowsky told the truth, for a five gallon still was found there, together with a quantity of whiskey of the home-made brand.

John W. Robbins, United States Coast Guard, residing with his wife at 29 Tilley street, was in the police court this morning, charged with breach of the peace. The case was continued to April 15 and Robbins was placed in charge of Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield. In continuing the case, Deputy Judge Lewis Crandall informed Robbins that if he created any further disturbance at his home or abused his wife, that Robbins would be sent to jail for six months. Judge Crandall further admonished Robbins for his evil conduct and referred to his enormous size compared with that of his wife. Robbins became drunk Tuesday night and created a scene at his home where he abused his wife and then destroyed and damaged a portion of the furniture. Mrs. Robbins made complaint to the police, but Robbins could not be arrested for the boat on which he is a member of the crew was at sea. When the boat returned yesterday afternoon Robbins was arrested by Detective Sergeant John Cavanaugh.

Back taxes in the city of New London will be collected, if the intentions of the council are carried out. At a meeting last night it was decided to launch a systematic and thorough campaign to gather in all overdue money.

City Manager Holt sponsored a plan whereby the tax collectorship of the city should be turned over for a limited period to the firm of White and Alexander, which concern should, after a proper audit has been made, take whatever steps are deemed necessary to collect all taxes found in arrears. This plan was unanimously agreed upon by members of the council.

The proposed work will be placed in the hands of Hibbard N. Alexander, of White and Alexander and the council appointed a committee of three to meet Mr. Alexander tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 for the purpose of working out a feasible and efficacious plan for starting the work as soon as possible. At this meeting a contract will be made with Mr. Alexander whereby he will have until October 1, 1929 to straighten out the situation, which has been a thorn in the side of several successive municipal administrations.

It is estimated that there is an outstanding debt of over $400,000 due the city on old levies. With interest that will be added the sum will total over a half million dollars.

In order that such a condition will never have the opportunity of arising again the council is going to empower Mr. Alexander to inaugurate an up-to-date accounting system, along the style of those used by large cities.

While Mr. Alexander will be tax collector in fact, Allen C. Richards, present incumbent of the office, will be retained, as it was the unanimous opinion of everyone present at the meeting that his services would be invaluable. Mr. Alexander while on the work of ironing out the city's financial problems, will lay aside all other work and devote his time exclusively to that task.

Today marked the last clear chance for citizens to file their 1927 income tax returns and while it is estimated that many are still due there was no last minute rush at the internal revenue office today. However, as a convenience to last rushers the office will remain open until 9 o'clock. Returns mailed up to midnight tonight will be acceptable.

At an election of officers of the student body of Connecticut college, held yesterday, Miss Mary Scattergood of Villa Nova, Pa., was elected vice president of the student council. Miss Scatterwood is prominent in the athletic activities of the college and is well known throughout the city.

The body of William Groves, sailor at the United States Coast Guard academy, who died at Lawrence-Memorial hospital Tuesday, was forwarded to Groves' home in Rose Hill, N. C., this morning. The body was accompanied to the Union station by a detachment of sailors.

The funeral of Miss Annie J. Dewey was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at her residence in Center Groton and was attended by many mourners. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Robbins, of Poquonoc. Relatives acted as bearers. Burial was in Starr cemetery, Groton.

Mrs. Joseph Foster, of 118 Bayonet street and Miss Alice Fisher, 48 Nathan Hale street, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Police Sergeant Patrick Murphy, who has been confined to his home, on Bayonet street several days by bronchitis, resumed duty today.

The funeral of Louis Cuneo, was held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Brainard lodge, Masonic temple and was attended by a large assemblage. The services were conducted by Worshipful Master Ellery Edwards and members of the lodge officiated as bearers. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Thomas Dembroski, 5, of 20 Potter street, who was struck by an automobile driven by Leslie Hewitt, 78 Phillips street, on Main street last Monday night, and who suffered a fractured skull, will probably die. Yesterday a very slight improvement was noted, but today the boy's condition became worse and tonight he is perceptibly weaker, an indication that is not at all favorable. The boy's father died about two months ago and his mother is confined to her bed, suffering from shock as the result of the precarious condition of the boy.

Viola Mayo, alias Brewer, was arrested tonight at the home of her mother, 79 Hempstead street, charged with intoxication and, because of her previous presentations in the police court, it is probable that when she is presented tomorrow that the Mayo woman, who is young and very light, will be given a jail sentence. When she was in court March 5 on an intoxication charge, she was sentenced to ten days in jail, but execution of the sentence was suspended six months.

Patrolman George Perkins reported at police headquarters tonight that a barrel of frozen ashes and glass was in the center of the highway of Cedar street and that it had evidently fallen from one of the city's garbage collecting trucks. The highway department will be informed of the presence of the barrel in the street tomorrow, when it will be removed.

Detective Sergeant Nelson Smith, who has been confined to his home on Rogers street several days, ill with grip, reported for duty this afternoon.

Leroy Getchell, 278 Vauxhall street, reported at police headquarters this afternoon that the truck he was driving collided with a motionless automobile on Meridian street and that the parked auto was damaged to the extent that the left fender and running board was demolished. The damaged auto carried markers, N-2405, but Getchell was unable to ascertain the identity of the owner.

In connection with the funeral of Norman James King, recently, the services were conducted by Rev. Elmer Page who is an ordained minister of the Methodist church and not a spiritual reader.

STATE FARM FOR YOUNG GIRL WHILE FATHER IS IN TEARS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, March 15—The young girl, who was presented in the police court yesterday morning charged with lascivious carriage and whose case was continued until today, was committed to the State Farm for Women, by Deputy Judge Lewis Crandall of the police court. The father of the girl was in court and was in tears as his daughter left for the state institution. The girl's mother has been dead several years and for that reason she did not have the parental control that she would ordinarily have had, because her father, employed throughout the day, could not watch over her. The girl was found in an automobile with Carl L. Mills, United States Coast Guard at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning on Mohegan avenue. Both were under the influence of liquor and in a compromising position. Mills yesterday was sent to jail to work out a six months' sentence. He was also fined $135, which amount included the costs of the court. Mills was also dishonorably discharged from the coast guard service.

Barnard B. Barton, New York salesman, who was arrested in New York several days ago at the request of the New London police, who held a warrant against Barton charging him with passing worthless checks, will not be brought back to New London for trial. When his case came up in the New York court today, Barton was discharged because the New London police had notified the New York authorities that the charge against Barton had been withdrawn. Barton was in New London several weeks ago and passed worthless checks on Samuel Katz, proprietor of Katz's garage, Jefferson avenue. When Barton did not pay Katz complaint was made to the police and Barton's arrest followed. Since his arrest, Barton had a certified check sent to Katz covering the sum of which he defrauded the Jefferson avenue garage man. Then Katz decided not to press the charge against Barton.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today ordered the right to drive suspended of Thomas W. Moore, 36 Connecticut avenue; Robert J. Parker, United States Coast Guard, state pier and Carl L. Mills, United States Coast Guard. Parker was arrested and heavily fined in the Norwich city court several days ago after the automobile he was driving while intoxicated crashed into a Connecticut company trolley car, at Occum. Parker is also wanted by the New London police for failure to pay a fine of $100 and costs for driving while under the influence of liquor. Parker was allowed his liberty upon promise to pay at a specified time. This he failed to do. Since then he has been declared a deserter.

City Manager William A. Holt today made it known that Patrolman George McCaskey will be tried on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer. The former advised Police Captain Charles A. Pinney and Officer McCaskey that the hearing would take place at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in his office in the municipal building. There will be but few witnesses, in fact it would not be surprising if the only witnesses were McCaskey and his accuser, Samuel Polinsky, employed by the New London News company. Traffic Officer William Corcoran, who heard the conversation between McCaskey and Polinsky and saw McCaskey deliver the blow that felled the complainant, and Captain Pinney.

Mrs. Alice Bunting, widow of Charles H. Bunting, formerly stage manager at the Lyceum theatre, a resident of New London, died in New York yesterday, where Mrs. Bunting had resided about 15 years. Mr. Bunting died a short time before Mrs. Bunting moved to New York. Mrs. Bunting's only child, Ruth, died a few years after the death of Mr. Bunting. The body will be brought to New London for burial in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. Hannah M. Morgan, 82, widow of Edwin W. Morgan, formerly of Poquonoc Bridge died yesterday at the residence of her nephew, William Manniere, at West Haven. She is survived only by nephews and nieces. Mrs. Morgan was born in Groton and for many years resided there and at Poquonoc Bridge. With advancing years Mrs. Morgan decided to spend the remaining days with her nephew in West Haven. She was a member of Poquonoc Bridge Baptist church.

The funeral of Mrs. Cora L. Minson Coffin, wife of Benjamin E. Coffin, formerly a resident of Waterford, who died at East Orange, N. J., several days ago, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at 48 Shapley street. Rev. Arthur F. Wagner, pastor of the Huntington street Baptist church, officiated. The bearers were Mrs. Coffin's nephews, Lincoln, Everett and Lyman Daniels and Fred Jr., Elmer and Lawrence Minson. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW YORK

YOU CAN TRUST YOUR SOCONY DEALER AS YOU WOULD YOUR DOCTOR

YOU do not know what is in the prescription which the doctor gives you. You trust him to order it correctly, and you trust the druggist to follow his instructions.

Similarly you do not know the chemical elements of gasoline and motor oil. You trust the company that makes them and the dealer who puts them in your car.

For 54 years the Standard Oil Company of New York has been guided by this principle — that the confidence of the public is its chief asset. It must make good gasoline and motor oil. To cheapen its product would endanger this great public confidence.

You can trust this Company. You can trust its dealers. They are business men who are in business to stay. They have chosen to sell Socony Gasoline and Motor Oil because they believe these are the best products on which to build a lasting business. They will do everything possible to keep your good-will.

Don't experiment with imitations of Socony. Avoid places that try to sell you "something just as good."

Socony Touring Service is something you should know about

"WHICH road is the best road to take?" Socony Touring Service can answer such questions as that. They know every road that is under construction and they know how to avoid troublesome detours. You are cordially invited to make use of the Socony Touring Service at any time. Address them at 26 Broadway, New York City.

Have you tried Socony Special Gasoline?

GREENEVILLE

William Pitcher has returned to his home on 130 Prospect street after spending a few days in Boston. While there, he attended the automobile show.

The Greeneville Ideal Bridge club was entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Raymond Boynton of Russell road. Three tables were in play. Mrs. William Winterbottom won first ladies' prize with a score of 2150, while the first gentlemen's prize was awarded to William Winterbottom, with a score of 1765. Thomas Young won the consolation prize. After cards, a social hour was enjoyed and the hostess served refreshments. The decorations and favors were of green and gold.

The Ladies' guild of St. Andrew's Episcopal church held its weekly meeting at the home of Mrs. James Johnson of Smith avenue Thursday afternoon with a large attendance. Routine business was transacted with the president, Mrs. Fitch Dolbeare, presiding, after which a sewing and social hour was enjoyed. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bernard of 560 Boswell avenue are attending the automobile show which is being held in Boston this week.

Mrs. John LeClaire has returned to her home in Jewett City after spending a few days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Portelance, of 213 Central avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hourigan have returned to their home on Central avenue after spending a few days as guests of relatives in Plymouth, Mass.

Tyler Stanton has returned to Philadelphia, Pa., after spending a few days at his home on Boswell avenue.

Robert Burke has returned to his home in Hartford after spending a few days with relatives on Fifth street.

Joseph Sullivan has returned to his home in Waterbury, after spending a few days with relatives on Paige street.

Mr. and Mrs. William Burgesis have returned to their home on Boswell avenue after spending a few days in Boston. While there, they attended the automobile show.

The regular lenten devotions will be held this (Friday) evening at 7:30 o'clock in St. Mary's Memorial church. They will consist of Stations of the Cross and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Frank Casey has returned to his home on Boswell avenue after spending a few days in Providence.

TAFTVILLE

The next meeting of the members of the Thimble club is to be with Mrs. Walter S. Grant at her home on the Old Canterbury turnpike.

The members of the basketry club met Thursday evening at the Red Cross rooms in the Ponemah building.

The arrival of a number of species of spring birds has been noted by the amateur naturalists this week.

A new house is being erected for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Paradis on their property on Merchants avenue.

At the lenten devotions Wednesday evening at Sacred Heart church, the preacher was Rev. J. B. Mathieu of Grosvenordale. The service closed with recitation of the rosary and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Joseph Rock, who has been at the Ponemah house for the past few weeks has resigned his position with the local mills and has left town.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dougherty and family of North A street have moved to Norwich.

Warning as to Insurance Companies

The extensive national advertising being done by certain insurance companies not licensed in Connecticut has resulted in a number of inquiries being received by the Connecticut insurance department regarding the status of the companies in question, and has caused Insurance Commissioner Howard P. Dunham to again issue a warning to residents of this state urging them to determine whether or not an insurance company is licensed in Connecticut before a policy is taken out.

The state insurance department has no control over unlicensed companies and does not have detailed information regarding their status.

STATE HOSPITAL EMPLOYES GET PAID IN CHECKS INSTEAD OF MONEY

An important step toward bringing all state disbursements under the direct supervision of Comptroller Frederick M. Salmon was taken Thursday, when approximately 1,000 checks, the monthly payroll of two of the largest state institutions, were sent from the comptroller's office at Hartford. Heretofore, one check for the entire payroll has been sent to each of the institutions and the salaries of the employes has been paid in cash.

The institutions whose employes will now be paid by check are the Norwich State hospital and the Connecticut State hospital at Middletown. Each worker will receive a check signed by Comptroller Salmon and made acceptable by the signature of State Treasurer Ernest E. Rogers of New London.

The payrolls of a few of the smaller state institutions, including the Connecticut State Farm for Women at Niantic and the Mystic Oral School for the Deaf, have been paid by check and handled in the comptroller's office for some time. Other institutions will be added to the system later, it is expected.

Opposition to payments by check have been made in the past by employes, according to Deputy Comptroller Edward H. Wilkins, the workers saying that they would rather have cash than go to the trouble of cashing checks. There is little opposition at this time, however, it was said.

Officials of the Connecticut State hospital have talked of the new system for some time because of the safety of payments made by check. With the salaries of approximately 500 employes to handle each month, officials have expressed the fear that a robbery might sometime be perpetrated.

The recent installation of two check-signing machines, one in the office of the comptroller and one in the office of the treasurer, with a capacity of signing several thousand checks an hour, will facilitate the handling of so many additional checks each month.

Even with the signing machines, coupled with the fact that typewriters, check-writing machines and addressographs make personal check-writing unnecessary, the time of one clerk for about three days is required to write the 1,000 checks for the two institutions. The added cost of handling the two payrolls, however, will be offset by the faculty in distributing the salaries at the two hospitals, and by the added safety of the check method, it was said Wednesday by Deputy Comptroller Salmon.

COMPROMISE AWARD IN CLAIM FOR COMPENSATION

In the workmen's compensation claim of Oliver Blais of 44 Norwich avenue, Taftville, against the Ponemah company, a compromise finding and award has been made in favor of Blais, who claimed injury because he was struck in the lower spinal region by a shovelful of sand while at work on June 2, 1927. Under the award made Blais is to be paid forthwith the sum of $159.20 for 20 weeks at $7.96 in full settlement.

The injury occurred on Thursday, June 2, but was not reported until the following Monday, treatment being given by the industrial nurse at the plant and by Dr. Sussler.

At the hearing this week Blais contended that he is unable to work yet, but it was found according to the papers in the case, that he is about 69 years old, does not speak the English language, has not engaged in very laborious work for some years past, and is suffering from arthritis, a rheumatic condition in no way attributable to the injury received by him in June.

In conclusion the finding says: In view of the circumstances surrounding this case, the delay in payment of any compensation on the agreement entered into last July due to the fact that the insurer's file became mislaid, also in view of the physical condition of the claimant which is not traceable to any injury received by him, and the fact that his inability to work at this time is due largely to the arthritis from which he was suffering, the disability due directly to the injury having ceased some time ago according to the medical evidence introduced it was agreed that the claim should be settled upon a compromise basis.

THREE GIVE ADDRESSES BEFORE LIONS CLUB

The weekly luncheon meeting of the Norwich Lions club was held at the Wauregan hotel Thursday noon with President William R. Frisbie in the chair and with the usual large attendance. Lion Richard Quinn was the song leader.

Lion Max Hanover who returned to Norwich Wednesday after having passed several weeks at Glen Springs, Watkins, N. Y., gave a most interesting talk on his trip. Lion Charles Dexter Wicks of the New London club spoke on the Lions entertainment programmes from WEAF and WJZ to be presented at the Garde theatre in New London. Nelson Parker, president of the Parker-Preston Shingle Stain Co., gave a talk on shingle and house stains. Earl Styers entertained with several solos and the meeting closed in the usual form with the singing of The Star Spangled Banner.

WILL BE SPEAKER FOR INDUSTRIAL DINNER

R. W. Bowdoin of Boston, research executive of the New England council, is to be the speaker for the industrial conference dinner which is to be given Monday evening under the auspices of the Norwich chamber of commerce. Mr. Bowdoin is to speak upon "The Value of Research in Industry" and because of the topic it is anticipated that the programme will prove of special interest to manufacturers. Because the speaker has been a keen student of economics and has had valuable experience in analyzing industrial conditions in New England his address is expected to be of unusual interest. William G. Park, who is chairman of the March dinner committee, is arranging something special as a surprise in the entertainment line.

AGREEMENT WITHDRAWN AND COMPENSATION CLAIM DISMISSED

An agreement that had been filed with the superior court providing for medical services and compensation at $5.03 per week during total incapacity is withdrawn and voided and the workmen's compensation claim of Miss Grace Boozam of Montville against Palmer Bros. Co. of New London is dismissed and disallowed in a finding made by Commissioner Albert J. Bailey.

The young woman got some foreign matter in her eye on Jan. 26. The claimant did not appear at a hearing set for March 12 and the medical evidence was that if she had followed the medical advice tendered her disability would not have exceeded the waiting period of ten days at the most.

COMPENSATION CLAIMANT TO BE UNDER OBSERVATION

Compensation at the rate of $12.77 a week is to be paid during the remainder of total disability period to Stephen Hesriver of Montville, an employe of the Inland Paper Board Co., according to a workmen's compensation award made by Commissioner Albert J. Bailey. In the meantime the claimant has agreed to be under observation and treatment by a high-grade orthopedic surgeon for a sufficient length of time to render his injured left arm and shoulder more useful, and to give the specialist opportunity to estimate the percentage of permanent injury if any be found by him.

BRINGS SUIT TO GET VALUE OF HIS BONDS

Claiming that Murray A. Crossman of Ansonia has come into possession of a lot of bonds of the face value of $5,500 which Glenn A. Henderson secured from Angelo Filosi of East Lyme by alleged fraudulent representations, Filosi has brought suit in the superior court against Crossman for $7,500 damages.

Filosi claims that prior to May 1, 1924, he owned the following lot of negotiable mortgage bonds: Four Orange Court, each $500; one Orange Court, $1,000; one M. Rich & Bros., $1,000; one Argonne Apt, $1,000; and one 2480 Broadway, $500.

After Glenn Henderson secured possession of these bonds, it is claimed that Henderson or some one acting as his partner or in his behalf delivered the bonds to Crossman at a price less than their market value, which facts were known to Crossman, it is claimed, and constituted bad faith on his part. Crossman has refused to meet Filosi's demand to pay him the fair market value for the bonds, and Filosi claims $7,500 damages. The suit is returnable before the superior court in April.

FINED FOR FAILURE TO GRANT RIGHT OF WAY

A fine of $15 and costs was imposed on Andrew Przwkop, 19 of No. 85 Fifth street at the city court session Thursday morning on a charge of failure to grant the right of way. He was accused of having failed to grant the right of way to a machine driven by Bradford Ricketts, causing Mr. Ricketts' machine to collide with a roadster owned and operated by Albert A. James of No. 52 Main street. The accident occurred Tuesday night on North Main street.

CONSTANCE PENDLETON IS WHEATON STUDENT PRESIDENT

Constance Pendleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Pendleton of North Stonington, has been elected president of the college government association at Wheaton college, where she is a member of the class of 1929.

As a freshman at Wheaton Miss Pendleton was a member of the varsity riding and tennis teams, and in her sophomore year she served as secretary of C. G. A. This year she has been Vice president of C. G. A. and a member of the varsity hockey and basketball teams. She belongs to classical and romance language clubs.

A. M. E. Zion Church Conference

Thirty-five clergymen, representing churches of the New England conference of the A. M. E. Zion church, assembled in New London Wednesday for the annual midyear meeting.

The day was occupied with the reading of reports from the representatives of the various churches and in preparation for the annual general conference which will be held in St. Louis in May.

In the evening Rev. I. W. Kyles, A. M., D. D., of Winston-Salem, N. C., addressed the conference at the Methodist Episcopal church service.

Luncheon was served at the A. M. E. Zion church at 1 o'clock and dinner was served at 6 by the women of the church.

To Organize Cooties Here

Seven members of Whaling City Pup tent, Military Order of the Cooties, talked before Richard E. Hourigan post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in this city on Tuesday night, relative to the organizing of a pup tent in Norwich.

Steps were taken to form the pup tent and a delegation from New London will go to Norwich in about two weeks to initiate a class of candidates.

Commissioner Bradford Ill

County Commissioner George H. Bradford, inspector in charge of the gasoline division of the state motor vehicle department, and republican state central committeeman from the 20th district, was confined to bed at his home in Montville Thursday, suffering from grip. Mr. Bradford returned from Hartford late Wednesday and at once retired. His condition is not believed to be serious.

SEEKS TO FIND WHERE WIFE SOLD AUTOMOBILE

In an effort to find out what had become of his automobile, John C. Rother, employed by the Merritt-Chapman & Scott Co., and a resident of 465 Main street, this city, was in communication Wednesday with the Waterford court authorities. Rother claims that his wife sold the car and departed for parts unknown.

The reason Rother communicated with the Waterford authorities was that his wife had been arrested charged with parking without lights, Feb. 16, and Rother said that he wanted to find out the name of the man who was with her at that time.

On Feb. 16, Constable Chester H. Brigham of the Waterford constabulary, observed an automobile parked without lights on the Great Neck road. In the automobile was a woman who gave the name "Miss Margaret Rother of Norwich" and a service man. Another young woman, said to have been in the car, was not in it at the time of the arrest; she was said to have been walking with another service man.

"Miss Rother" on Feb. 20 told the Waterford court officials that she and a girl companion had been in the car, and that the lights had gone out. She said that two "service" men came along and repaired the trouble. The case against her was nolled.

Mr. Rother, who said he was "Miss Rother's" husband, ascertained that one of the men who had been in his car, which he says his wife sold, had given the name of Gonzales, when requesting information on the Rother case, after "Miss Rother" had been arrested.

Mr. Rother said that he was going to try and find the men who had been in the car, to see if they could give him any information as to where his automobile had been sold.

POULTRYMEN OF STATE PLAN FOR EGG WEEK

National Egg Week will again be featured in Connecticut, this year from May 1 to 7, according to action taken by poultrymen and egg dealers at a meeting held in the state capitol. It was announced Wednesday by Philo T. Platt, state commissioner of agriculture.

Commissioner Platt was elected chairman of a committee to formulate plans and to carry out the wishes of both producers and dealers. Others on the committee are C. L. Sibley, president of the Connecticut Poultry association; Thomas A. Smith of Hartford; Professor W. F. Kirkpatrick, Connecticut Agricultural college; W. H. Corbin, executive secretary of the Hartford chamber of commerce, and F. O. Miner of the Connecticut Poultry Producers' association.

Governor Trumbull's hearty endorsement of Connecticut's Egg Week program in 1927 has caused poultry men to plan a much more elaborate program for this year, it was said. The committee will hold its first meeting March 22, at which an advertising campaign will be discussed. It is expected that newspapers, radio stations, moving picture houses and social and civic societies will be asked to assist in telling the public about Connecticut eggs.

The per capita consumption of eggs is considerably lower in the United states than in Canada, according to poultry authorities, and by choosing a week when eggs are excellent in quality and are usually in sufficient quantity, it is expected that the country's consumption will show an increase during and following the egg week observance.

DEMAND FOR JAZZ CAUSED DISCORD IN BRITISH NAVY

The Captain and the Commander of the Battleship Royal Oak, in Port at Malta, Refused to Permit the Ship's Band Play Jazz For Party Given by a Rear Admiral—All the Officers Involved Have Been Suspended—A Courtmartial Will Place Responsibility For the "Mutiny".

LONDON, March 16—(AP)—For the first time in the history of the British navy, jazz is reported to have caused sufficient discord to bring an echo in the house of commons and send the first lord of the admiralty, W. C. Bridgeman, scurrying over to Buckingham palace from Whitehall to tell the king his troubles.

Rear Admiral Bernard St. G. Collard, in command of the battleship squadron at Malta, Captain Kenneth J. B. Dewar, in command of the battleship Royal Oak, and Commander H. M. Daniel of the same ship have been suspended for an incident aboard the Royal Oak, involving them in a serious controversy, which at first gave rise to hints of "mutiny."

A court martial is the next step on the program to place responsibility.

The affair was first brought up in the house of commons late last night when Commander Carlyon Bellairs questioned the government on a report that several officers of the Mediterranean fleet, including the admiral, had been in a serious disagreement and that a court martial had been held. Not much information was forthcoming at the time, but later an official communication was issued, which said:

"A court of inquiry has been held at Malta by order of the commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean station to investigate certain disciplinary matters in which Rear Admiral Bernard St. G. Collard, Captain Kenneth G. B. Dewar and Commander H. M. Daniel were involved. As a result of this inquiry, the three officers concerned were suspended from duty by the commander-in-chief, whose report has not been received by the admiralty.

"Since the first lord (W. C. Bridgeman) made his statement in the house of commons today, he has ascertained that Rear Admiral Collard's flag has not been transferred to another ship as he had inferred from an earlier telegram, but has been 'struck,' and that he is still at Malta.

"It is hoped that the press will not prejudge the matter and will await the admiralty's statement of the case."

As the story goes in navy circles, when the Royal Oak, which is Rear Admiral Collard's flagship of the first battle squadron, arrived at Malta, the admiral arranged to give a party aboard, to which all the elite of Malta were invited. The battleship's jazz band would furnish the music, said the admiral.

It would not, said Captain Dewar. Commander Daniel backed up his captain. In diplomatic words, Captain Dewar informed the admiral that he had no objections to a dance aboard the battleship, but if the admiral wanted jazz, and lots of it, he had better get a band from ashore to blow saxophones far into the night.

The captain contended that his boys had too much work to do in the day, and he did not propose to permit them to stay up most of the night for the amusement of the ship's guests—even at a dance given by the admiral.

Captain Dewar and Commander Daniel arrived in London last night, after having been suspended from duty by the Malta court of inquiry. Charges and counter-charges have already been made on both sides.

HELD FOR THEFT OF U. S. MAIL TRUCK IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, March 16—(AP)—George Platt, of 68 Walnut street, a former post office employe, was arrested tonight charged with the theft of a mail truck containing registered mail, last night.

The truck was stolen from in front of New Haven hospital, while the driver, Ernest La Brake, was collecting the hospital mail. It was found near the Connecticut Fat Rendering company in West Haven today.

Platt is said to have told police that he got $124 from the registered mail, $95 of which he spent for a diamond ring which was found secreted on his person.

He will be arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Alcorn tomorrow and meanwhile is being held in $5,000 bonds.

Platt was convicted of thefts from the mail on a previous occasion and served a four months sentence. At a later date he made application for a position on the police force and was arrested for perjury when it developed that he had neglected to certify in his application that he had been arrested and convicted of a crime.

While in the government employ as a mail truck driver, Platt covered the same collection route as La Brake now covers and was familiar with the stops and the fact that New Haven hospital is the last place where mail is collected.

WEALTHY MAN'S DAUGHTER SENTENCED TO REFORMATORY

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 16—(AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth L. Seidenfeld, 24, daughter of a wealthy clothing manufacturer of Rochester, N. Y., was sentenced to a year in Marysville reformatory by Common Pleas Judge Carl V. Weygandt today on a charge of perjuring herself in the hearing of her suit for divorce.

The sentence came as a surprise after Mrs. Seidenfeld's attorneys had withdrawn the divorce petition.

Mrs. Seidenfeld admitted on the stand during the divorce hearing yesterday that she signed an affidavit stating she did not know the whereabouts of her husband, Morris Seidenfeld, and on the same day sent a telegram to him in New York.

SPRINGFIELD COLLEGE ENDS HONOR SYSTEM

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 16—Springfield college has discontinued the honor system. In announcing its action today, the faculty explained that it was guided by student opinion as expressed in a recent referendum.

The system by which the students are placed on their honor during examinations has been in effect at the Y. M. C. A. institution for years. The majority objection to it from a student standpoint was the obligating of reporting "cribbing" by some one else. Most of the students were willing to promise not to "crib" themselves but objected to playing the part of policemen in watching their colleagues.

MRS. MARTHA HOPSON A VICTIM OF APOPLEXY

DANBURY, March 16—(AP)—Mrs. Martha Hopson, 68 years old, died at the Danbury hospital today where she was removed following an attack of apoplexy at the Hotel Green yesterday.

She was the widow of John T. Hopson, former superintendent of the New Haven road and formerly lived in New Haven before she came to Danbury to live. She had been in New York for the past few years but returned to visit old friends.

While in Danbury, Mrs. Hopson directed music in the public schools and was well known as a singer.

DUTY OF THE ARMY AND NAVY COAST AIRCRAFT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, March 16—The Bingham joint resolution for creation of a committee from senate and house to recommend means for determination of duty of army and navy coast aircraft in time of emergency was favorably reported today by the military affairs committee and sent to the naval committee which is expected to concur. Tilson introduced a similar resolution in the house and it is expected the two measures will pass congress.

GERMANY CONSTRUCTING A MAMMOTH ZEPPELIN

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Ger., March 16—(AP)—Construction of the new mammoth zeppelin, LZ-127, has progressed so rapidly that Dr. Hugo Eckener said today that trial flights would be made late in May or at the beginning of June. The air liner is designed for trans-oceanic travel. Its builders hope to put it in service next fall between Seville, Spain, and Buenos Aires, Argentina.

The ship will be a monster. Its length is 775 feet. Five motors of 530 horsepower each will be installed in it. They are already blocked up on their trial stands.

The LZ-127 will be in command of the same officers who navigated the ZR-3, now the Los Angeles, from Germany to Lakehurst, N. J. Dr. Eckener will again be in charge with Herr Duerr as chief engineer. They will have a crew of 36 men.

The ship will have accommodations for twenty passengers and promoters of the enterprise assert that they will make the trans-oceanic flight with a comfort not previously reached in aviation.

FAINT HOPE REVIVED THAT HINCHLIFFE REACHED LAND

NEW YORK, March 16—(AP)—A faint hope revived today that the Honorable Elsie Mackay and Captain Walter Hinchliffe reached these shores for which they set out in the plane Endeavour from England early Tuesday morning.

It depended solely on reports from several persons in the vicinity of Greenville, Me., that an unidentified plane had been heard and sighted at 6 o'clock yesterday morning flying in a northwestern direction.

If this were the British craft it was near the limit of its fuel supply and a forced landing would have plunged it into a wilderness broken only by lumber camps and a few very small settlements. The reports came from the northeast of Greenville, several from Kokadjo, a postoffice in the unorganized township of Frenchtown which has 33 inhabitants. It is seven miles east of Moosehead Lake, 50 miles from the Canadian border and about 120 from the city of Quebec.

SENTENCED FOR WHIPPING HIS 13-YEAR-OLD DAUGHTER

WHITING, Ind., March 16—(AP)—For whipping his 13 year old daughter, Mary, with a belt, Paul Lukacecik, 43 year old Whiting Oil company employe, today was fined $500 and costs and sentenced to serve eight months on the state penal farm at Pendleton.

The father admitted he whipped the girl last Wednesday when, he said, he had discovered she was incorrigible. She immediately left her home and stayed with friends who advised her to consult the police. They advised her to swear out a warrant, charging him with assault and battery, which she did.

At today's hearing in city court, the mother, who sided with her daughter, and two physicians testified, saying the lashes from the belt left large black and blue marks over the girl's body. The father offered no defense except that he had the right to punish his daughter. He intimated he would not appeal the case.

DEATH LIST OF DAM DISASTER REACHES 203

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—(AP)—Another day of search for victims of the colapse of St. Francis dam left the known death list standing tonight at 203 with indications that few more bodies would be recovered in the flood areas of San Francisquito Canyon and the Santa Clara River Valley.

Rehabilitation measures had been placed on an organized basis and Mayor George E. Cryer of Los Angeles informed the Red Cross that there was no need for a national appeal for aid. Los Angeles and southern California in general, the mayor declared, would take care of their own.

Meanwhile, preparations were being made for the burial of the 203 bodies assembled at six morgues in the affected territory. For the residents of the Santa Clara Valley who died in the disaster a public funeral service will be held at Santa Paula Monday.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

LENINGRAD, March 16—(AP)—The Russian official news agency, Tass, is authority for an announcement that representatives of 19 countries, including the United States, will participate in an International Arctic congress to begin here June 17.

BARWAHA, India, March 16—(AP)—Gala attire on wedding guests and crowded streets tonight marked the final preparations for the sun-rise wedding tomorrow of Devi Sharmista, the former Nancy Ann Miller of Seattle, and Tukoji Rao, the former maharajah of Indore. The ceremony will take place at dawn.

BUENOS AIRES, March 16—(AP)—Dr. Emanuel Malbran, present Argentine ambassador to Chile, has been appointed ambassador to the United States. He succeeds Honorio Pueyrredon, who resigned his post while he was at Havana as chairman of the Argentine delegation to the Pan-American congress because that body would not heed his insistence upon reduction of tariffs between nations in the Americas.

WANAMAKER PROVIDES FOR CONTINUANCE OF STORES

PHILADELPHIA, March 16—(AP)—Under the will of the late Rodman Wanamaker, the department store business in Philadelphia and New York carrying the Wanamaker name will be continued through the trusteeship of a board of seven men.

These seven, all Philadelphians, will administer the estate which is said to be valued at $75,000,000, for the benefit of the business and the heirs which includes Mr. Wanamaker's only living sister, his three children and his grand children.

The largest public bequest was that of $2,000,000 for the creation of the "John Wanamaker Free School of Artisans" along the lines of the Williamson Trades School for Boys at Media, Pa. The new school is to be located at such place as the trustees deem best.

The principal of the $7,500,000 life insurance upon the life of Mr. Wanamaker, is to behold in trust for the benefit of his three children, Mrs. Ector Munn, Mrs. Gurnee Munn, and John Wanamaker, Jr., and their children. It will be divided when the youngest grandchild becomes 21 years old.

Provision is made for annuities to Mr. Wanamaker's sister, Mrs. Barclay H. Warburton, whose husband, Major Barclay H. Warburton, was recently elected mayor of Palm Beach, Fla.

The original will provided for a trust fund for the "Mary B. Wanamaker Home For Convalescent Children," but it was cancelled by one of the codicils without explanation.

RELIEF PARTIES REACH SNOW-BLOCKED TOWN

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., March 16—(AP)—An army airplane and a dog team today broke the snow blockade which had isolated the village of Detour, Mich., for 16 days and the dog team got there first.

Their threat of famine averted, the villagers abandoned their canned food diet tonight, to eat their first square meal in more than a week and scanned the first mail they had received in nearly three weeks.

It was a joyous holiday with the school house closed and work abandoned as virtually the entire population of 600 inhabitants gathered around an improvised landing field on the ice of St. Mary's river to greet the arrival of the army transport plane, several hours after a dog team, carrying a lighter load of provisions had been welcomed.

It had taken the team of seven dogs since Wednesday afternoon when it left here, to make the 60 mile trip in the teeth of a blizzard while the big airplane carrying 300 pounds of mail and 300 pounds of food principally bread, landed gracefully on the ice field just 37 minutes after it took off from the same place at 11:40 a. m.

Immediately upon discharging its cargo the plane returned here carrying Russell Goetz, critically ill from blood poisoning, he was removed to a local hospital.

FOR FED. SUPERVISION OF THE COAL INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, March 16—(AP)—Federal supervision of the coal industry, as tentatively suggested by Senator Gooding, republican, Idaho, was endorsed on behalf of the United Mine Workers today by John L. Lewis, president.

The union leader, who has informed the senate investigating committee that his organization is ready to meet with operators' representatives to suggest legislation for stabilization of the industry, said that his associates were awaiting the resumption of the coal inquiry Monday with interest.

"The next move must come from the operators,' he explained, hinting an expectation that the union stand on behalf of a conference will bring a response from the operators.

MISSING COLLEGE GIRL MAY BE IN QUEBEC CONVENT

QUEBEC, Que., March 16—(AP)—Possible explanation of reports that Frances St. John Smith, missing college student, was in a Quebec convent came today from Bellevue convent here.

A young woman who has been a student at Bellevue for four years was returning from New York about the time Miss Smith disappeared, it was explained, and a slight resemblance between the two might account for the stories of two railroad men that the college girl came to Canada on their trains.

A member of the St. John Smith family accompanied by Joseph Daley, Massachusetts state detective, left for Quebec to investigate the reports, it was learned.

INTERESTING STORIES IN TEAPOT DOME INQUIRY

CHICAGO, March 16—(AP)—Although it failed to find further trace of the Sinclair liberty bonds used to help extinguish the republican party deficit in 1923, the senate Teapot Dome subcommittee today heard two rather interesting stories from three of the thirty-six witnesses it questioned at morning and afternoon sessions.

One was that Harry F. Sinclair, James E. O'Neil and two unidentified men discussed the Teapot Dome lease, liberty bonds, Albert B. Fall and the Continental Trading company at a dinner at a club in New York city early in 1923. The other was that the late Fred W. Upham, then republican national treasurer, and Wilbur W. Marsh, the democratic national treasurer, entered into an agreement in 1923 not to make a report to congress on receipts and contributions for that year.

Senate Rejects the Esch Nomination

Against Another Term as Member of the Interstate Commerce Commission—Vote 39 to 29.

WASHINGTON, March [illegible]—The senate today rejected [illegible] nomination of John J. Esch [illegible] Wisconsin, for another term [illegible] interstate commerce commission [illegible] 29, after five hours of de[illegible] mind closed doors.

Resentful over [illegible] change of attitude shown by [illegible] Commissioner Esch which led him finally to switch his vote and favor lower rates on coal hauls from the northern mines to lake ports, Senators from states in the southern coal fields waged a successful battle against him.

Senator Neely, democrat, of West Virginia, led the fight against Esch. He charged that Esch, who also voted against permitting railroads in the southern fields to reduce their rates, had changed his vote on the lake cargo rate case because of pressure from Pennsylvania and the administration.

Senator Fess submitted a minority report from the interstate commerce committee which had reported unfavorably on the nomination, declaring "from the standpoint of ability and experience, he is eminently fitted for the position and from the basis of honesty and integrity, he is equal to the best in public life."

Senator Neely, after the executive session, declared the action "is very emphatic warning that the senate will not tolerate the packing of these important commissions by President Coolidge in favor of Pennsylvania or any other section or in favor of any particular interests in the country."

Mr. Esch has served for six years on the commission. He was co-author of the Esch-Cummins act regulating to a large extent the railroad system of the nation. His term expired at the end of the year but he has been continuing in office under a recess appointment.

PRELIMINARY CONFLICT OVER SECURITY PACTS

GENEVA, March 16—(AP)—A three cornered conflict over security pacts occupied the session of the preparatory commission on disarmament today.

Maxim Litvinoff, head of the Russian delegation, took the offensive against pacts of security, declaring that immediate disarmament was the only way of furthering peace.

Count von Bernstorff, former ambassador at Washinston and head of the German delegation, said that security pacts were all right in their way, but disarmament must go hand and hand with them.

M. Claudel representing France in the absence of M. Boncour, backed the old French theory of security first, disarmament afterwards.

Counter attacks by the Locarno countries seemed to have mastered the soviet offensive, but when the report recommending "non-aggression and mutual assistance pact," was put to the vote, objection was raised, and the vote went over until next week.

The commission decided to wait until the Turkish delegates arrive, Monday, and go on with the next item on the Agenda, which is the soviet proposal to destroy immediately all armaments.

Borah "Repudiation" Fund Forthcoming

Ready Response to Call For Fund of $160,000 For Return of the Sinclair Contribution.

WASHINGTON, March 16—(AP)—Two republican senatorial colleagues were among the first today to answer the call of Senator Borah of Idaho, for a fund of $160,000 to "repudiate" the contribution of that amount to the republican campaign deficit in 1923 by Harry F. Sinclair, lessee of Teapot Dome.

Senator Cuttin, republican, of New Mexico, wrote out a check for $1,000. Senator Goff, republican, of West Virginia, wired a proposal for contributions for $1,000 each by 160 men "to lift the obligation of shame," as Senator Borah described the Sinclair contribution.

From coast to coast came messages to the Idahoan's office offering help in his role of campaign funds collector and, while the first day's contributions did not mount very high, he expressed confidence that the fund would be raised.

Other contributors today included Governor Brewster of Maine, $100; C. A. Sorensen, Lincoln, Neb., $100; Dr. Ernest Gruening, Portland, Ore., $100; and two persons who called at the senator's office, one leaving $10 and another $1.

Several messages were received, the senator said, asking for instructions on plans in various parts of the country to raise the money, and to these he replied suggesting public meetings for attempts to raise small amounts from large numbers.

Otherwise, however, he has outlined no definite campaign for raising the funds and is depending entirely on contributions. The telegram from Senator Goff, who is in Atlanta, Ga., recuperating from an illness, also suggested that 32 men pay $5,000 each to make up the fund.

Senator Cutting significantly remarked that "more may be needed," but did not amplify this suggestion, and Senator Borah said also he had heard rumors along the same line.

LOBBYISTS UNDER FIRE BEFORE HOUSE COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, March 16—(AP)—The paid, unofficial dabbler in legislation who conceals both his purpose and the identity of his employer came under fire today when a house judiciary sub-committee took up the Caraway bill to require registration of lobbyists.

Two prominent democrats appeared before the committee to depict him as a fraud growing fat on money fleeced from the innocent public on the pretense that he exerts an influence over legislative matters.

Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, democratic author of the measure, declared that passage of the bill would save a million dollars to industry by bringing the lobbyists into the open. He termed "big business" the greatest loser and asserted that disclosure of the uselessness of the lobbyist would tend to remove such a danger.

The lobbyist payroll was described as larger than that of congress by Representative Garner, of Texas, ranking democrat on the house ways and means committee.

Watch the Advertisements!

A few years ago "Let the buyer beware" was not so far from being the motto of American business. If a man set out to buy a razor he might get a very excellent one—and, again, he might not. There were some very fine products. And some very poor. And there was no way of choosing the good from the bad, except by test.

Today that condition hardly exists. In every line of merchandise there are trade-marked, standardized products. Products that are unvarying in quality and performance—that can be depended upon year in and year out. When you buy them you know what they are, what they'll do, and what they cost. . . . They're advertised products!

To take full advantage of this—to protect yourself—to save money—watch the advertisements! When you need anything turn to the advertising columns of The Bulletin. Read about the things listed there. When you find the article you need, buy it—not haphazardly, but by name!

In the past week the following news matter has appeared in The Bulletin's columns:

TENTATIVE AGREEMENT REACHED BY THE CONFEREES ON THE RADIO BILL

WASHINGTON, March 16—(AP)—A tentative agreement was reached today by senate and house conferees on the radio bill for retention of the principle of the house amendment for equitable allocation of station power and wave lengths among the five zones.

Senator Dill, democrat, of Washington, and Representative White, republican, of Maine, were instructed by the conference to revise the language regarding equitable allocations along the lines agreed upon and formal approval of the conference report tomorrow was predicted.

The life of the radio commission expired yesterday and the bill would continue it for another year, but the department of commerce is holding over during the hiatus and early action on the bill is in sight.

The conferences accepted the senate provision ending the terms of all present members of the commission on next February 23. Although the commission will expire as an active unit within a year, it would serve thereafter in a semi-judicial capacity in acting on appeals from the administration by the department of commerce.

The house proposal to limit broadcasting licenses for entertainment purposes to three months was accepted along with the senate provision to limit licenses for commercial and amateur stations to one year.

Under the agreement to end the commissioners' terms next year after which appointments would be made on the regular basis of six years, Senator Dill predicted the senate would act next week on nominations of the commissioners which have been favorably reported by the interstate commerce committee after hearings.

WEALTHY HOTEL AND CAFE PROPRIETOR KIDNAPED

James E. Hall, 54, Was Abducted From His Home in an Exclusive Section of Detroit—Two Men Forced Hall to Accompany Them at the Point of a Pistol—Later Two Men Appeared at the Hall Home Demanding $10,000 Ransom.

DETROIT, March 16—(AP)—James E. Hall, 54, wealthy hotel and cafe proprietor was kidnaped from his home in the exclusive Grosse Pointe Village district here tonight, it was reported to police. The kidnapers demanded $10,000 ransom.

The kidnaping, which police believe to be a continuation of the activities of a gang of extortionists who have mulcted local persons of thousands of dollars during the last few months, was the second to occur here this week.

Harvey E. Watson, local labor leader, kidnaped last Monday, is being held for $25,000 ransom.

According to Hall's wife, two men came to the Hall home tonight and forced her husband to accompany them at the point of a pistol. She immediately reported the matter to police.

A short time later two other men arrived at the Hall home bearing a note signed by Mr. Hall relating that he had been kidnaped and requiring that she turn $10,000 over to the extortionists at a place designated in the note.

Despite advice to the contrary by police, Mrs. Hall was making preparations tonight to pay the ransom and urgently requested suspension of police action pending completion of the transaction.

Police of Grosse Pointe Village a few hours later declared they had received an anonymous tip that James L. Shumway, proprietor of a string of soft drink places here, also was being held for ransom.

Inquiry at Shumway's home elicited the information that he has been out of the city for several days.

HOPE FOR HINCHLIFFE CONTINUES TO FADE

GREENVILLE, Me., March 16—(AP)—Hope that an unidentified plane heard and seen near here yesterday morning was the Hinchliffe monoplane Endeavour slowly faded tonight as reports of failure to find the craft trickled back here through a 50 mile net work of camp telephone lines around the Moosehead region.

Near the limit of its fuel supply, if it were the missing plane, it was feared the craft may have come down in the forest wilderness that stretches for nearly 100 miles northwest toward the city of Quebec. Persons could be lost for weeks in the territory, especially in winter.

William H. Cole, postmaster at Kokadjo, 20 miles northeast of Greenville, reported seeing the plane at six o'clock yesterday morning. It was flying low, he said, and apparently going well. John Dyer and his wife, in the same vicinity, heard the plane's motor distinctly.

On either side of the big lake to Seboomook at Northwest Carey, 40 miles away, and to scores of lumber camps of the Great Northern Paper company, word was telephoned to Deputy Sheriff Adelbert G. Rogers, that sent woods folks in search of a possibly crashed plane and its occupants. The frozen lake would have provided a natural landing place for the Endeavour.

Two men were sent into the region in an automobile. They had not returned early tonight and on their report it was believed would rest the decision of further search into the territory by woodsmen.

CHARGE RUM SMUGGLERS BRIBED BORDER PATROL

DETROIT, March 16—(AP)—Bribery of four customs border patrol inspectors, who since have left the service, in the wholesale smuggling of liquors into the United States from Canada in 1927, is charged in a federal grand jury indictment made public here today.

Special customs officers who investigated the case declared that the bribes given the officers by two rum runners in the first six months of 1927 amounted to approximately $200,000.

The four former customs inspectors and the two rum runners are named defendants in the indictment. They were being sought tonight by government operatives.

The former inspectors indicted are James G. Nevins, Joseph Lantry, Ray Rinkus and Willis Beal, the latter a former trooper from Maine. The alleged rum runners are Joseph Galbo and Joseph Roseen, known to rivermen as "big operators."

It is charged that the inspectors collected 25 cents for each case of beer and $1 for each case of whiskey which they permitted the rum runners to land on this side of the Detroit river from Canada, guaranteeing safe transportation and landing. Whole boatloads of liquors were thus brought illegally into the United States, it is alleged.

Twelve counts in the indictment specifically charge the alleged rum runners with offering bribes and the former officers with accepting them. The specific offenses were alleged to have been committed in February and March, 1927.

RECEIVERS ASKED FOR MONUMENTAL ASSOCIATION

DECATUR, Ga., March 16.—(AP)—A receiver for the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental association was asked in Dekalb county superior court here today by five women acting to recover donations to the memorial by the city of Atlanta and Fulton county.

Allegations that the organization was insolvent were combined in the petition with charges of "waste and dissipation" of its funds.

Request that the city and county be enjoined from further donations and that the association be restrained from soliciting or receiving funds from the two sources was granted in a temporary order issued by Judge John B. Hutchison. Hearing was set for March 24.

BODY OF WOMAN WAS FOUND IN VACANT LOT

ANSONIA, March 16.—(AP)—The body of Mrs. Adam Tupka, of 163 North State street, who disappeared from her home on Sunday, was found tonight in a vacant lot in South Main street, Seymour.

The woman did not have on hat or coat and death is thought to have been caused by exposure.

She is survived by her husband and four children.

DENIES HAVING SEEN AN UNIDENTIFIED PLANE

GREENVILLE, Me., March 16.—(AP)—Report that William A. Cole, postmaster at Kokadpo, 20 miles from here had seen an unidentified plane flying northwestward at 6 o'clock yesterday morning, was denied by him tonight. He told investigators sent out by Deputy Sheriff Adelbert G. Rogers that he had neither seen nor heard the plane, according to the deputy.

INABILITY TO SWIM LED TO BOY'S CAPTURE

SOUTHINGTON, March 16.—(AP)—His inability to swim while his two companions escaped, caused the capture of Anthony Japanis, 19, of 91 South Elm street, Bristol, one of five inmates at the Connecticut school for boys, Meriden, who escaped Thursday night and remained hidden in a barn here all day today. His capture was made by two local policemen and four officials of the state school about 6 o'clock tonight.

The three youths, Japonis; Domenick Matrino, 17, of 15 Palmer street, New Haven, and Frank Sherwood, 18, of 18 1-2 Ely avenue, South Norwalk, concealed themselves in a barn of the Walsh homestead early this morning and remained hidden until 5 o'clock tonight when one of the boys unshod went to the Walsh home and requested a pair of shoes.

Becoming suspicious, Mrs. Frank Walsh telephoned the police from a school house nearby, but while the conversation was taking place the youths fled from their rendezvous and jumped onto a passing motor truck. When Constables G. R. Thompson and Thomas Murphy arrived at the Walsh home they were informed of the escape.

The truck was trailed by the police to Dunham's bridge which spans the Quinnipiac river on the College highway near the Plainville-Southington town line. Here the boys left their van and ran down to the river's edge, which appeared to be their only escape as they were encircled by the police and four officials of the institution from which they had escaped.

ITALIAN DEPUTIES PASS FASCIST ELECTORAL LAW

ROME, March 16—(AP)—The new fascist electoral law, which virtually makes Italy a one constituency country, was adopted by the chamber of deputies almost unanimously this evening. There were two votes against it—those of Giovanni Giolitti, former premier, and Marcello Soleri, former minister of war, and finance. The two other members of the Giolitti group, constituting the only survival of opposition to Premier Mussolini, were absent.

Ex-Premier Giolitti is 86 years of age. He is the veteran of the chamber, and has not missed a sitting during the 46 years since he was first elected. He has occupied the same seat, which was always reserved for him and he made his last stand this evening as the sole leader opposing the fascist regime like Horatio at the bridge.

The doughty warrior of the old liberal school was the only speaker to counter the government measure, and he succeeded in having his voice heard despite noisy interruptions by the majority members.

Like Premier Mussolini, Giolitti is a Knight of the Supreme Order of Annunziata, which entitles him to the rank of cousin to the king. With his usual calm, impassive tone, the veteran, standing upright 6 feet, 4 inches, began amidst a breathless silence.

WILL HAYS SPECULATED IN SINCLAIR STOCK

CHICAGO, March 16—(AP)—Speculations in Sinclair Consolidated Oil company stock by Will H. Hays after he had used Sinclair liberty bonds to wipe out the debt of the republican national committee in 1923 was testified to tonight before the senate Teapot Dome sub-committee by James P. Connery, Chicago coal dealer.

Connery, who described himself as a friend and partner of the former chairman of the republican national committee declared that one time Hays "was about $100,000 short" in his accounts, which Connery said were handled by him in Chicago.

Questioned by the senate investigators at his home, where he is ill, Connery testified that he had "pushed" Sinclair to return to Hays the $85,000 which the former postmaster general had given to Sinclair to complete the return payment of $16,000 which the lessee of Teapot Dome had given him to assist with the republican party debt prior to the 1924 campaign.

CONTEST OVER LOCATION OF VETERANS HOSPITAL

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 16—A sub committee of the house veterans committee held a session today behind closed doors on the matter of a veterans hospital to be used by Connecticut veterans and although no official reports of the meeting can be obtained there is reason to believe Connecticut is by no means assured the hospital will be placed in that state.

The full committee meets next Monday and the matter will then be placed before it with result in doubt. It is certain there will be hot debate and the vote close. Underground rumors are to the effect that Connecticut has a scant chance to win out. New York is one of the principal contestants and Massachusetts would like to have the hospital placed in that state.

SELECTMEN APPROVE PLANS FOR TRADE SCHOOL

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, March 16—The board of selectmen of the town of Windham have received the plans and specifications prepared by the Putnam Trade school engineering department and sanctioned by the state board of education for alterations to the Turner mill on Valley street. The three-story brick structure is to be remodelled for a trade school here although final papers have not as yet been signed for the sale of the building by the Willimantic Development company to the town. The actual transfer is expected to take place on or about April 1 when the floors are cleared of remaining machinery of the Goyer company which had occupied the mill for the manufacture of radio parts and novelty hardware. One floor, occupied by the Holland Silk company is now being vacated.

Within a few days when the plans and specifications have been inspected by the selectmen, bids will be asked for for the alterations to the interior. Several drastic changes are contemplated including relocation of entrances and stairways. The entrance doors are to be brought to the sidewalk level and the stairways will lead directly from the basement to the third floor on two sides of the Building. It is planned to conduct the masonry work classes in the basement, carpentry on the first floor, painting and plumbing on the second floor and electrical work and drafting with a class room on the third floor. A new arrangement is to be made of the west ell which houses the heating and engine plant.

The feature of the program at the Lyceum meeting of the Windham high school student body this morning was a lively minstrel presented by Miss Doris Caswell, senior, assisted by Miss Elizabeth F. Hunt of the faculty. Edward Nichols did himself credit as interlocutor and the W. H. S. jazz orchestra rendered snappy interludes. John McLearn, soloist, Alice Connolly and Irene Babcock, song and dance sketch, and a reading by Muriel Smith were some of the featured numbers of the production. Other numbers included a vocal duet by Francis Dillon and Elwood Whitford, solo by Alfred Saba and vocal number by the W. H. S. male quartet, consisting of Ralph Williams, Marcus Garrison, Nelson Robinson and Howard Sandstrom, this number proving the big hit of the show. The end men were Arthur Meikle, Alfred Saba, Elwood Whitford, Francis Dillon, George Sumner and John McLearn, while the circle was composed of Evelyn Fournier, Marion Branch, Lucille Andrews, Anna Lou Fergusson, Doris Caswell, Ruth Bradley, Janet Scripture. There were many original jokes at the expense of the faculty and undergraduates. Elizabeth McKinley was at the piano during the performance.

A permanent star route from the Willimantic postoffice to Chestnut Hill and Leonard Bridge will be established Monday, March 7. To this effect Postmaster Frank M. Smith has received notice from the department at Washington of the discontinuance on that date of the present temporary route. The announcement states that the contract to cover the new route has been awarded to Fred G. Nason of Shetuckat Park, this city, by virtue of his bid which was lower than all others. The contract is for two round trips daily except on Sundays and holidays. The mileage averages about 20 miles for the 20 miles by the shortest route, although at the present time of the year the mileage averages about 3 miles for the round trip because several detours are necessary owing to poor road conditions. The temporary route and the coming permanent one are sequels to the removal of passenger and mail service from the Air Line division to Middletown of the New Haven railroad last January.

The funeral of Mrs. Adelaide E. Fuller was held at the home of her sister, Mrs. Annette Reed of Scotland this afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. Paul B. Sanger officiated. Burial was in the Scotland cemetery, the bearers being James Johnson, A. H. Gallup, Leon Moffit and Harold Kenyon. Arrangements were in charge of Avery and Van Zandt.

In accordance with a resolution introduced by Alderman William E. Jackson at the monthly meeting of the board of alderman last Monday night which aimed at offering some relief to the unemployed men of the city, bids have been called for the furnishing of 2,500 feet of six-inch cast iron water pipe to be laid on Tingley street. Alderman Jackson's resolution further specified that the purchase of pipes should be made locally insofar as a comparison of costs showed this to be feasible. As soon as the contract is filled by the water committee which comprises Aldermen William E. Webber, William E. Jackson and John Reilly, excavations will be started on the newly adopted streets. It is proposed to install city water from Main to Prospect streets.

The continued mild weather is proving a boon to road-building in this section and early construction is expected as most of the preparatory work is complete. Much grading has already been done on the eleven mile stretch of proposed new highway from Mansfield Four Corners through Warrenville and Ashford Town to Pheonixville. This contract is held by Miller Brothers and at present the contractors have four gangs working on the grading and making preparations in four sections of the new route. The contract calls for eleven miles of water-bound macadam road. The new stretch of highway, which will save many miles for traffic between Stafford Springs and points west to Putnam and Providence, diverges from the old country road and at a number of points leads through virgin land that was cut out of the forests. Another contract calls for completing the link of approved highway from Mansfield Center to Warrenville to join the new road.

Professor Walter Stimmson, head of the publicity department of the Connecticut Agricultural college at Storrs gave an enlightening talk on Farm Relief at the March meeting of the Congregational Church Brotherhood held in church house Tuesday night. President Stanley J. Sumner was in charge. The supper was served by the Ladies' society of the church. Announcement that the Colonial Male Quartette of Hartford, of which Maurice E. Wallen is a member, would appear in a concert at the church auditorium next month.

The contest being sponsored by Earl W. Green Post No. 32, American Legion of Coventry and Mansfield for the collection of ten caterpillar egg clusters has been given a boost by a donation of $15 to be added to prize money, by the Men's Social club of South Coventry. The club has further pledged support to the lectionnaires in securing a total of $100 for prize money for the work.

The school supervisors of this section met at the normal school building here Thursday with M. Searle Light, director of rural education, in charge. Joseph Wheltker of Hartford, supervisor of art education in the state delivered an address in the forenoon. The afternoon session was devoted to a discussion of general school subjects.

Mrs. George Wilcox entertained the ladies of the Helping Hand society and friends at whist in the Windham Girls' club rooms Thursday with six tables in play. Mrs. Mary Mathieu, Mrs. Ethel Bergeron and Mrs. Lewis won the first, second and third prizes respectively. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Mary Hicks in serving refreshments. Noting Mrs. Wilcox's birthday, she was presented with a beautiful floral bouquet.

The republican caucus of the town of Coventry to elect delegates to the state and congressional conventions and elect a town committee for two years, has been called to be held in the town hall at South Coventry next Monday night.

Samuel Feldman of the United Music company store at New London has been in this city on business this week.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

HAROLD SEAMAN IN JAIL—ACCUSED BY HIS DAUGHTERS

(Special to The Bulletin)

STAFFORD SPRINGS, March 16—As a result of an investigation by the Connecticut Humane Society and the state police a deplorable state of affairs has been found to exist in the family of Harold Seaman, of South Willington. Mr. Seaman and family came to live in South Willington four or five months ago and have been living on the Baxter place. Undue intimacy between Seaman and his 16 year old daughter led to suspicion. An interview by Sergent Hulbert of the local state police barracks with Henrietta Seaman confirmed the suspicion. Seaman was arrested and brought before the borough court of Stafford Springs charged with incest. He peaded guilty and was bound over to the April term of the Tolland county superior court under bonds of $2,000 in defaut of which he was committed to jail. The daughter Henrietta was committed to The Forence Crittenton Mission at New Haven. At a session of the juvenile court, another daughter Edith Seaman was committed to Long Lane Farm at Middletown.

At the special town meeting held at the Warren Memorial hall, Tuesday evening, $38,000 was appropriated for the purpose of building a four-room school building in Staffordville. It was also voted to issue bonds payable $2000 annually for the purpose of financing the construction of the building. The matter of location for the new school house was easily disposed of when M. D. O'Connell, on behalf of Benedict Schwanda & Sons, of Staffordville, offered a warrantee deed of a tract of land comprising about three acres, provided the town erect the new school house thereon. This tract lies east of the button factory and seems well adapted to this purpose. The town voted to accept the deed and B. Schwanda & Sons were given a vote of thanks for their generosity. A building committee, Benedict Schwanda Jr., Burt T. Eaton and Supt. of Schools Francis S. Erick, was elected to have charge of erecting and equipping the new building. Specifications are being prepared by an architect and as soon as completed bids will be asked for.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry if thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practising physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them, 15c, 30c, 60c.

WESTERLY

LAW DEALS WITH BARBER—GOT FAMILIAR WITH CUSTOMER

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., March 16—Before Judge Oliver H. Williams Friday morning in the Third district court two criminal cases were heard.

The case of State, Thomas E. Brown, chief of police, vs. John Malagrino, was one in which a violent assault was charged upon Mrs. Nellie M. Russell, of 10 Wall street, White Rock, and was alleged to have taken place March 8 between 11 and 12 a. m. in the barber shop conducted by the defendant at 54 Canal street. Through his attorney, John J. Dunn, a plea of not guilty was entered.

Mrs. Nellie M. Russell, wife of John Brown Russell, formerly of 8 Main street, White Rock, testified that she came to Westerly about seven months ago from North Carolina, where she lived in the country. She is the mother of three children. She had visited the barber shop on three occasions, the first with her husband and children, the second with her son and the third time, on the date of the assault, she was unaccompanied. There were two men in the shop, one of whom left and locked a door as he passed out. She was having her hair cut when an older man entered the shop and she was asked to step out of the chair while the man was shaved. Malagrino then completed the cutting of her hair and stated that she needed a shampoo and massage, which she declined, and he added that it would not cost anything. He said that he had a mighty sweet girl call regularly and her haircut, shampoo and massage cost her nothing. Repeating the remark with an improper proposal, he added that he would pay her $3.

She said that she threw the towel to the floor and went across the room to pick up her pocketbook at the same time Malagrino with his body shoved her against the side of the shop and caught hold of her right arm. Attempting to pass out of the shop after he had released her, following her demands to be let loose, she found a strip of paper across the window as she found the door locked. On her continued demand he opened the door and went out as he exclaimed, "You make me tired!"

She reported the affair to her husband, who informed a police officer and Chief of Police Brown was seen by them that night. Malagrino was arrested on a warrant the next day and Friday of the previous week his case was continued to last Friday for trial. In his cross-examination of the complaining witness, Attorney Dunn was cautioned by Judge Williams and he said that this was the first time in his experience that he had been accused of abusing the rights of a witness. Judge Williams replied that he was willing to allow any questions of proper nature to be asked. State and defendant then rested their cases.

Solicitor Ferguson moved for sentence, saying that the actual physical assault had no serious consequences, but facts connected with the purpose were absolutely vicious, especially where they occurred in a business catering to the public where young girls unaccompanied were patrons. He said the public should be protected from such vile and vicious men as defendant had shown himself to be and punishment commensurate with the offense be given, which would have a deterrent effect upon any so inclined.

Judge Williams found the accused guilty and sentenced him to a fine of $250 and 90 days in Providence county jail with the payment of costs. Notice of an appeal was taken to the April term of Washington county superior court. Sullivan J. Bobkatuib became surety in the sum of $1,000.

THE CASE OF SALIMENO IS CONTINUED ONE WEEK

Pasquale Salimeno, proprietor of a grocery store, corner of Pleasant and Canal street, raided by Police Officers George L. Madison and Frank E. Knight on Feb. 11, when samples of liquor were seized and sent to State Assayer Albert Fenner, was tried on the charge of possession of intoxicating liquor. Through Attorney Dunn, he pleaded not guilty. Solicitor Ferguson said it had been agreed that if the state assayer were present in court he would testify that the analysis showed in the red wine alcoholic contents 14 per cent by volume, in gin 32.75 per cent and in the whiskey 41.55 per cent.

Officer Madison testified to passing through the rooms of the store and securing samples of liquor which were turned over to Chief Brown, who sent them to the state assayer. In cross-examination, Attorney Dunn stated that the premises searched, according to the warrant a building at the corner of the streets mentioned, was not there, as it was a vacant lot, and the writ should have stated in a store where the writ mentioned rooms and cellars, and the premises searched were not the ones named in the writ. On his promise to submit authorities, Judge Williams continued the case one week for conclusion of the trial.

Other court business was disposed of as follows:

New writ entered before the calling of the docket—Joseph Pickering vs. J. Edward Stenhouse. Continued two weeks.

Civil docket—Gavitt Furniture company vs. Agnes C. and Arthur E. Fraser. Continued one week.

The Keller-Kohn company vs. Katherine P. Scott. Continued two weeks.

Dominica Priami vs. James Carlesi. Continued one week.

Stephen J. Casey, trustee, vs. Egbert L. Blacklock. Continued two weeks.

William J. Grenolds vs. Stephen Farago. Continued one week.

Before Judge Sumner in the superior court for Washington county, Friday, in the contested divorce case, Clara L. Morris vs. Henry B. Morris, of Weekapaug, in the afternoon at a late hour witnesses for the defendant were placed upon the stand outside of the regular order to permit them to return to their homes out of town. The defendant's first witness was Mrs. Ella Martha Sterns, a sister of H. B. Morris, who testified to some 25 visits to the Morris farm previous to three years ago, and to finding filthy and untidy conditions about the home. While Mrs. Morris was at the hospital she stated that some renovations were made by her brother to the house and that she cleaned some of the rooms. Mrs. Bertha F. VanBuskirk, 49, Rhode Island probation officer for the second, third, fourth and eighth R. I. judicial districts, testified that a complaint of non-support had been investigated by her at the Morris place on three occasions about a week apart, and she had found unclean and untidy conditions in the house and about the place, but had recommended no action.

Other witnesses to testify in the morning and afternoon court sessions were: Edward Morris, a son of the plaintiff; Mrs. Mary E. Mitchell, her mother; Elsie M. Fletcher, her sister; Mrs. Almira P. Hourjee, her aunt; William C. Tourjee, an uncle, and Anna Kelley, of 80 Liberty street, Pawcatuck, who were all on the stand to testify to the cruel treatment given Mrs. Morris by her husband. Testifying were also Henry L. Mitchell, the plaintiff, and an eight-year-old son, Willie Morris.

On Pawcatuck river bridge Thursday afternoon, the pedigreed Boston terrier owned by Catherine Harvey of Pawcatuck was killed. The dog, having escaped its leash, was chased up the street by its owner when it ran directly in front of an automobile operated by Byron Hartson, who stopped his car quickly, but not until one front wheel had passed over the pet.

A light opera, "The Gallant Soldier," and a group of Irish songs was the program given Thursday evening at the Immaculate Conception parochial school by the Tertune Concert company of Boston. The company consisted of Eva Whittaker, soprano; Grace Raddin, contralto; George Taylor, tenor; Martin Albrecht, baritone, and Leona Beck, pianist.

At the First Baptist church, Broad street, Friday evening, Judge Herbert W. Rathbun spoke on the subject, "Ireland and the Irish," under the auspices of the men's class of that church. His talk was illustrated with stereopticon views. The program consisted of two groups of songs by Miss Julia Stacy Gould, soprano, of Providence, a sister of Raymond Gould, of 100 High street. The entertainment was open to the public.

PENDLETON HILL

The death of Judge Charles C. Gray removes one of the most prominent and useful citizens in the church, society and town. In this parish he was born, and spent his early manhood. Here he married Miss Emma R. Chapman, daughter of a long-time pastor, Rev. D. F. Chapman. After living some time here, where the two oldest sons were born, they moved to the Second church parish, thence to North Stonington village, where they purchased a home and where Judge Gray lived the remainder of his life. Three clergymen with whom he had associated in the three different parishes where he had lived, Rev. E. P. Mathewson, Rev. Mr. Burdick and Rev. Lucian Drury, paid eloquent tributes to Judge Gray's life and work. During his long and distressing illness Mr. Gray had been devotedly cared for by his wife and three sons, Cressingham, Lyle and Ernest Gray. The funeral was held at his home in the village Saturday at 1 o'clock with burial service at Pendleton Hill church yard. There were beautiful floral tributes from relatives and organizations.

DANIELSON

NEGOTIATIONS STILL UNDER WAY FOR NEW HOTEL

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, March 16—Back from a conference with interests at Hartford that stand ready and willing to finance the construction of a combination hotel and theatre on the site of his Attawaugan hotel, William S. Brown said this morning that negotiations are still pending.

Mr. Brown expects to have by Tuesday of next week some preliminary sketches of the proposed building and tentative estimates as to costs. This is not to be taken as indicating that Mr. Brown has definitely decided to go ahead with the building program, merely that he is still seeking after facts and figures, that must meet his own ideas as to costs and the prospect of an adequate return on the investment before he finally decides to go ahead.

He pointed out this morning that the plan that he is considering adopting involves no stock selling program whatsoever. If put through, the deal will be exclusively between himself and the financing company. This being the case, he feels that he is entitled to go slow, to consider and figure from every possible angle what the prospects of making the venture a successful venture are, and no sound reasoner can disagree with that attitude.

Mr. Brown is anxious to gratify Danielson's ambition and community pride in providing such a splendid asset as the new hotel and theatre that is being talked about and as about everyone here would like to see Danielson have. His being the risk, he must be satisfied on every point before he enters into contract.

His idea is for a modernly appointed hotel of 72 rooms. This brick structure would rise four stories, with two stores on the Main street frontage, street level, and with separate lobbies for the theatre and hotel. The arrangement would place the office on the second floor, dining room and restaurant at the rear of the stores and the theatre, seating approximately 1,000 people, at the rear of the hotel, where there is ample space for its development. A long lobby from Main street would lead into the theatre.

Here is a proposition that is alluring to all who are proud of Danielson and confident of its future. Mr. Brown hopes to see his way clear to put through the undertaking. It is not so much a matter of money as a matter of terms and agreement; in fact, the money is all available for the construction and available at once. If Mr. Brown does not decide to go through with the deal, there remains the possibility of his selling the hotel property to someone who is willing to undertake it, the assumption being that the same financing proposition that has been offered to Mr. Brown, would also be made to other responsible parties.

This morning the funeral of Mrs. Olivine Dupre was held from the home in Wauregan, with funeral services at the Sacred Heart church in that place at 9 o'clock. Rev. J. H. Quinn was celebrant of the high mass of requiem, and there were numbers of relatives and friends in attendance. Burial was in the Sacred Heart cemetery, Father Quinn conducting the committal service. The bearers were Pierre Fournier, Joseph Fournier, Arthur Montville, H. Cloutier and Joseph Perry. Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

There appeared to be a general tendency here today to connect the proposal that Powdrell & Alexander, Inc., increase its capital stock by $1,000,000, with the possibility of that highly successful concern taking over the Connecticut Mills. The P. & A. stockholders are to pass on the stock increase proposal at a meeting in Boston the coming week. No one here can verify the possibility of the curtain company taking over the big plant of the Connecticut Mills, yet the rumor persists. Whether or not such a desirable event should come to pass, there are other possibilities of the big plant at the north end of the town being in operation again by some concern in the not distant future. There already have been negotiations to that end. Such a fine plant cannot long remain idle, and very likely will not. It is too well located and too modern to be overlooked for long.

Many matters claimed the attention of members of Sarah Williams Danielson chapter, D. A. R., when they met yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Annie Hutchins. Reports from heads of various committees give an insight as to the various worth-while activities of the chapter. In addition, the members were instructed and entertained by a talk, given by Mrs. Mary B. Bishop of Putnam, and vocal solos by Mrs. Harold B. Atwood of Danielson.

Among other things of special interest was an appreciation of Miss Charlotte Palmer, who recently died in Brooklyn, written by one of her friends resident in Mystic and read to the chapter by Miss Amelia B. Hutchins.

Miss Grace Bacon, as chairman of a committee, reported on additional subscriptions to a magazine of special interest to D. A. R. members.

It was unanimously voted to appoint Mrs. W. F. Bidwell, honorary regent of the chapter. Mrs. T. E. Hammett was made an associate member of the chapter.

For the committee on uses of the flag, Mrs. Nathaniel Hibbard reported and made mention of Betsey Ross and the making of the first flag. Mrs. Back, as chairman of the conservation and thrift committee, requested co-operation in sending another package to Ellis Island. Mrs. Helen S. Dowe presented the name of Mrs. T. E. Hammett for associate membership in the chapter.

After the business meeting, Mrs. H. B. Atwood entertained the members with vocal numbers, singing A Birthday, and It Is Only a Tiny Garden. For encores she sang Under a Lilac Bush and Annie Laurie. Mrs. J. H. Milligan reported for the program committee.

The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Mary B. Bishop of Putnam. Her subject was Pioneer Days. In treating of this she mentioned the work of copying cemeteries, which has to do with going out into towns of the state and taking from headstones the names and records of those who fought in the Revolution. What this task implies may be indicated by mention of the fact that there are 66 burial places within the town of Killingly, and other towns have a lesser or greater number. From these headstones, in many instances, the only available records are now to be obtained relative to Revolutionary soldiers, and there those who would preserve the records of these patriots are left to seek them. This work is being carried out diligently, and additional co-operation is to be welcomed.

The hostesses for the meeting were Miss Hutchins, Miss Amelia Hutchins, Mrs. Charles Taynton, Mr. J. E. Keech, Mrs. R. C. Spencer and Mrs. Marcus Wood.

Killingly grange members have an interesting meeting scheduled for next Monday evening, when they are to have a special program that has been designated as a Travel night program. Leslie Downs is to tell of life in Honolulu, where he took a college course, and Miss D Boullas is to tell something of Canada and of life and customs there. "Taxes and How to Reduce Them" will be a subject for discussion, and it should prove very interesting, for here is a subject that touches the pocketbook of about everyone, directly or indirectly. The Monday night meeting promises to be an exceptionally interesting one.

Walter A. Musgrave will be at Providence Saturday to hear an address by Timothy Healey at the British Empire club.

All persons having tires, batteries or other property at Goulet's garage, Union street, are hereby notified to call for them within a week. C. E. Ayer, Trustee.—Adv.

A financial report covering the activities of the Davis & Brown Woolen company, operating plants at East Killingly and at Uxbridge, Mass., shows that surplus for 1927 was $553,488, as compared with $559,748 for 1926.

Restful Ease after Coughing

"The result of using Foley's Honey and Tar for a dreadful cough, daytime and at night, was a restful one for me," says Mrs. Anne Davison, Long Beach, Calif. The hard cough that follows bronchitis and "flu" is weakening and when it "hangs on" very debilitating. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound puts a healing, soothing coating on a rough, inflamed throat, and immediately eases the irritation that causes the hard coughs. Dependable. Ask for it.

PUTNAM

SEVERAL CASES SETTLED AT SHORT CALENDAR SESSION

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, March 16—The short calendar session of the Windham county superior court opened Friday afternoon at Putnam at 2 o'clock, with Judge Edward O. Yeomans on the bench. The case of Mabel C. Ingram vs. Arthur G. Bill, administrator of the estate of John E. Slack was scheduled to be heard Friday, but at the request of the attorneys, it was ordered continued. The next case assigned was that of Marie Lacas of Danielson vs. Leo Delisle, an automobile salesman of Putnam. Delisle held a note endorsed over to him by Willis Vinclette former owner of the Vinclette Motor Sales company of Putnam, when the sales company went into bankruptcy Mrs. Lacas held a large interest in the concern and she took over the note.

The note was dated March 9, 1926 and was over due and unpaid. Delisle did not appear in court and Judge Yeomans awarded Mrs. Lacas $221.76 on the note by judgment by default.

The next case listed was that of Valentine L. Murphy vs. City of Willimantic. This case was ordered continued at the request of the attorneys.

A case not listed was heard in the court Friday, that of John Shea vs. Frank O'Connell. Shea was awarded an amount of $172.27 on a judgment by default. Judge Yeomans ordered court adjourned at 2:10 p. m. until Wednesday, March 21.

Spring's appearance was officially made Thursday as the "boys on our block" were out in the sand lots batting the "horsehide" about for the first time since October. During the past few days the schoolboys have been doing a little spring practicing with the baseball bats and gloves. Boys of the Israel Putnam school have been taking advantage of the early warm springlike days and have been playing baseball during their recesses. It is generally acknowledged by the elders that when the boys start to playing America's game of the diamond that springtime has arrived.

The days of telegraphy on the New Haven railroad are fast passing and now with the telephone service installed on the Midland division and nearly completed on the New Haven division the days of the sounder and key are numbered. The New Haven linemen have been working in Putnam and vicinity for many months installing the new equipment and now the work is nearly completed.

In years past it was quite fascinating to watch an operator sit at a key and send a message and talk to another point by means of dashes and dots, and one enjoyed being in a telegraph office and watching the skilled operators send and receive the messages.

Now with all dispatching done by telephone the most interesting part of train dispatching, to those unable to operate is about to pass out. Although the telegraph is giving way to the telephone, as the horse and buggy gave way to the automobile a few years ago it is believed that some of the telegraph wires on the railroad will remain in the offices and towers for emergency uses.

During the past week many Putnam people have been in Boston attending the Boston auto show. The numerous makes of cars and the beauty of the new models on display pleased many Putnamites. Many of the older automobile fans have spoken of the difference and the progress of the automobile shows at the 1928 showing with the styles at the automobile show of 1914.

There will be a fire alarm demonstration by the department, open to the public when the new boxes for the alarm system arrive. Fire Chief Ralph E. Thurston stated Friday, that when the new boxes arrive they will be wired in the fire station for demonstrations before they are installed in service.

Chief Thurston said that many people do not know the proper method by which to ring in a fire call and that often times large fires are caused by persons not knowing how to call the firemen. The chief said that the superintendent of fire alarm service will wire the boxes in the engine house so that the public may see just how it is done.

BRAKES LOCK AND STALL PUTNAM FIRE APPARATUS

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, March 16—The Putnam fire department was called out last evening to answer a general alarm from box 42 at the corner of Bridge and Main streets. The firemen were directed to 16 Buck street to extinguish a chimney fire in a house owned by Eugene Gagne. The fire at first looked to be serious and it might have spread causing considerable damage if it had not been for the quick work of the members of the fire department.

When the box was rung in, some one closed the door before it stopped ringing, causing the alarm to sound four strokes. On the second call it rang the full number. The members of No. 1 hose were delayed when the braking system on the apparatus failed to function.

The driver applied the brakes in front of the Citizens National bank and they remained in a locked position until Chief Thurston secured mechanics to take off the wheels and release the brake. Chief Thurston said that he has for many months been asking for a new set of brakes on the fire engine, but they have not yet arrived. The chief further stated that if that alarm had been for a large fire the delay may have caused many residents living in that district serious loss.

The fire was quickly overcome with the use of chemicals and without loss.

The senior state county Y. M. C. A basketball tournament will be held Saturday afternoon in Waterbury. Many amateur basketball court teams are to contest for state honors at this meet. The Black and White collegians of Woodstock, who were one of the leading teams in the Quinebaug valley league this year and state champions during the 1927 season, will represent Windham county, and will also defend the title.

The Collegians are favorites to win Saturday, and they are carrying much support from the part of the county with them to Waterbury. During the past few weeks they have been playing in elimination contests and they came through with the highest scores over all teams that they have played in the county. County secretary of the "Y" work, L. Edwin Hill will accompany the boys on their trip to Waterbury this afternoon.

Members of the Putnam Rotary club and their wives gathered at the home of Dr. Karl T. Phillips, Thursday evening and enjoyed a pleasant evening at cards. Bridge being the most popular games with the women many tables were in play. The Rotarians tried their hands in a game that was unique, that of trimming hats for the ladies. Ralph C. Jenkins was awarded the first prize for the best trimmed hat. Mr. Jenkins' design of top piece for the feminine folks was one of the latest styles from Paris. Other games were enjoyed. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Friday evening many Putnam people went to Tourtellotte high school in North Grosvenordale to witness the Tourtellotte memorial minstrel shows that were staged by the students of the schools. The acts were well gotten up and each student was well versed on his part. Many attended and a large sum was realized for the plays. The proceeds of the minstrel will be devoted to the high school athletic teams.

Captain William J. Jarvis of the Putnam police has purchased a new style of silent policemen to guard the corners at intersecting streets. During the past few months the police department has experienced much trouble since they have been using the wooden dummies to post the streets. Many of the silent arms of the law have been knocked down and broken many times by careless motorists. The new style dummy is made out of iron and weighs approximately 350 pounds when erected. They are very attractive and are much more visible to autoists than the old wooden dummies. Captain Jarvis believes that he has finally sloved the question of keeping a dummy on McGarry's corner on Grove street Friday morning the captain told a Bulletin representative. "If any thrill-seeking autoist knocks these dummies down they will be in a heap themselves on the side of the road."

With the national political conventions coming during the summer months the local officials of both parties have completed plans for the election of delegates to the state conventions to choose delegates to the national conventions.

The republicans are to meet in the municipal building next Monday evening to choose their state delegates. These delegates will meet at Hartford to cast their votes for national delegates who will choose the presidential nominee for the 1928 presidential race. The democrats have not yet set any date to choose their delegates to the state convention.

The democratic city committee is to meet at the city clerk's office Saturday afternoon in private session to select a possible candidate to succeed Willis B. Carroll as alderman from Ward 4, in the common council. Chairman Frederick Dumas of the committee stated Friday. The successor will probably be made known after that meeting.

Since Mr. Carroll tendered his resignation to the council many have been wondering who will be chosen to succeed him. It is believed that since the recent controversy over the water works situation became so agitated, the leaders of the cement reservoir plan will probably attempt to find some man who will take the stand in their favor and against the mayor and the councilmen. Although there are many interested in the new successor no possible names have been mentioned as yet.

The Knights of Columbus and the Odd Fellows held their weekly card tournament Thursday evening in the Knights of Columbus rooms on Union street. After bringing last week's match to a draw the Odd Fellows were unable to score a victory this week, but again went down to a defeat by a score of 7 to 3. The tournament comes to a close on March 29, and if the Odd Fellows expect to make any kind of a showing they will have to start winning a few of the remaining contests. The summary is given with the names of the Odd Fellows first: Bid whist: F. Strombelis and Talbot lost to E. Phaneuf and M. Hannifan; Campbell and C. Tourtellotte lost to Irving and Igoe; K. Andrews and Shippee lost to St. Onge and Remillard; F. Morrarty and G. Gifford won from Welch and L. Giraca; Card and Fern won from Montville and Renshaw; Arnold and Adams lost to C. Bove and A. Giraca; J. Gifford and C. Shaw lost to Appleby and Cain; E. Andrews and H. Morrarty won from Bologna and T. Hannifan; bridge: Perry and McIntyre lost to McGarry and Benoit.

The total score for the season now stands at 129 to 69 in favor of the Kaceys.

JEWETT CITY

TEN-TON TRANSFORMER MOVED WITHOUT DIFFICULTY

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, March 16—This morning, Main street residents were given another opportunity to witness the moving of another of the big transformers to the station near Ashland park, by the Connecticut Light & Power Co. By means of a "made while you wait" tractor, the big ten-ton transformers were caterpillared over the state road. Three men and three six-foot rolls did the trick. A line from the motor of a truck 100 feet in advance did the pulling. Many watched with interest the transfer of the rolls from the stern man to the bow watchman. As soon as the weight was off the one in the rear, it was grabbed up and thrown like an Indian club. The track-maker caught it, and always just in time, kept the caterpillar on an even keel.

CAT PULLED TO SAFETY FROM CARDING MACHINE

P. W. Chase, welfare superintendent at the plant of the Ashland Cotton Co., tells of the following accident. As Phelix Desrosier, an employe in the carding department, was about to start one of the big cards, Monday morning, he noticed a cat curled under the long steel combing teeth, fast asleep. No amount of persuasion seemed to convince Tabby that she was in a position to lose one, at least of her nine lives if the belt was shifted to the driving pulley. As a last resort, Mr. Desrosiers reached between the big feed rollers, grabbed the cat, and pulled her to safety. During the drawing out operation the kitty sans her fangs into her rescuer's hand, causing such severe lacerations that expert attention at the Ashland club was necessary.

The following item appeared incorrectly printed in these columns Friday morning: St. Patrick's day will be April 28th, and that night daylight time goes into effect again, with the advance of timepieces.

It should have read: "Six weeks from tomorrow, St. Patrick's day, will be April 28th, and that night daylight saving time goes into effect again, with the advance of timepieces."

On the Jewett City alleys, Thursday night, the Glasgo Giants won points from the Glasgo Remnants. The high single, 122, was bowled by Paranto. The high total, 324, was bowled by McCluskie.

Miss Alice Jodoin, Cleo Couture, Louise Maynard and Mrs. Arcelis Clocher are spending the week-end in Pawtucket at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Roberts. While there, they will attend a shower for Miss Dora Couture, whose approaching marriage with Edward Barry of Jewett City is announced.

Frank Hyde of Lisbon saw a flock of 15 robins last week in a lot near his home. Dr. Jennings reports seeing the first bluebird, March 5. The pioneers of the East Main street Highlands grackle colony arrived this week.

Mrs. Walter Marshall entertained the Harmony club Friday afternoon. Mrs. W. C. Jeffers went to Natick, Mass., Friday, to visit her sister, Miss Clara Wood.

George Hildred of Norwich was presented before Judge Earle Palmer at the home of George Humboldt in Lisbon Thursday night, charged with operating a motor vehicle without a license. He pleaded not guilty and was defended by Attorney T. J. Kelly. He claimed he had a license last year, but it had not been renewed. He was found guilty and fined $10 and costs. The machine he was driving was sideswiped by a truck on the River road near Tunnel hill, causing his arrest by Deputy Sheriff John Dolan.

Deacon J. E. Phillips has been unable to be at business for several days on account of illness.

The funeral of Mrs. Alsoda Dillon of Voluntown was held at Undertaker Gilbert's funeral parlors Thursday afternoon. Rev. J. W. Carter conducted the service. Burial was in the Jewett City cemetery.

Ruth le Rebekah lodge conducted a food and candy sale in the town hall Friday afternoon. Miss Ethel Fisk was in charge and was assisted by Eleanor Stetson, Mabel McBroome, Miss Ida Foster and Mrs. John Hanson. The sale was for the benefit of the infirmary fund.

Faith chapter, O. E. S., entertained at whist and bridge in the Masonic rooms Thursday evening. There were seven tables of whist. The first prizes went to Mrs. E. E. Gilbert and James G. Blair, and the consolation awards to Mrs. F. H. P. Clement and Mrs. Chadwick of Baltic and to Mrs. W. B. Truesdell of Pachaug. The bridge prizes were won by L. G. Buckingham and Edward Blake. Candy and salted nuts were on the tables. The committee was Misses Doris Myott and Sadie Thompson and Mrs. Ellen Paul.

NOANK

The Shamrock basketball team of Mystic came down to the village in a large touring car followed by 100 fans, for the big game of the year in the village hall, between the Crescents and the Shamrocks. The fans lined the playing court, over 255 attending. The Crescents' cheering section, with red bands on their arms, had ish horns and bells and were led by Eddie Ellis. The Shamrocks' cheering squads had green handkerchiefs and green hats. The girls were led by Miss Nellie Scott. Referee Fitzpatrick called Capt. Jeff Steward and Lefty Patterson and gave them the signal, both teams going at it hard. Dash Patterson was making some fine shots, while Engine Foote, with a keen eye for long shots, was also putting them in for the boys in green. Lefty Patterson hurt his ankle and the game was stopped for several minutes. But, game as Lindy flying across the Atlantic, he told the timer all right again. The Crescents' cheering section gave him a great salvo. The first half ended with the Shamrocks holding a small lead, score, Shamrocks 20, Crescents 16. Coach Billie Crane sent Stretch Morrison in the place of Sure Shot Morgan. In the last half, the boys from up the river had the Indian signs on the fighting Crescents, dropping them in like a machine gun in action. But the new moon boys keep right on fighting to the end. The cheering section in green was wearing a smile, giving their team a cheer till such noise was never heard in the old town hall. With only a few minutes left, the never-die spirit of the Crescents was urging them to victory, but the lead was too big to overcome. The boys in the red and black had to be on the short end of the score and it turned out a victory for the Shamrocks. Final score, Shamrocks 38, Crescents 28. The outstanding star for the Crescents was Dash Patterson, getting 16 points. The others of the team worked hard. For the Shamrocks, Engine Foote made 17 points. Referee Fitzpatrick, Timer Bracci, Scorers Brown and Winterbottom. The cheering squads of the Shamrocks did a snake dance, happy over the victory. Dancing followed to music by Russo's orchestra of New London. Lightfoot Jake, of Montville, did the Lindbergh hop as the orchestra stepped on the music.

Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, of Norwich, spent a day in the village this week.

Mrs. Lizzie Potter has returned to her home, after spending the winter months in Waterford with relatives.

Paul Sullivan has left for a short visit in Maine with friends.

Recently, while doing her housework at her home on Elm street, Mrs. Frank Fish was shaking a rug over the piazza when the railing gave way and she fell to the ground. She was taken into the house by neighbors, while a telephone call was sent for a doctor. He found an injury to her shoulder and a broken bone in her foot. It was reported that an x-ray will be taken to see if any more bones are broken.

Liberty council, Daughters of America, held a meeting in their hall with 27 members present. Miss Bernie Smith played the piano as all sang America. After the meeting, a fine oyster stew was served by the good of the order committee. A pinochle committee was put on and will run pinochle every week.

Schooner William Morse, Capt. Henry Langworthy, came into the harbor and tied up at Roger's dock. She had a large fare of tile-fish after fishing at Georges banks. Supplies will be put on board, also gasoline, and the craft will clear again.

Jack Lane, of Essex, was a caller in Noank Thursday.

Raymond Sistare has gone to Bridgeport to see his cousin, Sam Martin.

Disturbing Night Cough Quickly Stopped

"A distressing cough and irritated throat kept me miserably awake at night and prevented others from sleeping. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound quickly comforted and relieved me. Helped my neighbors over "flu" coughs, too. Feel I must tell you about it." says H. C. P.——, Sailors Snug Harbor, N. Y. Wonderfully soothing and healing. Bland to the tender throat of a child, effective in stopping the stubborn coughs of grown persons.

Fired . . . because he was always tired

IN EVERY walk of life you'll meet the "Drowsy Bills" . . . men and women who are losing out because they are forever tired. Young people they often are, in age—but old in energy. They try hard enough—but they are serving constipation too. The dread disease that can rob the strongest body of strength. That kills initiative. Wrecks health. That often handicaps with lasting disease.

And isn't it a pity when a simple, healthful cereal could bring relief all the while? Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation promptly and safely. More — to prevent it from the start.

Nothing less than "ALL-BRAN" is 100% effective

Bulk or roughage relieves constipation naturally. ALL-BRAN furnishes healthful bulk in generous quantity because it is 100% bran. This bulk absorbs moisture and distributes it through the digestive system. Gently distending the intestines — exercising them — sweeping out wastes and poisons. In a part-bran product the quantity of bulk is seldom sufficient to completely perform this work. That is why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN. Because it is 100% bran and accomplishes 100% results.

Different from unnatural pills

ALL-BRAN works as nature works. How much better than habit-forming drugs and laxatives whose dose must be constantly increased to remain effective—and which sometimes injure the system.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is an inviting, healthful cereal to eat with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Sprinkle it into soups too. Use it in cooking—recipes on package. Mix it with other cereals. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal.

For health's sake, be sure you get genuine Kellogg's — the original ALL-BRAN. Don't take chances with part-bran substitutes. At best, they can be but partially effective. ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, cafeterias. On diners. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Guaranteed! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

Body That Hides Certain-teed

Certain-teed Paint has exceptional hiding power because it has body. This is due to the use of the best quality material scientifically proportioned, finely ground and evenly and thoroughly mixed by modern machinery under the supervision of experts. WAR PREVENTION POLICY

For some little time there has been an exchange of views between this country and France concerning the abolition of war. Foreign minister Briand made the proposition that there be a renunciation of war between France and the United States. Secretary Kellogg gave endorsement to the idea but suggested that if it would be a good thing for such a treaty between the two nations it would be still better to broaden it out and have it include other countries. Instead of having two nations committed to peace he saw the desirability of getting back of the idea of international peace by getting all nations interested.

Little has been said by Secretary Kellogg concerning this matter except through his communications with the French foreign minister, but in his address in New York before the Council of Foreign Relations he set forth the war prevention policy of this country which clearly indicated that there was nothing back of it but the wholesome desire to reach such a goal.

Because such a suggestion has been made doesn't necessarily mean a that it will be accomplished, but the exchange of views between the two countries cannot fail to stimulate thought along such lines and as a result there is no telling how soon such a move may be possible. There are questions which will naturally arise in connection with such a move. They are preliminary to any definite action being taken but from the statement by Secretary Kellogg it doesn't appear that any of them offer an insurmountable difficulty.

There are nations which have agreed to go to the protection of others in case of attack and there is our own Monroe doctrine which involves certain responsibilities on our part, but if there is an agreement among nations not to go to war and that agreement is respected, practically all of the objections raised will be overcome.

There is unquestionably a widespread sentiment against war. Secretary Kellogg isn't disposed to overestimate it. He is prepared to accept it with a sprinkling of salt, but he is desirous that this country should give its full support to the idea of bringing about the adjustment of international disputes by other means than war and he sets this forth in no uncertain terms when he declares: "Certainly the United States should not be backward in promoting this new movement for world peace, and both personally and officially, as secretary of state, I shall always support and advocate the conclusion of appropriate treaties for arbitration, for conciliation and for the renunciation of war." It is a policy that is certain to get widespread support.

SOVIET GOLD

When the soviet government sent 15,000,000 in gold bullion to this country there were started complications which had not been anticipated. The gold was for the purpose of establishing credits here and, as is the case with all bullion, would have to go through the assay office. Confronted with the acceptance of this gold for assaying the department of state and treasury wrestled with the matter and it was decided that the bullion could not be accepted.

While this matter was under consideration it came to the attention of the government that this gold was likely to be claimed by the Bank of France. That action has since been taken and the suit instituted against the banks holding the gold by the Bank of France promises to present not a few complications.

It is the claim of the Bank of France that it had on deposit in the Imperial Bank of Russia $52,000,000 in gold francs when the soviet regime took over the Russian government. It conceives the possibility that this is part of its own gold, and, at any rate, lays claim to it which it hopes the federal court at New York will uphold.

Since the gold has been in this country it has meant a daily interest loss to Russia. But for the suit the bullion would probably have been transhipped to some other country, but now that suit has been brought it means tying up of the bullion for an indefinite period and a large loss even though the suit fails.

ANSWERING PORTO RICO

Replying to the appeals of Porto Ricans that that island be constituted a "free state" President Coolidge has taken pains to set forth the advancement which has been made in the island and among its people in the last 30 years and to point out that while there was nothing in the treaty of Paris which promised anything more liberal than the regime that existed at that time, yet Porto Rico has received great benefits, that its people enjoy greater liberties, that they have greater control of their own affairs and as at present constituted the government there exercises a greater degree of severeignty over its internal affairs than does the government of any state or territory of the United States.

The progress which has been made in Porto Rico under United States rule is outstanding. There has been a tremendous change. Distress and hopelessness have given away to prosperity and optimism and in the matter of health and education there has been decided improvement. The commercial relations with the United States were set forth by the president in a manner which indicates the help that has been gained in this direction. What this means to Porto Rico was illustrated by the statement that but for the fact that the products of the island have free admission to the United States the products sold here last year to the amount of $97,000,000 would have had to pay duties of $57,000,000 were the relationship not what it is. The island has distinct trade opportunities because it is United States territory. It profits in many ways. Porto Rico gets the benefit of government services and yet it pays no tax to the United States. Much of the revenue it receives would go to the United States rather than to Porto Rico if the existing status were changed.

Porto Rico has improved and is steadily improving but it has not as yet reached the time when it is ready for statehood. Those who are agitating in that direction are ambitious, and for that they cannot be blamed, but they have good reason for counting their blessings, for continuing to strive for greater prosperity and advancement under the protection of the United States and to aspire for anything reasonable, but, as the president says, "it is certainly not unreasonable to ask that those who speak for Porto Rico limit their petitions to those things which may be granted without a denial of high hopes for the future."

RETURNING THE MONEY

Without a doubt there is much interest in the appeal which has been made by Senator Borah that a fund be raised for the purpose of returning the contributions which were made to the republican campaign fund by Harry Sinclair, and there would probably be no great difficulty in raising the amount in view of the situation which has been disclosed and the desire to eliminate the appearance of benefiting from money resulting from the oil lease.

The affair in no way involves the present national committee and it can be appreciated that there is a reluctance to assume any responsibility in connection with it, its solicitation, or its use as might be indicated by attempting to pay it back.

Nevertheless there may be much more support given to the suggestion which has been made by the Springfield Union that if Sinclair got his money illegally there is no good reason why it should be paid back to him and thus if there is a move made to raise by subscription such a sum as he contributed to the national republican committee the money ought not to be paid back to Sinclair but devoted to some worthy purpose or charity.

At the same time it is quite natural that the question should be asked as to what is going to be done about the large sum that was contributed to the democratic campaign fund by Doheny, who was quite as deep in the crooked lease of government oil land as Sinclair. Has any move been made as yet on the part of the democrats to see that the Doheny subscription is returned because it is tainted? It is time for a general, not a one sided, purification.

BUILDING THE ROADS

The road building policy of the state of Maine has been set forth by Chairman Smith of the state highway commission. During this year $2,500,000 will be spent on highway construction in Maine and in the spending there will be constructed cement roads on the trunk highways, macadam roads on cross highways and gravel will be used in the maintenance and building of the lesser roads.

This is a policy which promises to give Maine the best results in highway construction. From the cement roads it will obtain the best possible service and long life under the smallest maintenance cost. These will be the roads that will get the greatest traffic and therefore the greatest wear and the type of construction will obviate reconstruction for a long period of time.

The lesser used cross roads and the lesser roads will be well taken care of under the indicated plan. Such construction will permit of attention being given to a much larger mileage than would be the case if the better construction were attempted in either case. Maine is evidently trying to serve the greatest number in the best manner possible under the limit placed on expenditures for this purpose.

While attention may be concentrated on the main lines of traffic it is apparent in every state that the sections of a state which are not crossed by trunk lines are entitled to and should get unstable roads. Residents in those sections who pay their taxes are entitled to consideration and return. They get it chiefly from the attention given the cross roads.

EDITORIAL NOTES

St. Patrick's day, morning, afternoon and evening.

Increasing indications this week that spring has almost reached the corner.

The man on the corner says: Regardless of the day all signal lights will not be green.

If you haven't made your income tax report you might as well get ready to meet the penalty.

Now California will call Florida's attention to the fact that they are once more 50-50 on disasters.

Some are predicting the coming of the five day week, but there are those who have already got the no day week and don't like it.

Captain Robinson of the Robert E. Lee doesn't intend to carry on a newspaper discussion of the wreck. Though quoted as saying that the compass was faulty he made no denial but to the steamboat inspectors he insisted he made no such statement.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

One will not soon forget the able manner in which Dr. Henry Howard, who gave a very fine series of sermons lately at the United church on the Cross in its relation to humanity, showed that while God had interest in the masses, He was also interested in the individual man. This is made clear by the minuteness of the creative energy. The subdivision of matter is so minute as to baffle the finite understanding. We not only have the molecule and the atom—and with the atom it was for a long time supposed that matter was in its smallest form—but now science has established the fact that the atom is made up of millions of electrons, all of which goes to show the minuteness of the creative energy. Now there is some intelligent reason for such infinitesimal details in the subdivisions of matter. All of this minuteness has some necessary purpose that must have been supervised by the Creator. The Creator did not spurn detailed work.

The above suggests the benefit to the city at large and to our individual churches in particular, in securing for the Lenten season some divine of national reputation—to give a series of connected addresses on the great facts in relation to our Lord's last days on the earth. This has been made possible by the intelligent beneficence of Miss Louise Sturtevant in her bequest to The Young Men's Christian Association of this city. It shows the keen interest she had in the things of the spirit. It is gratifying to see how heartily all the churches of the Protestant denominations have united with the Y. M. C. A. in this important work. With Miss Margaret Slattery to wind up the course this year and with Dr. Howard and Dr. S. Parkes Cadman in view for next year, this interest will be kept up.

Before me lies a blotter with this sentence from the works of Henry Drummond: "I expect to pass through this world but once. Any good, therefore, I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any fellow-beink, let me do it now; let me not defer it or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again." This reminds one of the important contribution Drummond years ago made to the thought of the Lenten period in that wonderful little book entitled: "The Greatest Thing in the World." The other book that Drummond wrote about the same time: "Natural Law in the Spiritual World" was with the former among the "best sellers" of that day. It is true that we do not travel over the same identical pathway twice. Duties neglected once cannot be be performed at another time. Other duties similar to them can be performed at another time but they cannot be the same identical ones. The moral is, let us be alert to the duties just as they come.

As these lines are written we are in the waning period of a snowstorm that may be called a blizzard of the mild variety. Possibly by the time these words appear in print, the body of snow may have entirely disappeared, so fitful is our New England climate. Of course it naturally recalled to the memory of us older fellows the historic storm of 1888, and especially does it recall to the writer's mind the remarkable sermon that was preached on that occasion by Dr. George Leon Walker—one of the princely preachers of that day, pastor of Center church, Hartford. The trend of his thought was what would have happened if the snow had fallen to twice the depth. It certainly was not scientifically impossible. If it had it would have resulted in the greatest calamity of modern times. It shows that there is a mighty, kindly hand back of all the storms of life.

There has never been a time in the history of the business world when there was a greater effort to deal honestly with the public than now. Surely great emphasis is being put on the old motto that "honesty is the best policy". In evidence of this statement see the effort put forth by banking institutions to protect the buying public from fraudulent enterprises; not only those that are clearly bogus, but even those that have shaky foundations. The public is being informed by those who look into all the details of corporations that are asking the public for loans. We are informed for what purposes the money is to be devoted. We are told the financial standing of those thus seeking to extend their business, and what the outlook is for their meeting their obligations. Of course it cannot be said that any investment is absolutely safe, and wherever one puts his money he runs some chances, but the idea is to reduce these chances to a minimum.

What is the origin of the saying, "mad as a March hare?" whether we know it or not the expression can be treated in the following logical way: First, can it be proved beyond a doubt that hares—otherwise docile and tenderhearted animals—are subject to that violent disorder called madness? Second, if they are subject to that infirmity is it proven that they get any madder in March than in other months? If so to what sinister agency or perversity can this animal infirmity be attributed? Third, do other animals get mad in the same way and to the same extent that hares do? and do they get madder in March than they do in February or April? and when they are mad do they go on the same kind of rampage? Fourth, if hares—and other animals for that matter—pass away while they are tearing mad, is that the last of the hares?

Is there good reason for believing that man is the finished product in the evolutionary process of development? It will help us in determining this question by comparing man as we find him today with what he was at an earlier stage of his development. If there is any evidence to be derived from the petrified remains of man who lived several thousand years ago it points to the fact that human bodies were the same as ours. In other words there has been no advance in bodily form. As to the intellect we must admit that those who wrote the Psalms and Prophesies were equal to those who write devotional literature today. Along the line of philosophy the works of Plato and Aristotle are still standards. Of course the average human being today has vastly greater knowledge than those of ancient times, because we have the past centuries to gather knowledge from which they did not have.

Like pestilential diseases, the muckraking of the characters of public men breaks out every few years with its contemptible attempts at vilification. These stench producing articles are eagerly devoured by a certain type of people. Some years ago a few desperate magazines whose mailing lists were in a desperate strait tried to brace up their wobbling publications by attacking eminent public men, picturing them as villains, but managing to keep just within the law. There have been of late some desperate outbreaks of this character. Washington the patriot has been the object of a virulent attack. No one regards him as the painted saint of some of the earlier biographies. Neither is he wretch of some recent portrayals. Henry Ward Beecher is the latest victim of this sort. Are the people of America ready to believe that the greatest preacher that this country has produced was a vile hyprocrite?

An investigation of energy shows that a man works as hard playing three rounds of golf as in plowing an acre of land

ECONOMIC CHANGES IN NEW ENGLAND.

John S. Lawrence, president of the New England council, speaking before the tenth quarterly meeting of the council at Providence Friday, said:

I wish to call your attention to the project of the committee on recent economic changes, appointed by Secretary Hoover, and of which I have been made a member representing New England and the New England council. I attended the first meeting of this committee and was impressed with the seriousness of the effort, led by some of the country's ablest executives and assisted by experts of outstanding ability. Adequate financing is assured and it is estimated that about a year's work is required.

The purpose of the study is to find out just what are the recent economic changes in our country, their effect upon social and business conditions, and to point the way, through the knowledge thus gained, to working out the methods by which business can best effect the necessary readjustments.

One is impressed with the importance of this study, and especially with its importance to New England as the region of greatest industrial maturity in the United States, when one recalls some of the specific changes that have actually taken place in recent years, almost without our realizing that they have occurred, and certainly without much understanding as to why they have come about.

Startling Changes in Employment

There have been startling changes in the employment of our people. The respective ratios of wage-earners engaged in production and distribution have radically shifted. In 1880 agriculture, lumber and fishing absorbed practically half of all those gainfully employed; in 1920 only 27.3 per cent. In the 40-year period the proportion engaged in manufacturing, mechanical and mining pursuits has risen from 25.6 per cent. to 32 per cent. Professional service now absorbs 5 per cent. as against 3.5 per cent., and domestic service shows almost no change, but the proportion engaged in "trade, transportation and clerical services" has more than doubled. In 1880 it was 12.2 per cent., in 1900, 18.7 per cent., and in 1920, 34.5 per cent., with every indication pointing to still further increases in the last eight years.

In New England the proportion of population engaged in both manufacturing, trade and transportation are considerably higher than for the country as a whole, thus reflecting our more advanced stage of development. This fact also indicates that some of the changes now engaging national attention have occurred in largest degree right here in New England.

Manufacturers Get Loss

Let me dwell for a moment on the enormous increase in the number of people engaged in trade, transportation and clerical services. Their activities largely constitute distribution, and it is well known to all of us that the rising costs of distribution make up one of the most outstanding problems of the day—problems in the solution of which New England has more at stake than any other section. The statement is made that before the war the manufacturer received 60 cents of the consumer's dollar and that he now receives but 40 cents. In other words, in less than 15 years the relationship has been completely reversed. I know of one New England manufacturer who finds his proportion of clerical workers double what it used to be. This increase is largely an added charge against his costs of distribution.

We used to approach business problems by beginning with production. It now seems that we must not only study distribution, but start with investigations of consumption, and then work back through distribution to production. Such was the general feeling at the first meeting of the Hoover committee, and this view will doubtless find concrete expression in the committee's studies as they develop. I think you will agree that if, a few years ago, some of our New England industries had approached their production problems through studies of consumption and distribution, their situation today would be more happy.

We all know that not only is there a large field for economics in distribution, but that also many of us, as manufacturers, are thoroughly dissatisfied with the channels and methods we have been depending on to secure distribution. Some of our larger industries, such as the automotive industry, have been able to schedule from consumption through distribution to production, but most of us are able only to schedule our production and push our goods into distribution, hopeful that they will be consumed. Were it possible for most of our New England factories steadily to schedule their consumption, economics in distribution and consequent strengthening of their position would result.

New England Has Most to Gain

A large proportion of New England industry is made up of long established classes of manufacture that have most to gain by progress in this direction. The national movement for the elimination of waste, which had its origin in a group similar to the committee on economic changes, brought about striking results, some of which I shall mention in a moment. Why may we not expect equally important results in the field of distribution, if the problems are approached and dealt with along sound lines?

There are other even more striking phenomena that have occurred, equally vital to New England and its industrial growth and prosperity. Chief among them is the fact that while distribution costs have been rising, costs of production have been falling, and there have been enormous increases in output accompanied by actual decreases in the number of workers employed.

Our agricultural populatio is much smaller than 10 years ago. One million persons are estimated to have left the farm in 1926 alone, yet our agricultural production has not shrunk proportionately.

The railroads of the country are furnishing a volume of transportation service without precedent, yet the number of their employes has decreased 16 per cent. since 1920. In 1925 the railroads carried the same volume of traffic as in 1923, while employing 7 per cent. less workers.

Two Men Do Work of Fourteen

These phenomena are surpassed in the field of industry in the period between 1914 and 1925. The increase in output per worker in the manufacture rubber tires is 211 per cent., in automobile manufacture 172 per cent., in petroleum production 61 per cent., in paper and pulp 34 per cent., while in leather tanning the increase is 26 per cent. In certain processes of steel making two men now do the work of fourteen. It is estimated that adoption of simplified practices in seven classes of industry has effected annual savings of over $300,000,000.

Taking the United States as a whole, in 1925 the number of wage-earners in all factories was 4 per cent. less than in 1923, while the output was between 6 and 7 per cent. greater. In 1926 the number of workers in all factories combined was 8 per cent. less than in 1923. These figures indicate an average increase of efficiency of output per worker in all industries in the United States of no less than 15 per cent. since 1923.

What has been happening to the armies of workers released from industry in these recent years? The whole story is not known, but some facts have been established with fair definiteness. For example, since the war, hotels, restaurants, etc., have absorbed an additional 500,000 people. In the same period an additional three-quarters of a million have gone into automobile distribution and servicing. The radio trade (not manufacture) and the motion picture theatres have taken another 125,000 each. These three groups alone account for one million persons, more than 3 per cent. of the total employed population of the United States.

Council Should Co-operate

These are large matters worthy of the attention of members of the council in their bearing upon New England's development and prosperity. I believe we should especially consider the advantages for New England to be gained by means of the studies of the Hoover committee. I recommend that the council overlook no opportunity to maintain contact and co-operation with this group of leaders and their distinguished collaborators. I believe we in New England are peculiarly affected by the changes that are taking place, and that we therefore have most to gain in a study of them and in a readjustment of our economic machinery in the light of the knowledge thus gained. It may be possible that as these studies assume more definite form it will seem to the council desirable to stimulate or sponsor the making of parallel investigations in our New England territory, so as to more speedily assist our manufacturers to get into those fields of industry most capable of expansion, and to organize themselves effectively to reach, as quickly as possible, the most promising markets at home and abroad.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Why Prohibition?

Mr. Editor: Miss Ruth Sutton Kirker of Seattle won the first prize of $1,000 in the finals of the national prohibition oratorical contest, conducted by the board of temperance prohibition and public morals of the Methodist church.

She said: We insist upon a philosophy to justify the symbols of religion that are advocated for us. We want to see that the local conventions imposed upon us are sociologically advisable. And when forbade to manufacture, sell, or transport intoxicating liquors, liquors containing more than one half of one per cent. alcohol, we inquire, "Why?"

Professor Irving Fisher, an economist at Yale university, tells us why, "* * * alcohol is a narcotic poison, a habit-forming drug, intoxicating as such. It has no place, by nature, in our human physiology." This fact gradually worked its way into the public consciousness. Observing colonists saw that intoxication made servants useless and ministers unworthy. The period following the Revolutionary war was made more critical by the demoralizing effect of drink upon the population. Just before the Civil war, it was learned that the excretion of the alcohol organism is poisonous not only to itself, but to everything above it in the animal kingdom. Each of these periods saw a stage of temperance agitation—from moderation in the use of all liquors to complete abstinence from all "ardent spirits"; from disuse of ardent liquors, to abstinence from all alcoholic drink; from total abstinence on the part of individuals, to strict regulation by the state; from high license to local option to state prohibition. But even at this point, two billion dollars were spent annually in saloons, drunkenness was prevalent, so industry and society continued to suffer.

The purpose of prohibitionists to achieve national prohibition was plainly announced. The issue was thoroughly discussed. The American people made up their minds on the matter, and as a result the 18th amendment was ratified by 45 of the 48 states. No other amendment ever before the people of this country has received such uniform support from both political parties, and from every section of the country, or has been ratified by such overwhelming majority of the states. It is impossible to complain against the method used without complaining against our legislative structure itself.

But the significance and justification of this act depends upon its effect. If, in the long run, it is increasing the health and safety and improving the morals of people in general, it is a good public policy. No one knows how much liquor is consumed today. The only way to determine the comparative amount of liquor used is study conditions which are affected by the use of alcohol as they existed before and since prohibition. Juvenile delinquency has fallen off one-third. The number of savings accounts has increased from 10 to 40 million. Drink-caused poverty has decreased 75 per cent. Church membership has increased steadily. Freedom of streets and prisons from drunkards is apparent. Dr. W. J. Mayo said in New Orleans, La., on November 17, 1925: "There are fewer cases of alcoholism today than in pre-prohibition days. Surgical cases coming into our hospitals do not include as many instances of lowered resistance due to alcoholism as in former days."

Consistent temperance and self-control are acquired only by practice. Today the United States affords a perfect opportunity for that practice but a noisy element insists that it is an added incentive to corruption of governmental machinery and that the expense of prohibition enforcement is extreme. Well, democracies have been born of revolutions. In its early development the Protestant church struggled under political discrimination. "Corruption of governmental machinery" in this connection implies hush money and speak-easies. These are resorted to only by those who used liquor before the amendment went into effect and who really miss it and by those few but powerful interests whose profits have been adversely affected by prohibition. Granted continued enforcement and these two groups will die out. Again, as in former cases of social reformation, the difficulty will be only temporary, during the period of readjustment to the revolutionary change. The good will last.

"Wets" claim that prohibition enforcement is extremely expensive but figures and facts prove otherwise. States that compare the amounts of fines or penalties imposed upon violators with the cost of their apprehension and conviction, show that the bootlegger pays the cost of enforcement. Prohibition has justified itself financially. Productivity of labor has increased ten per cent.; "real" wages of labor per hour, after making all due allowances for changes in the purchasing power of the dollar, have increased 34 per cent. between July, 1924 and Jnauary 1925, most of this sudden improvement came after prohibition. Gary, Leland, and other industrialists believe in prohibition. They say that if it cost even a billion dollars a year, it would be worth while purely as an economic investment.

This is the note that rings home. Roger Babson says that "Young people who have never seen the dreadful evils of intemperance from lack of experience or observation do not realize its dangers," are the most important source of demand for change in the prohibition amendment. We may be so blase and material that we can not be impressed by descriptions of the aesthetic horrors of the open saloons, especially in contrast to the reasonable pleasure of intelligent, restrained indulgence. But when alcohol is shown to be the alternative to effective performance, we are ready to cooperate in preventing its use. "Efficiency," "success," and "putting it over" are terms we think we understnad. Prohibition is properly reduced to these terms. Liquor trade keeps currency out of its most productive channels, depletes the most precious resource in the world, manpower and drunkenness deprives both the drunkard and those with whom he interferes of their highest right, the liberty to do their work to the best of their ability.

The prohibition of intoxicants is consistent with modern political ideas which conceive the state as an organic whole.

It is another milestone we have passed in the progress of our civilization. As has always been the case with significant things, we are slow to recognize and valuate it, and we are barely picking ourselves up after stumbling over it. But we have clearly seen that the step was forward, so we do not dare retrace it. How lamentable if we were to raise our puny individual voices in behalf of a petty indulgence in the face of a nation's good! The drama of our social evolution challenges us to accept and profoundly respect the 18th amendment.

Fellowship of Prayer

DAILY LENTEN DEVOTION

By Rev. Jay T. Stocking, D. D., Federal Council of Churches in America — Copyright 1928.

"The Sympathetic Heart"

SCRIPTURE: Memory Verse: "We are members one of another" (Romans 12:5).

Read: I Corinthians 12:12-27.

MEDITATION: True religion arouses the sympathies. It is always marked by an increase of interest in other people's welfare. Love of man grows with love of God. Men who truly pray, "Our Father" can not be indifferent to their neighbors. "If a man say he loves God and hateth his brother," he is deceived. He cannot do both. A man's religion may well be tested by the keenness and inclusiveness of his sympathies. The man who is filled with the spirit of Jesus feels himself kin and neighbor to all the peoples there are. The whole world is his world. Religion breaks down barriers between ranks and peoples and is the only thing that can make the world a unity and bring it peace.

PRAYER: O Thou who art the Father of us all, we pray today for those who despair through ignorance, who suffer through neglect, who are handicapped by environment. Whatever be their race and name, they are our brethren through Christ. Amen.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

An Unwelcome Sign.

An omen may be good or ill,
But it is but an omen still.
—Sammy Jay.

There was much happiness and great rejoicing in the Old Orchard. The arrival of Winsome Bluebird, Welcome Robin and Little Friend the Song Sparrow all in one day meant to the feathered folk of the Old Orchard and to Happy Jack Squirrel and to Chatterer the Red Squirrel that beyond a doubt sweet Mistress Spring would soon arrive. So there was great rejoicing, everybody talking at the same time. There was such a racket going on that Bully the English Sparrow and Mrs. Bully hurried over to find out what it was all about, although they knew they would not be at all welcome. But that didn't trouble them any. They would not mind a little thing like that.

Suddenly Sammy Jay, who is always watchful, gave a sharp cry. "Hawk!" he screamed. It was astonishing how quickly all those little people disappeared. Had you been there you would have wondered what had become of them. Happy Jack Squirrel had flattened himself out on the under side of a limb. Chatterer the Red Squirrel and Peter Rabbit had dived headlong between the stones of the old stone wall. All the bird folk had dived into the thick brush along the old stone wall. As if by magic, all had disappeared.

It was only a moment or two afterward that a shadow passed over the Old Orchard. It was not a very big shadow and it was swiftly moving. It was the shadow of Sharpshin the Hawk, one of the most feared members of the Hawk family. He is not so very big, but he is swift of wing, and he has a liking for birds and little people like Chatterer the Red Squirrel.

He passed swiftly on and disappeared toward the Green Forest. Sammy Jay had kept his eyes on him from the time he first saw him until he had disappeared. The moment he vanished in the Green Forest Sammy was up in an apple tree preening his feathers and looking rather important. There are times when Sammy does have rather a good opinion of himself. "Well," said he, "I guess I saved the rest of you that time. Had it not been for me Sharpshin would have been right in the middle of us and by this time would be dining on some one."

"Maybe so," replied Sammy Jay,

"Pooh," said Chatterer the Red Squirrel.

Squirrel. "I guess some of the rest of us would have seen him in time."

"Maybe so," replied Sammy Jay, "but I did see him and I did give the warning."

"And you do get the credit," spoke up Tommy Tit. "I'm glad you saw him for two reasons."

"What two reasons?" asked Peter Rabbit.

"First," replied Tommy Tit, "because your warning probably saved some one's life. Second, because Sharpshin is a good sign."

Peter wobbled his wobbly little nose. He scratched a long ear with a long hindfoot; he scratched the other long ear with the other long hindfoot. "I suppose, Tommy, if you say it's so, it's so," said he, "but I don't see any sign in Sharpshin."

"What is Sharpshin doing here?" demanded Tommy Tit.

"Looking for something to eat, probably," replied Peter.

"Yes, but why is he up here looking for something to eat?" inquired Tommy, and then added: "He is up here because he knows that winter is over. He is up here for the same reason that Winsome Bluebird and Welcome Robin and Little Friend the Song Sparrow are up here. He is a sign that spring is almost here. And because of that I can forgive him for giving us a scare.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Solon M. Chapman

Word was received Friday night by relatives in Norwich of the passing away of Mrs. M. Louisa Hewitt, widow of Solon M. Chapman, late of Napa, California.

Mrs. Chapman left Napa last week Wednesday to visit her son George M. Chapman in Hollywood, who is connected with the Citizens bank in that place. She was taken ill Thursday night with pneumonia and had the best of care but the heart failed to carry the strain and she passed away Friday morning.

She was born 76 years ago and was the daughter of George W. and Louisa (Brown) Hewitt of Waterford. Her first husband was Ira Browning of Montville who passed away and years after she married Solon M. Chapman of Napa and has since resided in California. Mr. Chapman passed away in January this year at the age of 91. Mrs. Chapman leaves beside the son, George M. Chapman, a sister, Mrs. Nelson H. Moore of this city, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Charles O. Wright

The death of Mary A., wife of Charles O. Wright of No. 9, Bentley avenue, occurred at 3.30 Friday afternoon in St. Raphael's hospital, New Haven. Mrs. Wright went to the hospital a week ago for an operation.

Mrs. Wright was the daughter of Katherine and the late Henry Hastedt and was born in New York city, Aug. 25, 1882. She was married No. 28, 1904 in New Jersey to Charles O. Wright and lived there for a number of years, but for the last thirteen years had made her home in this city. She was a member of Sachem chapter, No. 67, O. E. S., of this city and of the Ladies' Aid of Trinity Episcopal church. She also belonged to the Sons of Veterans auxiliary in Hoboken, N. J.

Besides her husband and her mother, she is survived by two daughters, Miss Madeline Wright of this city and Mrs. Malda McNeely wife of Walter McNeely of New York city, three brothers, William R., August H., and Joseph E. Hastedt, all of this city and four sisters, Mrs. Katherine Dunnewald, Mrs. Malda Bruttrell, Mrs. Madeline Schelter, and Mrs. Edith Morgan, all of Jersey City.

Mrs. Charles Paradis

Mrs. Philomene Paradis, widow of Charles Paradis, about 79, died at 1 o'clock this (Saturday) morning at her home, No. 87 Hunters avenue, Taftville, following illness of about eight months. She was a resident of Taftville for 40 years, and was well and favorably known in the community, having many friends who will learn of her death with sincere regret. Mrs. Paradis was a native of St. Pie, Canada. She was a member of St. Ann society and of the Sacred Heart church, Taftville. Surviving her are six sons, Gustave, Joseph, Louis, John, William, all of Taftville, and Ovide, of Springfield, and a daughter, Mrs. Clarinda Simourd, of Preston City. She also leaves a brother, Baptiste Paradis, of Canada. A son, Matthias, died about two months ago and her husband preceded her in death about one and a half months ago. Mrs. Paradis' death was the third within two months in her family.

FUNERALS

Raymond G. Perry

The funeral of Raymond G. Perry was held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at his home, No. 586 West Main street, and there was a very large attendance of relatives and friends. The floral forms were many and beautiful. Rev. Charles H. Ricketts, pastor of the Greeneville Congregational church, conducted the service. At the conclusion of the service Rev. Mr. Ricketts read two poems, Whittier's Eternal Goodness and Tennyson's Crossing the Bar. The burial was in Maplewood cemetery, Rev. Mr. Ricketts conducting the committal service. The bearers were Wendall Perry, Rudolph Thumm, Rupert Gratris, Walter Streich, Frank Grieces and Irving Collins. Undertakers Church and Allen had charge of the funeral arrangements.

DISALLOWED CLAIM FOR WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

The workingmen's compensation claim of Percy Bailey of Westerly against C. B. Cottrell & Sons Co., has been disallowed and the case dismissed by Commissioner Albert J. Bailey in a finding and award filed with the clerk of the superior court.

The employe fell against a piece of machinery at the Cottrell plant on Aug. 1, 1927, bruising his right side and has not worked since the date of injury, although he reported back for work on Nov. 14, 1927 to see if he would be able to work not feeling certain of his ability to do so, but was told there was no work for him.

In concluding his finding Commissioner Bailey says:

Considering the pain which the claimant has suffered, both prior to his alleged injury of Aug. 1, 1927, and since that time, and also considering that the trauma which he claims to have received when he fell against the hydraulic was not of sufficient severity to cause any abrasion or discoloration, and taken in conjunction with the medical evidence which is unanimous that if claimant did receive such an injury that it should have cleared up long before Nov. 14, 1927, also considering the rather unusual fact that none of the medical men have been able to diagnose the case, the commissioner finds that it would be going into the realm of speculation to find for the claimant under the circumstances, and he is therefore unable to find that the claimant received any injury on Aug. 1, 1927 sufficient to cause any disability.

SELECTMEN WILL NAME SUCCESSOR TO TOWN CLERK AND TOWN TREASURER

A successor to the late Charles S. Holbrook, town clerk and town treasurer for the last 28 years, will be named this (Saturday) morning by the board of selectmen, according to an announcement made Friday night by First Selectman William S. Murray. Mr. Murray declined to give out the names of the various candidates for the office. The work of auditing the books in the town clerk's office was completed shortly after 6 o'clock Friday evening and the books were found to be in first class shape.

There are a number of candidates for appointment to the office, which in addition to fees, carries a $1,300 salary, $1,000 for the town treasurer and the remaining $300 for the town clerk.

Estimates of what the income of the office amounts to have run all the way from $3,500 to $7,000, out of which the town clerk has paid the salary of the assistant town clerk and two clerical assistants.

The appointment will be made to fill out the unexpired term of the late town clerk. At the present time Miss Mary G. Ward, who is assistant town clerk, is acting town clerk. Mr. Holbrook was re-elected town clerk and town treasurer at the town election last October for a term of two years.

GAVE ENTERTAINING READING ON POEMS OF CHILDHOOD

The March meeting of Park Church Federation was held Friday afternoon in the parish house parlors.

The president, Miss Hannah M. Crowell opened with reading of Galatians 5, and prayer. The secretary's report was read but approval waived until next meeting when the treasurer was asked to make a statement as to the amount of insurance. The treasurer's an dother reports were accepted. Mrs. Allen Latham's team, calling themselves "Go-Getters," reported 50 per cent. of their sum raised. Mrs. Latham also announced the meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary union on April 25 in New Haven and called for a large attendance, as there was to be a discussion in regard to the new organization to be formed in the fall. Mrs. F. W. Cary, chairman of the program committee announced that the fashion show had netted a good sum. She introduced Mrs. Charles H. Gilbert, who gave a charming talk on poems of childhood; she sketched the early literature for children, poems and fables with a moral lesson, illustrated by interesting tales of children precacious beyond their years who met with an early death, reading selections of Isaac Watts, John Newbury and Oliver Goldsmith. She noted the delightful verses of Jane and Ann Taylor, author of "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star." She read many other poems written for children to enjoy, by J. W. Longfelow, R. L. Stevenson, Eugene Field and James Whitcomb Riley. Also from a beautifully illustrated book, "Just One More," by a personal school friend, Nathalie Johnson Van Vleck.

Mrs. Gilbert completed a delightful talk with many sweet little rhymes from A. A. Milne, finishing with his "Vespers," which was his contribution to "The Queen's Doll House."

Mrs. James A. Bidwell added to the pleasure of the afternoon by singing two groups of songs; the first including Stevenson's "In Winter I Get Up At Night," "Speckled Eggs," and "Dark Brown Is the River;" and as an encore Jesse Gaynor's "Japanese Doll." The second group comprising Eugene Field' "Norse Lullaby," and from Mother Goose, Dickory, Dickory Dock, and I Love a Little Pussy, Miss Louise Fuller was at the piano.

Tea was served by Mrs. R. B. Sherman, Mrs. James Morton, Albert Wirth, Kenneth B. Church, H. E. Prentice and W. H. Almy, Mrs. F. W. Cary and Mrs. R. C. Jones pouring. The table was decorated in honor of St. Patrick's day.

NORWICH RIFLE CLUB WINS TWO MATCHES

The Norwich Rifle club defeated the Pioneer Rifle club and the Pequot Rifle club teams in two separate matches at the armory Friday evening. The local club defeated the Pioneers by a score of 955 to 934 and the Pequot club by a score of 958 to 941. The team scores:

WERRENRATH TRIUMPHS IN CONCERT SERIES FINAL

Reinald Werrenrath, baritone star of the Metropolitan Opera, gave the final concert Friday evening in this season's Slater hall musical course, scoring a triumph from beginning to end of his programme before an audience that filled the hall with extra seats added on the stage for members of the girls' musical clubs.

Mr. Werrenrath put the crown on a delightful evening which he gave his audience when he came out to give an encore for the crowd which remained in their seats after the final number. As Herbert Carick at the piano struck the first introductory notes of On the Road to Mandalay, the audience burst into applause and then sat silent in tense enjoyment as Werrenrath sang the number as only he can sing it, Cockney dialect and all.

Other encores given during the evening were Grieg's Ich Liebe dich, which Werrenrath sang in Danish words, and Capital Stratton's Fancy by Masefield-Taylor.

Mr. Carrick at the piano provided accompaniments that were beyond praise and furnished a greatly appreciated part of the programme with his two selections, for which he gave an interesting encore.

Incidentally it might be stated that Mr. Werrenrath declared himself on the subject of ventilation in Slater hall during a concert and said he thought that inattention to this detail was calculated to stifle both the singer and the audience.

The programme was given as follows:

Alma ..... Mozart
Recitative, "Tutto e Disposto"
Aria, "Aprite un po" ..... Mozart
From the Opera The Marriage of Figaro
When Dull Care ..... Old English
arr. by H. Lane Wilson
Over the Hills and Far Away Old Irish
arr. by William Arms Fisher
Traume ..... Wagner
Schmerzen ..... Wagner
Piano solos
Nocturne C sharp minor ..... Chopin
Fledermaus Waltz Strauss-Grunfeld
Mr. Carrick
Songs of the Sea (Henry Newbolt) ..... C. Villiers-Stanford
Devon, O Devon!
Homeward Bound
The Old Superb
Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride ..... Michael Head
Chumleigh Fair ..... John C. Holliday
The Shepherdess ..... Dermot Macmurrough
Danny Deever (Rudyard Kipling) ..... Walter Damrosch

COLLEGE PRESIDENT SPEAKS FOR Y. M. C. A. MEETING

The largest audience thus far this season assembled Friday noon at the fourth in the Lenten series at the local Young Men's Christian association, when Dr. Benjamin T. Marshall of the Connecticut college gave his second heart to heart talk. The parlors were filled with an audience mostly of business men. The spirit of enthusiastic interest prevailed, and many received genuine inspiration.

Herbert W. Gallup presided and Frederick S. Armstrong offered an earnest prayer. The hymn used was "Out of my bondage, sorrow and loss." Hugh Kinder rendered the impressive hymn, "More love to Thee O' Christ" in solo, and played the piano for the service.

Dr. Marshall continued under the general topic of the series, "Taking Jesus Christ Seriously," and dwelt on the phase of Jesus' habit of prayer, and he spoke in part as follows: "I know not what you think about the secret of Jesus influence and success, but I believe it is to be found in his habit and practice of prayer. He practiced it daily, and he was not always begging His Father for something; His were oftimes prayers of thanksgiving and receptivity; He rose long before it was day and went away alone under the trees and exposed his mind and heart to His Heavenly Father, and then went down into the valley to give of himself to those who so greatly needed Him. I have often thought of what a great strain it must have been upon Him, physically, mentally and spiritually. When I read of Jesus work, I almost feel a stream going from Him depleting His strength, and then rising for a new supply and expecting refreshment.

"We have but a small fraction of His works and record of His works preserved; there are doubtless great gaps in the narrative. He spent Himself so thoroughly, and came to the end of His short life most adequately. His prayer life was His life. If Jesus needed to pray, how can ordinary humans get along without prayer. If necessary for Him, surely it must be necessary for us. One must have an attitude of thanksgiving, and an attitude of expectancy, and like Jesus an entering into oneness with the Heavenly Father, also an attitude of noise, and calm and confidence. Give your whole life to God and His service. We do not need to speak much in prayer; God will talk to us if we let Him. One of the most beautiful prayers I ever heard of was that of a very devout man of years, who was heard to say just before he retired these few words, "Dear Lord, we are on the same good terms, good night." The model on which to base our praying, the so-called "Lord's prayer" is very searching, especially that part "forgive our debts as we forgive our debtors." Unless we come to Him in prayer, having forgiven others, and having a clean pure life, He will not hear us. I recall some years since when I had a long spell of sickness, and was at times delirious, when I came back to reason, such great words as these came to my relief and blessed me, "when I awake, I am still with Thee," and "Underneath are the everlasting arms." We do not have to beg God for the things we need, for "He knoweth what things we have need of." Everything we need is there, and we may take it freely.

"The great secret of the wonderful life of Jesus was His oneness with His Father, and He maintained this oneness by continual prayer, and if we, each one desires to maintain a oneness with God we must spend much time in real prayer. Paul was a man of prayer, and this prayer of his (reading one of Paul's prayers) certainly breathes the right spirit."

Dr. Marshall closed with a benediction prayer.

COLLEGE ALUMNA HAS CONFIDENCE IN TRUSTEES

In a letter written to a Hartford paper, Marion Booth Gammons of New Haven, class of 1920, of Connecticut College for Women, expresses her confidence in the trustees in the controversy over the resignation of President Marshall as follows:

Although I can be listed among "The Oldest Living Graduates" of Connecticut college I have not been particularly interested in the present controversy over the resignation of President Marshall, but the persistent adverse criticism of the board of trustees by individuals and by organizations has finally irritated me. It is my personal conviction that this group of intelligent educated people which undertook and carried to fulfillment the gigantic labor of founding an institution for higher learning will not deliberately commit an error so gross and flagrant as to undermine what has already been accomplished.

If the protestants think that the withdrawal of President Marshall is too painful an operation for the college to undergo let them realize that no parents permit an unnecessary operation to be performed on their child. It is also an undeniable fact that, often, change in administration is absolutely essential for the continued progress of an expanding organization. Though ignorant of details my common sense convinces me that the trustees have sufficient and acceptable reasons for whatever action they take.

Furthermore, although I appreciate all that President Marshall has done for the college, I feel that under the stress of emotional excitement his sympathizers have overrated his individual contributions toward the phenominal growth of the institution. Personally I have always attributed the rapid advance of Connecticut college to a composite of quietly persuasive personalities of members of the faculty who come into contact with the students. These strong individual characters make ideals within the school and therefore automatically effect the emanation of a character of high idealism as belonging to the college generally. Dean Nye, Dr Lieb(and Dr. Kip, who have been with the college since its earliest year, I have known as both teachers and advisers and I know that they always combine sympathy with perfect perspective.

I had four full-time courses under Dr. Weis and it would require a separate treatise to describe just how much these courses are meaning to me from the standpoint of character development as well as of literary appreciation.

In my major subjects, philosophy and psychology, my professor was Dr. Allen J. Thomas, who was forced to withdraw from the college because his treatment of psychology was so ultra-modern for that time (and so generally accepted now) that it could not be comprehended by the administration. I have no way of measuring the infinite and always-progressive effect on my daily life of the teachings of this professor, whose forte was the development of individuality.

A vivid picture recurs to me frequently of sitting on the floor of Plant house living room at the feet of Mlle. Enst and arguing with her with impolite intensity. My ideas were immature, to put it mildly, but I have a definite sense of being taught and broadened by the very intimate friendliness of the situation. The greatest regret of my senior year was that my schedule did not permit me to continue courses under Mrs. Wessel, who combines a sensitive insight into all practical life with her scientific interest in humanity in general, and its problems. She has such innumerable and fascinating ways of making it all so real and lasting—not just theory.

There are so many other names that other students would add to this list, such as Dr. Cary, Miss Black, Miss Shearer, Mr. Selden, the late Dr. Coerne, etc., but I have mentioned specifically only those professors by whom my own life is being definitely and constructively influenced. It is only that I am trying to illustrate my statement by presenting the reaction of one unit to some of the individual characters, who, united, make Connecticut college. The crowning greatness of Christ was that he could meet each man at his level, and in conclusion, I reiterate that the amazing advance of Connecticut college is due in greatest masure to the melting into a unified whole of these, our great personalities, who all unconsciously stoop to the students and thereby raise them.

CONNECTICUT BUSINESS IS SHOWING SOME GAIN

In the review of business conditions in Connecticut during February, which are for the most part found to be better than in the corresponding month last year, according to reports received from the different cities by the state chamber of commerce, the following are the reports from Norwich and New London:

Secretary Pilcher of the Norwich chamber reported as follows: Twelve building permits for new construction valued at $31,860 were issued during February, 1928, whereas 14 worth $37,594 were issued during February, 1927. Bank debits totaled $7,694,912 for February, 1928, and $7,510,753 for the same month last year. Savings deposits totaled $42,722,093 on Feb. 29, 1928; $39,891,554, Feb. 28, 1927, and $38,865,557 on Feb. 28, 1926. Postoffice receipts amounted to $9,208 last month and $8,527 a year ago. Gas consumption was: February, 1928, 13,089,000 cu. ft.; 1927, 11,713,000; electric consumption, February, 1928, 844,10 KWH; 1927, 759,041 KWH. There was a net increase of 25 telephones last month as compared with a net increase of 27 a year ago. A marked increase in the volume of retail merchandizing was noted during February over the same period last year. Real estate sales were improved and the insurance situation appears to be good. Hotel business reports are about the same as last year. The industrial situation is about the same as last month, still somewhat behind last year in many lines and other lines are reporting unusual volume of orders. On the whole, it is considered about 65 per cent production.

New London

Secretary Garlepy of the New London chamber reported as flolows: Business in New London remains about the same as last month. The employment situation has changed very little if any, although on account of the open winter a few more tradesmen have been employed than ordinarily. The building inspecter reports three more building permits issued this month than February of last year. Retail business is about the same as last year at this time. Postal receipts show a loss of $46,583 over February of last year. There is a loss of seven telephones in the city during February, there being 60 installed and 67 removed. In electric and gas consumption there was a gain of 291,230 KWH, a gain of 858,500 cubic feet of gas, 346 electric meters and 157 gas meters over February of last year.

Bequests By Miss Stapfer's Will

Bequests of stated sums to two sisters and to several other persons are made in the will of Miss Mathilde Stapfer, formerly a school teacher in Wequonnoc school, who was blind for about a year before her death. The will has been filed in the probate court here.

By the terms of the will, which was made in 1925, a sister, Mrs. O. D. Young, of 830 Park avenue, New York city, is left 30 shares of capital stock in the Wauregan hotel; another sister, Mrs. Emily M. J. Hotz of St. Moritz, Switzerland, is bequeathed the sum of $200, while the sum of $100 is left to each of the following persons: Miss Bertha Weiss of St. Gall, Switzerland, Mrs. Florence M. Preston, R. F. D. No. 4, Norwich, and Bridget Sullivan, Ponemah house, Taftville.

The residue of the estate goes to two nephews, Rudolph D. Stapfer of 156 East 18th street, Paterson, N. J., and Walter Hotz of St. Moritz, Switzerland, and a niece, Hazel M. Stapfer of Weehawken Heights, N. J.

John H. Stapfer is named executor.

Makes New Business Conection

William Tuthill, formerly superintendent of the Greeneville plant of the Corticelli Silk company, has become associated with John A. Moran, well known local real estate dealer. Mr. Tuthill came to Norwich 5 years ago from Pennsylvania and since that time has been connected with the Corticelli Silk company, as superintendent of their Greeneville plant. He recently resigned his position to be associated with Mr. Moran.

Will Have Bridgeport Speaker

At the B. Y. B. U. meeting of Mt. Calvary Baptist church on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, an address will be given by Mrs. S. T. Foreman of Bridgeport. Miss Lucile Jackson will have charge of a special musical and literary programme.

ESCAPED CONVICT LIVED BY PRIMITIVE METHODS

PORTLAND, Me., March 16—(AP)—How George Ethier, a Bangor convict, emulated Joe Knowles, noted Maine woods character, and wrested sustainence by primitive methods from the woods after his escape last July from the Maine state prison at Thomaston, was told here today by Warden George A. Buker. Ethier, arrested in Albany, N. Y., last wek was being returned to the prison today by the warden.

In his dash for Montreal after scaling the prison walls, Ethier existed on squirrels and a porcupine he had killed with a rock. With a string and a bent nail, he said he caught several trout.

He swam three different streams on his north westerly trek for Canada. He first essayed the Georges river, came to the Kennebec river near Richmond and crawl-stroked for a quarter mile to the opposite shore, and finally crossed the Androscoggin near Lisbon Falls. He dried his clothes at a camp fire after each accomplishment.

Arriving at Montreal, he secured employment for a while, then recrossed the border. He halted at Dixville Notch for another spell of work, then continued on to Albany.

He was waiting for a payment on his war bonus when he was arrested. A resident of Bangor recognized him and notified police.

PETE DONOHUE ONLY MAJOR LEAGUE HOLDOUT

ATLANTA, Ga., March 16—(AP)—The holdouts so far as baseball veterans were concerned had been narrowed down to Pete Donohue, Cincinnati pitcher tonight with Waite Hoyt, Yankee hurler, the latest to sign this contract.

Hoyt signed today after considerable dickering with officials of the New York American while Babe Dressler, erstwhile Red Leg performer, has joined the Brooklyn Robins after having bought his release from Cincinnati.

Hoyt's new contract is understood to call for $20,000 annually for two years.

Ty Cobb, veteran outfielder who has been doing his conditioning at his home city, Augusta, Ga., joined his teammates the Philadelphia Athletics today when they went to Augusta to play the Giants an exhibition game.

At Avon Park, Bill McKechnie, St. Louis Nationals manager announced that Danny Clark, 31 year old infielder, had been released to Houston of the Texas league.

E. S. Barnard, president of the American league, assisted Bradenton, Fla., citizens during the day in honoring Bill Doak, Brooklyn pitcher, who is a citizen of that town.

With all of the slow contract signers now in the fold except Donohue, the remainder of the training season, with only a few days to run before the clubs begin to head northward, will be marked by departure of many rookies to the minors.

All of the ten clubs training in Florida were engaged in exhibition games today, the Athletics being the only squad to leave the state for a game.

A light sleet interfered with practice in the San Antonio camp of the Detroit Tigers but Manager Moriarity managed to get in a good batting drill.

The Cleveland Indians worked lightly today in preparation for an exhibition game against the New Orleans Southern Association club tomorrow. The Indians expect to start trimming their squad tomorrow.

Jock Malone Wins

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, March 16—(AP)—Jock Malone, Chicago middleweight, knocked out Soldier Buck of Louisville, Ky., in the first round of a ten round match tonight.

ACADEMY OUTPLAYS COAST GUARDS TO WIN, 32-18; MEETS C. F. C. TONIGHT

The Coast Guard Academy Junior Varsity from New London fell the latest victim to the rejuvenated N. F. A. quintet, being on the short end of a 32 to 18 score when their game ended last night at the Y gym. It was a rough affair with both teams going at it hard all the way.

Fourth Straight Victory for N. F. A.

It marked the Red and White's fourth straight win and closed their regular season with 8 victories and 11 defeats. The city title series with the C. F. C. is the next thing on the program, starting tonight.

The local boys had a fairly respectable edge just about all the way. Taking an early lead they had tough sledding in the first quarter, the score at its end being in a deadlock, at 4 all, but once the second period started the Academy stepped right away from their opponents and never again were in any kind of danger.

At the half the locals led 19 to 12 and in the third quarter the Whalers were held scoreless while the locals threw in five points, leaving the score at 24-12 here. In the last period the locals had little difficulty keeping a safe distance away and the final whistle found them still throwing in baskets.

The Coast Guard team came heavily backed by a vociferous cheering section but the team gave its supporters little chance to make any prolonged noise.

Local's Teamwork Better

The Academy showed a marked superiority in teamwork, practically all of their baskets being scored on sallies clear through the New Londoner's defense while the sailors used the long-shot method as their major point-getter. With every member functioning as a part of a well-oiled machine the locals looked just about the class of high school basketball. The forwards, Pingree and Jarvis, did things just right for most of the time while Joe Viau at center slipped in under the basket just at crucial times to score for the Red and White. Capt. Jim Kelly and Buck LaCroix took plenty of knocks from the more rugged visitors but still they came out of it with flying colors.

Summary:

N. F. A.	G.	F.	Pts.
Pingree, lf	5	2	1
Jarvis, rf	3	0	6
Viau, c	4	2	10
LaCroix, lg	1	1	3

Academy-C. F. C. Tonight

N. F. A.	C. F. C.
Jarvis, lf	lf, Lambert
Pingree, rf	rf, Leffingwell
Viau, c	c, Ludlow
Kelly, lg	lg, Davis
LaCroix, rg	rg, Brown

The first game of the Academy-C. F. C city title series comes tonight at the Y gym. The teams appear fairly evenly matched although the Baptists' record is more impressive. The C. F. C. have won 16 and lost but three this season while the schoolboys have eight wins and 11 losses for their work.

However, bare facts do not tell the true story of the Red and White's team. Handicapped by injuries and ineligibilities for over half the campaign, the locals have only recently been set at full strength. In the last four games they have showed what they can do, winning all of them over Plainfield, Rockville, Crosby high of Waterbury and last night, from the Coast Guards Jayvees. It is this improvement that is giving Academy followers hope for tonight's fray.

Bulkeley-Emps in Prelim

In the preliminary the Y Emps will meet the Bulkeley Independents, at least that game was pending last night and was expected to be settled this morning. The Emps will use their original lineup, which includes several members of the Academy squad, namely, Tigar, Swartzburg and Henschel, while Stevens, Economous, Ogulnick and Murphy will complete the squad. Bulkeley is expected to have Ellis, Locke, Brennan, Morrissey, Palmer and others.

The Emps-Bulkeley game goes on at 8 o'clock with the main tilt at 9 p. m. A banner crowd is expected and preparations have been made for such.

STONINGTON, BACON AND TOURTELLOTTE LOSE

STORRS, March 16—(AP)—Essex high school of Essex and Terryville high school of Terryville, will meet in the finals here tomorrow for the class D high school basketball championship by winning their matches in today's tournament. In the class C championship Deep River will meet Collinsville tomorrow. Summary:

Class D results: First round: Essex 28, Washington 18.

Terryville 19, Old Saybrook 8.

Litchfield 39, Bacon academy, Colchester 20.

Tourtelotte Memorial of Thompson 28, Newtown 26.

Semi-finals class D:

Essex 38, Litchfield 34.

Terryville 25; Tourtelotte 22.

Class C results:

Deep River 14, Stonington 11, overtime period.

Collinsville 34, Branford 20.

TUNNEY TURNS DOWN OFFER FOR MONTREAL BOUT IN JUNE

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 16—(AP)—Gene Tunney, through his manager, Billy Gibson, today turned down an offer of $250,000 or 37 1-2 per cent of the gate receipts to fight John Risko, of Cleveland in the new Montreal stadium in June.

Gibson wired John J. Carey, of this city, matchmaker for the Stadium Athletic club, of Montreal, that he was not free at this time to accept the offer because of the champion's contract with Tex Rickard.

Risko's manager, Billy Dunn, informed Carey that he would accept the $100,000 offered Risko.

EASTERN LEAGUE VOTES FOR MOST VALUABLE PLAYER AWARD

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 16—(AP)—Eastern league directors, in session here today, voted to establish a most valuable player award, a trophy to be awarded annually to the player who is named most valuable by a committee of Eastern league sports writers. This committee will be selected later. President Herman J. Welsman, of the league, also announced that he would offer a president's trophy for the club that had the best paid attendance at opening day.

The league adopted the playing schedule and it will be published within the next ten days. The umpiring staff was discussed, but the list is yet to be announced. The next meeting of the league will be held at the Hotel Elton in Waterbury late next week.

At the meeting here today, President Arthur J. Shan announced that he had signed Neal Ball, former unassisted triple play artist of Cleveland, and former manager of the New Haven and Pittsfield clubs, as coach and scout for the Springfield club. Ball is to work as assistant to Manager Joe Benes.

HILLHOUSE, HARDING MANCHESTER-BRISTOL WIN

NEW HAVEN, March 16—(AP)—In the first round of the Yale interscholastic basketball tournament which pened today, victories were scored by Hillhouse, Warren Harding, of Bridgeport, South Manchester and Bristol.

Bristol scored a 31-25 victory over Central high, of Bridgeport, and South Manchester defeated Wilby high, of Waterbury, 25-20.

In the night games, Warren Harding scored an easy victory over Meriden, 29-15, and Hillhouse defeated Weaver, of Hartford, 27-19.

The Weaver-Hillhouse contest was the most exciting session of the opening day and kept the crowd in a continual uproar. Gildea and De Angelis were the outstanding stars of he Hillhouse outfit and Perlmutter, Sherman and Walsh played a strong defensive game for Weaver.

The afternoon games today will bring Bristol and South Manchester together at 1:30 and Hillhouse and Warren Harding at 2:45. The winners of the semi-finals will play in the evening game which has been set fro 8 o'clock.

NEWTON TAKES ANOTHER LAP OF MARATHON

WILLIAMS, Ariz., March 16—(AP)—Arthur Newton, the tireless British runner who has set the pace for the field in the coast-to-coast "bunion derby," increased his lead today by handily winning the 13th lap of 43.9 miles from Seligman to Williams.

His time for today's trek was 7:10:35 and his elapsed time for the 479 miles covered since leaving Los Angeles is 74:21:05.

Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, Eng., trotted in second, covering the stretch in 7:47:35. One of the favorites, Hicolas Quamawahu, Hopi Indian, dropped out of the race today with a sprained ankle and injured leg.

Morris H. C. Captain

WORCESTER, Mass., March 16—(AP)—Johnny Morris, of Washington, D. C., star forward, was today elected captain of the 1928-29 Holy Cross basketball team. Morris is a junior and has played with the Purple varsity for three seasons.

BASKETBALL BRIEFS

Academy and C. F. C. tonight.

Wilby, the only one of the Yale tourney entrants that the Academy had played, didn't get far.

The Hartford Yankees, formerly the Dixies, clinched their city title series with the Knights of Lithuania this week taking the second straight game.

The Plainfield Pros intend to play right up into April. They have a series in mind with All-New Britain in addition to a game with the Original Celtics. And all this, in addition to the series with Taftville.

Tommy Donohue, state boxing commissioner and president of the National Boxing association, was an interested spectator last night at the Y. It was his son that cavorted at right guard for the visitors.

His son is also their captain and a former Bulkeley football player.

The Cadets sure are an enthusiastic bunch.

Although there were not so many of them they sure made plenty of noise.

This was the sailors' first defeat from a high school team.

Both teams went at it hard with plenty of lively tussles that, however, made only for a fast and furious game.

At times, the scrimmaging looked like practice for the next football campaign.

The Emps and Bulkeley Independents ought to provide some real action for they appear fairly well matched.

Most of the Emps team tonight will be picked from second-string Academy players.

The biggest crowd of the year is expected.

It's too bad that the Academy can't meet up now with some of those teams that beat her earlier in the season, such as Windham, Chapman Tech, Bacon academy, etc.

WINDHAM FALLS EASY VICTIM TO NAUGY

NAUGATUCK, March 16—(AP)—Naugatuck high swamped Windham high of Willimantic here tonight in their post-season game, winning by a score of 44 to 17.

'BOUT SPORTS

Wilby's defeat in the Yale tourney was quite a surprise as the Brass City school had been installed a favorite in some circles to cop the title. Now, Harding is the popular choice, although that thought can be easily exploded before sundown today. The semi-finals come this afternoon and the final game at 8 o'clock tonight.

Eastern Connecticut did not fare well, at all, at Storrs, all of their representatives losing before the finals, which will be played today.

MANY NOTED ATHLETES IN HARTFORD MEET TONIGHT

The Massasoit A. C. of Hartford will stage their first annual indoor track meet tonight in the Hartford State armory.

The entries are drawn from many fields—from national stars competing under club affiliation, college, prep schools, high schools, state Y. M. C. A.'s and Connecticut industrial concerns.

The outstanding stars among the entrants are Roland Locke of Nebraska, who in competition has three times beaten ten seconds for the 100 yards; Pait Elkins, noted Indian athlete and national decathlon champion; Jackson Scholz, New York A. C. runner and winner of the 200 meters at the last Olympic games; Francis Hussey, noted sprinter; Ed Swinburns, former national champion and captain of the 1925 Georgetown relay team which set the world's record; George Leness, New York A. C., and 600-yard member of the All-America team of 192 picked by the National A. A. U. and Johnny Holden.

These relay races have been arranged:

Fordham, Yale, New York university.

Springfield college, Wesleyan.

Hartford high, Crosby high, Springfield Tech, Kingswood, Loomis.

Industrial relay, New Departure of Elmwood vs. Bridgeport Metal Goods company.

State Y. M. C. A.—Hartford, Waterbury. New Britain Y. M. C. A.'s and Hartford Shamrocks.

Robins 7, Red Sox 2

BRADENTON, Fla., March 16—(AP)—Exhibiting a punch that gave Wilbert Robinson another chance to smile, the Brooklyn Dodgers gained their first victory of the spring training season today, defeating the Boston Red Sox 7 to 2.

Ed Morris and Bennett, nominated for Red Sox pitching duty, were slammed for 13 hits. Four of these went to Del Bissonette, International league slugger, while Harvey Hendrick connected for a double, triple and single. Bissonette's string included a home run while Al Tyson also smashed out a four bagger.

Vance, Doak, Petty and Elliott held Boston to seven scattered hits. Their two runs were scored in the third off Doak. Score:

Brooklyn (N)	100	300	201—	7	13	0
Boston (A)	002	000	000—	2	7	2

Vance, Doak, Petty, Elliott and Hargreaves; Morris, Bennett and Berry.

Reds 6, Senators 5

WASHINGTON, March 16—(AP)—With Judge Landis looking on, the Cincinnati Reds, by dint of two home runs, defeated the Senators, 6 to 5, today in an exhibition game at Tampa, Fla.

The Reds were outhit, 10 to , but the Senators were unable to produce safeties when runs were waiting on the bases. In the first inning, the Griffmen filled the sacks but were unable to score, while in the eighth a batting rally fell one run short of evening the count with tying tally on third. Picinich and Allen hit the homers.

Score:

Cincinnati	010	010	130—	6	7	3
Washington	000	200	030—	5	10	2

Batteries: Lucas, Kolp, Edwards and Hargrave and Picinich; Zachary, Brown, Burke, Hopkins and Tate and McMullen.

PASTIME A. C. PUT ON GOOD CARD OF AMATEUR BOUTS LAST NIGHT

The Pastime A. C. show held at the Olympic hall last night again drew the hall full of rabid fight fans who witnessed a very good card of amateur bouts, although Farmer Steve and Harold Talbot witnessed the fights instead of participating, and for whom the crowd occasionally gave a rousing cheer. Unlike most of the shows there was only one knockout, and one of the bouts was stopped and the decision given to one of the boys for the honor of doing what very little fighting there was done. The other bouts were full of action and had the fans cheering lustily.

In the opening bout Dinty Moore from the Sub Base won a draw with Young MacLean of Willimantic after taking a count of nine in the first round. It was a hard fought battle all the way, both lads slugging away until the final bell, and both were tired from their blows. Moore weighed 128 and MacLean 126.

The second bout was between two local little fellows, Young Hagen and Frankie Foster, a southpaw. Hagen had the experience and hit the harder blows but Frankie fought every inch of the way and his aggressiveness earned him a draw. Hagen weighed 116 and Foster two pounds less.

Frank McCarthy of Norwich couldn't do much against the clever Young Bogash of Danielson, who although a little awkward has a good left jab, a good defense and can hit from any angle. He smothered Mac with lefts and rights throughout, but the latter kept trying to get over his hard right although it seldom landed. Both lads weighed 126.

The only knockout on the card came in the next go when wild swinging Young Frazier of the Sub Base went down under the fast and hard blows of the local favorite Vic Darr. A few of Frazier's rights landed in the first but did not slow Vic. Coming out for the second Darr swarmed over Frazier and without giving him a chance to get set shot in his left and right and the Sub base boy went down and out and had to be carried to his corner. He weighed 132 to Darr's 133.

The fifth go was a very poor imitation of a boxing bout between Sammy Baker of New Haven and Young Lavenski of the Sub Base. They must have been playmates because there was very little fighting done even after the referee warned them. He finally got disgusted as well as the fans and stopped it, raising Lavenski's hand in token of a win which is no particular credit. They both weighed 145 lbs.

Kid Cole a dusty warrior from Stafford Springs seemed too strong for Kid Nichols of Willimantic but the latter kept going and took the lead in the third round, forging ahead to the extent of earning a draw. This was a good bout between two fast boys. Nichols weighed 117 and Cole 118.

The sixth bout brought together another Norwich favorite in Mush Moriarty at 140 lbs. and Young Phillips of Westerly whose weight was announced at 140 but who actually tipped the scales at 163. Mush was content to keep away from the fat boy for the first two rounds although he took quite a few blows which however did not affect him and he kept plugging in. In the third Mush started to open up and with hard rights to the Westerly boy's mid-section gradually wore him down and had him pretty tired at the final bell. He took the decision and the good will of the crowd.

Young Rida, an elongated boy from Westerly, lost his fight and the approval of those present in his fight with the erstwhile featherweight champion of the Pacific Coast fleet, Young Lavallee, now of the sub base. Rida with his long reach had the advantage over Lavallee in the first jabbing the left and bringing over a right cross at long range. Lavalle who is a southpaw decided that the long armed boy couldn't hurt him and he kept getting in close with his hard right to the jaw which had Rida somewhat tired. Lavallee took the last round by a margin and won the decision for which the crowd was satisfied. Both boys weighed 124 lbs.

Chick Marra and Young Howard, two 153 pounders of Norwich, staged a slug-fest in the next go, and it was a case of survival of the fittest. Both took plenty of punishment and both were glad to hear the final bell. This bout was declared a draw.

Young Polinski of Colchester met a tartar in another lefthander, Young LaBarra of the Coast Guard. The Colchester boy couldn't do much against LaBarra's fast right jab and his hard left cross and took quite a beating in about every stage of the fight. He did not slow up, however, and was fighting hard at the final bell. The Coast Guard lad proved to be a mighty interesting performer and in beating such a tough boy as Polinsky won the admiraiton of the fans. LaBarra scaled 123 and Polinsky two pounds less.

In the extra bout Harry Hooper of New London who is apparently unpopular with the local fans, lost the decision to Young Metcalf of Westerly, and because he is unpopular is about the only reason he did lose. He is an infighter pure and simple which does not, apparently, meet with the approval of the fight crowd. He is accused of doing too much holding while hitting. However, Hooper brought over his right often all through the fight while Metcalf rained in blows from any angle as is his wont. Metcalf is very interesting little fighter and has always pleased the crowd, but he was lucky to win the fight taking quite a beating at close quarters. A rematch will be welcome and no doubt interesting.

Bobby Mays refereed in his usual excellent fashion, Jack Carney was time keeper and the judges were Jimmie O'Dowd and Earl Mathewson. The crowd was not quite as great as turned out for the last show but the hall was quite well packed at that.

FROM A RINGSIDE SEAT.

A good boxing show with its good and bad points as usual.

About seven good bouts, three not so good, and one that was terrible. Sammy Baker of New Haven proved an awful flop. Neither Norwich nor New Haven is proud of Sammy.

As usual there was the same prejudiced crowd against Harry Hooper, but you can depend on Harry to make things mighty interesting for the crowd. Hooper is an infighter and an aggressive one at that.

Some of the wise boys claimed that Hooper did all the holding, but from where we sat it looked as though Metcalf was doing a trifle more than his share. Perhaps not because he wanted to, but because he had to take a terrific lacing.

Both judges voted for Metcalf, while Bobby Mays, who knows as much as either about the boxing game, declared it a draw.

For a mediocre pug Young Reta of Westerly, who fought Young LaValle, has the most overdeveloped superiority complex of any boxer that ever stepped into a Norwich ring. His clowning failed to make an impression and he took a nice trimming in the bargain.

The Westerly boys were pretty crabby when they lost a verdict and very pompously demanded to see the judges. They didn't demand them when Metcalf won.

For his first appearance in the ring Young Mara put up a nice little battle and earned a draw for himself. A little more confidence and more battling at close quarters and he will get along.

Young Polinski, pride of Colchester, took a boxing lesson from LaBarra of the Coast Guards. Not much damage to either and lots of brotherly love stuff.

Mush Moriarty had his hands full when he tackled Young Phillips of Westerly. Mush gave way 29 pounds and then beat his man. Mush doesn't seem to care how big they come.

C. J. Gallagher of the Sub Base brought up a nice team of boxers and it is hoped that he will send up another squad for the next show. His boys showed the results of training and looked mighty good in the ring.

It was announced that the Pastimes would put on another show on next Friday night.

Vic Darr's new style of fighting seems to have given the local boy an added kick to his punch. Vic is not hitting from a flat-footed stance any more.

Danny Doyle was one of the interesting spectators at the ringside. Danny is just out from a seige in the hospital but is looking mighty good.

Captain McLean of Willimantic was introduced from the ring and many of the old timers remember the captain of police when he swung a mean right. When Captain's boys were fighting he was in there every minute.

We sort of missed Capt. McLean's sidekick, Alderman and County Detective Bill Jackson of the Thread City.

JOE BONTEMPO WINS AT PUTNAM SHOW

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, March 16—At St. John's hall here tonight, seven fast bouts were put on by the Putnam Sporting club. The judges were Eugene Rayno and Frank Whitman, both of Putnam. The timekeeper was James Mahoney of Putnam and the referee was Alvin Jarvis, also of Putnam.

The first fight was that between Jacnie Newman of Worcester, 113, and Sydney Nichols, Danielson, 110, with Newman winning by a technical knock out when Nichols could not respond for the second round. The second bout was between Frank Socquet of Danielson, 131, over Joseph Swithh of Jewett City, 129. Socquet won on a knockout in the first round.

Lucian Brouillard, 139, Danielson, won over Aleck Koskie, 138 1-2, of Worcester, by a three-round decision. Benny Dempsky, 154, of Jewett City, won over Brush Levine, 159, of Worcester, in the second round by a technical knockout, the bout being stopped to save Levine from further punishment.

The fifth bout saw Joe Bontempo, 130, of Jewett City, winning over Chick Herman, 129, of Worcester, after four rounds.

The sixth and main bout of the evening found Lew Petrone, 127, of Worcester, winning a three-round decision handily over Charley Goulet, 124, of Putnam. The seventh and last bout was won by Ero Peterson, 118, of Worcester, who beat Chick Gorman, Jewett City, 120. Peterson had a big margin from the start and in the second round the towel came floating in with the Worcester lad getting the verdict on a technical knockout.

About 300 saw the bouts.

SAM WILCOX ELECTED GOLF CAPTAIN AT WILLIAM AND MARY

Sam Wilcox, who proved himself to be the leading golfer of the Norwich Golf club, has been elected captain of the William and Mary college golf team for the coming season. Sam has been playing brilliantly on the links this season and only a day or so ago broke the course record at Richmond, Va.

FLOWERS TAKES CLOSE DECISION

NEW YORK, March 16—(AP)—Bruce Flowers, sensational Negro lightweight of New Rochelle, N. Y., battered out a ten-round victory over Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express, in the feature event of a lightweight carnival at Madison Square Garden tonight. Flowers scaled 135, two pounds more than Petrolle.

No Knockdowns

Although there were no knockdowns, the dusky youngster, out-slugging Petrolle at his own game, gave the westerner a severe troucing until Billy opened up and smashed his right hand to Flowers' chin. He had the battle under fair control. Once stung, however, Flowers sailed into action like a dark storm cloud and battered the North Dakotan all over the ring.

Early in the sixth round, Petrolle nailed the Negro with a left hook to the body and right to the chin that almost sent the customers home early. Flowers tottered, badly stung, but managed to fight his brain clean.

From that round on, Flowers hammered Billy lustily and the more Petrolle fought back the tougher the going became. In the ninth, Flowers slammed the westerner for two complete turns around the ring without a return and in the final session crashed lefts and rights to Petrolle's chin without a let-up. The Fargo Express was headed for a siding, with the signals all crossed up and the track very lumpy, when the final gong sounded.

Martin Beats Abad

Eddie Cannonball Martin, once king of the bantamweights, won a ten-round decision over Davey Abad, of Panama, in a ten-round bout in another bout. The weights were, Martin 126, Abad 124 1-2.

Abad, one of the few ever to win a decision over Tony Canzoneri, featherweight champion, barely lasted the limit under Martin's short-armed bullish attack. The South American took a bad beating about the head but managed to keep off the canvas.

ALL-STARS TO PLAY CELTICS TUESDAY NIGHT

The Norwich All-Stars, a collection of Academy players for the most part, will furnish the opposition for the Taftville Celtics next Tuesday night at Parish hall, Taftville. Neither lineups have been announced as yet but several well-known players are listed.

Sacred Heart Wins

The Sacred Heart school quintet of Taftville beat Lambert's All-Stars by the score of 22 to 20 in a three minute overtime period Tuesday night. Durr's basket in the last minute won for the Taftville lads.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Attractive Moving Pictures Y. M. C. A.

The public fourteen and over are invited to see the impressive moving pictures at the Norwich Y. M. C. A. gymnasium on the coming Sunday at 4 o'clock.

The short and popular feature story titled "As We Forgive" is sure to please and deeply impress those who see it. This is a story of present day life which parallels in theme and incidents the episode of the inspired Epistle of Paul to Philemon. A young man betrays his employer's trust, is convicted of theft, and after leaving prison drifts lower and lower, finally seeking shelter in the "Down and Out Club".

The progressive minister who conducts this mission persuades him to seek forgiveness from the man he wronged. Bringing the two reluctant men together, he tells them the Bible story which fits their case, and this is acted on the screen with dignity and great impressiveness. The young man is reinstated in his old position as treasurer, is given a fresh start with his former employer and an opportunity to rebuild his character and regain his position. The picture has a dramatic quality of the highest order.

In addition to the above a reel entitled "Friendly Breast of the Earth" will be shown, portraying beautiful scenes of mountains, lakes and rivers, titled in verse and done in colors. Also a reel on "The Alps", filled with rare Alpine charm; it is one of the famous ice climbs in Switzerland, showing scenes around a savage wonder lake formed by melting glaciers. An unexpected thrill occurs in an accident when only a miracle saves the expedition from instant death. Withal the whole scene depicts the marvelous handiwork of the Almighty.

Suitable music will be furnished by Hugh Kinder, and a brief talk will be given in line with the lesson of the pictures.

Oakland Automobiles

PONTIAC, Mich., March 16—The increasing factory facilities of the Oakland Motor Car company and the heavy winter demand for the Oakland and Pontiac Sixes are reflected in a record March production schedule of 27,773 units which exceeds by more than 10,000 cars the company's output during March of 1927.

January and February also witnessed the establishment of new Oakland-Pontiac records. As a result, by the end of March the company will have built more than 73,800 cars, a three month total exceeding by 112 per cent. the 34,727 unit production during the first three months of 1927.

The completion during February of a third assembly line in the Pontiac Six factories contributed greatly toward the February record and is assisting the company materially in reaching its high March total.

Further production increases are anticipated in April when the new $3,000,000 car assembly building for the Oakland All-American Six will be placed in operation. It is expected that the last week in March will be devoted to moving machinery and equipment from the present Oakland assembly building to the new structure which is similar in all details to the model assembly building of the Pontiac Six.

Keeping step with the growing demand for Oakland and Pontiac Sixes, W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales, has expanded the field organization through the establishment on March 1st of additional district offices at Milwaukee and Washington, D. C. The Oakland Motor Car company now has 24 district offices, said to be the second largest district office group maintained by any automobile company. This expansion follows on the heels of a January enlargement of the sales organization when Mr. Tracy opened regional offices at New York, Cleveland, Atlanta, Chicago, San Francisco and Kansas City, besides increasing the size and personnel of all district offices.

Dairy Play at Merrow

Mr. Ivan F. Wilcox, local grain dealer, has been successful in obtaining for the people of Merrow the dairy play "Joe Guess Runs a Boarding House". This is a laughable and instructive play by four actors about successful methods in dairying and was part of the program at the national dairy show held in Memphis, Tenn. Everything is free and all are cordially invited to be on hand at 8 p. m. sharp, Monday at the Masonic hall, Merrow, Conn.

"Burton's Agency Sells Another"

Miss Catherine Collins has sold a nine room house located at No. 44 Union street to Paul P. and Ann E. Colande of No. 44 Williams street, this city.

The new owners have purchased the property for an investment.

The sale was negotiated through the real estate agency of Mrs. Rosa E. Burton.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre

Today will be the last opportunity to see the big mid-winter carnival at the Palace theatre and those who have not already done so should not miss this opportunity of seeing one of the best shows ever put on in Norwich.

The Zane Grey picture "Under the Tonto Rim" is the picturization of this famous author's latest novel. It is a thrilling story of the west in the days of the gold strike. Brimful of action, romance and comedy, against a background of strikingly beautiful mountain scenery.

The vaudeville program is an exceptional one. Never has such applause been heard at the Palace as had greated each act during this engagement and the comedy afterpiece fairly taken the house by storm at each performance. All in all it's a mighty good show and the fact that the theatre has been crowded at every performance is ample proof that it has been appreciated by Norwich theatre goers.

"Sorrell and Son" has been acclaimed everywhere it has been shown as one of the finest, if not the very finest, pictures produced during the past five years.

Don't miss "Sorrell and Son".

The long-awaited screen version of that novel of father-and-son devotion which has been read by hundreds of thousands of readers throughout the world, will have its local premiere at the Palace theatre on Sunday, and it is easily ranked among the year's five best pictures. In many ways it is the most absorbing achievement in cinema realism ever made.

Brilliant direction, acting so real that the eminent players seem to be living their roles, fine settings—including historic spots in England, where much of the story was filmed—and flawless photography combine to create what is nearly the ultimate in entertainment.

H. B. Warner, playing his first part since "The King of Kings," Anna Q. Nilsson, Alice Joyce, Nils Asther, Carmel Myers, Mary Nolan, Norman Trevor, Betsy Ann Hisle are some of the artists who share honors in the picturization of Warwick Deeping's novel.

"Sorrell and Son" is a story of father love and son devotion, a story of England during the post-war period, when heroes came home, only to find their peacetime jobs appropriated by stay-at-homes, and facing the necessity of working in the most menial tasks to support themselves and their families.

"Captain Stephen Sorrell" was one of these heroes; not only was his job gone when he returned to London after the armistice, but his wife was faithless. Left with a young son as his wife deserts him for a wealthy profiteer, "Sorrell" works as a hotel porter in order to educate the lad and give him a chance in life.

Sorrell and Son will be shown on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday afternoon and evening and on Wednesday in the afternoon only as St. Mary's play will be the attraction at the Palace Wednesday night.

Forty Thousand Miles With Lindbergh is the title of the thrilling three reel film that will be shown as an extra added attraction with Sorrell and Son. It's the actual motion pictures of Lindy's daring achievements.

More thrilling, more dramatic than any screen story ever written! Never in all history has the world known anything to compare with the daring and success of the "Lone Eagle" perhaps never again. Perhaps never again will such amazing motion pictures be possible. For at last you can fly with Lindy to Paris, to Belgium, to London; you can join the millions that have cheered him abroad, in every state in the union and on his latest trip throughout Latin America. Don't miss the actual motion pictures of the most amazing scenes in history!

Breed Theatre

A Mardi Gras and Venetian celebration combined can't be more picturesque and colorful than the circus background that figures in "The Life of Riley," the riotous film comedy co-featuring George Sidney and Charlie Murray, coming to the Breed theatre tomorrow night for a three day's run.

Elephants and camels, wild men and bearded women, clowns and hula girls in this sequence vie with a carload of fireworks, exploding among the principle players, a riot and a village fire, and many other comedy elements, in providing laughs and thrills.

Rural comedy has in the past been considered natural mirth material, but in combination with such "exotic" thrills it is doubly effective in "The Life of Riley."

The famous comics of stage and screen, Sidney and Murray, are characterized as rural town fire chief and police chief, respectively, and Sam Hardy, Myrtle Stedman, June Marlowe, Stephen Carr, Edwards Davis and Bert Woodruff have interesting supporting roles. E. M. Asher produced the comedy for First National Pictures and it was directed by William Beaudine.

The story of "The Life of Riley" was written especially for Sidney and Murray by Mann Page, noted playwright and photoplay author, and Howard J. Green adapted it. Curtis Benton wrote the continuity. What ingenious comedy business the trio of noted authors overlooked, Comedy Constructor Jack Mintz injected during the filming of the picture.

Strand Thatre

Showing on Sunday night only at the Strand is "The Fighting Cub" a real interesting story of newspaper life. The story is good and there is not a dull moment throughout it. The splendid cast of players help to make this thrill-o-minute drama, a picture that you ought not miss. Included in the cast are such artists as Pat O'Malley, Mary Carr, Wesley Barry, Mildred Harris, George Fawcett, Walter Long, Ann May and Stuart Holmes. It is a little different from the ordinary run of action pictures, and has many surprises in store for you.

"Three Bad Men" is a William Fox presentation, and is a mighty fine picture, of courage and daring. It is a screen picturization of Herman Whittaker's novel, "Over the Border." It is acted by a clever group of players, each one a star. George O'Brien and Olive Borden play the leading roles and have the support of Lou Tellegen, J. Farrell McDonald, Frank Campeau, Priscilla Bonner and Alec B. Francis. "The Prairie Beauties" play an important part in this photoplay and are certainly worth seeing. There is plenty of good comedy and thrills in this, that the boys and girls will enjoy, so bring the entire family and enjoy these pictures at our popular low prices.

RIVERVIEW SOUGHT FOR STATE LEAGUE

The Riverview club of the Norwich State hospital has been invited to a meeting at Meriden Monday night for the purpose of taking first steps toward formation of a state semi-pro baseball league. The meeting is being held under the auspices of the Meriden New Departure team, better known as the Meriden Endees.

Other teams expected to be present and to whom invitations have been sent are Bristol Endees, New Britain Falcons, Meriden Insilcos, Wallingford, Torrington and others. An eight team loop is the plan.

Such a league, properly conducted, would probably fill a big place in the sporting world. Riverview has long been playing these state teams and several mighty f

NORWICH DOINGS 75 YEARS AGO

A meeting of the stockholders of the proposed new hotel for the city was held in the city 75 years ago. After some discussion things were smoothed out and that the enterprise seems to be well underway was the consensus of those present. There was found to be a shortage of more than $2,000 of stock subscriptions for the sum required but this was raised at the meeting to complete the whole amount of stock required—$40,000. Work on Tufts college was to be started soon and the institution was expected to open the fall of 1854.

The following are extracts from the files of the Norwich Evening Courier:

Tuesday, March 8, 1853—There will be a meeting of the stockholders and all interested in the erection of a new hotel, at the railroad office, on Thursday afternoon, the 10th inst., at 3 o'clock. The meeting is one of great importance, and it is hoped that there will be a full attendance. We take great pleasure in being able to add, that the stock subscription has reached a point which leaves no longer a doubt of the entire success of the enterprise. We shall very soon see the work underway.

The new Tufts college, to be erected partly in Somerville and partly in Medford, Mass., will soon be underway. The principal college building will be 100 feet by 60. The institution will probably open in the fall of 1854.

Rev. Alvin Brown, pastor of the Congregational church at Grass hill, Lyme, Ct., died recently while on a journey to Middletown.

The Toledo Blade learns that a severe fire occurred at Tecumseh, Mich., on the night of the 15th ult. Fifteen shops, stores and dwellings were consumed. Loss estimated at $45,000—$15,000 or $20,000 covered by insurance.

Thursday, March 10, 1853—The Pequot house, New London, is to be opened this year, for a summer resort, by H. S. Crocker, late of the Stafford Springs House.

The Free Soilers of this congressional district held a convention in this city today, for the selection of a candidate for congress. We learn, as our paper goes to press, that they have nominated A. G. Stark of Groton.

A convention of the Whigs in the city yesterday named Nathaniel O. Kellogg of Vernon as lieutenant governor on the state ticket in place of Thos. Fitch, Esq., of New London, declined.

Last Saturday afternoon a train of 40 loaded freight cars was thrown from the track of the Lawrence (Mass.) railroad—part of them down an embankment of 20 feet. The freight conductor was badly injured.

Saturday, March 12, 1853—At a meeting of the stockholders of the new hotel, on Thursday last, it appeared, upon examination of the books that the amount of stock subscriptions yet fell short somewhat more than $2,000 of the sum requisite. Thereupon, a proposition was made and carried into effect, to raise the amount required, on the spot. The thing was promptly done. The whole stock, $40,000, having thus been subscribed, a committee, consisting of Messrs. L. F. S. Foster, Charles Osgood and H. H. Osgood, was appointed to prepare and report articles of association, a name for the hotel, etc., at an adjourned meeting of the stockholders at the treasurer's office of the Norwich and Worcester railroad this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Thus, the enterprise is, at length, fairly underway.

The receipts of the Norwich and Worcester railroad for the first three weeks show about 40 percent increase. On the Michigan Southern they are also very largely in advance of last year.

It is with great pleasure, that we are enabled to announce to our readers, the completion of Mr. Holmes undertaking, and to say that that gentleman is now in our city, ready to supply subscribers, and all others who may desire to purchase, with a copy of the best pictures ever yet taken of Norwich.

Morgan W. Brown, U. S. district judge in Tennessee, died in Nashville, on Monday last.

GALES FERRY

A preliminary meeting of the recently organized Fire District was held Tuesday evening in the Country club house. Walter L. Clark, the clerk presiding. Prof. Chester E. Dimick, secretary, read the call for the meeting. The assessment of property and its re-valuation was discussed. On motion of Walter M. Buckingham the second Monday evening in April the 9th was named, as the date of the first annual meeting when permanent organization will be effected and tax levied temporary. The officers are Walter T. Clark, clerk, Prof. Chester E. Dimick treasurer, Arthur O. Faford, collector.

The March meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. Nelson Parker, Tuesday afternoon, the president Mrs. George H. Wright presiding. The meeting opened with singing hymn "What a Friend," Mrs. Rufus W. Hurlbutt, at the piano. The devotions were conducted by Mrs. Henry W. Hurlbutt. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Fanny A. Molthrop. The treasurer Mrs. C. E. Colver read her report. Mrs. C. Alton Chapman mite box secretary, was charge of the mite box opening, which yielded $11.64. Mrs. J. A. Birch received renewals for the Woman's Home Missions. Mrs. Jerome Greer received the chapter, The Task of Our Generation, in the study book, Reading, Uncle Honer and Aunt Sally, was by Mrs. Colver. The enigmas were conducted by Mrs. Hurlbutt, and the numbers were attached to St. Patrick day cards, Mrs. John Harold prepared the program. A social hour followed and the hostess served shrimp salad, mint jello with whipped cream, wafers and tea. She was assisted by Mrs. Rufus W. Hurlbutt and Mrs. R. Irving Hurlbutt.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeRusha their daughter Helen and son Joseph, motored to Newport, R. I., Friday. They will be guests at the home of Mrs. DeRusha's brother, Hugh Murray and family there over St. Patrick's day, and in the evening will attend a St. Patrick play "Pulse of My Heart" in St. Augustine's church, in which Mr. Murray has a leading part.

Miss Sarah T. Latimer was the guest of Mrs. W. Welles Lyman of Palmertown, to motor to Hartford Tuesday.

CELEBRATE CORNER ANNIVERSARY

Dear Editor and Social Corner Friends: Another milestone in the annals of Social Corner meetings was passed on March 7th, when 97 members and friends from different clubs met at the Buckingham Memorial. Every club was represented but No. 4. They came from Westerly, Stonington, Griswold, Ledyard, Willimantic, Franklin, Jewett City and way stations. A cheery crowd with a pleasant word and greetings for all. The anniversary of the first meeting of the Social Corner was at the Willimantic camp ground, at the home of Married and Happy. Five of the charter members were present. Crimson Rambler, Maylare and Aunty No. 1 were three of the number. J. E. T. was another member but sorry to say she was not with us. Lucky was to have been hostess but was not able to be at the meeting. Aunty No. 1 kindly took her place and with Prudence (who is a host by herself), Molly Larkin, Rhoda, Alta, Stub and others served a dinner that lacked neither in quantity or quality. The sisters were very generous. The delicious cake and pie, especially mince, was very appetizing. We sang Blest Be the Tie That Binds Our Hearts in Christian Union, which seemed very appropriate for the day. Those of you that were not there missed a wonderful treat in not hearing our program. Black-eyed Susan at the piano gave us two solos. Mrs. Manning, our gifted reader, gave us several readings, Mrs. Barney Learning to Skate, George Washington, The Apple, The Mustard Plaster, and others, which were greatly enjoyed by all. We gave her a rising vote of thanks for her kindness in helping with the program. The Friendly Voice gave humorous readings "Prudence read about "up to date Mary," Snowflake, the friend around the corner. Another sister read about a vision. Calamity Jane told us what happened in 1492. Aunty No. 1 read the history of the Social Corner for 13 years, which was very interesting. So many have passed to the "Great Beyond," but we have not forgotten them. Have pleasant memories of those we were privileged to know. Who could forget Aunt Mary, Grandmother H., Married and Happy, Bitar Barber and our dear Kasha. Sympathize with Tronia in the loss of her sister, and others who are in trouble and mourning the loss of dear one. Best wishes for all Social Corner friends.

RECIPES BY ERVILLA

Dear Editor and Social Corner Members: I see by last Saturday's paper in the Social Corner news that the members of Club No. 6 did not write very often. I thought I would write and tell you I haven't been to many meetings this winter, but my mind was there, if I wasn't. I look forward to them even when I can't go. Now I am sending some recipes that are very easy to make and very nice, and trust you all will try them and let me know how you all like them. They are as follows:

Grapenut Gelatine: One package of lemon Jello dissolved in one pint hot water. Let cool a little, then add one cup grapenuts, 1-2 cup sugar, 1-2 cup raisins, 1-2 cup dates and 6 English walnuts, cut fine; stir all together and then set in icebox to set. Serve with whipped cream and cherry.

Pineapple Marshmallow Fluff: One pound of marshmallows cut in small pieces, 1 can of pineapple, drain off juice; make a layer of pineapple, then of marshmallows, and fill dish. Then set in a cool place to set, whip up 1-2 pint cream and stir in or use it on top with a cherry. This is very nice for an afternoon tea, and so easy to make.

To make a very nice filling for sandwiches, take half a can of pineapple and strain off juice. Then add 1-2 pound of cream cheese and a small can of cherries, cut fine. Stir all this together and spread on white bread. Very nice and tasty.

I trust the members will try these and see if they don't taste good.

Regards to all the members.

ERVILLA (Club No. 6).

HOW PEN NAME WAS CHOSEN

Dear Social Corner: I saw where Ann Tenna was telling of where and how her pen name was originated, and she would like to see letters from others telling about their pen names. I thought it was a fine idea, so am telling of mine.

I joined in December, my birthday also being in that month. I took the abbreviation of December, then added the letter e. Then I had the name Dece.

"Well, how do you all like the snow storm? It's the first time this winter that Mr. Dece has had to shovel out our driveway. Was writing to my father (he is out in California, in the Mojave desert) last week and bragging because we had only had one heavy snow storm. You see it doesn't pay to brag. Let is hope, anyway, that this is the last one of this winter.

Lilac Lady: Have you learned to drive an auto any better now? So you can turn the wheel, anyhow.

Gingham Girl: I have looked and looked in vain for you to come up. Are you looking for the mumps, too?

Bittersweet: How are you this winter? I hardly know you as you passed me on the hill in your car.

Gypsy Wanda: Heard you have been ill. Hope you are better.

Won't some more sisters tell us about their pen names?

DECE (Club No. 4).

LIVED AT WOODCHUCK HILL

Dear Editor and Social Corner Members: Well, hello, one and all. It is a long time since I have written a letter for the Corner page. Well, Tafts, I see that you went to the same school I did when I lived in Canterbury, at Woodchuck hill, but not at the same time, I think.

Mr. Frank Smith's sister was the school teacher at the time I went to school there. What farm did you live on at Woodchuck hill?

My father's farm was at the foot of Woodchuck hill. I moved away from the farm about eight years ago. How long ago did you go around there?

L. P. H.: I was very much interested in your letter. How well I remember Mr. Frank Smith's mill. Many a time I went all over it.

Windham Blue Bell: So you are making quilts and rugs. I am making them, too, but my rugs are hook rugs.

Black-eyed Susie: I went past your place three or four times last summer, but could not see you.

Best wishes to all, from

FOR-GET-ME-NOT.

THANKS MEMBERS FOR GIFT

Dear Social Corner Editor: I again take up my pen as I wish to thank the sisters who so kindly remembered me with the little filled box from the last meeting held in Putnam.

Sister Aries: I thank you for your kind letter and card which I received. No, I have not been able to attend any of the club meeting since I became a member, owing to the care of a member who has been ill for three years.

But March 4th he passed away. God came and took away his pain and suffering of the weary body.

Sister Fan Tan: Thanks to you for the kind card of sympathy in the hour of sorrow.

Hoping all those in sickness or trouble may find hope and comfort in Him above.

THISTLE. (Club 4.)

SOCIAL CORNER EVENTS

March 21—Meeting of Club No. 3 at home of Mrs. Albert Wheaton, near Lebanon Center.

FINE TIME AT CLUB ANNIVERSARY

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: We certainly had a fine time at Club No. 1's anniversary party last Wednesday. Such a dinner and so much of it. Just about everything that anyone could want or think of wanting.

This is my first meeting since becoming a "yellow ribboner" and I enjoyed it immensely. A splendid program in charge of California Girl was carried out mostly by invited guests and all happened to be Methodists.

The mock marriage was heartily received by the audience.

It is fun finding out people's pen names although some have them pinned on. Was interested to hear how Ann Tenna acquired her pen name. Had thought she was a radio enthusiast and took it from the part by that name.

I presume there will be a number of letters this week because of the anniversary so I will close and leave space for others.

EVA'S GIRL.

TAFTS SURMISES WERE CORRECT

Dear Social Corner Editor: I would like to say to Tafts in answer to her questions in the Social Corner Saturday, March 10, that her surmises were correct. In most of his parishes my father held services Sunday afternoons in nearby schoolhouses. I remember the one near Hanover. We were there when T. K. Peck lived next to the schoolhouse. His teaching days were past. If Tafts would write me, care of the bulletin, I will be glad to answer.

A good hot supper dish is corn chowder. My recipe is:

Corn Chowder: 1-4 lb. fat salt pork, 2 large white onions, 1 pt. corn cut from ear, or 1 can of corn, 1 pt. diced raw potatoes, salt, pepper. Chop pork and onions fine, put into deep kettle, cook 10 minutes without browning; add potatoes with enough boiling water to cover, cook 10 minutes add corn, salt and pepper, simmer 15 minutes longer. Add white sauce, 1 pt. milk, 1 tablespoon butter, 1-2 tablespoon flour. Serve hot.

On cold washing days it is a help to warm the clothespins in the oven. It keeps the hands from being chilled while putting out the clothes.

D. G. J.

SENDS SEVERAL GOOD RECIPES

Dear Social Corner Editor and Social Corner Sisters: That was a wonderful history one of the members of the Corner wrote about the anniversary of the Corner and a very large membership. All the letters are so very interesting and so many interesting topics. I do mean to write oftener, but find myself unable to do so as my think-tank some times refuses to act, but I have some recipes that some one may like to try.

Brown Bread No. 1: 2 1-2 cups rye meal, 1 1-2 cups Indian meal, 1-2 cup molasses, 2 1-2 cups sour milk, 1 teaspoon soda, pinch of salt, mix soft and steam 3 hours, then place in oven to dry off about 1-2 hour.

Brown Bread No. 2: 1 qt. Indian meal, 1-2 cup molasses, 1-2 pt. rye meal, 1 qt. cold sweet milk, salt to taste, 1 teaspoon soda, steam 3 hours.

Now here are two steamed puddings that some one may like to try:

Sweet Pudding—1 cup chopped suet, 1 cup molasses, 1 cup sweet milk, 1 cup of raisins, one of currants, 3 1-2 cups of flour, one teaspoon of cinnamon, clove and nutmeg, 1 teaspoon of soda, salt to taste, mix all together adding flour last and steam three hours. Serve with hard sauce or whipped cream.

Poor Man's Pudding: 1 cup milk, 2 cups of bread crumbs, 1 cup molasses, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon of soda, 3 tablespoons of flour, 1 cup of raisins, 1-2 teaspoon of clove and cinnamon, stir in flour last and salt to taste. Steam 2 or 3 hours. Serve with whipped cream.

Congratulate those who received the blue slip last. Sincere best wishes for the sick and shut-ins.

We should all say three cheers to the Social Corner Editor for the liberal space he allowed the writers in the Saturday issue of the daily paper and the comfort and help it brings to so many interested readers, and with the large membership, we should keep the page full.

With greetings and best wishes to all I remain as ever,

ECLIPSE.

GREETINGS FROM GOLDEN GLOW

Dear Social Corner Editor It is time that I wrote again to let the Corner club No. 2 know what a good time and lovely dinner we had and I thank them all for their kindness. They were all so good to those that were on a diet and I was one of them.

It was so nice to see so many members from all other clubs and to have them with us on our 13th anniversary. I was one that joined that day at Aunt Abby's.

Unome and Gracious: I was glad to see you that day.

U. C. E.: Next time I go your way I will stop and take you on my journey. I can go only when my good neighbor let's her husband drive the boss's car for me.

I will be glad when spring is here and the mud is gone.

Queen Elisabel: I will try to be home the next time you and your family arrive.

GOLDEN GLOW.

COCOA CAKE

Dear Editor: I have attended several of the Social Corner meetings; had a glorious good time; should like to join the Corner and Club No. 2.

I am sending a recipe for

Cocoa Cake: Two eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup sour cream, 1 level teaspoon soda, 1 1-2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3 or 4 tablespoons Walter Baker cocoa, 1 teaspoon nutmeg or vanilla if desired, little salt.

I will take for my pen name

BUDDY.

ANSWERS AND INQUIRIES

BUDDY: Your name has been listed as a Corner member.

PRACTICAL POLLY: Thank you. It must be a delightful region.

CLUB NO. 2: Many thanks. A much enjoyed treat.

CLUB NO. 1: Many thanks. Just as fine as it looked.

CONSTANT READER OF CORNER PAGE

Dear Social Corner Members: It was quite a surprise to me on Saturday to see Old Glory floating on the Corner page for the 13th anniversary. I was not aware that it was so near at hand or I should have added my mite with other writers. Well time flies. It waits for no man or woman unless she is waiting for a car for a pleasure trip. Ever since the Social Corner was born in 1910 I have been a constant reader of the Corner page. It seems like one of my own family and we look for the Corner page as eagerly as the girl who is sure of a box of chocolates on Sunday evening. Little did I think when I began to write for the Corner page with only six writers in 1910, that there would be about 2000 writers in 1936. With many good features of the Social Corner it is very evident that a good thing will live and grow. Much credit is due to the crop of young writers who are keeping the page full of interesting letters. How times have changed since 1910! We now have the radio and find it a good entertainer in many ways. Perhaps all of the Corner members do not have a radio and I will give them a few jokes I have heard recently over the wire from our good loud speaker radio. I know a story about a stained glass window. Tell us the story. No you couldn't see through it. Heard the news Bill? No. The jury gave a woman $9000 for the loss of a thumb. Why did they give her so much money? It was the thumb she kept her husband under.

Hoping the Social Corner will be read with pleasure long after the old writers have passed out, we will say to the faithful new writers: So let the wide world wag as it will; the Corner page will be happy still.

With best wishes to the well members and much sympathy for those who are ill and in trouble. From your old friend.

RURAL DELIVERY (Club No. 2)

WHAT OLD MEMORIES DISCLOSE

Dear Social Corner Editor: Johnny Cake's letter stirred up old memories as she described the Nipmuck trail from Hanover to Fort Ned. The first house on the left that she mentioned was once owned by Luther Fuller. His wife, Polly, was my great aunt. Up the road is where Deacon David Allen lived with his father, Enoch Allen, whose wife was another great aunt of mine.

Going to Smith's Mills and from there towards the town corners near where Nelson Lyon used to live, we come to where there used to be a house on the left. It is there where I attended the first funeral that I can remember. The next house at the top of a steep hill is where Ichabod Smith lived with his son, Asahel Smith. A few rods to the the east is a turn to the right and down through the woods is where Pratt Allen lived with his son Alexander Allen. Pratt Allen married another of my great aunts. The house was burned several years ago.

Coming back to the turn and going east a few rods we come to a lane at the left that leads up to where the writers lived for five generations. Going on east from the lane a few rods is where the old school house used to be. Still going east from the school house is where Horace Allen lived. The next house east is where the Sheldons lived and later Mr. Bennett. The next house was on the corner where William Lyon lived. The first house south from the corner is where Washington Lyon and later Nelson Lyon lived. East from the corner up in the pasture is an old cemetery. North from the corner is where Elias Williams lived.

I watched with Mr. Williams in his last sickness.

I guess I have gone far enough in my journey.

Can you guess who the old timer is?

OLD TIMER.

HULETTOWN.

Dear Social Corner Members and Editor: Just a few lines to the Corner. I was much surprised Saturday to find it was the 13th anniversary of the Corner. There have been many nice letters; a number of them telling about places and old houses which interest me.

There were some verses about the old Hulet saw mill, which was in a little country place called Hulettown, or nom Mashentuck. Of all the families that used to live there only one is left that I know. Most of them are dead and gone.

The King David spoken of in the poem was Knight Kles, the baker was Elisha Baker, the merchant was Isaac Hutchins, the peddler was Horace Davis. The Hulet place was sold to William Burgess and Joel Hulet left for the west.

The poem was written by Cyril Rounds, who lived near South Killingly.

G. A. C. K. asked about Dark Lantern hill. I have heard my grandfather tell many times that it used to be so dark there because the trees met over the road and that hill was so steep that there were many hold-ups there. They used to flash dark lanterns in the people's faces. Also another bad place was the Waterman woods.

I selected my pen name because I make artificial flowers. It cost me 10 cents an hour to learn, which included the paper, cloth and wax, nearly 30 years ago.

Here's a nice recipe for lemon pie:

Lemon Pie: One quart of boiling water, four tablespoons cornstarch dissolved in a little cold water, stir till it comes clear. Then add two eggs, beaten, piece of butter size of egg, juice and rind of two lemons, two cups sugar. Set away to cool and put into crusts which have been baked separately.

Best wishes to all members, the sick and shutins.

WINNING SUCCESS IN THE WEST

Dear Social Corner Members and Editor: I have been having the pleasure of enjoying a visit from a cousin of mine, who has been in this section a few weeks from Arizona, back again among his own people and home town. He left here 22 years ago at the age of 16. This young man got anxious to see the world, joined a circus outfit and set out. After seeing some of the states and many cities, he left the outfit and being fond of cattle and horses, worked his way to the western territory and arrived in Arizona where he settled down and took up a homestead of 640 acres of government land at the foot of Mt. Trumbull. This is situated in the north western part of Arizona close of the General Canyon. The silver Colorado wends its way through his land and flows into the gulf of California. His nearest town is St. George, over the boundaries in Utah. Mails in that section are delivered twice a week. He is also close to the Hurricane valley and the Colorado washout, where wild horses come in great droves to drink. Now and then a buffalo drifts in. He informs me that wild horses are as plentiful in Nevada, Utah, Colorado and Arizona as ever and a great sport is to try and shoot one when they have a stampede.

The C. L. ranch is near Mt. Trumble and today employs many cowpunchers.

The climate there is very mild and dry. Fruit trees are shining full bloom. Alfalfa now is standing some 12 inches high, which is extensively grown along with corn. A cowpuncher receives $90 a month with his board.

While Mr. Whipple has been east visiting relatives and boyhood chums he says many changes have been found, but he would not exchange Arizona for Connecticut. During his stay east, he has been presented with an automobile and will make the trip home by auto, going from here to New York, taking the Pennsylvania highway, then into the Lincoln highway, which is known to many who own autos. By doing this he will visit many cities of interest and upon arriving back to his home and family the branding season will set in. This young man shows you how a boy at 16 started out to see the world and found the golden west without money. Today he owns 880 acres of homestead land in the state of Arizona. I am wondering how many of our young men of today have the nerve and backbone to tackle such an undertaking.

Soma, Mt. Misery, is located so any one can drive almost to the foot of it and can be observed by any one who drives along our streets. The winds this winter have removed the famous "lone tree," but the devil's chair still graces the top of the mountain.

NORWICH RECIUES

Dear Sisters: These recipes are original and are pronounced the best ever by all who have sampled them.

Norwich Never Fail Omelet: Beat whites of 4 eggs so you can invert bowl. Beat yolks of 4 eggs three minutes, add 4 tablespoons of water (cold), ¼ teaspoon salt, white pepper, a pinch, and a speck of black pepper. Fold in egg whites with spatula. Pour into hot spider or omelet pan. Be sure it is well buttered and very hot. Let stand on hot stove or gas range one minute, then set in hot oven 5½ minutes or until brown. Try it and if it is not quite brown enough let stay one minute longer. It is a mass of fluff. Serve with Spanish sauce.

Norwich Haddock Chowder: Have 6 onions peeled and sliced, put over to boil in one quart of water. Boil until onions are soft, then strain. Slice 5 medium potatoes, boil these in the onion water until well done. Add 3 pints of milk and cream mixed. Salt and pepper to taste. Set one side. Clean and cut up 3 pounds of haddock, wash clean, place in kettle and boil until you can pick the fish off the bones. Strain, add fish water to potato, also fish, ¼ pound butter, 1 level teaspoon sugar, 8 hard breads to soften. This recipe makes nine pints. Serve hot.

Norwich Never Fail Biscuit: Sift 2 cups flour, 3 teaspoons of baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar. Sift three times. Work in two tablespoons shortening and one teaspoon glycerine. Mix with ¾ cup of milk. This makes 20 biscuits (small). Bake in hot oven 12 minutes.

Norwich Corn Bread: 3-4 cup yellow meal, 1¼ cups wheat flour, 3-4 cup of sugar, 4 teaspoons of baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, sifted 4 times. Stir in one cup of nut meats, put through chopper, add to this 1½ cups of milk with one egg beaten up in the milk. Mix all together thoroughly. Place in baking pan; put in hot oven and bake from 15 to 20 minutes.

In case of emergency, remember that two teaspoons of creamtartar and one of soda (scant), equal three teaspoons of baking powder.

Remember that one scant teaspoon of sugar in your showder in as great improvement.

Remember that cold water will make your omelet lighter than milk.

Remember if you beat your egg up in the milk you mix corn bread with your corn bread will be lighter and, that sifting the sugar will make it much lighter.

PICKLED EGGS

Dear Editor and Friends: Well, March did come in like a roaring lion, but hope it goes out like a lamb. But won't spring be gratefully received when it does get here!!

Did any of you ever pickle eggs? They are fine. Boil them hard and remove the shell. Put them in a jar and pour vinegar over them. Let them stand until they are pickled through. They are very nice.

To freshen cold biscuits, doughnuts or cookies put them in a tight paper bag; then twist the end tightly. Put them in the oven a few minutes. They come out as fresh as when first baked.

Keziah Doolittle: Many thanks for the invitation. Just wait until another snow comes and tell 1492 to be all ready.

Peggy Alder: Hope you are feeling a lot better. Will come and see you as soon as I am able to get over there.

Aries: Hope you don't get much of these winds down there.

L. T. H.: Just received your welcome letter. Will answer it soon.

Johnny on the Spot: Sorry you could not finish the year but the fresh air and sunshine will improve your health.

Ann Tenna: So glad your cold is better.

Caro: When it comes a nice day just take a trip down the hill and stop at the cottage near the smithy and make a call. I extend my heartfelt sympathy to all in sickness and trouble.

GREETINGS FROM LEAH

Dear Cornerites: I must say first what a wonderful day to attend such a happy united family as Club No. 2 was. Surely some crowd, and such a lot of good eats I know some of us had to take an indigestion tablet after eating so many good things. Would have liked to stay for the entertainment, but I simply had to eat and run, so as to get a car for the hospital, as sister expects me daily, and I would not want to disappoint her. It does make one feel so gay and happy to meet so many old and new members and have a little chat. It gives you thoughts to think of until the next meeting.

Also Club No. 5 had a very large gathering and a wonderful entertainment. The history of the Social Corner was very interesting as read by Aunty No. 1.

Windham Blue Bell: Thanks very much for birthday card. Wish I could have dropped in at your anniversary.

Black-eyed Susie: Gloria wanted me to tell you how pleased she was to hear your mother was doing so nicely. She surely will be pleased to leave the hospital and once more join the social gatherings of the club.

Best wishes to all shut-ins.

LEAH.

ANTICIPATING SPRING

Dear Social Corner Sisters and Friends: I will write a few lines as I have not written for a long while. I enjoy our Social Corner page. We have some very fine letters there well worth reading. I am glad that the winter will soon be gone and spring will be here. I love to hear the robins and the other birds sing. We all have more ambition then to do things. We all had a pleasant time Wednesday, the 7th, at our club and a fine dinner, well served, as usual. We all enjoyed the many pleasant times this winter in various ways. Hope to see you all in due time at our meetings. Kind remembrances to all the shutins.

TECOMA (Club No. 5)

SUGGESTS MEETING OF ALL MEMBERS

Dear Social Corner Members: I thought I must write a few lines as it has been quite a while since I have written. As the editor says the Corner is just what we make it, I wish I could write good interesting letters as some can. We all are not gifted alike, but if we try to do our best that is all we can do. I was very glad to see the page full and running over. I often think what a hard job the editor must have each week to sort over so many letters and choose the best ones. I think he makes a wise choice every time and think we all should give him a vote of thanks for his efforts. Speaking about the 13th anniversary, I thought how nice it would be some time this summer if we could call a meeting in some grove where there was lots of room and invite all the members, including the editor. What a gathering that would be and we could have a basket lunch. I think it would be one grand and glorious time. I wonder what the sisters think about it? With automobiles so plenty, I think we could manage about transportation. Perhaps my suggestion won't be favorable, but let us hear later regarding it.

Well, the winter is fast wearing away. It won't be long before we will hear the birds singing and everything will take on a new aspect.

I don't see any lonesome hours with the radio. It is certainly a great blessing, especially to the shut-ins. You can sit in your old armchair and hear some fine programs. I was glad to see a letter in the Corner from Happy Go Lucky, but he didn't mention Johnny Cake.

Historian: Do wake up and write a few lines. Haven't heard from you in some time. I will send in a good recipe. It is:

Fruit Cookies: Two small cups of sugar, 2 eggs beaten light, 1 cup shortening (1-2 butter, 1-2 lard), 1 cup seeded raisins chopped fine, 1 large tablespoon of chopped citron, a pinch of salt, 1-2 cup of milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 teaspoon soda, a small teaspoon baking powder, sufficient flour to make a moderately soft dough; roll out, cut into rounds and bake in rather a hot oven. These will keep indefinitely if packed in a closed jar.

Will close for this time, and don't forget to keep the heart singing all the while. Make the world brighter with a smile. With best wishes to all.

RURAL AUNTY, April 10 (Club No. 4).

KEEP THE GOOD WORK UP

Dear Social Corner Editor and Corner Sisters: Looks as if everyone was trying to do his bit before housecleaning time by the looks of the letters in the papers the past few Saturdays. Let us keep the good work up.

Thought I'd let you know that Milksham has a birthday March 23d. She enjoys having cards, so let us send her a few. She is a friend of my mother's and her daughter and I have been friends for years also.

Have been sewing lately. Been making two of my sons some new panties and the baby has to have a new spring coat, which means I still have some work to do. Find quite a little time hanging on my hands now, as I only have three rooms and a bath to keep clean.

In this big town I'm in now I have been trying to get acquainted. A couple of weeks ago I took the children for a walk and looked for the library. We went up a steep hill and it was no joke pushing a stroller and a boy hanging on to each side of the handle. We finally located the library, but one has to be partly educated here as they have it at the top of the building "Literature." Good thing I wasn't near-sighted or I might have missed it. Nevertheless when I did get inside it was lovely and the librarian was as pleasant as she could be, so I felt repaid for my tedious climb.

See Club No. 6 is getting a lot of new members. Wonder if I know any of them?

Phuller Phun: Where are you these days? Aren't you going to let me know who you are? I've changed my pen name so possibly you won't remember me.

Hope all the sick are on the road to recovery and those in trouble may soon see the silver lining.

IVANI.

PLANS FOR WESTERLY MEETING

Dear Social Corner Members: I am back home from another enjoyable day spent at the Buckingham with Club No. 2 at its anniversary meeting. They certainly did things up fine. A splendid dinner was served with more than enough for all, as there was a quantity left over. Fine tea was served. The room was prettily decorated with yellow butterflies. I know every one enjoyed the entertainment, which was a playlet presented by several of the members, and such costumes and marvels in millinery were seen. Scottie also had the latest in an ear trumpet.

Now Club No. 6 was very well represented at both the meetings of Clubs No. 5 and 2, and we hope many of you will visit us at our anniversary meeting next Tuesday, the 20th, in Mechanics' hall, on Broad street, Westerly, opposite the public library. Dinner will be served promptly at 12 and there will be a short program in the afternoon, many of the charter members taking part.

Idaleane: Sorry you are ill. We have missed you.

Beth C.: Hope you will soon be better.

I know all of you who know Rebecca will sympathize with her in the loss of her husband.

WHERE TO SECURE PATTERNS

Dear Social Corner Sisters: Many thanks to Blue Baby and Sumac for information about hooked rugs.

Blue Baby: I have had circulars from a firm offering to send $7.50 worth of patterns, etc., to those who send $5 for membership in the Homecraft league, a Massachusetts firm, possibly the same one you refer to. I have a frame and hook for use with rags, so do not care to purchase a frame.

Has anyone ever tried the cotton yarn offered by a certain mail order house for that purpose?

It comes in different colors, at 36c a pound. I have never seen any of it. Did you ever use the hand machine? Do you ever use cotton rags such as chambray or calico?

RHODE ISLAND.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY RECIPES

Dear Corner Members: This being St. Patrick's day, I send a number of recipes for a real St. Patrick dinner.

Hibernian Chops: Have required number of chops, place in roaster, cover with milk, bake until cooked through, brown in butter in the frying pan, make a thickened gravy of the milk and roll the chops in parsley.

Shamrocks: Cut Neufchatel cheese and form into little rounds or leaf shaped like shamrocks. Roll them in finely chopped pistachio nut meats and decorate the middle of each leaf with an English nut meat.

Blarney Stones: Two cups rolled oats, 1-2 cup of cocoanut, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons of baking powder, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons of melted butter, a pinch of salt and 1-2 tablespoon of grated lemon rind.

Mix all together, adding well beaten eggs last. Drop by spoonful on greased paper and bake from 12 to 18 minutes. Remove from the paper when cold. Put a bit of candied fruit on each just before baking.

Irish Iceberg: Make lemon sherbet, color with leafgreen coloring and freeze. Over each serving pour one tablespoon of peppermint syrup and sprinkle with finely chopped nuts.

Fancy St. Patrick's Nuts: Dip almonds into fondant that has been colored green and let dry. Another way to prepare is to soak large seeded raisins in a little cooking sherry to plump them, insert a nut meat in them and dip in green colored fondant.

St. Patrick's Sandwiches: Two tablespoons each of finely chopped mint, also chopped parsley and chopped olives. Mix with your favorite dressing and spread between bread, cutting in the shape of shamrocks.

St. Patrick's Potato Candies: Freshly boil and mash enough potatoes to fill a teacup. Put through a sieve, for there must not be a lump in it. Stir in by degrees two pounds of confectioners' sugar. When the dough is firm enough to roll out, cut off part and flavor with almond and work in sufficient green coloring to give a soft shade. Make the size of hickory nut and press into each a blanched almond. Dust with granulated sugar. Another part flavor with rose, color a delicate pink. In each press either a filbert or almond. Brush with unbeaten egg and roll in shredded cocoanut.

Blarney Lozenges: 1 1-2 pounds of dates, 1-2 pound of figs, 1 tablespoon currant jelly, 1-2 pound raisins, 1-2 pound sliced citron, 1-2 cup powdered sugar.

Stone dates, pull figs apart and mix with dates and sliced citron. Run all through the meat chopper. Press firmly into shallow pan about 3-4 of an inch thick, cut into squares and roll in powdered sugar. These are especially good for the little ones.

COULD NOT ATTEND CLUB MEETING.

Dear Social Corner Members:—I had hoped to meet with the members of Club No. 1 Wednesday, but as it is impossible I will write a letter instead. Am glad that it was not a very cold day for the anniversary meeting.

As my mother has been ill all of the year so far, I have had very little time to write and no time to attend meetings, yet I have enjoyed reading the letters and think the Corner has improved greatly.

Cretia: I enjoyed your letter about Hampton, which brought back thoughts of your mother. I used to enjoy seeing her look up certain facts in her collection of diaries. She called us "her girls," when we boarded with her and attended normal school. I hope to call on you sometime if I have the opportunity.

Lavender: I hope to see you at some meeting before long if nothing happens to prevent.

Theoda: Am always pleased to see a letter from you and shall always remember your pleasant words of greeting, when I attend a circle meeting.

A good medicine for a cold consists of a level teaspoon of baking soda in a glass of hot water each three hours until three doses have been taken.

A NEW REFRESHMENT

Dear Sisters of the Corner: Tuesday was a lovely summer-like day and we enjoyed ourselves so much as we wended our way to the Buckingham. I had a dear friend with me and I think she enjoyed herself, too. She remarked that she had never heard of such an organization and that it must be the only one of its kind. Everyone was so friendly. It makes one appreciate the worth of friendship.

Friendly Voice: Our visit with you added very much to our pleasure. I came across that clipping and sure enough it had been a misprint and the date was set as the 14th. We would have been surprised to go and find closed doors. So glad we saw you.

I. J. B.: Didn't see you. Mother asked me for you.

Strawberry: Meant to get a word with you, but couldn't make it.

You sisters must have had lots of fun rehearsing for the little play. It was fine.

True Blue: Hope everything was O. K. when you arrived home.

I was at a gathering of friends the other evening and the refreshment that was served in sherbet glasses with whipped cream was so pleasing and so entirely different we wondered what it could be. The hostess asked what we thought it might be. It tasted like caramel. So we guessed brown sugar boiled in some certain way. Everything we guessed she said: "Easier than that." It proved to be condensed milk that had been boiled for three hours on top of the stove or in the oven in a pan of water and set out to thoroughly cool. It sounds odd, but you'd be surprised!

Best wishes to all.

CHELSEA.

ALEXANDER DESCENDANTS

Dear Editor of the Social Corner: I have received a letter from one who read my letter concerning the family of Harvey Alexander which gives some added information. I will note some of these facts.

Angeline Alexander married Dwight Ashbey of Mystic and except for a few years spent in Pennsylvania lived and died in Mystic. In May, 1878, they celebrated their silver wedding. One of their two sons is still living and in Pennsylvania.

Mary and Elizabeth (not Betsy) were twins. The former married C. C. Haskell, who carried on the publishing business after Henry Bill retired. She lives with or near her youngest son, a dentist, in Providence. Elizabeth married Albert Huntington (not Sam, who was his nephew). She is now cared for by her brother's daughter, Mrs. Dr. Culver, of Jersey City, N. J., spending her summers with the family at Harmony villa, Groton Long Point. The twins are nonogenarians, but so far as known in good health. There were also James and Horace Alexander. The former was a good dentist and died in Mystic some years ago. Horace died many years ago in Mystic as the result of an accident. William, the son of Mr. Alexander's second marriage, visited Mystic a few years ago, but has since died in the west.

ENJOYS SOCIAL CORNER LETTERS

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: I just want to tell you how I enjoy the Social Corner. I read it every week. I was very much interested in the letter from Jennie of Club No. 1, as I was born and lived quite a number of years within driving distance of Snipsic lake and have been there many times; also in Rockville. Now, Aries, I was born under that sign and am not tall, but have a scar on my cheek. I would like so much to meet with Club No. 6 on the 20th, but do not think I can. I hope to meet with you in the near future and get better acquainted with the sisters

Wishing you a pleasant day, and all that goes with it, I am yours truly.

NORTH STAR

CLUB NO. 3 MEETS MARCH 21

Social Corner Editor and Sisters: There will be a meeting of Club No. 3 at the home of Mrs. Albert Wheaton, one-half mile west of Lebanon Center, on March 21. Please bring plate, cup, knife, fork, spoon and something to eat. Come all and help make it a real Social Corner session. Remember the date and look for the yellow sign.

SHAMROCK.

CORNER PROMOTERS AND SUPPORTERS

Dear Social Corner Editor and Friends: I was interested in last week's letters, especially those telling of the first writers. No doubt they were correct, but they did not mention Aunt Mary. If I remember correctly she was the first woman who wrote a social or helpful letter for The Bulletin, and she had written several times when the editor invited others to write any helpful letters the mind might suggest, and $5 paid monthly as is now, but the best letter was $2.50, the second $1.50, and third $1. Some of the new members do not remember Aunt Mary, but the most of us do remember Delish Deal (who is still living) but who has for some time been unable to write, another promoter of the Corner who was an unusually good writer and an excellent woman. Dear Aunt Mary, I believe, is with all the saints who have gone on before, and cannot be forgotten here.

Theoda: I like the way you write and Aunty No. 1 is very interesting.

Red Wing: I was glad to see your name on the page again. Glad you are home.

Where are you, Little Sister, where I have been? Come on, let's make up for lost time.

Ann Tenna: I don't know you but I like your letters and if you like flowers as well as I do, we are sure to get acquainted. What do you say, I. J. B.?

I always wanted to see that Social Corner woodbox but never had a chance, and I suppose it has been used for kindlings long ago, hey Ready?

Kitty Lou: I'm awfully interested in those bells. My old papers have long since been burned up giving the date of my joining under the pen name of Prudy, but I think it was about 1914.

Now I'll say no more; will tell you something good next time, hoping you will all do your best, and with best wishes to the shut-ins, the long forgotten

CANTERBURY BELL (Club No. 2).

MANY KINDS OF RUGS

Dear Corner Folks: I meant to have gotten a letter in for the anniversary, but just missed it by a day; so now the anniversary is over, will try again. First I wish to thank True Blue, Interested Reader, E. L. H., Milky Way, Y. Y., Anastasia, Skipper, Sumac, and Estel for cards I received on March 5. Also thank True Blue, Interested Reader, Skipper, E. L. M. and B. R. G. for the lovely gifts they sent.

I think there will be a good many of the first writers heartily agree with Theoda if they will carefully read her recent letter and distinctly understand it. Theoda, it was well written and I hope they will do as you suggest. You see how quickly I am responding, Ha, ha! Was awfully glad to have met you on Wednesday; hope I can have that pleasure again in the near future. It made me think of old times when we used to meet in Willimantic and at Coventry lake.

Interested Reader: What did you think of me the past week? Now guess you will think I am some slow. What has become of Balsam Fir? Have not heard from her in a long, long, time. She must be skating on Crystal lake.

There has been much said lately about rugs, I thought I would write my bit. I thought I had made a good many in my life, having made 140. I have 12 in the state of Maine, five in Pennsylvania, one in New York, one on Long Island, two in Massachusetts and two in Rhode Island to my credit, besides all I've used at home, and now at this writing I have 38 in my home. Last winter I made five and I gave them all away. Three were given as birthday gifts. This winter I have made three and one of them I gave away two weeks ago last Saturday to a lady who saw it and admired it. I make many different kinds. I crocheted both round and square, knit round one, braided round and oblong ones, made drawn in rugs, made a number of the hoop rugs, which are very pretty when bright colors are used, and made over so many of the dog ear style, but they don't wear so well. I am now making one of all silk drawn in. For these I have a hook and a little hand machine. I have used both but prefer the little machine. I have one rug I made some time ago. I used square blocks of black cloth. In the center I worked a stuffed star made from worsted. This work I did with an ordinary darning needle. It is quite a trick but they are very pretty when finished. I would like to show my collection of rugs to Sumac or any others who may be interested in the art. I see she had quite an item in Saturday's paper. I generally make my own patterns and I will tell Sumac how she can save quite an item, if she has a pretty thing she would like to convert to a rug. First get my burlap and put a good deep hem all around it for a good solid foundation. Pin your article to the burlap after securing it in the frame, take a little sauce dish of ink, a match and then proceed to trace the article all around. Be sure to pin it securely so it wont slip. Then I go around any article I want with a red rag, if rags are to be used, around leaves with green rags and so on, and then you can fill in at leisure. To make them of worsted now they will be very expensive, for you don't get much for a dollar. I knit one rather pretty rug last winter then crocheted a border on it. I crocheted one then put several rounds of braided strands around it. This makes a pretty rug. I have one oblong braided rug with a strip I knit of ten

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

St. Mary's parish was bequeathed $11,000 by the late Father Mullen, whose will was presented for probate at the probate office 50 years ago this week. In addition to leaving $11,000 for the church, Father Mullen left $1,000 for a memorial window to himself in the church. Father Mullen's estate was announced at that time as being about $17,000. The same week Rev. Peter Shahan took over the pastorate of St. Mary's church, having been transferred here from Stafford by Bishop Galberry. Interesting extracts from the files of The Norwich Bulletin of March, 1873, are as follows:

Monday, March 11, 1878—The Shepping Jubilee Singers gave a sacred concert at Breed hall last evening. These singers are genuine colored people who were formerly slaves and gave true pictures of slave life on the old plantations. The program, consisting of 20 numbers, was adapted to the day and gave universal satisfaction. The songs are rich in melody and in every way commendable. A fair sized audience was present.

The Greeneville Reform club were quite successful at their recent sociable and fair, the receipts for the two evenings being about $130. A card of thanks will be found in another column.

The farmers are hiring their hands for the summer season at $16 to $20 per month. Eighteen dollars is said to be the average price, but common laborers are very plenty at those prices.

Friends of Dr. Dana will be pleased to learn that he and his family arrived at St. Paul safely after a pleasant journey at 6 a. m. Saturday.

The peeping frogs in Rockwell's pond made a noisy chorus last evening, audible a long way off.

The thermometer stood at 72 degrees in the shade at 4 p. m. yesterday.

Quite a number of members of the Greeneville Reform club wear blue badges.

A petition was presented to the city government Monday evening asking that the fees for local peddlers be made $5 a year, and non-resident $50. If that be applied to farmers selling produce, it would be against the people. Step carefully—Aurora.

Tuesday, March 12, 1878—The war between the meat markets seems to continue and as a consequence it is not so much of an object to be a vegetarian as it was. The best beefsteak, which last fall retailed at 25 cents a pound, and at the new year for 20 cents, can now be obtained at 16 cents. Round steak has correspondingly fallen from a shilling to 10 cents. Lamb has met with a corresponding decline and best pieces are retailed at 16 to 17 cents a pound.

A number of Sunday schools have decided to appropriate their next Sunday's collection to the fund for the contemplated children's Protestant home at Norwich Town, which lacked only $500 last week of reaching the amount which was required to secure the provisional gift. The ladies say that this projected home will not fail of becoming a reality and whenever they have undertaken anything in the past it has not failed of being accomplished.

Broadway church keeps up its morning meetings, save Saturday, and the First Baptist church its evening meetings, save Monday. Several other churches are holding special meetings this week.

Mr. Clark, the evangelist, is again at work in Ledyard Center.

The grass begins to show itself in sunny exposures.

Very many people are fearing that the early season will have a bad effect on next season's fruit crop. Some trees have started buds and if a frost should come the blossom buds might be ruined and bearing prevented.

Wednesday, March 13, 1878—The platform for the discharge of coal at the Greeneville factory dock, Mystic, which has been thought dangerous for some time, gave way Monday afternoon, and resulted in seriously injuring a Mr. Barber about the head and doing considerable damage to property.

The Telegram has a larger circulation than any other paper in New London—Telegram. Which so far as families are concerned is another version of the story of the boy who boasted one day of standing at the head of his class, but finally admitted that there were only two in the class, and the other one was absent.

The city treasurer gives notice of the calling in of the water fund loan and city debt bonds bearing date of July 1, 1869, and redeemable at any time after Jan. 1, 1878, on the first of April next, and interest ceases after that date.

Thursday, March 14, 1878—Uncas lodge, I. O. O. F., to the number of 75, attended the funeral of their late brother, Henry W. Hazen, yesterday. The members of the order wore their badges and assisted in the service. Dr. Gilsey was the officiating clergyman outside the services of the order. J. B. Corey acted as marshal and William N. Andrew as chaplain. The remains were interred in the City cemetery.

The New London County Association of Congregational Ministers held their regular meeting at Broadway church Tuesday. Owing to the unfavorable weather the meeting was not very fully attended. One portion of the exercises consisted of the repetition by the Rev. Mr. Chamberlain of his lecture on "Physical Pain," which attracted considerable attention at the time of its delivery at Norwich Town.

It is rumored that the O. D. Ones are about arranging to erect an opera house, connected with which is to be a free reading room and temperance lunch room. Over all is to be an elegant hall for use as their asylum.

Mr. F. L. Gardner has contracted to furnish several thousand posts for use on Fisher's Island.

Friday, March 15, 1878—Father Mullen's will has been left at the probate office to be proved and recorded. He bequeaths $11,000 to St. Mary's parish and $1,000 for a memorial window to himself in the new church. A small amount is given to a relation at Hartford and the residue goes to the Catholic orphans' home at Hartford, which is under the care of Father Hughes. Father Mullen's estate has not been inventoried but is supposed to consist principally of an insurance in a New York life company for $17,000.

The Rt. Rev. Bishop Galberry has recently appointed to the pastorate of St. Mary's church in this city the Rev. Peter Shahan of Stafford, and the latter was present with his new charge at services Monday evening. Father Shahan, the new pastor, is a native of Ireland but emigrated with his father's family perhaps 30 years ago and passed most of his boyhood in this vicinity. Father Shahan at one time studied at St. Charles' college, Maryland, and at the Catholic seminary at Montville. His first parish was at Stafford. He comes to his new parish, perhaps the most important in the state, with the reputation of ability and success in his previous fields.

A carpenter shop at Norwich Town, the property of Mr. Erastus Williams, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning, with its contents. The fire broke out about 4 o'clock and the building was consumed before anything could be done to arrest the progress of the flames. The loss may perhaps be $500 on the building and $200 on the contents. The whole was insured for $250 in the Aetna of Hartford.

Saturday, March 16, 1878—Members of the Wauregan Hook and Ladder Co. and invited guests, numbering in all a party of 80, sat down to an excellent oyster chowder at the company's commodious house on Union street last evening. The invited guests included officers of the fire department, ex-members of the company, officers of other companies and others. Tubbs' band furnished the music and the affair was a very pleasant one.

Several Sunday schools of the city appropriate their contributions tomorrow to the fund for the orphan's home which it is proposed to organize. A week ago only $500 were wanting of the $4,000 necessary to secure Mr. Pierce's provisional bequest of his attractive place at Norwich Town. By extending the number of donors to the enterprise, it is hoped to secure even a larger interest and co-operation in this work of the association; especially as popular favor will help much in the usefulness and success of an undertaking. Preparations are being made for removing the "Home" from its present location on Thames street, and it is understood that the Eliza Perkins place at Norwich Town has been secured for this site. This quaint old mansion would certainly furnish most admirable accommodations for the purpose of the hospital.

The seed dealers report the spring trade fairly open now, which indicates that the gardeners and grangers are making ready for the summer campaign in earnst.

The first Connecticut river shad of the season were caught at Lyme Thursday.

The parks and lawns are beginning to turn green.

The Tricho System

Removes Superfluous Hair

Painlessly, Permanently, Harmlessly

The TRICHO machine was awarded the "GRAND PRIX" on October 20th, 1925, at the Paris Exhibition in France, in competition with 30 Nations.

"Nothing But a Ray of Light Touches You"

THE SAFE, SCIENTIFIC WAY OF REMOVING SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

That area of the face or body under treatment for superfluous hair removal is exposed to the harmless and painless light ray of the wonderful Tricho instrument just three to five minutes every ten days or two weeks.

THIS PROCESS, which acts only on the hair roots, causing them to dry up, is repeated from eight to ten times, at the end of which period the hairs drop out without sensation—NEVER TO RETURN, AS THE HAIR ROOTS ARE DEAD.

SCORES OF STOCKS AT HIGH LEVELS

DUE TO A WILD ORGY OF SPECULATION

NEW YORK, March 16—(AP)—Disregarding an increase of more than $50,000,000 in brokers' loans, the stock market leaped forward today in another wild orgy of speculation which carried scores of issues to record high levels. The buying movement embraced both the industrials and the rails with General Motors and New York Central up 6 and 7 1-4 points respectively in the forefront of the advance. Total sales were 3,897,500 shares, or less 12,000 shares below Monday's record-breaking total.

Flurries of selling swept through the market at frequent intervals in response to liquidation by investors who apparently were frightened at the market's terrific pace, and profit taking by professional traders who desired to convert at least part of their paper profits into cash. Price movements bore little relation to the day's business news, although the publication of several favorable annual reports had a cheerful affect on sentiment. Circulation of rumors by one of the large commission houses that it had "trustworthy" information that President Coolidge would again be a candidate also may have been a factor.

The demand for the motor shares received impetus from the unexpectedly large increase in February and March sales reported by some of the leading companies. General Motors was run up to a new record high at $169, closing at the top, with operators for the rise meeting much less resistance than they did below the 150 level.

Hudson attained a new peak at 99 7-8 and then brake to 94 1-2 on unconfirmed rumors of a disagreement among pool members. Chrysler and Willys-Overland common established new high prices at 65 3-8 and 25 3-4 respectively.

Rossia Insurance, which pays only $6 a share, soared 16 points to a new maximum at 199 1-2, and closed within a fraction of the top. Fidelity-Phenix Insurance advanced more than 7 points to 213 3-4. Week end realizing sales cut down the gain in a number of other specialties, but American Machine & Foundry, American Railway Express, Case Threshing, Continental Insurance, International Harvester, Stewart Warner Speedometer and National Tea all closed 4 to 9 points net higher.

Erratic fluctuations took place in American Linseed, which opened at 101, advanced to 106 1-2, broke to 95 1-8 and rallied 98 7-8, where it was practically unchanged on the day. General Cable dropped 5 points and National Surety, 8.

Heavy buying of Sinclair Oil which advanced more than 2 points to a new top at 25 1-8, attracted widespread attention. Among the many other new highs were Brooklyn & Manhattan Transit, International Telephone, National Cash Register, Savage Arms, and International Match preferred.

Buying of New York Central, which touched 173 1-4, apparently was in expectation that the road would benefit through the proposed realignment of eastern trunk line systems. Wabash advanced 3 1-2 points to a new high at 76, but lost all but a fraction of its gain. Jersey Central jumped 19 1-2 points to a new top at 319 1-2. St. Louis-Southwestern, Southern Railway and Great Northern preferred also eclipsed their previous 1928 highs.

Call money held steady at 4 1-2 percent. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Sharp advances in Spanish and Portuguese rates featured the firm foreign exchange market. Sterling Cables held steady around $4.87 15-16.

Commodity markets displayed a strong undertone. Wheat futures advanced as much as a cent a bushel on reports of an improved export demand. Cotton rallied $1.50 to $2 a share on reports of unfavorable crop weather. Coffee gained 7 to 22 points and raw sugar futures were slightly firmer.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

New York

Stocks irregular; General Motors maintains its upward course.

Bonds firm; local tractions active.

Foreign exchanges steady; Portuguese rate recovers.

Cotton firm; rains delaying eastern belt crop preparations.

Sugar steady; improved spot situation.

Coffee higher; firmer Brazilian markets.

Chicago

Wheat firm; low temperatures in winter wheat belt.

Corn higher; bullish Argentine reports.

Cattle firm.

Hogs strong to higher.

SOCIAL CORNER

"Christie," "Merry Farmers Boy" as well as myself. I took my little girl (now nearly 13 years) to South Coventry lake and she took the prize for being the youngest baby there. She was one year old that day. Guess Biddy can remember that.

Rose of New England: Wish I had known you were at the hospital. I would have run up to see you. I have been in the hospital five times myself. The last time was April 13th last when I calmly gave in to an appendicitis operation performed there. As you said, good care and nice nurses help a lot.

Trula: You have my sympathy in the loss of your sister. She will be greatly missed in her home as well as at our grange. She was always willing to help in any way. Little do we know when our time will come.

Necia: You must be cleaning all the time. Never see you when I go by, which is often.

Chef's Sister: Am glad to hear you are home and hope for a speedy recovery. You get good care there, too.

Silver Locks: Do you remember me? Guess you would my father.

Diamond: Am sorry you are all sick again but trust after this you will be all right.

Chub: How is the family? Got plenty of snow.

Hoping all the sick ones are better and all the sorrowing ones will be comforted.

PAPA'S BOY.

ANTICIPATES SPRING HOUSE-CLEANING

Dear Cornerites: In a short time the winter of 1927-1928 will be a thing of the past and spring will be ushered in, in all her glory. We have had such wonderful weather, with only a little snow and excessive cold, that we have no reason to complain.

As old winter goes out we realize that housecleaning time will soon be here. Many housewives say they do not have any special time for housecleaning, but when a room needs it, it is cleaned, thus eliminating that dreaded period of everything being topsy turvy. I do not believe it is necessary to have such an upheaval, but by careful planning and systemizing our work and doing a little each day we can accomplish a good deal in a comparatively short time. If we view it from the standpoint of drudgery we will surely find it as such. But when we are vitally interested in anything we lose sight of the unpleasantness in anticipation of the benefits to be derived. However immaculate our houses are kept, I believe we all enjoy brightening things up a bit in the spring.

After the dreary winter the Great Creator freshens all the earth by bringing into new life every living tree and shrub and clothing them in clean shining garments, also spreading a new beautiful green carpet. When we see all this manifested in nature is it any wonder that we catch the spirit and want to make changes and improvements in our homes, both inside and out?

If we cannot have new furniture, we can at least have new wallpaper, a few draperies, cushions or cretonne coverings, all of which are inexpensive.

Rearranging furniture sometimes works wonders in the aspect of a room, making it almost seem we are living in a new home. We have our own individual problems to solve, but with thought and care we can usually work them out to our satisfaction. If this is our chosen vocation, why not get all the enjoyment we can out of it? If we take but little interest in those homely, everyday tasks, we miss the highest calling given to women—that of a household queen.

NAOMI.

DAME FASHION'S CHANGES IN HAT REALMS

Dear Social Corner Editor: 'Miss Lucy," who has kept the one and only millinery store in a certain town, I know, for at least a quarter of a century, is going out of business. Not because she's especially old or tired, or doesn't need the money, but because there's no money in hats any more. I sat in Miss Lucy's hat store one evening as she sorted her bins of buckles and feathers and flowers and heard her reminisce of the hats she has sold here and there for the past 28 years. "Once upon a time a hat was the most important thing a woman wore," Miss Lucy said. "She would go without a new dress or coat or shoes, but if she could have only one new thing it was a hat. But for the past few years hats have just been something to keep out the cold or sun, the plainer the better. Twenty years ago for $5 I could give a woman a good fine leghorn with some tulle and flowers on it, or a buckle, but nowadays it takes $10 for just a plain little felt hat that's worn summer and winter, spring and fall. There's no use getting a new one, for they are all alike, anyway."

Then Miss Lucy set me remembering the hats she made years ago. There was that black horsehair with the roll of cerise ribbon all about the big turned-up brim, and a huge bow of cerise ribbon wired and sticking straight up one side of the hat. I found some snapshots of me and the hat the other day and giggled myself sick to see the vision grandeur I thought I was in that.

Then there was the natural color leghorn with a swath of cream-colored maline, and the big brown straw with the wreath of brown-eyed susans around it, and the white felt for the winter with the pink silk roses at the side.

Never does it seem to me has life offered anything quite so altogether delicious as the glimpse of those new hats tucked away in the tissue papers in the funny little boxes Miss Lucy always put her hats in. I know, judged by today's hat standards, they were atrocious. I know the plumes and feathers and buckles and yards and yards of ribbon and maline I wore on my hats when I was 14 made me look 40. I know today's simple little felt hats pulled down over one eye, shedding rain and sun, are exactly what we busy modern women need and yet—what joy all the Miss Lucy hats of all the world did give.

We talk a great deal about what changes the years have brought to fashion—about the short, simple, untorred, unpleated, unshirred and unfired skirts—the one-piece dresses instead of the funny old shirtwaists and tight skirts and belts, but in no realm of fashion have we so changed as in the hat realm.

Once upon a time buying a hat was a seasonal epoch in our lives. Today there is little difference between buying a spring, summer or winter hat. And we buy them as we need them, regardless of season and purpose—they're all alike, anyway. But a sigh for the hats of long ago, with sprays of wistaria and lilac and mimosa hanging a-down their crowns.

Calla Lily: The wedding bells have been eliminated from the belfry. Now did you ever hear about that? No one was ever trusted with my secret. I decided I was too young to leave home. What is the cause of it?

M. L.: I wish to render thanks for putting me in touch with a good radio mechanic.

Aunty No. 1: Your letter was very interesting, but I will say if some of the sisters had kept to 240 words our Social Corner sheet would have been blank. I hope the sisters will continue to write.

ECHOES FROM THE LODGE ROOMS

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

The Knights of Pythias lodge in Colchester is to have the degree of knight conferred on candidates at its meeting next week. The degree will be conferred by the team from Trumbull lodge of New London.

ODD LADIES, M. U.

Loyal Victory lodge, No. 4, held its regular meeting Thursday evening in Steiner hall with Noble Grand Sister Clara Haydon presiding. Sister Woolley was appointed delegate to attend a meeting of the grand masters and board of directors to be held in New Haven, June 8. After the regular business meeting a social hour was enjoyed.

DAUGHTERS OF REVOLUTION

The members of Gov. Jonathan Trumbull chapter of Lebanon were entertained at their meeting last Monday at the home of Mrs. William Clark. The regent Mrs. A. R. Manning presided at the meeting, which opened with the Lord's Prayer, salute to the flag and singing America.

The reports of the secretary, Mrs. C. S. Goodwin, and of the treasurer, Mrs. William Clark were read and accepted.

It was voted to give a $5 gold piece as the first prize and $2.50 as second prize for the best essays on Colonial houses in Lebanon to be written by the eighth grade pupils of the town.

Two very interesting papers were read. Mrs. Myron Smith had written the Story of the Red Cross, which she read and Mrs. Marjorie Ayer had written on Old Toll Bridges in Connecticut and Old Covered Bridges. This paper was read by Mrs. A. R. Race. The flag lesson for March was read by Mrs. O. L. Pultz. As the nextm eeting is a conservation program each member is expected to bring something she has made. The meeting closed with the D. A. R. pledge.

At the close of the meeting a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Arthur Hewitt. Twelve members and two associate members were present.

HIBERNIANS

With today the time arrives for the great St. Patrick's day celebration by the united divisions of Hibernians which they are promising to make one of the greatest entertainments in the history of the divisions. At this particular time they are called upon for a contribution to the Irish college of Rome in memory of the man whose dying wish was "his soul to God, his heart to Rome and his body to Ireland, where it rests in peace." It is in his memory that the united Hibernians are trying to make this year's celebration a record breaking success and the jolliest of times.

JUNIOR AMERICAN MECHANICS

Buckingham council, No. 14, held its regular weekly meeting Wednesday evening, with Councilor H. Bradford presiding. The meeting had a large attendance. The members who fail to attend are missing many things of importance. Therefore on next Wednesday evening the officers urge that all members should strive to be present as many things will be brought up for discussion.

The famous degree team of Buckingham council, No. 14, is being organized once more for active work. All members wishing to try out for places in this work should come to the next meeting which will start at 7:00 p. m. due to the barn dance which will follow.

MOOSEHEART LEGION

Women of Mooseheart legion held a special meeting Thursday evening with Senior Regent Minnie Smith presiding. Applications for the Margaret Dahl class were brought in and it was voted that any one having applications for the next meeting notify the senior regent before Thursday.

The next regular meeting, Thursday, March 22nd, will open at 5 o'clock. All officers and members of degree team are to wear white. All members of degree team are to be at the home Sunday at 2:30 sharp for drill.

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY

Norwich Grange, No. 172, held its regular meeting Wednesday evening in Steiner's hall with Worthy Master Albert W. Lillibridge presiding. It was voted to give $5 for the La Flamme fund. After other business the meeting was given over to the lecturer for her literary program. The first number was a song by the entire grange (Beautiful Grange). Several selections were played by the John Swahn orchestra and were very much appreciated. A duet by Miss Charlotte Fowler and Mrs. Mary T. Handy with encore followed. Roll Call "The most beautiful thing in our town." Mohegan park seemed to be the popular one.

The speaker for the evening was H. D. Larrabee, president of the chamber of commerce whose talk was along the lines of revaluation of property. He was given a rising vote of thanks for his interesting talk. The next number was a play entitled "Mrs. Black's Pink Tea," which was ably carried out and showed much talent. Mrs. Myra A. Waters as Mrs. Black was delightful and deserves much praise for the success of the play. Much credit is due Ivy O. Peckham as Saratoga Washington, Mrs. Black's maid, who was exceptionally good, also Susan Lillibridge as Rochester Lincoln, the washer woman. Victoria March as Pansy, the daughter, and Anna Woods as Mrs. White were very good. Guests were, Christina Bode as Mrs. Gorey, Lena Pukullus as Mrs. Blue, Amy Coles as Mrs. Brown, Eva Higgins as Mrs. Red, Lila Cook as Mrs. Green. Refreshments were served by Division A, after which the meeting was closed. A whist and pinochle was held in the afternoon by the entertainment committee with eleven tables at play.

Prizes in whist were won by Mrs. Bruette, first, score 45; Mrs. Risley, second, score 41; Mrs. Murray, third, score 40. In pinochle, first, Mrs. H. Herrin, 7780; second, Mrs. John Foley, 7590; third Mrs. Dwyer, 7440. Mrs. Alida Boyens, president of the auxiliary announced the next meeting March 28 would be election of officers.

The next meeting of Norwich Grange will be March 28 with neighbors invited from Plainfield, Canterbury and Westerly.

HAS READ CORNER LETTERS FOR 18 YEARS.

Dear Social Corner—It is more than a year since I wrote to you. I started in so bravely and was critical of those who just joined and never wrote again.

When my great trouble came I thought I never wanted to do anything again; nothing would mean anything to me any more. Time has helped me to see selfishness as well as sorrow dwelt with me. I have the memory of love and care that was always mine, a dear son and daughter, and many things to be thankful for.

I hope I have not been quite forgotten and my name dropped. I always read the Corner letters, have for 18 years and enjoyed them very much. I also took the trip to Provincetown and saw all the things the sister wrote about. Her letter was fine. It was the 200th anniversary when we went down one side of the cape and up the other. We visited the Howland house, home of our ancestors and spent five days in Boston sight-seeing. At Surbury we visited Wayside Inn, made famous by Tales of a Wayside Inn, by Longfellow and now owned by Henry Ford, and wonderfully well stocked with antiques. A person gives you a talk in each room about them. There I saw a small book, Rain on the Attic Roof, given to Longfellow by Mrs. S. W. Maginis, who was daughter of John Whittlesey, founder of the first Normal School of Music at Salem, Conn. Mrs. Maginis made her home at Salem and was much beloved.

Blue Baby and Sumac—I am interested in hooked rugs. Have one nearly done, a Clipper Ship, a lovely pattern, from Priscilla. Rug is 28x38, or larger if you go beyond pattern. I use just wool rags, old preferred I made them years ago. I find a short, fat hook with wooden handle best. I have tried many kinds. One with a bend in the steel is also very easy to use. The up and down hook is very tiresome and not as easily started in. I am also making "wheel rugs." The old style was made on cart wheel rims like a woven basket bottom. I make them for chair seats on smaller hoops. Would like to tell you about them.

Sumac—As you are of Club No. 6, why not meet and talk rugs. I'd love to hear and talk with you.

Where is Doctor's Wife? Wish she would write a letter to the Corner. Also Tic. I have missed quite a number who used to write.

SUSANNA.

ENJOYED CORNER HISTORY

Dear Social Friends and Editor: We certainly had a stormy, snowy day yesterday (Mar. 10th). Wasn't the snow beautiful? This is the first time I have had the pleasure of stepping on snow this winter, and the longest time I have stayed in the house in all my life. I did enjoy reading the history of the Social Corner by Aunty No. 1. Three cheers for the Corner Lassy and I shall head my new Social Corner scrap book with that letter.

Cealia Lily: No I have never heard the Shrine band from Boston. I never sit up so late.

Last Rose of Summer: I enjoyed your letter, and glad you are better.

Prinet: You did well for the first time—the poem was fine. Write again Didn't you enjoy the last Corner page letters?

CLUB NO. 6'S ANNUAL MEETING

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: On Tuesday, March 20th, Club No. 6 will observe its second annual meeting in Mechanics hall, Westerly. It is hoped there will be a large attendance from club 6; also from all other clubs. A cordial welcome awaits every one attending and the committee in charge will do everything in its power to give you a good time. Will all those attending bring a knife, fork, spoon, plate and cup and something to eat. Those that have not already been solicited please bring cake, pie or rolls. Now we are looking for a big crowd, so come and join us for a day of pleasure. Through the kindness of E. L. M. I had the pleasure of attending the meeting of Club 5 in Norwich Wednesday, the 7th. We certainly had a wonderful time, a wonderful dinner and the program was very interesting indeed. I will close this letter hoping for a pleasant day March the 20th and a crowd. Come one, come all and help us celebrate Best wishes to all.

MY VARICOSE VEINS NOW MUCH BETTER THANKS TO RABALM

"Dear Friends," writes Mrs. C. L. Kalnag of Williamsburg, Mass., "I have been a sufferer with Varicose Veins for eight years, and have tried everything, but got no results until I tried the Rabalm salve, and I have used only six boxes and they are a good deal better. So I am doing the housework for eight in the family. I will gladly recommend it to all others who are troubled with Varicose Veins. Also it is wonderful for eczema. I never will be without it."

Rabalm is the result of a scientific effort to find an effective remedy for Varicose Veins to relieve the pain and irritation; to heal ulceration where it occurs; and to reduce swelling. If you, too, are suffering the torture which varicose veins can give, start using Rabalm tonight, and speedily find relief as Mrs. Kalnag and many others have done before you.

Two sizes: 30-cents, and $1.00 containing 3 times as much. Rabalm is for sale by all druggists.

The Smoothness and Snap
That All America is Demanding

There's no longer any doubt about it. America is demanding more and more from its automobiles. More power... more style... more speed. And above all else... more smoothness and snap.

* * *

Smoothness that brings to driving new pleasures and new delights. Snap that responds to the traffic signal as a sprinter responds to the gun. Smoothness and snap that you know are the very essence of motoring satisfaction. Smoothness and snap that you find revealed in the All-American Six.

* * *

You find them there because of Oakland's big, impressive brute of an engine which starts so easily 'way below zero. Because of its famous GMR cylinder head... force feed fuel pump... 79-lb. crankshaft... generously oversize connecting rods and other vital parts.

Special Sport Equipment
Available on all body types. Six wire wheels with tires... special front fenders with tire wells... two special tire locks and locking rings... collapsible trunk rack... $100 extra on open cars... $110 on closed cars... Six disc wheels with same equipment, $75 on open cars... $85 on closed models.

Because of its ruggedly constructed chassis... its bigger clutch and smoothly shifting gears... and the super-precision construction demanded in the All-American principle of design.

* * *

Once you've experienced its smoothness... once you've witnessed its snap... you'll know why the All-American Six is winning such tremendous success!

"SAVING $10.00 per ton in buying materials for home mixing" frequently runs into an actual loss of up to $20.00 by using it. There cannot help but be quite a difference in the uniformity of the mix between the unimproved method of shoveling materials around and the vigorous whirling mechanical double milling process. Wilcox Potato and Vegetable Phosphate 5-8-7 will give you that higher acre yield and consequent lower cost per bushel. I invite field tests under county and state supervision. James Case, Colchester, Conn. mar12 tf

SILLY SEASON POLICE CASE CLAIMS NEW LONDON CITY MANAGER'S TIME

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, March 16—The hearing of charges of conduct unbecoming an officer made by Raphael Polinsky, Bank street store employe, against Patrolman George McCaskey, was held this morning at the municipal building and although there were but two witnesses, either than the accused and his counsel, the session lasted over an hour. McCaskey was represented by Attorney Frank L. McGuire and Attorney Samuel Gerskin was counsel for Polinsky. Traffic Officer William Corcoran was McCaskey's witness and Mrs. Betty Kiersted, residing at the Hotel Lafayette apartment, Broad and Williams streets, was the witness for Polinsky. With the admission of all the testimony, City Manager Holt reserved his decision, but will render it tomorrow.

Polinsky had Mrs. Kiersted at the hearing to testify that McCaskey went to her room and requested that he be given matches.

Mrs. Kiersted testified that she was in her room on night in question with her roommate and about 11.30 o'clock Officer McCaskey knocked on her door and requested that he be given matches. She said that she took a box of matches from a table and gave them to the officer. She replied to Attorney McGuire's question that both herself and her roomate were fully attired, but that she felt humiliated at the officer going to her room. Upon further questioning Mrs. Kiersted stated that McCaskey afterwards visited her and apologized for his act, but finally admitted that she did not know whether it was McCaskey or another officer who tendered the apology. Mrs. Kiersted testified that she is married, but does not reside with her husband.

Nathan Manning of Mystic; Miss Margaret Dolan, of 23 Blackhall street; Miss Eleanor Lanphere, Mystic; John Harris, Blackhall; Mrs. Frank White, North Stonington; James Wiley, Niantic; William Davis, 23 Frost street and William Orkney of Groton, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

The funeral of Frederick Carlston, Jr., 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Carlson, Logger Hill, Waterford was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Jordan Baptist church. The services were conducted by Rev. E. E. Knapp, pastor of the church and were attended by a large number of mourners. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Mrs. Maria Roche, widow of Michael J. Roche, died at 4 o'clock this morning at her residence, 66 Jay street after a lingering illness. She is survived by a daughter, Miss Minnie K. Roche, of this city, Mrs. Roche's son, Thomas Roche, died four months ago. Mrs. Roche was of advanced years and had resided in New London her entire life.

William Caldwell, 40, died this morning at his home in Graniteville, Waterford, death ending a lingering illness, although he had been confined to his home but about two weeks. He is survived by his wife and six children by his mother in Hartford and by two daughters, Misses Margaret and Mary Caldwell, also of Hartford. Two brothers, Robert H. Caldwell, Hartford and George Caldwell, Chestnut Hill, also survive. Mr. Caldwell was employed for 20 years as floor clerk at the New London postoffice.

The funeral of Mrs. Nellie E. DeWolf, widow of James L. DeWolf, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Maurice D. Wilkinson, 30 Squire street and was attended by many mourners. The services were conducted by Rev. Joseph A. Elder. The bearers were Charles J. Manwaring, Charles Cook and Albert and Charles E. Lester. Burial was in Union cemetery, where the committal service was conducted by Rev. A. E. Darby, pastor of Niantic Baptist church.

The continued case of Elbert Chapman, Poquonoc road, Groton, driver of a Yellow Cab, charged with reckless driving is scheduled to be tried in the police court tomorrow. Chapman was driving his cab on State street, Oct. 16, last, and struck Patrolman Lehn, who was off duty, as the officer stepped from the curb to cross the street. Officer Lehn sustained a fractured leg and has not performed duty since. He is now able to walk by the aid of a crutch.

A peculiar accident occurred this morning, one in which carelessness on the part of those concerned cannot be attributed as the cause. Vincenzo Decrescenzo, 17 Cottage street, was driving a borrowed automobile on Bank street when one of the wheels was dislodged from the axle. The speed at which the automobile was traveling caused the wheel to continue to roll with the result that it went over the sidewalk and crashed through the window of the store of Angelo Bacchese.

LONG ISLAND STEAMER TO RUN TO MONTAUK

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, March 16—Fears that steamer service between this city and the eastern end of Long Island would be discontinued vanished into thin air today when the announcement was made that the steamer Shinnecock had been purchased by the Montauk-New London Navigation Co., and that the vessel will be placed in service between the two points May 30.

The boat has previously been operating between Sag Harbor, Greenport and New London. The new owners will change this somewhat. Its schedule will call for daily trips between New London and Montauk Point. The boat was formerly owned by the Montauk Steamboat Co.

At a meeting held this afternoon at 4.30 between City Manager Holt, Councilor Walton, Director of Law Troland and Hibbard N. Alexander tentative arrangements were made for the systematizing of the cities' financial system. Mr. Alexander, who is to take over the task of collecting all back taxes explained just how he intended to go about solving the problem. It is not known just what arrangements will be made in regard to the remuneration of Mr. Alexander. Three methods have been suggested, straight salary basis, graduated salary basis and a straight commission basis.

The home of Richard Hendel, 55 Hidden street was damaged slightly by fire last night at about 8.40 o'clock. The fire was quickly extinguished by the timely use of chemicals. Two small blazes happened today, one a chimney fire at 164 Shaw street, the other a truck fire on Main street. Both were quickly extinguished.

Cadets of the United States Coast Guard academy of this city, are in for an interesting and varied series of Uncle Sam this summer. According to news received today the training ship Alexander Hamilton will pull away from its moorings June 1 for a cruise to Belgium and France taking in many ports in other countries during the trip. In the neighborhood of fifty cadets will be on board.

ATTORNEY JOHN C. GEARY DIES WHILE IN FLORIDA

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, March 16—John C. Geary, 68, prominent New London lawyer, died this morning at Daytona beach, Florida from an affection of the heart, for which he had gone south a few months ago. Mrs. Geary was with him at the time of his death. Mr. Geary was born in Waterford, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Geary. He attended the public schools of that town during the period of the year when he was not busily employed on the small farm owned by his father. While very young he came to New London and entered the Brown cotton gin factory. While so employed he spent every spare moment in reading and improving his mind. Being naturally a student he laid the foundation for the all-round education that was afterwards developed to such an extent that he gained a state-wide reputation in his profession. Before reaching manhood he became actively interested in the Knights of Labor, an organization which at that time was a big factor in the industrial life of the state. After a few years of membership he became the active head of the knights and his management was noteworthy as most constructive.

Associated as he was with the business and industrial life of the community it was natural that he should drift into politics. He associated himself with the democratic party and soon became the leader of a powerful local faction.

During a part of the time that he was so engaged he was a student in the law office of the late Judge Ralph Wheeler. Later he took a short course in a law school and was admitted to the bar.

His natural aptitude for his profession and his assiduousness in performing tasks for his clients soon won for him a partnership in the firm. After the death of Judge Wheeler he continued to practice under his own name and achieved great success.

Mr. Geary accumulated a comfortable fortune. Later in life his activities in other lines added greatly to this. He was actively interested and associated with many financial enterprises and for a number of years was a large real estate holder. Several years ago, however, he disposed of nearly all of these holdings and paid a closer attention to bond and stock transactions.

Early in life Mr. Geary married Miss Della Hogle, of this city, a sister of Mrs. John Larkin and Mrs. Frederick Davis, both of New London. There were no children from the marriage and the lone survivor of the family is his widow. Mr. and Mrs. Geary made their home here at the Hotel Mohican.

He was a member of the following organizations: The Niagara Engine company in which he was an enthusiastic member; the St. John Literary society, Knights of Columbus; Hibernians; Holy Name society and the Elks of which he was a past exalted ruler. He was also at one time president of the Hibernians.

He attended St. Mary's church and was always an active and zealous member During all the years in which he practiced law he was an active member of the New London County Bar association.

News of Mr. Geary's death was received, this morning, with great regret and sorrow, throughout New London. His acquaintance here was extremely large and the example of his life had endeared him to hundreds of persons. He made many close friends and was most generous always in his willingness to help anyone who was deserving.

Mr. Geary was president and treasurer of the Thames Dyeing and Bleaching company of East Lyme and a vice president and director of the Winthrop Trust Co.

Conjecture prevails here as to the probable purchaser of the Garde theatre and building which is to be sold at public auction March 23. Rumor has it that several interests are looking favorably on the proposition and it is said that a local firm is strongly considering the purchase. The theatre is doing a splendid business; however others owned by the A. S. Friend & Co., are said to be operating at a loss

An enthusiastic meeting of the mothers of the boys belonging to the boys' division of the central branch of the Y. M. C. A. was held yesterday afternoon The object of the meeting was to acquaint mothers with the nature of the work the boys are carrying on. At the meeting, Herbert W. Hicks, associate secretary, presided After opening the meeting he introduced Archie S. Knowles, boys' work secretary of the Hartford Y. M. C. A. Mr. Knowles gave an interesting and entertaining talk explaining the boys' work of the organization. Upwards of forty mothers attended the meeting.

Attorney Frank S. Shea, for several years a member of the firm of McGarry & Shea announced today that he is going to Hartford to engage in the general practice of law. Mr. Shea received his law education at Georgetown university, Washington, D. C. Immediately after graduation he was admitted to the Connecticut bar. He then returned to Washington for a post graduate course after the completion of which he started practice here with John J. McGarry, under the firm name of McGarry & Shea. Mr. Shea is a world war veteran and for several years has been prominent in republican politics. On November 8, he married Miss Violet Dion, of Norwich.

That progress is being made in the John Colman post, No. 9, American Legion, is borne out by the fact that 23 new members have been secured for the post in the membership drive, launched a little over a month ago. Chairman Spiros N. Gares states that before the drive ends, on April 1, members of the post expect that over a hundred new faces will be seen in the organization.

Barbara Henriel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Henriel of Elliott avenue, Neptune park, was given a party at the home of her parents yesterday afternoon on her fifth birthday. The guests were: Valerie Anne Foran, Anne Jack, Peggy Fox, Jane Cobb, Edwina Cotter, Yvonne Harvey, Joan Kennedy, Marilyn Morris, Alice and Joan Dimock, Jennie Dunn, Mary Prince, June Spencer and Edward Henriel.

Victor Gunsko, a laborer, residing at 40 Eastern avenue, was arrested this afternoon by Detective Constable Sidney Cavanaugh and Nelson Smith, charged with breach of the peace. He will be in the police court tomorrow. Gunsko went to his home this morning intoxicated and after engaging in a row with his wife, struck her. Mrs. Gunsko went to the office of Prosecuting Attorney Danie. M. Cronin where she related her story, which resulted in a warrant being issued for Gunsko's arrest.

Patrolman Carlos Selesnitsky reported at police headquarters this evening that a manhole on Washington street was in a dangerous condition, such a condition as might cause damage to an automobile or its occupants. A new cover was recently placed over the opening and every time that an auto passes over it the cover tilts and does not remain in position.

A fireman employed on one of the boats at the pier of the American Fisheries, Groton, was arrested tonight charged with intoxication. He went to a confectionery store, corner of State and Main streets, where he annoyed the sales girl to such an extent that Patrolman Michael Dorsey was summoned and when the man would not leave it became necessary to arrest him.

Packing beehives in insulating material in cold weather is advised because it prevents the bees using up their store of energy in exercise to keep warm.

THE WEATHER

Conditions

The northeastern disturbance now is centered over the Gulf of St. Lawrence, the disturbance that was centered over Texas Thursday night is advancing east-northeastward with two centers one over the east central gulf, and the other on the South Carolina coast.

The southern disturbance will cause light snow or rain Saturday morning in the North Atlantic states. Otherwise generally fair weather is indicated for New England. The weather will become warmer in virtually all sections east of the Mississippi river during Sunday.

Winds

North of Sandy Hook—Moderate to fresh northeast or north; overcast with snow or rain Saturday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras—Fresh mostly northeast; overcast with rain Saturday.

For southern New England: Cloudy Saturday, probably light snow Saturday morning; Sunday fair with slowly rising temperature.

GREENEVILLE

A very successful whist was held at the home of Miss Eugenia Klukowski, No. 259 Central avenue Thursday evening. A delightful luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Wilfred Lemoine. The first prize was awarded to Miss Blanche Bunoski and the consolation prize was won by Miss Helen Warakomski. Those present were Misses Helen and Hedwig Warakomski, Miss Lucille Carviss, Miss Bertha Rymsza, Miss Nellie Mechalak, Miss Jane Suplicki, Misses Wanda and Jean Slowikowski, Miss Sophie Pordurgiel, Miss Anna Lorello and Miss Blanche Bunoski.

Mrs. Louis Guillotte has returned to her home in Jewett City after being the guest of relatives on Central avenue Friday.

Misses Elisabeth and Mary Mallon students at Baltic Academy are spending their week end recess at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Mallon on Convent avenue.

The Rosedale Sewing circle met at the home of Miss Catherine Barry Friday afternoon with 100 per cent attendance. After the sewing a social hour was enjoyed. Singing and story telling proved the features of entertainment. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Miss Romilda Riccio, a pupil at Baltic Academy is spending her week end recess at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Mallon of Convent avenue.

Miss Helen Delaney of the Willimantic State Normal school is spending the week end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Delaney of Fifth street.

Miss Eva Whitkin of the Willimantic State Normal Training school is spending the week end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitkin of Central avenue.

When the members of the H. I. Sewing circle of Auxiliary No. 18, A. O. H. met with Mrs. Lucian Bissonnette of North Main street on Thursday evening they were greatly pleased to find the evening was to take the form of a St. Patrick's day party. After an hour spent in fashioning lampshades a social hour followed with singing of many popular Irish songs. The hostess invited the members to the dining room, which had been converted into a veritable bower of green and white. The center piece consisted of a beautiful cake decorated with the words, Auxiliary No. 18, in green and surmounted by 18 tiny green candles. The table was also decorated with tall green candles in low green glass holders. The favors were tiny shamrocks. Refreshments consisted of chicken salad, sandwiches, candy, coffee, ice cream, and fruit punch. After the luncheon victrola selections were enjoyed by all present. Solos were sung and stories were told. The party voted Mrs. Bissonnette an ideal hostess. Much credit is due Miss Nellie Gleason, who decorated the dining room so artistically.

Those assisting Mrs. Bissonnette in serving were Mrs. Frederick La Fontaine, Mrs. Francis McHugh, Miss Nellie Gleason, Mrs. Edward Sullivan and Mrs. Leon LaFontaine of Taftville. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Nellie Gleason at 80 Fourth street next Thursday.

John McClafferty of Southbridge is spending the week end at his home on Hickory street.

Thomas Howarth of Southbridge is spending the week end at his home on Boswell avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Atterbury of Paige street left Friday evening for Staten Island, N. Y., to attend the wedding of Mr. Atterbury's niece, Miss K. Hurd Atterbury, which will take place Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at her home, 33 Central avenue, St. George, Staten Island, N. Y. Miss Atterbury is to be united in marriage with Hamlet Strachon, also of Staten Island.

Mrs. Stanley Mulkins of Springfield is spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mulkins of Boswell avenue.

Miss Loretta Higgins of the Willimantic Normal Training school is spending her week end recess at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Higgins of North Main street.

OBITUARY

Harry Hollins

The life of Harry Hollins came to a peaceful close at his home in Providence Thursday afternoon. He was for many years a resident of Greeneville, making his home at 490 Boswell avenue. In the tradeworld he answered the call as a printer of textile work and had worked for a long period of time with the United States Finishing Co. Greeneville. He was united in marriage in this city with Miss Anna Purdon. Many remarks of high esteem were made by his local shopmates and acquaintances in favor of his fine character and pleasing disposition. He will always be remembered by the people of the community as a kind neighbor and devoted friend, a friend to everyone and was willing to assist anyone in time of trouble. His many friends and acquaintances extend their heartfelt sympathy to his family in their bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murphy of Ninth street left Friday morning for two weeks to be the guests of relatives in Dover, N. H.

TAFTVILLE

The members of the Jolly Eight Pitch club were entertained Wednesday evening by John Hargreaves at his home on Occum road. After the evening of cards, refreshments were enjoyed.

On Friday evening there were the usual Lenten devotions at Sacred Heart church, which included Stations of the Cross and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, and attended by a large congregation.

Final rehearsals have been held by those participating in the entertainment to be given by the Ladies' auxiliary, Ancient Order of Hibernians, assisted by some of the scholars of the Sacred Heart school, who have been trained by their teachers, the Sisters of Charity.

Mr. and Mrs. Axel Carlson of Baltic road have had as recent guests, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Johnson and Miss Gerda Anderson, of Mystic.

The regular Friday evening meeting of the members of Troop 3, Boy Scouts, was held in the recreation rooms of the Taftville Congregational church, with Scoutmaster Victor H. Davis presiding.

A large number of Taftville people attended the Reinald Warrenrath concert at Slater hall, Friday evening.

Suit On Note Withdrawn

Suit brought in the superior court in June, 1927 by John F. Chalmers of Greenwich against Arthur E. James of New York city has been withdrawn, settlement having been made. The suit was brought on a note for $1,272.-56, dated July 14, 1922 and made for two months.

PROGRAMME CONDUCTED FOR PARENT-TEACHERS' MEETING

The Poquetanuck Parent-Teacher association held its March meeting Wednesday evening in the school house with the president, Mrs. Appleton Main, presiding.

The April meeting is to be in charge of the following committee: Mrs. George Murphy, Miss Louise Muench, Rev. Thomas Ockford, Mrs. Arthur Smith and Mrs. John Taylor.

Mrs. George Mansfield was appointed general chairman to plan for the annual entertainment and supper, with Mrs. Alanson Fuller, Mrs. Robert McClure, Mrs. Arthur Smith, Mrs. George Betting, and Mrs. Charles Betting as supper committee.

A pleasing program was given as follows:

Piano solos, "Pure as Snow," by Lange and "Cupid's Garden" by Max Eugene by Miss Clara Bogue; bass solos, "The Old Sexton" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" by J. Guy Ayer, with Mrs. Fred D. Miller at the piano; a duet "Long, Long Ago" by Mrs. F. D. Miller and Mrs. Arthur Smith. The speaker for the evening was Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey of the Norwich Town Congregational church who addressed the audience on the need of fundamental religious teaching in the curriculum of the public schools.

After the program refreshments were served. The committee having the program in charge were Mr. and Mrs. Appleton Main, Mrs. F. D. Miller and Miss Frances Kingberger.

CATHOLIC WOMEN'S CLUB'S ST. PATRICK'S CARD PARTY

The annual St. Patrick's Day card party of the Catholic Women's club of St. Patrick's parish was held Friday afternoon in the newly decorated room of the Children of Mary sodality. There were about 25 tables in play, the prizes being taken in bridge by Mrs. Abner Hill, Mrs. Herbert Ring, Mrs. Frank Leonard, Mrs. John Bowne, Mrs. Nelson C. Disco; in whist, Miss Irene McKenna, Mrs. P. McNerney, Mrs. Patrick Coleman and Miss Josie Healy. In pinochle the winners were Mrs. Farrell, Mrs. Nadolny, Mrs. Foley, Mrs. Herman and Mrs. Herring. The bridge was in charge of Mrs. D. J. Hayes, whist, Mrs. Patrick Coleman, and the pinochle, Mrs. Francis Donahue.

The club, whose president is Mrs. Thomas J. McVeigh, extended its charitable work this year to greater interest in the young girls of the parish and through the efforts of the members of the club the sodality rooms have been completely redecorated and refurnished, the color scheme being rose and gold. The party Friday was in the nature of a housewarming for the reopening of the new roms, and proved to be most sucessful.

TWO UNDER ARREST ON LIQUOR VIOLATION CHARGE

Joseph Ladyka, 34, and Anna Ladyka, 33, both of No. 48 Second street, were arrested early Friday evening by Federal Prohibition Officers Briggs and Avery on charge of violation of the liquor law. They will be presented before U. S. Commissioner Earl Mathewson today (Saturday).

Men's Bible Class Convention

A recent questionnaire sent out over the state from the office of the State Federation of Men's Bible classes reveals the interesting fact that there are at present 10,000 men in 125 classes in the state, an average Sunday attendance being 4,500. Connecticut is expected to send a large delegation to the national convention to be held at Newark on April 28 and 29. According to present plans a special train will leave Hartford carrying from 500 to 700 men to Newark for that convention.

SERMONS AND MUSIC AT CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH

"Salvation as Power" will be the subject taken by Dr. David A. Pitt at the Central Baptist church on Sunday morning. This is the third in the series of sermons on "Salvation." In the evening the Silvertone male quartette of New London will render "When You Know Jesus Too," by Ackley, "Love Divine" by Zundel, "Nearer, My God to Thee" as arranged by the quartette, and "Alone" by Price. David M. Carlyle, 1st tenor, Rodney R. Carlyle, 2nd tenor, Charles R. Carlyle, baritone and John J. Gagnon, bass, make up the personnel of the quartette. Those who have been present when the quartette has sung in Norwich in recent years will not fail to be out in goodly numbers Sunday evening. The sermon topic will be "Steps into the Christian Life."

INCOME TAX RETURNS MORE THAN LAST YEAR

According to George M. Charbonneau, in charge of the local U. S. internal revenue office at the courthouse, more income tax returns were filed here this year than during the previous year. Considerable activity in the stock market, which has been quite marked throughout the country, was reflected locally, according to the income tax returns filed at the local office. Although local business conditions were about the same, and perhaps not quite as good as during the previous year, the income returns showed that outside investments were greater the past year. The time limit for filing income tax returns expired March 15.

WE MODERNS' PINOCHLE LED BY MRS. PRODELL

The We Moderns Pinochle club met Thursday with Mrs. Jensen of Laurel Hill. The first prize went to Mrs. Hallisey with a score of 7580 and the consolation to Mrs. Hastedt with 4910. After cards a delicious lunch was served by the hostess. The scores in the series are now as follows: Mrs. Prodell 13,910; Mrs. Retkowske 171700; Mrs. Moran 13,690; Mrs. Jensen 13,370; Mrs. Manchester 13,220; Mrs. Hallisey 12,-990; Mrs. Busch 11,770; Mrs. Hastedt 11,030. The club will meet next week with Mrs. Manchester of Laurel Hill.

POLICE WILL INVESTIGATE REPORT OF STABBING

A man giving the name of William McMahon, 37, of New Hampton, N. Y., and who claims he is employed at the Norwich state hospital, was arrested about 9 o'clock Friday night by Officer Peter Driscoll on a charge of intoxication. At police headquarters it was discovered that he had two cuts on his right arm which required the attention of Dr. William T. Driscoll. McMahon stated that he had been stabbed, but his condition was such, that he was unable to explain where he was at the time he was stabbed and was unable to tell who did the stabbing. He said he could identify the man who cut him. The police are working on the case.

EXPECT SOME CONTESTS IN REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

It is rumored that several contests will develop at the republican town caucus next Monday evening. The caucus has been called for the purpose of electing delegates to the republican state convention and the congressional district convention to be held in Hartford April 17 and 18 for the election of delegates to the republican national convention, and the appointment of a state central committee. The caucus will also elect a town committee for the ensuing two years. The caucus promises to be a lively one.

Entertained at Whist Party

The Misses Eva and Mae Russell of 45 Washington street entertained a number of their friends at a whist party given at their home on Thursday evening. The first ladies' prize, a cut glass vase, was won by Mrs. William Donnelly of Franklin street, second prize a salad dish won by Mrs. Patrick Shahan of Division street, and the consolation prize a bon bon dish was won by Miss Alice Knight of Boston; gentlemen's first prize a box of cigars going to Kenneth Marshall, also of Boston, second prize a silk scarf to John Farrell, and consolation, an ash tray, to Earl Broderick. A delicious lunch was served by Miss Eva Russell assisted by Rita Donnelly.

Voluntown Farmers Incorporate

The Voluntown Farmers' Co-operative Association, Inc., was incorporated Feb. 24 and will sell grain, feed and general merchandise. It starts business with capital stock of $2,000, divided into 200 shares of $10 each. The association commences business with $1,000. The incorporators are Emil Nyman, Herman Lampf, Antti Luoto, Edward Malline and three others, all of Voluntown.

Young Men Made Disturbance

A half dozen young men ranging in ages from 16 to 23 years of age will be presented in the city court this (Saturday) morning on charges of breach of the peace. They were arrested Friday night, after they had caused a disturbance on Water street, making a general nuisance of themselves. Two of the boys have been in trouble before.

Get angry occasionally if you must—but keep your mouth shut.

EXPLOSIONS AT MILLS OF THE HERCULES POWDER CO.

VALLEY FALLS, N. Y., March 16—(AP)—March 16.—(AP)—Three explosions at intervals of a few seconds destroyed three mills at the Hercules Powder company plant here today; killed four men instantly, injured a fifth and shattered windows within a radius of twenty miles. Damage was estimated at nearly $100,000.

The dead were all employes at the plant. They are John Haynor, 56, single, a carpenter; Victor Sheeley, 26, single, a glazier; J. W. Mitchell, 63, married, mechanic, and Harry White, 43, married, a sorter. E. L. Prickett, plant superintendent, was cut by a falling telephone which was torn from the wall of his office by the force of the explosion.

The first blast is believed to have been caused by a spark from the hammer of a workman making repairs necessitated by a similar explosion in January. The other two explosions were said to have resulted from sparks, as the first explosion hurled burning fragments of the building far and wide.

The concussion followed the Hoosick River Valley. In Schaghticoke, three miles distant, windows were broken; ceilings and walls were cracked, and the doors were torn from a garage. The force of the explosions was felt in Bennington, Shaftsbury and Poultney, Vt., and in Troy, Mechanicsville and Poestenkill.

While the bodies of the victims were scattered over a radius of 500 feet, and were terribly mangled, several workmen nearby were uninjured. The third explosion blew in the doors of the Administration building, a quarter of a mile away.

PORTO RICANS PRAISE AND CONDEMN COOLIDGE

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, March 16—(AP)—Both commendation and condemnation of the letter by President Coolidge on Porto Rican affairs came from island leaders today. But Jose Tous Soto, leader of the republican party and speaker of the house of representatives, and Antonio R. Barcelo, president of the senate, expect to study the communication for at least a week before attempting any statement concerning it.

"We have read the document and realize the responsibility and extraordinary situation in which we have been placed before the country and the world," said Speaker Tous Soto. "We need then to study and analyze each of the topics in the letter in order to give an answer consistent with the truth of history and with the dignity of our people."

Governor Horace M. Towner was not in his office today, he having gone with a commission to inspect a new irrigation project.

Gayetano Colliy Cuchi, son of Dr. Colily Toste, the historian quoted by President Coolidge, said it was unfair to thus quote his father. "The letter is blood flowing from a wound which Coolidge received at Havana," he said.

POETRY

The Shamrock

When April rains make flowers bloom
And Johnny jumps come to light,
And clouds of color and perfume
Float from the orchards pink and white,
I see my shamrock in the rain,
An emerald spray with rainbow set,
Like jewels on spring's coronet,
So fair, and yet it breathes of pain.

The shamrock on an older shore
Spring from a rich and sacred soil
Where saint and hero lived of yore,
And where their sons in sorrow toil;
And here, transplanted, it is to me
Seems weeping for the soil it left;
The diamonds that all others see
Are tears drawn from its heart bereft.

When April rain makes flowers grow
And sparkles on their tiny buds,
That in June nights will ever how
And fill the world with scented floods,
The lonely shamrock in our land—
So fine among the clover leaves—
For the old springtime often grieves—
I feel its tears upon my hand.

—Maurice Francis Egan.

My House

If ever you come to my house
(As you are passing near),
You will find a box outside the door,
Leave there your hate and fear.
Put in your cynical wisdom,
Your cunning and your guile,
You may come in with grief or sin,
Or with an honest smile.

If ever you enter my house
(Don't pass, but step inside),
You will find a hook behind the door,
Hang there your cloak of pride.
And your mantle of self-righteousness,
You will not need them here,
For the heart is warm against the storm
And aglow with friendly cheer.

Take off your mask of pretense
And put it on the shelf,
And, good or bad, or merry or sad,
Be your genuine self.
You need not feign a ghastly mirth,
If you have cause to weep,
Or hide your shame, or tell your name,
Or talk if you would sleep.

And when you go from my house
(Yours as much as mine),
Where all is frank and friendly
And nothing grand or fine,
After an hour's rare luxury
Of being your simple self,
You will leave your pride, forgot, inside
And your mask upon the shelf.

SUBMARINE S-4 RAISED AND TOWED TO BOSTON NAVY YARD

The Submersible Had Been For Three Months on the Bottom of the Sea Off Provincetown, Mass.—The S-4 Has Been Cradled on Her Six Pontoons Off the Navy Yard—She Will Be Docked at High Tide This Morning—Eight Bodies Still Remain in the Vessel—They Will Not Be Removed Until Nightfall Today, in Order to Prevent Photographing of the Bodies.

BOSTON, March 18— (AP) —The raised submarine S-4 was towed into a safe berth at the Boston navy yard today just ahead of a vicious northeaster which caused great damage to shipping in Massachusetts bay. Had the storm struck the submarine and her tugs, the S-4 would have surely sunk, navy officers said.

Tonight the submarine, brought up from the bottom of the sea off Provincetown after three months of heroic struggle with the wintry elements, was cradled in her six pontoons off drydock No. 2 at the navy yard. She will not be docked until high tide tomorrow morning.

The S-4 arrived at the navy yard shortly after 5 a. m., almost on the schedule planned by Captain Ernest J. King and Commander Harold S. Saunders, who were in charge of the salvage operations. Their carefully prepared towing plans were followed religiously until the submarine and tugs arrived off Hull before daybreak. Here they ran into a choppy sea and it was necessary to reduce the speed to less than 3.7 knots an hour, the rate which the salvage directors thought safest.

About daybreak, Benjamin Kemp, captain of the Boston navy yard pilots, and a civilian pilot boarded the minesweeper Sagamore, which led the S-4 tow, at Boston light. They steered the S-4 lineup into the North channel at exactly 6 a. m. The raised submarine was opposite her drydock in two hours and the operations were then turned over to Captain C. H. Summers, who will direct her berthing tomorrow morning.

Today navy yard divers and workmen resank the pair of pontoons about the submarine's amidships to eliminate the seven-degree list. The pontoons came up uneven when the S-4 broke the surface yesterday afternoon. Though the list did not interfere with the towing of the submarine, Captain King feared it might hamper the drydocking.

This maneuver can only be accomplished at high tide, which was at 8 o'clock tonight. The salvage officers decided that it would be too risky to attempt drydocking in the darkness and decided to delay until high water tomorrow morning.

Once the S-4 is berthed, the water will be run out of the dock and the submarine's hatches opened to admit Lieut. Comdr. George B. Dowling and his navy surgeons. They have been ordered to wear masks when they enter the submarine to locate the eight bodies which still remain in the vessel. Six of these are in the torpedo room and the other two, which are in one of the after compartments. They will make a careful search for letters or messages which may have been left by Lieut. Graham Newell Fitch, of Washington, D. C., and his five comrades, who were imprisoned alive in the torpedo room for many hours after the vessel sank.

This work done, the navy board of investigation will enter the submarine to make an inspection. When the board leaves, a bluejacket guard of honor will be posted on the S-4 to stand watch until nightfall, when the eight bodies will be removed.

The navy department ordered the removal after dark to prevent the photographing of the bodies, which will be taken to the Chelsea Naval hospital, where J. H. Taylor, chief of the identification section of the navy department, will identify them. He arrived here from Washington this morning.

Drydock No. 2 has been roped off and armed marines stationed on guard, refusing admission inside the lines to everyone but navy officers, newspapermen and navy yard employes. After the bodies are removed, the public will be permitted to view the S-4 in her berth. No one but a few navy officers will be allowed on board at any time.

After daybreak every vessel which passed the S-4 "funeral procession" in Boston harbor lowered her colors to halfmast, as did every navy vessel and building in the navy yard to commemorate the submarine's tragic "homecoming."

NANCY ANN MILLER HAS BECOME "HER HIGHNESS"

BARWAHA, India, March 18—(AP)—The prolonged and imposing ritual of a Hindu wedding is at last ended and Nancy Ann Miller, an American girl, has become "Her Highness, Maharanee Devi Sharmista Holkar."

It is customary among the Marathas for a bride to change her name on entering the husband's family, but in the present case an exception was made and Miss Miller retains the name Sharmista given to her when she became a Hindu.

The final ceremonies this evening were favored by glorious weather. A slight shower earlier in the day having laid the dust and made for greater comfort on the concourse packed by thousands attracted to view the richly picturesque ceremonials.

Miss Miller looked charming throughout and seemed fully to appreciate the brilliant oriental setting of the magnificent function she went through. Not once did she betray any sign of nervousness and everything passed off without a single hitch.

The newly-wedded couple have been flooded with felicitations and many wedding presents.

A conspicuous figure throughout the two-day ceremonies was the senior Maharanee, who was recently reconciled to the former ruler's marriage. She rendered assistance whenever and wherever required.

TUG WENT DOWN OFF COAST OF NEW JERSEY

PHILADELPHIA, March 18—(AP)—The tug Princess, owned by the Cahill Towing company, New York city, sank tonight off the south Jersey coast near the Barnegat light vessel. Her crew was rescued by the barge Charles M. Shaw, which asked that a coast guard cutter be sent to tow her to port.

News of the sinking was received by the Maritime Exchange in a wireless dispatch from the Morgan line steamer El Capitan. The dispatch said:

"The tug Princess, of the Cahill Towing company, New York, sank at 8 p. m., bearing 165 degrees from Barnegat light vessel, approximately six miles south of the light vessel. Wreckage is floating about. The pilot house and life boats are the largest pieces visible.

"The crew is safe aboard the barge Charles M. Shaw, which the tug had in tow. Barge is riding with a sea anchor and requests a cutter to tow her in."

EMPLOYMENT IN FACTORIES REPORTED ON THE INCREASE

NEW YORK, March 18—(AP)—Employment in factories is on the increase the January report of the National Industrial Conference Board, Inc., shows, says the A. P. A one per cent increase was recorded during that month over November, the low ebb month of 1927. The report is based on records of 2,000 plants in 25 industries throughout the country.

Average weekly earnings per worker were the same for January, 1928, as the corresponding month of 1927, it was reported, and higher than in January, 1926. Holding an optimistic view as to further increase in employment during the ensuing months, the board points out that the 1926-1928 period wrought a 4 per cent decrease in cost of living.

NINE MEN MISSING AFTER FIRE AT PRINCETON, B. C.

PREDICTS MD. DELEGATION WILL VOTE FOR SMITH

WASHINGTON, March 18—(AP)—A prediction that the District of Columbia's six votes in the democratic national convention will be cast for Governor Smith of New York has been made by John F. Costello, national committeeman from the district, after conferences with party leaders. The delegates have not yet been selectd.

Costello said it was a conservative estimate that 80 per cent of the democrats living here were for Governor Smith. No other candidate for the democratic presidential nomination, he added, is being discussed seriously.

In the 1924 Madison Square Garden convention McAdoo received the District of Columbia's bloc of votes on 99 ballots.

STATISTICS OF MOTOR VEHICLE ACCIDENTS IN MASS.

BOSTON, March 18—(AP)—Five motor vehicle fatalities occurred in Massachusetts during the past week, the office of the registrar of motor vehicles reported today. This figure was below that of the week preceding and six fewer than in the corresponding week of a year ago. Three of the victims were pedestrians and two occupants of automobiles.

During the week just passed, 41 persons were convicted for operating while under the influence of liquor, or 40 fewer than the week preceding. Licenses and registrations numbering 481 were taken away last week, 24 fewer than the week before, but 128 more than in the same period a year ago.

FISHING SCHOONER WAS DRIVEN ASHORE

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., March 18—(AP)—The two-masted fishing schooner Yankee was driven ashore today in Provincetown harbor, where she had taken shelter from the northeast storm, when her anchor chain parted. The schooner, hailing from Boston, was laden with fish which was being rushed to Boston for the Monday market.

Coast guardsmen of the Wood End station, aided by a government tug, which had remained here following the salvaging of the submarine S-4, will attempt to float the Yankee at high tide tonight.

ALEXANDER SUBKOFF HAS YOUNG WOMAN COMPANION

BRUSSELS, March 18—(AP)—Alexander Subkoff, young husband of Princess Victoria of Schaumberg-Lippe, who arrived in Antwerp yesterday following his expulsion from Germany, spent the afternoon visiting various bars in the neighborhood of the Central railroad station in company with a young Antwerp woman, whose identity he refused to reveal. He also called on the parents of his companion. The Antwerp newspapers say Subkoff expects to leave for the Belgian Congo at an early date and will be accompanied by the young woman.

BOSTON EXPERIENCED GALE WITH DRIVING RAIN

BOSTON, March 18—(AP)—A northeast storm swept New England today and was centered over Boston tonight. The force of the gale, accompanied by a driving rain, was felt principally along the coast, where the wind attained a velocity of 48 miles an hour.

Shipping vessels, with the exception of a few large steamers, remained in the harbor, while others due to arrive today were delayed by the storm. Several of these in-bound craft anchored outside to ride out the storm.

More than half an inch of rain had fallen tonight in this city as the storm was abating, while it was snowing in northern New England.

Three Aviators Were Killed in Plane Crash

Wing Crumpled and Plane Fell in a Yard at Wilmington, Calif.

WILMINGTON, Cal., March 18—(AP)—Three civilian aviators were killed and two children were injured here today when the wing of an airplane collapsed and sent the machine hurtling 2,300 feet to the ground, crashing in the front yard of a home where a half dozen children were at play.

The children ran for safety as the plane came down towards them.

One 14-year-old boy was knocked unconscious and an apron was torn from a four-year-old girl by a piece of the falling plane.

The dead were:

Jack Martin, 24, of Los Angeles, pilot.

William H. Hulbert, of Los Angeles, passenger.

Leonard T. English, of Huntington Park, Cal., passenger.

The plane had taken off from the Burdett airport, Los Angeles, about half an hour before it crashed. Witnesses saw the plane flying in a northwest direction over Wilmington.

As it reached a point near the center of the city, the right wing of the machine was seen to give way suddenly and the plane went into a nose dive.

Jacinto Zamudio, 14, the boy knocked unconscious when the plane crashed in the yard of the home, was revived soon afterward.

The plane was smashed to bits and the pilot and his two passengers were dead when extricated from the wreckage.

ROBBER SHOT IN GUN FIGHT WITH POLICEMEN

CHICAGO, March 18—(AP)—Louis Padersonik, whom the federal authorities said they had been hunting in connection with the 133,000 Evergreen Park mail robbery, Feb. 25, was shot and killed in a gun fight with two policemen early today.

Padersonik and his companion, James Gillespie, became embroiled in an argument with a Negro restaurateur when they suddenly started shooting at him. Two patrolmen passing by opened fire on the two men. Padersonik was instantly killed and Gillespie seriously wounded.

With Padersonik's death, the federal authorities said two remaining members of the gang, which held up the train, are still at large. They are named as William Jackson and Virgil Litsinger. Three others, "Limp Charlie" Cleaver, William Donovon and Frank Meccia, who have been indicted, are in custody of the government.

INJURED IN COLLISION ON MIDDLESEX ROAD

STAMFORD, March 18—(AP)—Sabatino Monaco, 40 years old, of 97 Alden street, Stamford, was taken to the Stamford hospital tonight with possible internal injuries as the result of a collision on Middlesex road in Darien.

Monaco was driving a light truck. He tried to pass a car driven by George F. Harm, of 142 Grove street, Stamford but sideswiped the passenger car and overturned. He was pinned beneath the car. His wife, Mrs. Mary Monaco and their two months old daughter who were riding on the seat side of his were thrown clear of the truck and landed in the gutter unhurt.

Mrs. Margaret Harm, George Harm's mother who was riding with her son was uninjured.

Patrolman Amos Anderson, of the Darien police who was called telephoned for the Stamford ambulance and ordered the man removed to the Stamford hospital.

BURGLAR WAS ARRESTED AT THE POINT OF A GUN

STAMFORD, March 18—(AP)—A man giving the name of Santiago Briceno and his address as the Seamen's home on South street, New York, was arrested early this morning at the point of a gun by Officer Joseph Kerestan charged with burglary and the possession of burglars' tools.

The officer was arresting a noisy drunkard about 3 o'clock this morning when he noticed Briceno lurking in the rear of the tailor shop of Domenic Zemo. He telephoned for help and held up Briceno while he awaited the arrival of two detectives. The officers found a bit and brace, together with a jimmie, rope, bags and a small bottle containing what the police believe is nitroglycerine. Police state that he had already been working on the door with the jimmie when caught.

DISTRESS CALL SENT OUT BY AN ITALIAN STEAMER

LONDON, March 18—(AP)—A message to Lloyd's from Malta said that the steamship Mauretania had received an SOS call from the Italian steamer Stella d'Italia. The distressed vessel's position was given as latitude 37.28 north, longitude 24.25 east. The Stella d'Italia said her machinery had broken down and that she was drifting near the coast.

The position given in the above dispatch places the Stella d'Italia just east of the Island of Kythnos in the Cyclades. The Stella d'Italia was last reported as in harbor at Trieste. She is of 3,395 tons registry.

STEAMER SANTA THERESA WAS DISABLED AT SEA

NEW YORK, March 18—(AP)—After being hove to for more than 26 hours, 500 miles off this port, with disabled engines, the Grace liner Santa Theresa reported to the company's New York offices by wireless that she was in shape to proceed to New York at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

An official of the company said he assumed from the message that the disabled engine had been repaired sufficiently to permit the ship to continue its voyage, and that the Santa Theresa would probably dock late Tuesday or early Wednesday morning, instead of tomorrow morning as scheduled.

The Santa Theresa, with 39 passengers, cleared from Colon, Panama Canal zone, March 12, en route from Valparaiso to New York. Line officials said the passengers were in no danger. The Grace line freighter Caraca, which was about half way from New York to Santa Theresa's position, on its way to Valparaiso, was said to be in touch by wireless with the disabled liner.

A RUPTURE BETWEEN RUSSIA AND GERMANY

BERLIN, March 18—(AP)—The rupture of commercial negotiations between Russia and Germany, caused by the arrest of German engineers in the Don region, has provoked all kinds of editorial comment on the foreign relations of the soviets.

The Vossische Zeitung of Berlin sees in the situation a probability of exploitation of Russian resources by American capital. The paper regrets that the confidence with which Germany spent much money in financing Russian business has been rudely shaken.

BAN KCLERK AND HIS MOTHER UNDER ARREST

NEW YORW, March 18—(AP)—A young bank clerk and his mother were under arrest today, accused of passing $3,878 in worthless checks on the bank where the youth was employed. Another clerk also was held.

They were arrested yesterday on complaint that Nathaniel Finch, 21, and Henry Foster, 26, clerks in the Liberty National bank, cashed checks presented by Mrs. Ann Finch, Nathaniel's mother. A check for $1,500 drawn on a Sante Fe, N. M., bank and cashed March 12, police said, caused their arrests.

They were held in $1,500 bail each, charged with suspicion of grand larceny.

350,000 PERSONS MAKE THEIR LIVING BY CRIME

CHICAGO, March 18.—(AP)—Three hundred and fifty thousand men and women in the United States make their living wholly or partly by crime, Superior Judge Marcus Kavanagh of Chicago estimates in his book on crime, "The Criminal And His Allies," now on the press.

Judge Kavanagh bases his estimate and material in his book on his 33 years work on the bench and three years of research. These criminals, he estimates, committed 12,000 murders and took enough booty to pay for the Panama canal last year.

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS ATTENDED WEDDING

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., March 18—(AP)—Hundreds of distinguished guests, including many of New York's socially prominent, were present this afternoon at the wedding of Sylvia Jane Truax, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn Howard Truax, of this town, and Alexis P. Afanassieff, a graduate of the Imperial Russian naval academy in Petrograd, who was decorated for bravery as commander of a destroyer in the North sea during the World war.

NORTHEASTERN NEW YORK SHAKEN BY EARTHQUAKE SUNDAY MORNING

ALBANY, N. Y., March 18—(AP)—Earth shocks which jarred windows, broke dishes and caused general apprehension shook northeastern New York this morning between 10 and 10.30 o'clock.

The tremors were felt in Saranac Lake, Plattsburgh, Malone and Lake Placid and lasted several seconds.

At Saranac lake the shock was so severe that many residents fled their homes during the tremors. No injuries and no serious property damage was reported.

Geologists have explained following previous earth tremors that shifting of rocks in Logan's fault in this section of the Adirondack mountains is responsible for the quakes.

The last quake of several in the past twenty years was felt February 28, 1926.

The shocks were accompanied by a grinding and roaring. They also were felt on the Canadian side of the border, according to word reaching American points in the shaken area.

The tremors were felt in Saranac lake at 10.20 o'clock, in Lake Placid at 10.22 and in Plattsburgh at 10.27.

In Helen Hill section of Saranac dishes were shaken from shelves and reports from nearby sections said several buildings had been wrenched. The shock here and at Plattsburgh lasted ten seconds, while Lake Placid residents reported the shocks lasted fully a moment.

At Malone the quake caused rumors that an explosion had occurred at a steel factory in Lyon mountain. This was denied by company officials.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS

To restore old king cotton to his throne, 75 women in Charlotte, N. C., have forsaken silk stockings and underwear.

Lady Mary Bailey, who is making a solo flight from England to Cape Town, South Africa, reached Aboukir, near Alexandria, yesterday.

Pope Pius granted a private audience to Prof. Leon Wu, Chinese member of the science faculty of Catholic university, Washington, D. C.

Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink has interrupted a concert tour and returned to New York suffering from a cold which will prevent her singing for several days.

MERCILESS PUBLICITY OF THE TEAPOT DOME SCANDAL

Urged by Senator Capper of Kansas, a Republican—Declares the Republican Party Must Purge Itself—States That For "Spectacular Rottenness" the Teapot Dome Affair Has No Equal in American History.

WASHINGTON, March 18—(AP)—Advocating "merciless publicity as to the source of campaign funds," Senator Capper of Kansas, a republican, tonight made a blanket attack on the whole Teapot Dome scandal, including Harry F. Sinclair's campaign contribution to the treasury of the republican national committee.

"For spectacular rottenness," he declared in a statement, "I doubt whether we have the equal of Teapot Dome in American history, or ever will have."

The republican party, he added, "must purge itself from the oil smudge," and by forceful action demonstrate that it repudiates all those who had to do with the Teapot Dome lease.

"The job must be thoroughly done," he declared, "I believe it will be thoroughly done."

The senator's statement follows:

"The smudge of oil, being smeared blackly across the pages of history, is repulsive to the citizens of the entire country. The trail is slimy, odorous, reeking with corruption.

"For 'ways that are dark and tricks that are vain'; for intrigue and plot; for impudent daring; for melodramatic episodes; for duplicity, craft and cunning—the conspiracy of Teapot Dome is the equal of any of the major crimes carried out by unscrupulous and infamous freebooters in the middle ages. It is more medieval than modern.

"As represented by its chief conspirator, Sinclair, Teapot Dome bought a cabinet officer of the United States with Liberty bonds after he had previously been bought with a 'black satchel' by another oil conspirator.

"With $260,000 in Liberty bonds paid in 1923 to the former chairman of the republican national committee to wipe out a campaign deficit, the implication is plain Sinclair believed this would buy his immunity in his plot to loot the Wyoming naval oil reserves.

"Men who had not given a cent to 'the cause' were induced to exchange their personal checks for packages of the Sinclair bonds and to become dummy contributors to the fund to wipe out the party's campaign deficit.

"This had the effect of reducing a large campaign gift to several smaller amounts and to that extent concealed the Sinclair transaction.

"But such perfuming of tainted money is worse than futile and has proved so.

"In a further career tainted with fraud and corruption, Teapot Dome spent money liberally to delay justice for years in the courts. It spent more of its money to hire a force of detectives to shadow a jury that was trying its leader, Sinclair, for criminal conspiracy, and following this, is believed to have broken into offices in Washington at night to make way with or destroy damaging evidence.

"For spectacular rottenness, I doubt whether we have the equal of Teapot Dome in American history, or ever will have.

"Our laws governing the use of campaign funds, in practice are ineffective. They have no teeth. Campaign expenditures should be limited by law. The real source of every contribution should be a matter of public record. Merciless publicity as to the source of campaign funds is as necessary to prevent corrupt elections as a law placing a limit upon the amount of money that can be expended.

"Congress and the states must find more effective means of preventing lavish use of money in elections.

"The republican party must make plain, by forceful action, that it indignantly repudiates the men who participated in the rape of the government oil lands.

"Teapot Dome and its attendant disgraceful transactions are repugnant to the rank and file of the republican party, as to every other decent citizen. These condemn the party leaders who took part, who smeared and besmirched the party itself with oil. They have faith in the future of the party and of our government.

"Republican leaders must realize that they must face the music or the party will pay the fiddler. The issue cannot be averted. The leaders may condone. The public will not forget.

"Concealment of facts already has impaired public confidence to an extent that is just beginning to be realized. To regain the confidence of the party the leadership must free itself from the widening circle of suspicion that this leadership has tolerated too close an alliance with oil and other exploiting interests. Those leaders who have their eyes on the money bags, when their thoughts should be of the public welfare, must cease to be represented in the leadership of the party. The leadership must be responsive and responsible to the rank and file of the republican party; not subservient to selfish business interests seeking special favor from the government.

"The republican party must purge itself from the oil smudge. The job must be thoroughly done. I believe it will be thoroughly done. I have every confidence in the patriotism, the loyalty, the honesty and sound judgment of the republicans of this country.

"These demand, and will get, honesty, ability and public conscience in the leadership and management of the republican party."

COMMITTED SUICIDE BY JUMPING FROM WINDOW

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 18—(AP)—Detectives found a Bible opened to the 136th Psalm when they went to the room occupied until yesterday morning by Mrs. Lettie Commier, 60, at 15 North Pennsylvania avenue.

Mrs. Commier's form, clad in a nightgown, had come hurtling into an alleyway from a third story window a short time before. She was killed instantly.

The police said she committed suicide. From neighbors, police learned Mrs. Commier had been ill recently. She had lived by herself much of the time since her mother, with whom she had conducted a rooming house in the resort, died eight years ago. She came here from Holyoke, Mass.

AIRPLANE DESTROYED BY FIRE IN MILFORD

MILFORD, Conn., March 18—(AP)—A twin motored amphibian plane owned by the Aircraft Corporation of America, valued at $12,000, together with four tractors, a horse and farm tools was destroyed tonight when fire of an unknown origin destroyed the barn of Harold Beard on the Milford turnpike near Milford Center.

Th plane had been built for the Aircraft corporation which is about to build a factory here and was stored in the barn until the spring. The plane had been tested last fall and was to have been used by Governor Trumbull.

The total damage of the fire was about $25,000 which is partly covered by insurance.

WOMAN MEMBER OF LEGION OF HONOR OF FRANCE

WORCESTER, Mass., March 18—(AP)—Mrs. Homer Gage, of this city was made an officer of the Legion of Honor of France at an impressive ceremony in the American embassy in Paris on Saturday, according to word which reached here today. Her husband, Dr. Gage, was given a similar honor in New York recently, before sailing for France. Both Dr. and Mrs. Gage have been prominent in activities for French charities and in arranging for a fund for the American dormitory at the National university in Paris.

OBITUARY

Rev. James P. Donovan

MIDDLETOWN, March 18—(AP)—Rev. James P. Donovan, DPR, pastor of St. John's R. C. church, died at the church rectory today on his 64th birthday. Dr. Donovan had been in poor health for the past few years but was thought to be recovering when he had a relapse Friday and became unconscious last night.

While chancellor of the diocese Dr. Donovan put a bill through the legislature to recodify the laws relating to church corporations. He also wrote "A Commentary on Canon Law" regarded as an authority in church circles.

In 1904, Dr. Donovan returned to Middletown where he established two other parishes during the course of his pastorate.

While in school and college, Dr. Donovan was regarded as a pitching ace and was urged by Connie Mack to become a professional.

Dr. Donovan is survived by a brother, Chief John Donovan, of the Meriden fire department and a sister, Miss Hannah Donovan who was his housekeeper. Burial will be in St. John's cemetery Middletown with the funeral date to be announced later.

TRIBUTE TO THE VICTIMS OF ST. FRANCIS DAM DISASTER

NEWHALL, Cal., March 18—(AP)—In a brief respite from their grim task of reconstruction, residents of the San Francisquito canyon country today paid a simple tribute to their dead—victims of Tuesday morning's flood let loose by the breaking of the St. Francis dam.

On a wind-swept mesa—a burial ground left untouched by the roaring wave of death—some five hundred neighbors came down from the higher hill country to bury the seven members of Henry Ruiz' family, which had made the canyon its home for generations.

In somber silence, except for the final words of Rev. W. H. Evans, whose 13 years of service in the little community has won him the title of the "shepherd of the valley," the bodies of Henry Ruiz, his wife, their four children and a grand child were laid side-by-side in the grave.

Nearby were the graves of other members of the same family—men and women who had lived in the valley long years ago and left their stamps as pioneers on the countryside.

The Ruiz ranch was about a mile and a half below the dam and had been a landmark in the canyon. Now, not a vestige of it remains—only the yellow waste of sandy silt.

DIRIGIBLE AIRSHIP IS PRONOUNCED SAFE

LEIPZIG, Germany, March 18—(AP)—The dirigible airship was extolled as safe, commercially inexpensive and fit to ride out storms by Dr. Hugo Eckener in a lengthy address before the Leipzig Aeronautical society here last night. The audience included the consuls of the United States, Spain and Argentina.

Dr. Eckener said there was room in aeronautics for both the plane and the dirigible, but he asserted that the dirigible had the advantage because the larger it was the better paying proposition it became.

He condemned the tall mooring mast used in America and advocated instead short masts costing about $5,000 each which would permit the bottom of the dirigible to rest on movable supports, something like the mast used by the Los Angeles at Panama. He said that with such equipment each Zeppelin flight between southern Spain and Argentina would cost $50,000, including only $750 for landing and starting expenses.

He added that if regular weekly flights were made the entire cost of the airship could be written off in two years.

HEAVIEST SNOWFALL OF SEASON IN PENNSYLVANIA

HARRISBURGH, Pa., March 18.—(AP)—The heaviest snow fall of the season buried Pennsylvania last night to a depth of three to 16 inches.

The snow, heavy and wet, was accompanied by little wind with the result that there was little drifting and consequently comparatively slight interference with rail and highway traffic.

Heavy losses face fruit growers of the state if the storm had the same effect in other sections as it did in Dauphin and Cumberland counties State Forester Illick said today.

Peach, cherry, pear and apple trees are susceptible to breakage under the clinging snow such as fell last night, he said, and if conditions elsewhere were similar to this sections the loss will be tremendous.

TO NOTE GOLDEN JUBILEE OF SISTER OF CHARITY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, March 19—Announcements were made from the pulpit of St. Joseph's church today that the Golden Jubilee of the arrival in Willimantic of the Sisters of Charity of Our Lady of Mercy would be appropriately observed with a solemn high mass to be celebrated in St. Joseph's church at 10 o'clock on the morning of Easter Monday. It is expected that Rt. Rev. Bishop John J. Nilan of the Hartford diocese and several priests who served as assistants in the local parish in past years will be present. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Oliver Magnell, pastor of St. Joseph's church, Bristol, who was a curate here under the pastorship of the late Rev. F. L. DeBruycker. The announcements were made by Rev. Henry E. Quinn, pastor and his assistants, Reverends Charles M. Kelly and John Balace.

While the Golden Jubilee will be formally observed on Easter Monday, Saturday, March 17th, however, will mark the 50th anniversary of the coming of the Sisters. On March 17, 1878, five Sisters of Charity who had forsaken home, friends and country, arrived here to take up religious and educational teaching in a growing congregation of Catholics of Irish and French descent. Four of these Sisters came from England and one from Holland. Subsequently as the parish grew other sisters came here and there are now 28 at St. Joseph's convent. Of the five who were first to come here two survive, Rev. Mother Superior Frances of the Sacred Heart convent at Taftville and Sister Onefrey of this city.

Of the 28 Sisters housed at the convent which is under supervision of Rev. Mother Superior Geraldine, ten are engaged in elementary and religious teaching at St. Joseph's grammar school where 429 pupils are registered this year. There are 12 Sisters, seven of whom are registered nurses, engaged in the care of the sick and dying at St. Joseph's hospital. They are assisted in their arduous duties at the institution by the students of the Nurse Training school of which Sister Lorence is superintendent. Rev. Charles M. Kelly is superintendent of the grammar school.

The Golden Jubilee will also mark the 20th anniversary of the founding of St. Joseph's hospital and of the entrance of the Sisters in this humanitarian work. Rev. Father Quinn points out that these Sisters, who are giving their all to the service and salvation of mankind receive no compensation but the spiritual blessings and contentment that come of sacrificing life itself in God's employ.

FORMER NORWICH WOMAN DIES IN WILLIMANTIC

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, March 19—Mrs Martha L. Burnham, native of Norwich and widow of Amos B. Burnham, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alice B. Taintor of 7 Spring street Saturday morning. She was born in Norwich, October 3, 1849, a daughter of Elisha and Mary T. Campbell Billings. She was a member of the local Methodist Episcopal church. The deceased leaves two daughters, Mrs. Alice B. Taintor and Mrs. Lois B. Avery of this city; five grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Notice was given Saturday by Henry S. Billings, secretary of the public utilities commission that a hearing on the matter of eliminating a dangerous bridge condition at Phelps Crossing, a span over the tracks of the New Haven railroad would be held at the state capitol in Hartford, Thursday, March 19, at 10.30 a. m., in Room 41. The crossing, which is but one mile and a half from the city limits and on the North Windham highway to Providence and Boston, has been admitted by in sore need of reconstruction for many years. The petition is signed by John A. Macdonald, commissioner of the state highway department, Ernest P. Chessebro, first selectman of the town of Windham, Louis Lux of North Windham and C. E. Williams, manager of the American Woolen company at Shawsheen village, Andover, Mass. The present bridge, which has been given considerable deprecating publicity in these columns previously, is a narrow wooden structure which combines with death-curve approaches to make of it a constant menace to safety. When concrete surfacing was laid over the highway two years ago it was understood that the plan was to build a new concrete span over the railroad tracks at a mild angle to eliminate curving approaches.

A high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Mary's church at nine o'clock Saturday morning for Pierre Rondeau, the funeral being from the late home 74 Elm street. Rev. J. J. Papillon, the pastor, officiated. Special choral music was rendered with Mrs. Joseph F. Gaudreau at the organ. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery where a committal prayer was read by Rev. Fr. Papillon. The bearers were Abram Rondeau, Edgar Rondeau, John Surprenant, Eusebe Boldue, Napoleon Rondeau and William Bergeron.

The 34th anniversary of Purinton Temple, No. 2, Pythian Sisters was celebrated at a meeting Friday night with visitors coming from Hartford and Manchester.

Included in the business was the appointment of a general committee to arrange for the Grand Temple convention which will be held in this city October 16, next, this committee to be composed of Eva Adams, Lena Gates, Mary Snow and Ella Gurley. A baked bean supper was served on tables decorated in keeping with St. Patrick's day. A musical entertainment in charge of Catherine Higgins included a piano solo by Doris Burnham; banjo solo, William Hart of Hartford; vocal solo, Elaine Hardman; and banjo and piano duet, Celia and John Hardman. This was followed by dancing.

While St. Patrick's day was not observed generally locally, this fact did not however abate the popularity of "the wearing of the green." Green was in evidence on individuals in the nature of scarfs, handkerchiefs, hatbands, neckware, etc, while rhinestone, bows and shoe decorations were displayed by the flapper element. Beautiful green shades were effectively carried out in special window trimmings, one of the windows of Butleman's store being among those to attract considerable attention, especially among the fair sex.

The funeral of Mrs. Arlona May Griggs was held at the Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. Harold H. Critchlow officiating, at two o'clock Saturday afternoon. Burial was in the new Willimantic cemetery where the officers of Violet Rebekah lodge, No. 57, I. O. O. F., conducted a committal service at the grave. The bearers were Fred Woodward, Charles Mass, Channing H. Morrill, Charles Beardley, Frank P. Bradway and William Smith. Arrangements were in charge of Avery and VanZandt.

The board of directors of the Willimantic Welfare bureau have elected as officers for the year the following: President, John C. Wilcox of the Willimantic Trust company; first vice-president, Mrs. Frederick C. Williams; second vice-president, Mrs. Christopher C. Cass; secretary, Miss Elizabeth P. Anderson; treasurer, Pierre J. Laramee; chairman of finance committee, Mrs. Bertha Thompson; chairman of advisory committee, Miss Elizabeth Stone; chairman of publicity committee, Rev. Frederick C. Williams. Ways and means are being devised for the financing of the bureau for the year.

The humane treatment of animals as sponsored by national Be Kind to Animals anniversary week, April 15-21 will be pleaded locally through the church pulpits on April 15, and fitting programs arranged by the teachers in the public and parochial schools of the town.

Hail that came during the night and a drizzling rain today, followed Saturday's spring-like weather. The storm was not considered serious enough, however, to offset several unmistakable signs of the early approach of spring as reported Saturday. Joseph Mathieu of North Windham said that while feeding his poultry Saturday morning he saw a flock of robins, he and mmebers of his family counting 14 birds in the flock. Rural Mail Carrier George H. Arnold substantiated this report of the northern return of the red-breasts by seeing two robins in the yard of the Adam Kusnate home ni the Flanders district of the town of Coventry.

Mrs. George O'Neal of upper Main street entertained at a surprise party in honor of Mrs. Ira Perry Friday evening. A green color scheme was carried out and music furnished for entertainment. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Rose Potter, Mrs. Minnie Johnson, Mrs. Louis Day, Elmer Perry, Mrs. Iva Perry, Mrs. Martha Vergerson, Leonard Burr, Norman Burr, Mr and Mrs. George O'Neal and daughter Gertrude O'Neal.

Rev. William S. Beard of New York, former pastor of the First Congregational church here, occupied the pulpit today in observance of Loyalty class Sunday. His subject was The Big Parade. Rev. Mr. Beard also addressed the union meeting of the young people of the church in the evening. While here he is guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Parker.

NOANK

HOWARD BROWN IN INDIANA MISSES BEING A HERO

Howard Brown left the village a few weeks ago on his way to Hollywood to enter the movies. A letter had reached Harold Sweet telling how well the young man is getting on. He writes "I reached Indiana after hitting a bad snowstorm that tied up everything. Just before reaching this city I was in New London, Ohio, and could not get any work; a long bread line was formed. Me and my banjo gave a concert for a small crowd coming out of a box shop. I played and sang for 30 minutes and told some jokes. The crowd gave me a big hand and I got 10 dollars in my hat. But jobs are nowhere in sight—never saw anything like it before. I saw an old Ford car with 12 cities' names written all over it, two young fellows were touring the country raising money to go to college in Cincinnati. Their homes are in Springfield, Ill. They told how many miles they have been also selling postcards of the rattling good old Ford. Red Brown told them the goal he is trying to reach, California and be a star in the movies like Charles Murray. They said "Good luck to you!" Young Brown wants to know how is John Ashly's Corn Cob club coming along. Has the winter started or is Indian summer still with you Noankers. Tell Treasurer Billie Fitzgerald of the Saturday Night club that the wrist watch the club members gave me on my farewell send-off is going strong and keeps good time. Wakes the birds up in the morning! He also writes: "I had an experience while in Indiana. A young boy named Terry McKane was playing near a brook and fell in. The boy called for help and as I was going by I heard the cry, saw him going down for the second time. I jumped into the water and saved the boy's life. His mother came on the run and asked the funny man of Elm St., what had happened, he told her and she got mad and said I pushed the boy into the water, so instead of being the hero I got the devil! I am feeling fine. Will write the next letter in Hollywood."

Gordon Clark has shipped as mate on board the Alice K.

Miss Mary P. Johnson is spending a few days in Niantic with her cousin, Miss Jessie Harris.

The Hammer Nine Baseball team that set the town going, having a fast team a few seasons ago cleaned up everything in this section. The players are house carpenters for Uncle Eugene McDonald at Groton Long Point. At the noon hour Friday a meeting was called by the president, Geo. McDonald to talk over plans for the coming season. Manager Paul Mike Sullivan was elected while Lefty J. Bennett is the choice for captain with the team. Big H. Mallory, an ex-minor league player from the International league is a first baseman, a good hitter and a 210 man on the bases It was voted to get new suits, the color blue. Treasurer Steve Austin says there is no money in the treasurer so it was voted to have a cake sale. The Hammer Nine players are practicing under Coach Foxy Billie McDonald but the season will not start before the middle of May. The next meeting will be held at the home of Manager Sullivan.

WESTERLY

ROY NOYES INJURED—HELGE NORDIN DISAPPEARS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., March 18—Roy Noyes, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Noyes of Cross Mills is a patient on the danger list at the Westerly hospital where he was taken about 3:15 this morning as the result of his Studebaker auto overturning, at a turn in the Boston Post road near the King Tom farm in Charlestown. Noyes accompanied by Helge Nordin, who is employed by Thomas L. Arnold of Arnolds, was returning home from leaving Thomas L. Arnold, 2nd at the Westerly railroad station to return to his studies at Yale, after visiting his uncle's home in Charlestown. When a tree was struck by the roadside the auto crashed into a stone wall and overturned, pinning Noyes beneath it. A passing car with New York plates reported the overturned car, with two unconscious men near it, to two smelt fishermen returning home and a telephone call was sent for the ambulance of the Westerly Sanitary corps which when it arrived took Noyes to the Westerly hospital but did not find his companion.

At the hospital Noyes was treated by Dr. John W. Heltrich, and found to have a fractured skull, with two bad cuts. At the time he was extracted from the auto wreck his feet were reported as sticking through the broken windshield. Consciousness was not regained until about 9 a. m. at the hospital.

Nordin, 21, who was born in Sweden, had been employed by Mr. Arnold for the past four years, a short time after the auto accident went to the Arnold place and taking his Essex car was thought to have gone for a physician but upon his non-appearance Sunday afternoon, fear was expressed that Nordin may not have entirely recovered from the effects of the accident and is suffering from a mental lapse.

FIRES OUTSIDE DISTRICT CARED FOR BY DEPARTMENT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, March 18—Saturday afternoon and night the Westerly fire department responded to two fires outside Westerly Fire district boundaries. Shortly before 2 p. m. Fire Chief George E. Egger received a telephone call from the farm of Dr. William C. Thompson on the old Potter Hill road that a grass and brush fire had spread beyond control and was approaching the woods on the Nathan Saunders farm, across the old Potter Hill road from the Thompson farm. The brush fire-fighting truck with a score of men responded to the alarm from box No. 33 sounded by Westerly Automatic Telephone central at the direction of Chief Egger. Several acres were burned over, but the firemen prevented the flames reaching the woodland and sweeping over many acres toward Boom Bridge.

At 11 p. m. an alarm was sounded for No. 33 by a telephone call from Bradford where a basement fire was burning in the frame building owned by Peter Grilla, on Main street across from Bradford post office. The first floor is occupied by a G. A. and P. Tea store under Manager Hutchins and the second floor apartments by the families of Robert Sankey and A. Vuono. Neighbors aroused Mrs. Sankey who was in bed asleep in her apartment, before she was endangered by the smoke which later filled the rooms of the building.

The Ahrens-Fox pumper with First Assistant Engineer Robert Bonner and some twenty-five firemen made the run to Bradford, where the contents of the booster tank were emptied into the basement where the flames were burning wooden packing boxes near a partition. Before the arrival of the pumper the cellar windows and openings had been closed to prevent a draught, until the water could be turned into the cellar, from which dense smoke rose inside and out of the building. Bradford firemen from the B. D. A. plant stretched a fire hose line on a jumper reel from a mill hydrant corner of Bowling lane and Main street as far as it would reach to the residence of Dr. David Marr. A coupling gate was attached and many lengths of hose from the Westerly truck were laid to the burning building and the water was pumped from the mill to extinguish the flames. Firemen with smoke masks entered the cellar to complete the work of drowning out the blaze. Most of the damage was from smoke.

Frank Acolina, 16, son of Mrs. Angelina Acolina of 55 Pleasant street, is a patient at Westerly hospital recovering from a fracture of the skull. His injury was received late Friday evening when he fell from the rear of a grocery truck at the junction of John and Granite streets. His head struck the hard road surface and he was rendered unconscious. He is a member of the student council of Westerly high school and president of the sophomore class.

Harley P. Chase post, Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary held a St. Patrick's day dance Saturday evening in the Westerly town hall to music by the Crandall-Sutcliffe orchestra. Winners of the prize fox trot were Miss Lucina Bauerle and Alva Crandall. The judges, Mrs. Bessie Cranston, Miss Mary Driscol and Thomas Wright. The committee in charge of the affair was Mrs. Helena Bean, Mrs. Margaret Greenman, Miss Ethel Kenyon and Mrs. Bessie Cranston.

With favorable weather conditions this (Monday) morning it is hoped that work may be started on the laying of brick in the rear wall of the new central fire station headquarters on Union street. On Saturday, workmen were engaged in clearing about the rear foundation cement wall and leveling off the ground in readiness for the handling of the brick, where unfinished brick will be laid below the grade line. The partition foundation wall between the proposed shop end of the structure and the large storage room was also poured on Saturday. Some 1400 pressed face brick of Harvard red from Barrington, R. I., a carload lot, are already under cover at the rear of the building. The granite course blocks for the water table have been cut at the Smith Granite Works and delivery can be started today (Monday.) With the steel skeleton work in place some appreciation can be gained of the size of the new fire station which in width will be but 15 feet shorter than the front of the high school building, corner of Broad and Granite streets.

This (Monday) morning Judge Arthur P. Sumner in Washington county superior court will begin the fourth day of the trial of the contested Morris-Morris divorce case when witnesses for the defence will continue on the stand. The case which was heard in the September term of superior court at Kingston and with the husband the petitioner, was denied, now has him as the defendant and is being heard without jury.

Charles B. Clark of Wakefield, R. I., was the guest of Westerly relatives Sundoay afternoon.

Thirty mebers of the Drake & Walker All Colored Revue troup after playing in Westerly the past week left town on the Sunday morning accommodation in a special car for Providence to appear in Woonsocket the coming week. A special locomotive took the scenery and properties through in time to permit a matinee appearance.

A woman passenger on a Sunday noon west-bound express on the New Haven road informed the conducter who asked for her ticket that he "would have to see the president of the United States." Unable to comply with the request immediately, the conductor on making the Westerly station stop, sent word to a railroad detective Hawkshaw, at New London to have arrangements completed by the time the train arrived at the Whaling City.

The dinner which will conclude the Intra-club Bridge Whist tournament, in which the side captained by Dwight Freeman defeated the aggregation of George Smith in the roms of the Westerly Square and Compass club is to be held Wednesday evening, March 21st at the inn. The committee of arrangements is William R. Chapman, and Captains George Smith and Dwight Freeman.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

W. B. Caldwell M.D. AT AGE 83

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

DANIELSON

MACHINE SKIDS AND OVERTURNS; NO ONE HURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, March 18—A wet and slippery highway surface and the application of brakes of a Studebaker car coming down Hall's hill at South Killingly early this afternoon resulted in the machine skidding and turning over twice before it came to a halt. Mrs. D. F. Madge Holmes of 1413 Narragansett boulevard, Cranston, R. I., was driving the machine, which is registered in the name of her husband, Daniel F. Holmes. Riding with Mrs. Holmes when the accident occurred was her husband's mother. The women escaped from the wreck without any serious injury. State Officers Elton Nolan and Emil Castagne of Danielson barracks checked up the accident. The damaged car was towed to a garage here. The occupants of the machine were en route to Danielson to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Crosby of Academy street when the accident occurred.

Twenty friends of Miss Dorothy Burton gathered at her home for a St. Patrick's party, and were most delightfully entertained. The home and the tables were prettily decorated in green, and there was an apron and cap of green for each of the guests. Green frosting for the cakes, and ice cream served in the form of shamrocks were other interesting little details indicating how the plans for the party were worked out. The evening was given over to various diversions and was altogether pleasing to the participants.

Drivers of motor cars here continue to complain that they are being subjected to a great deal of worry through persons walking carelessly in the streets, inviting accidents, when, many times, there are good sidewalks, which they ignore. The utter carelessness with which so many people risk injury or death by cars, has given rise in the minds of some drivers as to what liability really rests upon them if they should, through some untoward circumstance hit one of these aptly called jay-walkers. The contention of these drivers is that, under the circumstances, the law should not be too severe with them. There are a few who believe that a court might exonerate them from responsibility if they could show beyond all reasonable doubt that the walker and not the driver was responsible for such an accident as is herein discussed. The average operator of a motor vehicle is mortally afraid of hitting a person with his machine, but were he as careless as hundreds of people are here, as to walking in the streets when there is no need of doing it, the casualty lists would number 50 a day. The motorists are clamoring for some protection against this unwarranted hazard to which they are subjected. All they ask is reasonable familiy protection upon the part of others. There is nothing high hat at all in their attitude. They feel that the walker should be as much concerned as to not getting hit with a car as the driver is not to hit anyone—just a 50-50 proposition.

The situation here has become so bad that numbers of people will deliberately walk in the center of a street, with a good sidewalk within a few feet, and absolutely ignore the approach of a car, forcing a driver to stop for them. Aside from the danger of accidents that such conduct invites, it really isn't at all fair. And it may be mentioned that some of those who do such things are owners of automobiles themselves.

Michael Molinski of Elmville should be, and probably is, grateful for the fact that he has a family. The family was a potent consideration in saving him from going to jail Saturday, when he pleaded guilty before Judge W. Fenner Woodward in the town court to operating a motor vehicle while he was under the influence of an intoxicant and for transporting liquor without having a permit to do so.

Molinski was fined $5 on each count, with costs, and given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail. He was represented by Attorney Harry E. Back. The family enters into the case because the members of it likely would become town charges during any period that Molinski might be locked up, and for this reason he escaped a more severe penalty than was meted out to him.

On Saturday night, March 10, Molinski drove his car into a pole on Franklin street, near St. James' church. Happening along, State Officer Elton Nolan checked up the accident, found the driver to be in an intoxicated condition and a few gallons of liquor in the machine.

Mrs. Alice Pray, 83, widow of Henry W. Pray, died about 11 o'clock Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Kies on School street. Mrs. Pray was born in Norwich July 4, 1844, a daughter of Thomas and Marie Fanning Fitzgerald. Practically all of her long life was lived in the town of Killingly, and for years she was a resident of East Killingly. Mrs. Pray leaves two daughters, Mrs. Marvin Kies of Danielson and Mrs. Chauncey Chase of Jewett City, and a son, Luther, of Danielson.

What may be termed the first step along the long road that will lead to the state and national elections next November, as things political go, will be taken Monday evening of this week when republicans of Killingly will hold a caucus to name delegates to the republican state convention to be held in Hartford, April 17-18 to elect delegates to the republican national convention. As in other presidential years, Killingly has numerous caucuses to occupy attention during the next few months. Another matter that will claim the attention of the voters this week is the annual borough caucus Tuesday evening.

Official winter made today what may be its last stormy gesture, for Wednesday brings the beginning of spring. Hail snapping viciously against screens and window panes early this morning forecasted to early risers a Sunday dominated by the vagaries of a northeast storm. The hail later gave place to rain and cold and penetrating conditions for those who remained out of doors. The storm knocked off church attendance and was largely responsible for ever so many people enjoying a real day of rest, for it was just the kind of day to cling closely to family firesides, and, that it would appear, is what the great majority of people did.

Mrs. John Merrick Paine has gone to Boston to remain for a few weeks.

Mrs. Nelson Gauthier of Broad street is a patient at St. Vincent's hospital in Worcester, having undergone a surgical operation.

Mrs. Mary Taylor of Webster spent the week end with her sister, Miss Katherine D. Aylward.

Today Miss Clare Sullivan of Pawtucket was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Kennedy of Furnace street.

Mrs. Antonia Thomashefski, 69, died Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Millet Radio in Moosup. The deceased was a native of Poland.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Lillibridge and son of Naugatuck were visitors here over the week end with Mrs. Minnie Lillibridge.

Today John Day of Providence was a visitor here with his aunt, Mrs. Stella Prentice.

William P. Perkins is confined to his home by illness.

A mid-Lenten dance at the armory on St. Patrick's night attracted attendance from numbers of eastern Connecticut communities.

At one o'clock Saturday afternoon the fire department answered a call for a chimney fire at the George Cook house on Oak street. There was no damage to the property.

Rev. E. E. Scates of Jewett City is to supply at the Union Baptist church in East Killingly incident to special services he is to conduct at the Baptist church here during the current week.

James A. Herrenden of Lowell was a visitor with friends in Danielson over the week end.

Experiences of the past few days have taught motorists to avoid country roads hereabouts for the time being, as they are rutted and rough.

Monday night will be Travel night in Killingly grange, so called because of special talks that are to be given on Honolulu and Canada.

Major E. L. Darbie will make his annual inspection of the headquarters company at Putnam Monday evening of this week.

Persons having batteries, ties or other articles at Goulet's garage, Union street, are requested to call for them immediately. Charles E. Ayer, trustee. —Adv.

JEWETT CITY

SURVEY SHOWS TROUT BROOKS ALL ABNORMALLY HIGH

Two local trout fishermen, who never "wet a line" until the brooks are right, were out at the week end looking things over. The report at night was to the effect that there is no need getting out the rod quite yet. Of the eleven best brooks in Griswold, there is not one down to its normal spring water stage. Local brooks have fared well in stocking allotments, and have received from the state hatcheries within the year, close to fifty cans of fingerling trout.

Twenty-five years ago through the efforts of the late P. B. Driscoll, and former Game Warden W. H. Bennett, an attempt was made to get wall-eyed pike into local waters. Twenty cans were placed in the Aspinook reservoir, between Canterbury and the dam, but for some reason, never one was caught with hook and line. Last year, this town made a record for big trout, caught from one bridge. William Purdon and Dr. Jennings both hooked two-pounders. As is often the case, a small Polish boy, trying for bull-heads, with a black alder pole and a night-crawler for bait, hauled one out into the road that weighed in the borough, as soon as the boy could get here, but two ounces short of three pounds. This was the largest square-tailed brook trout, but one, ever on record here. The late Sam Carpenter caught one, through a hole in the ice off Tracy's island that weighed 4 pounds flat.

At intervals between Jewett City and Putnam, and between Norwich and New London on the state road, are long lines of heavy snow break fences. These snow breaks were set up at places where deemed necessary to make a break in the long wind sweep, where northeast gales were allowed too much opportunity to pile up snow drifts in the highway. A traveler through this territory today, inquired in a local store, as to what they were, he supposing them to be movable fences, whereby a lot was made smaller or larger for the benefit of grazing stock. A listener sought for information as to the last date when these long lines of "snow breaks," did service, in their intended capacity. The answer seemed to be, "Who Knows?"

Piano players for the week evening services this week in the Baptist vestry are as follows: Monday evening, Mrs. John Davis; Tuesday evening, Miss Beatrice Cathcart; Wednesday evening, Mrs. Geo. Prior; Thursday evening, Mrs. Geo. Sparks. The Solo Singers will be: Monday evening, Miss Verna Tarbox; Tuesday evening, Mrs. E. E. Scates; Wednesday evening, Miss Winifred Scates; Thursday evening, Miss Florence Quimby; Friday evening, Mrs. Geo. Prior. All these services are open to the public. Rev. C. J. Armstrong, of Danielson is the speaker for each evening.

Howard R. Campbell, of Bayonne, N. J. was a week end visitor at the home of his cousin, Mrs. H. Gordon Willis.

Misses Dorothy Paul and Jean Burleson spent the week end in Hartford and with their sisters, Mrs. A. H. Strickland in Middletown and with Mrs. Richard Meyer in New Britain.

The American Legion auxiliary meets this (Monday) evening.

Delwyn Martin, of the Dudley Bible institute is at his home for a week.

AMSTON

The St. Patrick's supper held at the church Thursday was well patronized and a staff of handsome waiters was on the spot ready to take orders. The menu comprised Irish stew, salads, beans, cakes, ornamented with green, and coffee. After the supper an entertainment, "Bits of Ireland," was given.

Clarkson F. Bailey and son, and Ned Raymond attended the recent bouts in Willimantic. Miss Ruth Raymond and Mrs. Bailey attended the theatre.

Miss Ruth Raymond spent the week-end in Westchester, the guest of Miss Dorothy Raymond.

P. Gross has returned after spending six weeks at his New York home.

The Amston Inn is to be opened this spring under the same management as last year.

Thomas N. Nagle was in Willimantic during the week.

The workers of the Electric company are trimming branches, preparatory to stringing the wire. It is hoped that Amston may enjoy the service by next winter.

The Doubleday twins have been ill but are now able to be about.

Mrs. Clarkson F. Bailey was in Middletown at the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Raymond are recovering from mumps.

News was received late Sunday evening of the death of Miss Jane Wilde, at Mansfield. She was formerly of Jewett City and her body will be brought. She is survived by a sister-in-law, Mrs. Jennie Wilde of Plainfield.

The right kind of "smile" never does any harm at a prayer meeting.

The inspecting officers will be Colonel Foreman of the United States Army of the 1st corps area of Boston, Colonel Foreman will be the federal inspector. Colonel J. F. Gohn, U. S. A., senior instructor for the 43rd division of Connecticut and Colonel H. L. Bissell, U. S. P. N. D. O., wil be the inspecting officers for the state. Major E. L. Darbie, commanding officer of special troops for the 43rd division will also be present.

Captain John J. McGarry, commanding officer of the headquarters company stated that every officer and enlisted man in the company will be present tonight to answer roll or they will be subject to a fine provided in the Connecticut general statutes. Captain McGarry has his company recruited to full strength, now allowed him by the state national guard authorities. During the past few weeks many men have been enlisting in the company.

Captain McGarry has extended a cordial invitation to the public to attend the inspection of the company Monday evening at 7:30 p. m.

The Boy Scouts of St. Mary's church officially opened the new armory Saturday evening when they held a St. Patrick's day whist and entertainment. More than 600 people jammed the new building to witness the high class vaudeville acts and the card parties. The drill hall was prettily decorated with the Stars and Stripes joined to the flag of the Irish Free State. The new Irish flag passed many people unrecognized. It is similar in design to that of the Italian national emblem, the colors being green, white and orange.

The evening's entertainment was opened with a concert by the orchestra, followed by the whist party. After the prizes were awarded the feature of the evening started. The vaudeville opened with a versatile entertainer, Edward Connelly. This act was followed with a magical presentation by William Banfield. Miss Lucille Bowen, a fancy dancer interpreted all of the latest dance steps. Miss Bowen was very clever and was well received by the audience. Tommy and Shauter, a juvenile dance team gave exhibitions of many of the old Irish jigs and they continued their act with many of the latest jazz steps. This entertainment was followed up with Creedon and Rice, who gave many of the latest dancing steps. John Ross of Waterbury tickled many with his original interpretation of "Pat Rooney." Ross is a comedian of high clas and much ability. The program ended with a group of musical selections by a quartette from St. Mary's choir.

The boys sold ice cream and green carnations during the course of the programme, from which they netted a goodly sum.

The Cargill Council, Knights of Columbus assisted the boys with the arrangements. The affair was highly successful and the proceeds will go towards the outfitting of the newly organized troops.

St. Patrick's day was largely observed in Putnam Saturday. During the day green was the predominating color, throughout the city. Shamrocks and green carnations were given out to patrons of the local theatres Saturday. In the evening many social functions were held by the fraternal organizations. Over the radio many listened to the favorite Irish songs that were broadcast in accordance with the day.

The members of the Hook and Ladder company from the central fire station were called on Saturday morning to answer a four stroke alarm. The fire was in an open lot near the Prentice Ice house. The fire was burning rapidly when the firemen arrived, but was quickly subdued with the aid of chemicals before it could do any further damage.

The company was again called on Sunday morning to extinguish a chimney fire at the home of Mrs. Louis Chandelaine on School street. The blaze was confined to the chimney and was overcome with chemicals. No damage resulted.

The weekly card tournament between the Elks and the Masonic clubs will be played Monday evening at the Elks club.

A meeting of the Anselm Mayotte post, of the American Legion was held Friday evening at the home of Commander and Mrs. Martin B. Robertson, on Center street. The ladies of the legion held a meeting and made all necessary plans toward the formation of an auxiliary for the legion, with the expectation of applying for a charter during the coming month.

The Legion members discussed plans for the observance of Memorial day and for the annual banquet in honor of the intended visit of the department commander, and other matters of general legion interest.

Following the group meetings, the parties joined forces with ladies and the fun started beginning with soap bubbles and not ending until long after refreshments were served.

Edward Keefe of New Haven was a week end visitor with his parents Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Keefe of Ring street.

Harry Davis of Boston spent the week end with his sister Mrs. Joseph Schmanscha of Walnut street.

Francis H. Murphy of Sunnyside was in Norwich Sunday.

Mrs. Mary Harris of Woodstock avenue celebrated her 82nd birthday Thursday afternoon at her home. In the afternoon many friends gathered at Mrs. Harris's home and wished her success during the coming year. A birthday cake was made by one of her neighbors, the cake was cut by Mrs. Harris and each one present was given a piece. Although Mrs. Harris has passed her 82nd milestone of life, she gets out every day and does her daily shopping. She is a regular member of the Second Congregational church and is well versed on the topics of the day and also enjoys attending the motion picture shows.

Mrs. Harris is the widow of William R. Harris of Putnam. He was at one time owner of the Harrisville mills in Harrisville. In years past this little village west of Putnam was a progressive manufacturing village. The Harrises lived there many years, and when the north end of Woodstock avenue started to become one of Putnam's residential sections, Mr. Harris acquired land there and erected the house where Mrs. Harris now resides.

The members of the Drop-In-Class of the Second Congregational church met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. I. Simpson of Fremont street. During the meeting reports of the officers for the year 1927 were read. The reports showed that the class was in a good financial condition and had accomplished much work during the year.

Plans for spring and summer meetings were made. In April, the class has arranged to have Frank R. Barber, head of the American Junior Achievement league speak before the members of the class. Mr. Barber was formerly superintendent of the rural schools of Woodstock and Pomfret and is well known in Putnam. The members of the class are arranging to have Mr. Barber speak in some local auditorium where they can invite the public to attend.

Saturday afternoon at her home Miss Dorothy Bradford celebrated her fourteenth birthday with a party, which many of her little friends attended. Miss Bradford is the daughter of State's Attorney and Mrs. Howard C. Bradford of South Main street.

As spring approaches the old question of a suitable swimming pool again arises in Putnam. Since the state improved the road at Harrisville and erected a new cement bridge over the Little river, they took away the little bend in the river where the water deepens, that was known for many years as the "Old Swimmin' Hole." Since this pool of water was taken by the state and bridged with concrete, Putnam has had no adequate bathing place, except Roseland lake, which has proved to be out of reach of many.

Just what steps will be taken to replace the old pool is not known, but it is hoped that action will be taken to build a new bathing place before the hot summer months arrive.

Richard Gilpatric of Pottstown, Penn., is spending a few weeks with his mother, Mrs. Irene W. Gilpatric of Church street.

Luke White of Hartford was in Putnam over the week end as the guest of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Michael R. White of Eden street.

Miss N. Alice Dalton of Northampton, Mass., spent the week end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Bulger of Farrows street.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McQuillan, Gerald H. Noonan and Miss Mariam Powers of Providence were the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Bulger of Farrows street, Sunday.

Mrs. Constance Welsh Perkins Sherwin died at her home 570 Park avenue, New York, Friday. She was the wife of Robert W. Sherwin who, with two children, survives. Mrs. Sherwin was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Welsh. In her early life she made her home with her uncles, J. Lawrence Perkins and Russell Perkins, of Pomfret. She was married to Mr. Sherwin in September, 1917. Her husband is treasurer and a member of the board of directors of the Commonwealth Bond corporation.

The March meeting of the teachers of the schools of the town of Ledyard was held Wednesday afternoon in the school house at Gales Ferry with supervisor James F. Donnolly presiding. They discussed the giving of the Stanford Achievement test. The April and May meetings will also be held here. The prize speaking and spelling contest of the schools will be held at Grange Hall, Ledyard Center, May 16.

Miss Grace E. Povey, who has been ill for about two weeks at her home here, will be able to resume her duties at the New London Public Library Monday.

Mrs. Robert Miller and Miss Gertrude D. Allen of Long Cove, were guests at supper Tuesday evening of Mrs. Andrew P. Miller. Miss Allen was the overnight guest of Mrs. Miller.

The Jolly Cookies and So-ers, the local 4-H club, met with their leader, Mrs. R. Irving Hurlbutt, at Wood Lawn farm Friday afternoon. Miss Rose Norcross, the president, presided. Club songs were sung and a short business meeting was held. Bernice Percival was added to the entertainment committee to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Ethel Lane. Plans are being laid for an entertainment to be given in March. A demonstration of the thimble case was given by Margaret Parker and Velma Atkins. Rose Norcross and Helen DeRusha demonstrated the making of a kimona nightdress. Stunts were enjoyed, led by the first year girls during the social hour. Chocolate and saltines were served.

PLAINFIELD

This (Monday) evening March 19, the republicans of Connecticut will meet in caucus to start the preliminaries of the coming elections. Locally the republican caucus will be held in the town hall at Central Village. Plainfield republicans will meet to elect four delegates to the state republican convention and four to the congressional district convention to be held in Hartford, April 17 and 18.

Doris, the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Babcock caught her arm in the wringer of the electric washing machine during the week. Her arm is badly bruised.

Funeral service of Mrs. Wallace Salisbury was held Wednesday at the First Congregational church, Rev. William C. Prentiss officiating. Burial was at Packer cemetery. Mrs. Salisbury leaves her husband, two small children, Wallace and Ella, a brother in New Britain and two sisters and a brother in Austria.

Phyllis Vaillant has the mumps.

Copies of the St. Paul's illustrated 1927 year book just out have been distributed to parish church members and others. Among the pictures in the book is a photograph of the late president of the Woman's auxiliary branch, the choir and the members of the 1927 English tea party, the cast in the play "Fortune Hunting" presented at the Community house.

This week a gasoline Kiddie Kar began regularly to replace the steam train from Plainfield to Providence This is for passengers only. The gasoline car made its first trip from Providence last Sunday night. The regular trip of the car will be only from Plainfield to Washington, R. I., where passengers to Providence will transfer to a regular steam train.

MYSTIC

ST. PATRICK ENTERTAINMENT IS GIVEN BY SODALITY

Columbus hall was crowded Saturday evening, when the Young Ladies' sodality of St. Patrick's church presented a program under the direction of George R. McKenna. Minstrel melodies with many popular songs were given by the entertainers and they were loudly applauded. Part two, a comedy in one act, "Boosting Bridget," made a big hit. Following the entertainment, there was dancing.

Funeral services for Robert H. Nichols, who died in Plymouth, Mass., Wednesday, were held in the local Methodist church Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Lyman G. Horton, D. D., officiated and Palestine commandery, No. 6, K. T. conducted the committal service. The bearers were Knights Templar and burial was in Elm Grove cemetery. There were many present as Mr. Nichols lived here a number of years and leaves numerous friends. The floral pieces were especially beautiful.

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Main and daughter, Hazel, went to Providence Friday and brought Mr. and Mrs. William Benjamin home with them for a visit of some weeks. Mr. Benjamin is a brother of Mrs. Main and has been in poor health for the past three months.

Mrs. Howard Sims, of Portland, Me., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kennedy, in Old Mystic.

Florine Dow camp, Royal Neighbors, is to meet this (Monday) evening.

THE S-4 RAISED

Under favorable weather conditions the S-4 has been lifted from the bottom off Provincetown and towed to the drydock at Boston. Good luck attended these week-end efforts for once the air pressure was turned on for the pontoons and the several rooms of the underwater boat everything proceeded favorably, even the northeaster withholding its fury until the lost sub had been gotten to a point where the danger of its going to the bottom again was overcome.

All this work of raising the S-4 went according to schedule. It was just what was expected, but it required three long and anxious months to get everything in readiness for this great effort. Whatever may be said or thought about the need of appliances which will provide greater safety for the underwater boats, or for those that will make it possible to raise the sunken ones quicker, the stories which are told of the dangers involved by those who work about sunken craft at a depth of 100 feet, the handicaps imposed by a problem of that character and the care that must be taken to see that all details are properly taken care of all serve to demonstrate the huge task that is involved when a submarine has to be lifted from deep water.

Although it has been a winter's job to raise the S-4 conditions have been favorable considering the season. The navy department has had the services of the best in advisers and divers and now after the warship has been relieved of the remaining members of the crew whose lives were taken it is to be hoped there will be found some evidence that will indicate why the underwater boat did not see the coast guard vessel approaching or, seeing it, failed to get out of the way.

The S-4 has been raised earlier than had been predicted and will permit the continuation of the investigation which has been suspended until it was brought to the surface. Few probably realize the difficulties which have had to be overcome in raising this vessel and raising it so that it could be kept afloat. The common wish will be that there be no more such disasters.

IMPROVING AN OPPORTUNITY

In most every community questions are frequently asked as to the reason for laying the streets out as they are, and comment upon the arrangement is very apt to be anything but complimentary.

Without a doubt if the task of laying out such cities should be confronted today there would not be much in the new plan that would resemble present conditions. Not much chance prevails for a radical move of this kind, although from time to time streets are widened, extended or straightened, while new ones are built. Many more improvements of this character would be attempted if the job didn't involve so much expense. There would not only be a different plan for the city streets, but there would be different buildings, with greater protection against fire and with regulation as to the type and character.

As the result of its recent conflagration the city of Fall River has been confronted with a rebuilding problem on a large scale. Fall River wasn't wiped out but some of its prominent buildings in the very heart of the city were and now that the rebuilding of this business section is faced it is a time for making the layout as advantageous as possible and for determining the character of the buildings that are to be built. Fireproof structures helped to combat the disastrous fire of February. It is to be expected that the efforts will be made to have the new structures of such a type in order to prevent a repetition of the great fire.

It is apparent that Fall River is alert to the importance of having the right action taken at this time. Before the ruins had stopped smoking it got busy and named a planning board which is now hard at work in its endeavor to so guide the reconstruction that the city will not only be better served and satisfied now but in the years to come. While there is no chance to replot the city there is a chance for insisting upon better conditions and better fire protection and Fall River is to be congratulated upon its efforts to accomplish such.

KILLED BY AUTOS

If we are at all impressed by figures we cannot fail to grasp the full meaning of the report which has been made by the census board showing that for the year ending with the 25th of February there were 7,196 persons killed by autos in 77 leading cities of this country.

Look at it any way you please and that total is too much. It shows an increase of 466 over the year previous when as a result of the frightful toll that is being exacted the number should be less. It is of course true that the number of automobiles is larger, and that more people are to be found in the streets and highways, but with such convincing evidence of the danger set forth almost every day in many more than the 77 leading cities there is ground for much greater care than is exercised.

No one would think of placing all of the responsibility upon the auto drivers or upon the pedestrians. There are instances where one is to blame and some where the other is. There are those cases which will have to be regarded as unavoidable accidents, but that doesn't mean that there is any justification for the snuffing out of nearly 7200 lives a year. Too many of those deaths were needless.

Judging by the figures for the last two years we can anticipate that there will be a still larger total next February for there will be more cars and more people. It will all depend upon whether there will be more care used by all concerned. Campaigns in behalf of greater safety are regularly conducted. Instructions are given to school children to look out for themselves in the streets and there are statistics which show that commendable results are being obtained from this effort. Not until there is full recognition of the peril by those who may do the killing or those who may be killed can it be expected that there will be a reduction of the yearly total. The number is appalling, many times greater than the death list in most disasters. There is an opportunity for great numbers to do valuable preventive work, but the statistics do not show that it is being done as rapidly as the demand for it increases.

TOWN CLERK BURT

It is going to sound strange for some time to refer to Town Clerk Burt, after having associated the name of Charles S. Holbrook with that office for the past 28 years, but there are good reasons for believing that the selectmen have made an excellent choice in naming Harold S. Burt to fill the vacancy until the next town election.

Since the last city edition Mr. Burt has been efficiently filling the office of city treasurer. He was a choice of the citizens for that position by a large majority and the manner in which he has taken hold of the duties, made changes in the office and administered the affairs since has made a very favorable impression upon all who have had business in connection with that office.

Though he has not been long in public office he has demonstrated the qualifications for greater responsibilities and in selecting him for town clerk the selectmen have picked a young man who is well known, able, courteous and affable and who it is believed will creditably discharge the duties that are involved, including the town treasurership and the office of registrar of vital statistics.

Mr. Burt steps into an office where few men have served but for long terms. Norwich has recognized the desirability of getting and keeping efficient men as town clerks, whether they are republicans or democrats. It will not surprise if Mr. Burt's conduct of the office between now and the next election is of such a high character that the townspeople, when they get the chance, will insist upon his retention of it.

THE SHIPOWNERS' TROUBLE

Repeatedly has it been said that one of the greatest encouragements to American shipping would be a revision of the shipping laws which would end some of the restrictions which have to be met, but which do not confront the shipowners of other countries. American ship owners are handicapped and then expected to compete with those who operate under no such restrictions but on the other hand get help from their governments through subsidies.

One of the strong davocates of such relief is Captain Dollar, long known in the shipping business and for the past four years the operator of that line of former government-owned liners which give an around the world service.

Captain Dollar has had experience in all kinds of ship operation. He knows the problems that must be faced and the competition that must be encountered. He likewise knows the effect of our laws upon the ship operators. He has taken over American ships and has been making a success of them in spite of the difficulties, so that there is every reason to believe that the 'round the world line will continue after the term of the agreement with the government has been finished. But while he has been doing this he has also come face to face with what he calls the burdensome, unnecessary and absolutely absurd American shipping laws.

All he says the American ship owner needs is a fair chance. Shipbuilders may need a subsidy, but the operator can get along without it if he isn't encompassed by the laws which stand in the way of successful operation like the parasitic barnacles which impede the progress of the ship. Perhaps if this situation is emphasized enough it will get recognition and relief.

EDITORIAL NOTES

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

When making jelly from prepared powders use left-over fruit juices in place of water.

Because they retain all their natural sweet flavor, baked onions are particularly palatable.

Jam or marmalade make a pleasing filling for a layer cake.

When preparing apples for salad sprinkle them with lemon juice after slicing or dicing them.

A teaspoon of ammonia to one quart of water, applied occasionally, will make house plants thrive.

Powdered camphor sprinkled on the shelves occasionally will keep books in perfect condition.

Cheese with crisp crackers and coffee make a good substitute for dessert.

Medicine never should be left uncovered in the sick room.

For a change brush the top of mashed potatoes with butter and brown in the oven.

The contents will come out easily if you grease the gelatine mold with a little salad oil.

Fried ham is nice served with a thick cream gravy.

Cut-up dates are a pleasing addition to fruit salad.

Piano keys may be quickly cleaned with wood alcohol.

Rice is delicious escalloped with cheese and tomatoes.

A slice of raw potato will remove mud stains from black silk.

A paste of lemon juice and whiting is the best cleanser for bone handles of cutlery.

Water in which vegetables are cooked should be boiling when they are placed in it.

A knife dipped in hot water will smooth the edges of the iced cake.

French dressing may be mixed and kept in a cruet in the refrigerator awaiting any emergency.

String beans are delightful served in a white sauce, flavored with paprika and a little lemon juice.

A PAINT REMOVER.

Clear ammonia—pure, not household—it is claimed will remove paint from windows, even when it has been on a long time. Apply with a scrubbing brush.

PUT COOKIES IN CROCK.

Put hot cookies or doughnuts in a crock with the skin of an orange or lemon. It gives them a very delicate flavor.

SODA SAVES SUGAR.

When stewing fruit use a pinch of carbonate of soda and only half the usual quantity of sugar will be needed.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

When shampooing the head of an invalid or child time is saved in drying if the towels are heated. Hang the towels over the radiator and alternate them in the drying process.

When measuring drops of extract or medicine from a bottle, dip your fingers in water and moisten the rim of the bottle in one place, using this place from which to drop the essence. It will drop easily and evenly.

The lemon or lemon juice so freely used to whiten the hands should be restored to only very occasionally. Undiluted lemon juice is a snare and a delusion. Mixed with glycerine in equal parts, and the mixture again diluted evenly with rose water, lemon juice does improve the color if used after washing. But if lemon is applied at all for the removal of stains it should be very well washed off afterwards, or the skin will be yellowed and dried.

Tired eyes are fatal to your pretensions to beauty, and here is a simple remedy that will often restore their brilliancy, to say nothing of refreshment:

Boric acid, ten grains. Distilled water, one ounce. Make up as much of the solution as you please, but keep the proportions as above. Use in an eye bath. It is a help to the lids and surrounding tissues to apply the solution to them also by means of a small piece of obsorbent cotton. By following these directions you will tone up the skin and smooth out those fine little creases that lurk near the corners of the eyes awaiting the passing of the years to bloom forth as full-blown wrinkles.

OIL STAINS ON CARPET.

These are always such discouraging stains, but they can be removed, if carefully attended to. With a clean rag dipped in gasoline, begin rubbing around the edge of the oil stain. Work toward the center, changing to a clean portion of the rag as soon as one part is soiled.

HANDED DOWN.

Furs that are beginning to show wear can be put together without the worn pieces showing and used on the little girl's coat for collar and cuffs. It will give the coat a very smart touch with no added expense — and how it will please the little daughter!

WHY PASTRY IS SOGGY.

The mixture of the pastry may be correct, but the pie not cooked quite long enough and the result—sogginess. The pie should be baked thoroughly and browned well to insure against this condition.

CLEAN IT FIRST.

Never use a brass kettle that has been put away for any length of time without first cleansing it inside and out with salt and vinegar. Then rinse with boiling water.

STRAW BASKET.

Somewhat the shape and size of a round hat-box is a box of woven straw with many bright colored flowers in the design. The box has a cover and would make a decorative note in the living room.

DICTATES OF FASHION.

All black but far from gloomy is the new lingerie made of black chiffon and sheer black lace. The effect is wonderfully attractive.

Extremely chic are large handkerchiefs to carry with the white coat. They are made of navy bue silk with small polka-dots of white over the surface.

The quaintest of bedroom slippers are made of leather bound in gold. They are made of an old last reminiscent of the slippers of Shakespearer's time.

A brand new color, called sunburned beige, is seen in the new hats, which can be worn both in the country and in the city. Needless to say these hats are of felt.

Hand-woven pongee is quite the nicest material for spring and summer frocks, as it comes in a number of lovely colors and is guaranteed to wash beautifully.

Little sister will be suitably dressed if she appears in a brief frock of white dotted Swiss with alternating bands of blue and pink around the neck and sleeves.

A coat of rough homespun, very loose and comfortable, is developed in a becoming shade of deep violet, and has a great bunch of violets of the same shade pinned to one of the pockets.

Whenever the costume demands a touch of formality it is safe to carry a bag made from a paisley shawl. The envelope type is often enriched by steel beads, while others have a touch of gilt embroidery.

For the woman who demands a certain sophistication in her clothes there are delightful new piques suitable for sport clothes. Beside the white ones, there are others with prints upon the white backgrounds.

Nothing could be nicer for an all-around sport coat than a short model made of chamois skin in its natural color. The coat has four pockets and a belt. The upper pockets hold matching vanity and cigarette cases.

FELT BAGS TO MATCH HATS.

Since it has been impossible to oust the little felt hat, designers have turned their attention to making accessories to wear with it. Now the smartest bags are of felt to match the hat, and are made on the lines of a pouch. If one so desires it is possible to have a monogram in brass upon the bag.

TWEED FOR SPRING

Nothing could be nicer for Spring than a suit consisting of a coat, three-quarter length, seven-eighths or hem line, made of black and white or gray tweed, and either trimmed with flat fur that extends to the hem, or else untrimmed. A sweater is worn with the suit.

SEMI-TAILORED SILK SUIT.

For the woman to whom the fluffy type of clothing is not becoming, there is, for southern wear, a smart little suit consisting of a dress of white crepe de chine piped in blue, and a short doubled-breasted coat of the same material.

THE NEWEST BLOUSE.

Blouses are more popular than ever this season, and manufacturers have vied with each other in producing original models. Some very attractive ones seen recently were of pale pink crepe de chine with modernistic motifs of deeper pink and red appliqued to them.

LAUNDRY HINTS.

A good bluing should entirely dissolve in water and contain no iron.

Garments should be ironed until thoroughly dry. Otherwise they will look unsightly at one wearing.

A tiny bag of orris root placed in the water in which handkerchiefs are boiled will give them a faint scent of voilets and banish any odor from the iron.

New stockings will last longer if they are washed before they are worn. Wash them in warm water to which a few drops of ammonia has been added.

Before washing a sweater, measure it and write down the dimensions. After it is washed and rinsed, spread it, back side down, with sleeves outstretched, on several flat thicknesses of clean, soft material. Shape it according to its original dimensions. Turn occasionally until dry.

WASHING HANDKERCHIEFS.

First they are soaked in clear lukewarm water for about half an hour, then they are carefully rinsed. Next, a quantity of borax is dissolved in a bowl of warm water and the hankerchiefs (all of one color) are gently swished about, after which they are rinsed in several lukewarm waters. Then a small basin of milk is brought into use. Into the milk a few drops of violet perfume are poured and then the dainty squares of linen are put in one by one. The milk takes the place of starch and the essence of violet delicately perfumes them. They are then rolled in a clean towel to dry. When they are ironed the result is delightful.

TO REMOVE TABLE RINGS.

For these white rings that hot dishes have an annoying habit of leaving on mahogany tables here is a remedy:

After boiling water had been sprinkled on the pet green tea wagon, which is finished in brushing lacquer, it looked as though it would have to be refinished, as there were more white spots than green on the surface. Two generous applications of hot camphorated oil—ordinary drug store variety—applied with a flannel cloth brought back the color perfectly. A generous rubbing then made the finish almost as good as new. This treatment was used for mahogany furniture with equally good results.—The Delineator.

REINFORCED SOCKS.

One housewife found that her husband wore large holes in the heels of his woolen socks very quickly. To remedy this she took a piece of heavy denim cloth and basted it over the heel of his new socks with strong thread. The socks now last twice as long, and she spends less time darning.

SOOT IS USEFUL.

Dry soot will readily remove grease stains from the top of stove. Dip cloth in soot, rub over spots, wipe off, then polish with a good stove polish.

THE NECESSARY HANGER.

How much fresher and free from wrinkles your dress will keep if it is placed upon a hanger upon removal and allowed to air and straighten out! Form the habit.

RECIPES.

Sweet Potato Pie—1 1-2 cups boiled and mashed sweet potato, 2-3 cup brown sugar, 2 eggs. Piece of butter the size of a walnut. 1 1-2 cups milk. 1-2 teaspoon lemon extract.

Mix these ingredients in the order given and bake in one crust. After the crust has set in a hot oven, bake in a low, steady heat and watch closely.

Mexican Ham—2 cups white vinegar, 2 cups sugar, 2 cups raisins, 2 lemons cut thin, 4 dozen cloves. Soak ham over night and then boil slowly until tender. Boil vinegar, sugar, raisins, and lemons until it becomes sirup-like. Then put your ham in a pan with cloves stuck in it and pour the sirup over it. Bake until a light brown.

YOUR HEALTH

BLOOD PRESSURE AND COMMON SENSE

By Nathan S. Davis, III, M. D., Chicago, Member Gorgas Memorial.

What is blood pressure? It is a measure of the hydraulic pressure in the blood vessels in terms of the height to which a column of mercury must be raised in order to shut blood flow through the arteries off completely. The systolic blood pressure, which is that commonly spoke of, is a measure of the maximum pressure in the arteries due to contractions of the heart. The diastolic pressure is the pressure in the arteries between contractions of the heart.

What is normal pressure? The consensus of opinion is that in the United States a systolic blood pressure of from 110 to 150 is normal throughout adult life, providing the diastolic pressure is about two-thirds of the systolic. Blood pressures constantly above 150 are abnormal; many individuals may have pressures above that point for a short time when under greater emotional or physical strain, with no disease condition present. The first examination by a physician, especially in connection with insurance examinations, quite frequently causes an increase in heart rate in blood pressure.

Abnormal blood pressure, high, or low, are symptoms of disease or of abnormal digestion and assimilation and not diseases of themselves. High blood pressures are much more to be feared than low because they slightly disorders regarding which less is known.

Low blood pressures are met with in debilitating diseases (tuberculosis, cancer, anemias, certain forms of kidney diseases, rarely in heart disease), and in certain forms of chronic bowel trouble.

High blood pressure is not due to kidney disease, although the same thing that causes high blood pressure often also causes kidney disease. It is commonly found in heart disease where it may be necessary to compensate for damage to heart valves, a good sign rather than a bad one. The high blood pressures found in those having toxic goiters is probably due in part at least to the rapid heart rate found in that disease. Increased viscosity of the blood may at times be a cause. The most common cause is probably an increased resistance in the circulation due to narrowing of the blood vessels from spasm or by contraction of scar tissue in the vessel walls.

Heredity and familial habits of eating and living, so difficult to differentiate between, appear to be factors of importance. It is essential that children of individuals with high blood pressure be examined at regular intervals in order that more may be learned about the onset of this symptom and its cause.

Excessive use of meats, salt and condiments in the diet, especially if there is a tendency to constipation, and overeating in general are also important factors.

Successful treatment of abnormal blood pressures, which we must remember are only symptoms, must depend on the success with which the cause can be treated. Until the causes are better known, it must be symptomatic. Rest, relaxation, avoidance of gross physical and mental strain are of utmost importance. A moderate amount of exercise, never violent, is desirable. A well-balanced diet containing the minimum amount of meat, fish, eggs and cheese, an abundance of fruits and vegetables, especially greens, and a minimum of salt, tea, coffee, and alcoholic beverages, has been found beneficial. The removal of all possible foci of infection is indicated.

Various drugs, chemicals and organ extracts have been tried in the management of pathological blood pressure. Some seem to have a distinctly beneficial effect both on the subjective symptoms of the patient and on the height of the blood pressure. However, it is improbable that any single remedy will never be found that will really cure either high or low blood pressure, since their causes are many.

If your blood pressure is high or low, above all do not worry about it. Worry only aggravates the condition. Follow the advice of a capable physician and the condition will be markedly benefited, especially if it has been present for only a short time.

Stories That Recall Others

No Splinters

Little four-year-old Tommie, with his parents, was spending the week-end at the home of his aunt and uncle. The aunt, who is an excellent cook, had prepared a number of excellent dishes, among them a delicious pudding flavored with cocoanut. When the Sunday evening lunch was served, Tommie said in a low voice to his mother:

"I don't want any more of that pudding with the splinters in it."

Cure for Headache

Mrs. R., who had a severe headache one evening recently, went into the kitchen to get a tablet to relieve the pain. Since she kept her cupboard shelves in perfect order, she thought it as unnecessary to turn on the electric light in order to get the tablet. Trusting to the dim light from the adjoining room, she took a small round object which she swallowed. She left the envelope on the kitchen table. Next morning she found that the tablet, which apparently had relieved her headache, was a sweet pea seed which had been left after the spring planting.

DAILY LENTEN DEVOTION

Topic for the Week
"RELIGION and CHARACTER"
Monday
"Inevitable Goodness"

Scripture—Memory verse. "Who went about doing good"; Acts 10.38.

Read Matthew 7.15-23.

Meditation—Dean Sperry has wittily remarked that this is the favorite text of the 20th century with special emphasis on the "going about." There is no lack of people who are engaged in good work. Every town is full of organizations to promote human welfare. We have very properly emphasized the gospel of service. But there is a finer kind of goodness than what a person practices through organization. These words about Jesus should be translated, "who did good as he went about." How many of Jesus' good works seem to have been done casually and by the way. Consider the phrases, "when he entered Capernaum"; "when he was come down from the mount"; "as he sat at meat." There is no good that we can do that can compare with the good that we are.

Prayer—We beseech Thee, our Father, to pour down upon us such grace as may cleanse and beautify our lives. Grant that we may love Thee with all our heart, soul and mind and our neighbors as ourselves. Then the fruit of our lives will abound and be good. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sweet Peas

Mr. Editor: If you want a "thing of beauty and a joy forever," get interested in the growing of sweet peas.

At the nurseries or department stores you can get a quarter pound, half pound or less, of the choicest variety of the sweet pea.

Any time after March 1, dig a trench six inches deep across the sunny side of your garden, preferably where the loam is richest.

In due time you will be rewarded by the breaking of the ground across your "sweet pea" line.

Get your brush or wire fencing ready a la ordinary vegetable peas and before your florist exhibits his sweet peas your garden will be a Mecca for all your neighborhood.

CHILD TRAINING

GOOD TASTE.

Ruth L. Frankel

Katherine was nine. She had just arranged some flowers that one of her mother's guests and brought.

"Where shall I put them, Mother?" she asked.

"Anywhere you like, dear," her mother answered. "You have very good taste, and I feel sure that we shall enjoy them in the place that you select."

So Katherine stood for a minute studying the room and finally placed the blue vase of pink roses on a window sill where the combination contrasted pleasantly with the dull tan curtains.

Anne was also nine. She passionately hated the color purple and all of its "relations," protesting loudly whenever she was asked to wear a lavender gingham dress in her wardrobe.

"What can you know about it?" snapped the annoyed mother, fastening the child into the hated garment. "This is one of Smith and Gordon's nicest styles and I'm sure I think the dress is very pretty."

So Anne, half sobbing, gazed at her pale reflection in the mirror and vowed that never, never, never, if she ever had a little girl would she make her wear anything she disliked, no matter how pretty she herself thought it.

Children have individual preferences and individual tastes. Sometimes their taste is bad, and mother by precept and example must lead them to see that pink socks really lose all their prettiness when worn with a red dress, and that ruffled, fancy clothes on small girls are a poor choice, excepting on special occasions, because, for one reason, they hamper the freedom of the wearer.

But the wise mother never forces her own personality on her children. Whenever she can because she wishes them to grow up able to decide wisely, she lets them make decisions. Katherine, selecting a place for the flowers at nine, will at twelve or thirteen, appreciate harmony or color in furniture, hangings, and all sorts of things. Her mother is helping her to develop good taste and what is more important still—confidence in her own judgment. Anne, forced to give up her own preferences for her mother's is likely later on to question her own decisions and to be dubious about every choice she is forced to make. It isn't only the lavender dress her mother would force upon her; she would have her accept also the pressing conviction that her opinions are so utterly worthless and unreliable that they must simply be ignored. Probably, this unwise mother will later bewail her child's lack of taste, never thinking that she herself is to blame, while the wise mother will have the double satisfaction of worth while accomplishment and pleasure in her daughter's artistic ability.

IN THE DAYS NEWS

Christmas Was Hot

Christmas day was hot but enjoyable, the electric refrigerator is keeping the party in fresh springbok meat and other delicacies, and the radio is pulling in programs from Johannesburg, Cape Town and other South African stations.

These are some of the news items contained in a recent letter from the National Geographic society observatory in South West Africa in cooperation with the Smithsonian institution.

The radio set, sent by the National Geographic society as a Christmas gift to the "weather explorers" who are isolated on the desolate Mt. Brukkaros, in a Hottentot reservation, sixty miles from the nearest white habitation, helps pass the long evenings for the station workers after the day's observations are done and the evening's computations are made.

"The refrigerator," writes W. H. Hoover, in charge of the station, "has been in operation for some time and thus far we have had no trouble with it. At least part of the operating cost will be balanced by the fact that we are able to keep fresh fruit, vegetables and meat for several days, whereas last year it was necessary to use canned goods most of the time and canned goods are very expensive in this country.

"We also are able to have a tray of ice or ice cream once in a while which is rather good in the evening after a day when the temperature has been 100 degrees."

The Christmas celebration was planned largely for little Miss Betty Hoover, less than three years old, daughter of Mr. Hoover, who went out with her father for the 4-year period of the observations. For Christmas she received two dolls from donors she did not know, one from London and one from New York, who had read in the newspapers of her going out with the expedition

The radio arrived the day before Christmas, in time for the party, where the guests were "neighbors" from Keetmanshop, sixty miles away, who brought along a turkey for the Christman dinner, Mr. Hoover wrote. Two of the visitors were sons of a member of the South West African Parliament. From the State's meteorological station at Windhoek came boxes of cakes; and the leopards which sometime are raided the explorers' chicken pen, did not seek to maraud the holiday larder.

But the big scientific news of the letter is contained in paragraphs which run like:

All of which is a scientific shorthand way of giving the monthly average of the solar observations, and each of these cryptic figures represents many hours of painstaking observation and calculation. When four years of such observation and computation have been completed a table will result which, it is expected, will give science another tool in its search for a means of making long range weather forecasts.

Doctor Claims CAMPHOROLE Stops Agony of Rheumatism
How the New Discovery Brings the Marvelous Secret of a N. J. Doctor to Every Suffering Man or Woman.
Thousands are suffering from this horrible condition, which is mostly caused by deposits in the joints. The reason for these deposits is because the blood flows more slowly, and the little spaces in these joints where the arteries end, and the veins begin, are smaller than any part of the body. Therefore, the deposits in the blood are more liable to lodge in the joints of the shoulders, elbows, wrists, knees, ankles, toes, hands, etc.
CAMPHOROLE, the new powerful penetrating treatment of Dr. Brigadell's is rapidly absorbed in these areas and aids the joints in driving out these deposits that cause you trouble. From the first application of CAMPHOROLE you will feel a soothing, healing sensation as it penetrates the tissue, going deep into the joints, easing the trouble, stimulating circulation.

ST. PATRICK'S DANCE HAD RECORD CROWD AT ARMORY

The St. Patrick's night concert and dance at the state armory on Saturday evening, under the auspices of the United Hibernians of Norwich, had a record breaking patronage, with an estimated attendance of over 1,400 people, declared to have been the largest crowd that ever attended a dance in the armory. Moosup, Putnam, Plainfield, Montville, Niantic, New London and Willimantic were represented in the big crowd that left only a small dancing space on the big armory floor.

The evening opened with a concert programme from 8 to 8:30 by D'Atri's Wauregan hotel orchestra, which followed this with a popular dance programme in which were interspersed several old square dances which were heartily enjoyed.

The arrangements were successfully carried out by the following committees from the branches and auxiliaries:

O'Connell branch—Edward J. Sullivan, chairman, Patrick Barry, Michael O'Connor, Thomas P. Connely, Michael J. Duggan; reception committee, Joseph P. Monaher, Timothy C. Murphy, Martin V. Burke.

Emmett branch—Frank Brennen, James Dawley, Mortimer Murphy, John F. McVeigh, James J. Dulloh; reception committee, Joseph J. Cox, Francis Brennan.

Auxiliary No. 13—President Mrs. Mary D. Sullivan, Miss May Nolan, Mrs. F. LaFontaine, Miss Molly Carroll, Mrs. J. A. Niles, Mrs. Mary McNally, Mrs. T. Levitsky, Mrs. Catherine Kilroy; reception committee, Miss Mary E. Hartle, Mrs. Mary McNally.

Auxiliary No. 54—Miss Nellie McCarthy, Miss Catherine Coughlin, Mrs. Annie Brooks, Miss Mary Fallon, Miss Margaret Dwyer, Mrs. Margaret Barrows, Mrs. Nellie O'Neil, Mrs. Mary Brewer, Mrs. Annie Connelly; reception committee, Mrs. Julia Brock and Mrs. Mary V. O'Neil.

SOCIAL WORK CONFERENCE PROMISES FINE PROGRAMME

The Connecticut Conference of Social Work, which is to be held in Stamford from April 22 to the 25th promises to be one of the finest meetings of its kind in the whole history of the organization. Prominent among the speakers will be Dean Charles Reynolds Brown of Yale Divinity school, who will deliver an address on Tuesday evening, April 24. On the same program will be Henry M. Baker, director of disaster relief service of the American Red Cross, Washington, D. C.

The conference will be divided into sections dealing with the general subjects: Children, Community Life, Family, Delinquency and Prevention, Health and Mental Hygiene. "On the program dealing with Community Life will be such speakers as Frederic M. Thrasher, assistant professor of educational sociology, New York university, who will speak on "Boys' Leisure and Gang Activities"; Mrs. Chester G. Marsh, director of the Westchester County Recreation commission, who will speak on "Developing Recreation in Small Communities," and Mrs. Frank W. Barber, director of the Connecticut Junior Achievements, Inc., Middletown, who will have as her subject, "Junior Achievement Work." The program dealing with Social Hygiene will be under the direction of Dr. Daniel E. Shea, and the speakers and their subjects will be: Dr. Walter M. Brunet, of the American Social Hygiene association, New York, "The Part of the Social Worker in Venereal Disease Control Measures"; Mrs. Margaret Wells Wood, of the American Social Hygiene association of New York, "Some Sex Education Problems Which the Social Hygiene Worker Can Help Solve"; Dr. Irene Boardman, school physician of New Haven, "How a Large City May Prevent Diphtheria," and Dr. R. D. Lockwood, health officer of Meriden, "How a Small City May Prevent Diphtheria." The discussion will be opened by Dr. Willard Knowlton, of the bureau of communicable diseases, state department of health, Hartford, and Miss Betsy Mitchell, psychiatric social worker of the Norwich neuropsychiatric clinic, will also have a part in the discussions. An exhibit will be presented in connection with the consideration of Mental Hygiene and the Public Schools.

Stamford citizens are already making arrangements to provide adequate entertainment for the guests who will come for the conference.

OBITUARY

Mrs. George H. Spaulding

Lavina P. Taylor, 90, widow of George H. Spaulding, passed away at her home, No. 23 Ripley place, Saturday evening, after several months' illness. She was born in Perry, N. Y., Jan. 12, 1838, the daughter of Luther and Abigail Kendall Taylor, but had lived in Norwich since 1862 and in her late home 59 years last October. Mrs. Spaulding was married to George H. Spaulding in Manchester, N. H., in 1860. She was a home lover and interested in all that pertained to her children. Her friends and neighbors remembered her most affectionately all during her illness, which she bore with great fortitude and patience. Mrs. Spaulding was one of the oldest members of the United Congregational church, having become a member of the Broadway church in 1864. She leaves two sons, Walter and Carl Spaulding, and a daughter, Mrs. Charles P. Potter, of Somerville, Mass.; five grandchildren, Lucille, Madeline and Grace Spaulding, Mrs. Norman Whitehead and Dorothy Dewing, and one great-grandchild, Norman Walter Whitehead.

Mrs. Silas B. Jacobs

News of the death of Mrs. Silas B. Jacobs at Pomona, California, on Thursday, was received here on Saturday. Older residents will remember Mrs. Jacobs as Miss Ella Gale, sister of the late Col. Charles W. Gale, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Gale, who lived for many years at the corner of Sachem and Lafayette streets. Her early life was spent here and she received her education in the schools of this city. She was married to Mr. Jacobs about 50 years ago, shortly after his graduation from Norwich Free Academy. Mr. Jacobs was a brother of Mrs. Luther R. Case and a nephew of Lucius W. Carroll, with whom he made his home while attending the Academy. After their marriage they resided in Haverhill, Mass., later going to Jamestown, S. D., and then Denver and finally to Pomona, Cal.

Mrs. Jacobs had been a frequent visitor in Norwich when Colonel Gale was living and was always welcomed by a large circle of friends. In recent years, following the death of Mr. Jacobs, about eight years ago, she has spent her winters in Pomona and her summers with her children in Denver. She is survived by four children, Charles S. Jacobs, Mrs. Frank Peters and Mrs. Arthur Stark, all of Denver, and Fred D. Jacobs of Pomona.

Mrs. John Nicholson

Mrs. Hannah Anderson Nicholson, widow of John Nicholson, 61, died Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at her home, No. 26 Reynolds street. Although she had been in ill health, due to heart trouble, for the past two months or more, she had been confined to her room only since last Monday. Mrs. Nicholson was born in Sweden, where she was united in marriage with John Nicholson. For about 35 years she had made her home in this city, and was a member of the Swedish Lutheran church.

Surviving Mrs. Nicholson are one son, Rudolph Nicholson, and two daughters, Mrs. Charles K. Tingley and Mrs. Norman P. Vickeridge. There are also five grandchildren.

Charles W. Spaulding

Charles W. Spaulding, one of the few remaining Civil war veterans in Norwich, died Saturday morning at his home, No. 12 Penobscot street following an illness of two weeks. His illness was the outcome of an injury to his hip received in a fall there on November 27th. Mr. Spaulding was the son of the late Elisha and Nancy Spaulding and was born in Norwich, March 13, 1838. He was educated in the public schools of Norwich and just prior to the outbreak of the civil war was united in marriage with Miss Frances H. Tracy of this city.

When President Lincoln issued his call for volunteers Mr. Spaulding enlisted in 1861 as a private in Company D, Third Regiment, Conn. Vol., and after considerable service was finally disabled and discharged. At the time of his discharge he held the rank of first lieutenant.

Returning to his home here he entered the employ of the Adams Express Co., remaining with them for about 45 years. Mr. Spaulding was one of the first of the life members of the New London County Agricultural society and was the last of the original charter members of Uncas lodge, No. 11, I. O. O. F., and Palmyra encampment, I. O. O. F. He was also a charter member of Hope Rebekah lodge, No. 21, I. O. O. F., a charter member of Wauregan lodge, No. 6, K. of P., and was an honorary member of Sedgwick post, No. 1, G. A. R., Sedgwick Woman's Relief corps, No. 16 and Clara Barton Tent, D. of V.

Surviving him are three daughters, Madame Ruth D'Albequerque of Quinto de S. Jose S. Pedro de Cintra, Portugal, Mrs. Faith S. Ryan of Norwich and Miss Catherine Spaulding of Hartford, one son, Waldo N. Spaulding of New Haven and several grandchildren, nieces and nephews.

Mr. Spaulding was widely known throughout the city and town and was highly respected by his many friends who are deeply grieved to learn of his death.

IS FINED IN COURT. CAN'T EXPLAIN STABBING

At the city court session Saturday morning William McMahon, 37, of New Hampton, N. Y., was fined $5 and costs on a charge of intoxication, and judgment was suspended. McMahon was taken in charge Friday night by Officer Peter Driscoll and at police headquarters it was learned that he had two cuts on his right arm, one near the shoulder and the other below the elbow. He had evidently been stabbed but in court could shed little or no light on the affair. He claimed that someone doped him by the needle method and then stabbed him.

Will Play Trumpet Solos.

Raymond J. Woods, son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Woods of 10 Elmwood avenue, will be heard in two trumpet solos at the Mi-Careme concert to be held at Georgetown university, Washington, D. C. Mr. Woods has selected to play "A Perfect Day," (Bond), and "Deep In My Heart," from the "Chocolate Soldier." Mr. Woods is a sophomore at this school and will enter law school this fall.

32 INJURIES DAILY IN STATE IN 1927 THROUGH AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

Thirty-two persons were injured and property valued at $7,570 was destroyed every day during 1927 because of motor vehicle accidents on Connecticut streets and highways, analysis of state motor vehicle department records reveals. Also, there was an average of one death a day, except for nine days, during the entire year as a result of accidents. The 356 fatalities provided a record of only one less than the greatest annual automobile death toll in the history of the state, while the injury total of 11,979 cases, was 2,100 above the previous high record and the amount of property damage, $2,763,341, exceeded any former year by nearly $400,000.

Ninety-five per cent. of the 26,832 accidents which caused these casualties and tremendous property loss are directly traceable to recklessness and carelessness, the department's study shows. Nearly four-fifths of 20,321 of the accidents are listed as caused by the recklessness of operators. This is an increase over the previous year of 2,223 for accidents from this cause.

A division of the causes of accidents listed under the general heading of recklessness gives 21 "immediate" causes. The most frequently recurring is "failure to give right of way." To this cause are accredited 4,525 accidents. The kind term, "misjudgment," is set forth as the reason for 4,272 others. The next most dangerous of driving habits is "inattention," which was responsible for 3,682 collisions. Other large contributing causes were skidding, 2,213; operating too fast for conditions, 1111; careless backing, 958; driving on wrong side of road, 703; following too closely, 575; intoxication, 457.

Ten other "immediate" causes are given as follows: Inexperience 426; failure to signal, 356; cutting corners, 136; lack of control while instructing, 243; improper parking, 231; cutting in, 116; passing on wrong side, 37; confusion, 19; passing standing trolley, 33; passing on curve, 27; passing on hill, 29; passing at intersection, 36.

One of the greatest contributors to accidents caused by carelessness was the child pedestrian. There were 1,674 accidents to children listed under this item. The "immediate" causes and the number of accidents for which they were responsible were as follows: Crossing the street inattentively, 924; stepping from behind objects before looking, 530; playing in street, 94; coasting, 63; stealing rides, 31; confusion, 20; boarding or leaving trolley cars, 12.

Adult pedestrians fared little better, 1,242 accidents being listed as caused by their own carelessness. With the exception of stealing rides and playing in the street they were guilty of all the faults of the children, while, in addition, 111 intoxicated adults were struck by automobiles. Carelessness of passengers was the contributing cause in 115 accidents, the main faults being interference with operation and boarding or leaving moving vehicles.

Other careless contributors assisting in bringing about 2,015 accidents, were motormen, animals, bicyclists, teamsters, flagmen and gatemen, highway workers and push-cart operators. Defective equipment was responsible for 934 accidents. The major faults were poor steering apparatus and brakes, obscured vision, blowouts, insufficient light and glaring headlights.

Weather conditions were responsible for 65 accidents, road obstructions, 33; defective highways, 36; gas ignition, 55; overloading, eight and unprotected railroad crossings, five.

RELIGIOUS OBSERVANCE OF ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Sunday, which was observed as the patronal feast of St. Patrick's parish, following March 17th, St. Patrick's day, proved of great spiritual solace, patriotic pride and religious triumph to the parishioners. Especially was this true in regard to the Ancient Order of Hibernians, that organization which for so many years has carried on in the preservation of the faith, the traditions, the virtues and the hopes of Ireland and which is now engaged in the effort to aid the Irish college planned in Rome to the memory of the patriot, Daniel O'Connell. Both of the local divisions of the order with their auxiliaries signalized St. Patrick's day by attending the 7.30 mass in St. Patrick's church, receiving holy communion in a body from the rector, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael Henry May and his assistant, Rev. John J. Reilly. The special high mass for the day was sung by the rector.

The flag of the United States and the green banner of Ireland were conspicuous at the foot of the sanctuary arch. Members of the Altar society had veiled the lights with green. Because of the feast coming in mid-Lent, an exception was made and the altars, kept bare through the 40 days of Lent, were adorned with spring flowers. As the large congregation assembled, Organist Henry J. LaFontaine played Irish airs. Before beginning the mass in honor of St. Therese, which was splendidly sung by the senior choir. At the offertory, Mr. LaFontaine played a exquisite arrangement of "The Wearin' o' th' Green;" as a post-communion number he gave his own medley of familiar airs. No celebration of Irish patriotism ever omits proper tribute to the grand heritage of Irishmen the world over—the rippling, appealing, characteristic, heart-gripping melodies of Thomas Moore; and these Mr. LaFontaine interpreted with a skill to be expected of him. The climax of the service was the chorus singing of the inspiring hymn to St. Patrick, "Hail, Glorious Apostle," which followed the last gospel, priest and people standing as its stanzas were given with significant volume and smoothness by the well trained choir.

In the vesper service at 7.30 Irish airs were again an inspiring part of service, first in a fifteen minute recital by Organist LaFontaine and then in the solo and chorus selections which were given. These included The Minstrel Boy and Tara's Hall, both sung by the chorus, and the following solos, Kathleen Mavourneen by Roderick F. Sullivan, Believe Me by Miss Blanche LaPre, Killarney by Miss Sadie A. Driscoll and Wearin' of the Green by Horace F. Corning.

The sermon was by Rev. Conran Kane of West Springfield, who has been the preacher at other vesper services during lent, and was heard again with great acceptance as he spoke upon the life and service of the great "Apostle of Ireland." There seems to be a tendency and a desire on the part of the American people, he said, to pick out a man who shall be looked up to as a hero. But the hero of today passes into oblivion tomorrow. Yet there is one place where heroes are not forgotten. That is in the Catholic church where its heroes are saints and their names are never forgotten. Such a hero was Saint Patrick, the glory and the pride of Ireland, who brought that land from superstition and idolatry, a work that was accomplished in the lifetime of this one zealous apostle. If Saint Patrick is the glory and pride of Ireland, is it not fitting that Irishmen should be the glory and pride of St. Patrick? He desired to make men Christ-like, living with and working for God, and schools and monasteries, churches and chapels, sprang up all over the land, where the people were worshipping God in holiness and sanctity while the rest of the world was yet in darkness, Ireland became not only the leader in holiness, but also in learning and the missionary nation for the Catholic faith which was spread far and wide. In later years when dispersed from their native land the Irish people have carried their faith wherever they went. That example of stability in their faith, the preacher said, was the lesson to come from the life of Saint Patrick and the Irish people, admonishing his hearers that they should show an equal adherence to the faith which he taught.

The vesper service closed with benediction.

Wins Senior Salesman Degree

Edward Lichenstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lichenstein of 71 Church street, has just been notified of his promotion to the senior degree in the league of Curtis salesmen, winning this recognition by his record as a local representative for the Curtis Publishing company of Philadelphia. This entitles him to membership in the Y. M. C. A., which is paid for by the company, and Lichenstein is now working for the graduate degree with the company, through which he would be entitled to apply for sums up to a total of $1,500, exclusively toward his college expenses.

John Sugrue of Willimantic attended the St. Patrick's day dance Saturday evening at the state armory.

ORDER TO PAY $5,000 INTEREST TO BANK ISSUED

An order granting permission to Attorney C. Hadlai Hull, receiver of the 325 State Street Corp., to pay the New Haven bank $5,000 interest on account was entered by Judge Christopher L. Avery at Friday's short calendar session of the superior court in New London.

Attorney Hull petitioned for this authorization, Attorney Frank L. McGuire, representing the receiver, said that the latter had on hand about $10,000.

The receiver was also authorized to sue the Garde theatre for rent. Attorney McGuire said that some rent was due at $100 a day.

Acceptance of Thomas C. Dillon's report of the sale of two lots in Neptune park, New London, involved in the case of the Mariners' Savings bank, against I. Arthur Atwood of Plainfield, executor of the will of John Atwood, and others, was granted. The property was sold to Charles D. and Catherine Carroll for $3,200. The other defendants were Walter Garde, Henry C. Hine and Allen Bragaw of New York, executor of the will of the late Isaac Bragaw; J. C. Bunnell of Milburn, N. J., and Laura A. Farley, executors of the will of Frederick A. Farley; Nellie A. Farley and Peter T. Radiker of New York. Judge Avery also approved the deed.

Three motions in the case of Samuel Riner of New London against Meyer Rich, also of that city, brought for a partition of property will be granted, when a stipulation by Attorney Morris Lubchansky for the plaintiff and Attorney Max Boyer for the defendant is filed.

According to Attorney Lubchansky, Riner seeks a partition of a three family house in Main street and he asks that the property be sold. The stipulation will include a default for failure to plead against Rich; the appointment of Attorney Boyer as the committee of sale and the date of sale in about 30 days.

Denies Motion to Set Aside

Attorney Arthur T. Keefe, counsel for Maurice O'Donnell, Jr., New London, electrical welder, who sued the borough of Groton for $15,000 for injuries sustained when the head of a tank being prepared for the storage of air, blew off, argued to have the defendant's verdict rendered by a jury, set aside. Judge Avery denied the motion and Attorney Keefe stated his intention of appealing to the supreme court of errors.

Death of Attorney Geary Announced

When the court opened Attorney Keefe announced that Attorney John C. Geary had died in Florida Thursday night.

Judge Avery said that it was with sadness and sorrow that the court learned of Mr. Geary's death.

Motions Continued

A motion for judgment in the case of the Industrial Trust Co. against Cook and others was continued.

The uncontested divorce case of Dorothy P. Bilven against Harry M. Bilven was also continued.

Three motions went off as follows:

Guiliani against Edgecomb; motion for default.

Partelo against Murphy, et al; motion for default.

Frank against McKim; motion to erase.

WEDDINGS

Cockrill—Reed.

Miss Edith Reed of New London and Paul F. Cockrill, yeoman second class, temporarily stationed on the Coast Guard destroyer Wilkes at Charleston, S. C., were married Friday night at 8 o'clock in the parsonage of the First Baptist church, New London, by Rev. Chester H. Howe, pastor of the church.

Mr. Cockrill arrived in New London Friday afternoon on five days' leave of absence. He will return to Charleston Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cockrill will make their home at 40 Franklin street, New London.

Mr. Cockrill's former home was in Louisville, Ky., where his father, the Rev. Joseph M. Cockrill, now resides. He is a graduate of Louisville Mayo high school and he studied for two years in the Southern Baptist Theological seminary at Louisville. For a year before entering the seminary, Mr. Cockrill was engaged in newspaper work at Louisville. He enlisted in the navy in 1923 and after completing his term of service he enlisted in the Coast Guard.

Mrs. Cockrill was employed by the Max Poliack Co. in Groton, where she was a popular member of the Empeco club, a social organization for employes of the company. She was captain of the girls' basketball and bowling teams of the club.

Dawson-Palmer

James Dawson and Miss Rosabel Palmer, both of No. 115 Laurel Hill avenue, were united in marriage Saturday morning by John H. Barnes, J. P., at Judge Barnes' office. Mr. Dawson for some years was a practicing chiropodist and retired about a year ago. His office was located on Cliff street.

On Reckless Driving Charge.

Albert J. Bennett of Baltic was arrested in Occum Saturday night by Constable Fillgar on a reckless driving charge after the automobile he was operating had been in collision with another machine.

DRINGING ATTORNEY'S BODY BACK FROM FLORIDA

The body of John C. Geary of Waterford, well known lawyer and business man, who died early Friday at Daytona Beach, Fla., was due to leave the Florida resort for New London Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock, according to word received by relatives in New London. Mrs. Geary will accompany the body and she will be met at Washington, D. C., by Mr. and Mrs. John L. Larkin, Jeremiah J. Dillon and Mrs. John T. Haney, all of New London.

The funeral party will arrive in New London this (Monday) morning, and Mr. Geary's body will be removed to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Davis, 12 Jay street, from where the funeral will be held. Arrangements for the funeral have not as yet been completed and the time at which church services will be held has not been settled upon, pending decision as to whether the final rites will be held in St. Joseph's or St. Mary's church.

TEACHERS FROM FIVE TOWNS MET AT PLAINFIELD

The regular monthly meeting for the teachers of the five towns supervised by Edwin B. Floyd was held in the Community house in Plainfield last Friday.

Miss Loreux of Willimantic, state primary supervisor, addressed the teachers on the subject "Modernizing Our School Methods." Miss Leroux emphasized the fact that the methods of the old school taught the pupils subject matter but neglected the development of the right attitudes, habits, skills, etc., which are so essential in making worthy citizens out of the pupils. Miss Leroux said that our new school is looking down into the future and trying to see what the child needs most to help him meet the many problems which confront him every day and how the solution of the problem by the pupil will help him in solving his future problems in such a way that he will become an open minded and valuable citizen to his community.

Miss Murphy of Hartford, assistant director of physical education, addressed the teachers on the topic "Making Physical Education a Part of Our Modern School."

Miss Murphy emphasized the fact that physical training was becoming an obsolete terminology because that carried the idea of muscular development. Today, said Miss Murphy, we say "physical education" because every worth while physical exercise should be a result of the pupil's thinking and planning. Miss Murphy demonstrated how stories from any reader could be readjusted by the children so as to be a very interesting and worthwhile physical exercise. Also how the regular music reader was full of songs that could be converted by the children into singing games, how the rhythm of many songs made excellent material for the children to create an original physical exercise. She said that many of the daily dozen exercises were harmful to growing children unless given by a teacher who understood exactly the physical effect it has on the body.

The following dates were set for the school exhibition of work done by the pupils during the year. Canterbury, April 10. For Voluntown, the date will be April 12 and for Sterling April 13. At all the exhibitions demonstrations of the old school methods as contrasted with the new school methods will be a part of the program.

ARMENIAN GOVERNMENT GAVE DR. EVANS HIGH HONOR

Dr. John H. Evans, formerly of this city, who died last week in Brooklyn, N. Y., was the recipient of the highest decoration of the Armenian government for heroic work in stamping out epidemic diseases during the dreadful days of 1922-3 when all southern Russia was one huge refugee camp, according to the Near East news service. One of his achievements in Armenia was the stamping out of the "seven-year itch" among thousands of children of the refugees and among the children in the American orphanages. At that time Dr. Evans was medical director for Near East Relief supervising six hospitals and district commander of the orphanage work as well as sanitation officer for the entire Caucasus. The seven-year itch in that country in those days was no joke, as the very idea of it is in America. It was a life and death matter. The frightfully underfed condition of the populace, and the sores caused by malnutrition which were being continually scratched by small, dirty fingers, caused indescribable suffering. Dr. Evans, with the aid of two American nurses, mobilized the older orphan girls from the 12,000 children in the care of Near East Relief at that time in Armenia, assigned them in groups of three to the villages, equipping them with tubs and sulphur to fight the "itch." At first the children screamed as the sulphur burned sore arms and legs, and indignant but uninformed citizens set up protests that the Americans strangely were trying to murder the very children they had fed. But the children soon stopped their screaming and began to plead for their sulphur baths. Not only did the "Amerlcanski tasht" or public tub become an institution of the villages but central places for treatment of the disease were established in the cities. Five days of bath treatments to a child cured 80 per cent., and the 20 per cent. of severe cases were cured in 15 days.

Dr. Evans is survived by his wife, who before their marriage was a nurse and during their years in southern Russia acted as her husband's chief aid. At the termination of their joint service Dr. and Mrs. Evans were presented with the Distinguished Service Medal of Near East Relief.

Accuses Waterford Man.

Robert Watrous of Waterford is to appear in the Norwich city court this (Monday) morning to answer to the charge of improper use of markers on his automobile. The complaint against him is made by a member of the state police force.

MONTVILLE

The Ladies' Social union of the Montville Centre Congregational church met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Elmer J. Tefft, Sr., at her home with nine ladies present. The regular order of the meeting was followed and the union is looking forward to a busy and prosperous season. During the afternoon the hostess served refreshments. Those present were Mrs. Albert Fox, Sr., Miss Ella Chapel, Mrs. William Vallett, Mrs. Jesse Schofield, Mrs. Frank Schofield, Mrs. Lynch of Norwich, and Mrs. McClure, the last two being the sister and mother of the hostess, and Mrs. Tefft.

The members of the Ladies' Aid society of the Uncasville M. E. church served a fine chicken supper to the public at the Montville Community house Thursday evening with a large number in attendance and a large sum was added to the treasury.

Thames lodge No. 22, I. O. O. F., is planning for a big time next Tuesday evening at its regular meeting in the lodge rooms of the Palmer Memorial school house. A fine supper is being planned by the chief and his assistants and prior to the supper the second degree will be exemplified on a class of three candidates.

The lodge rooms are undergoing improvements in the way of replacing the old carpet, which was well worn, with the laying of some fine new deck linoleum.

The sewing society of Owenoke chapter, Order of Eastern Star, met in the Montville Community house Wednesday afternoon at which time plans and work was accomplished for a fair to be held by the lodge in the near future. An all-day session on March 28, will be held by the society at the Montville Community house.

At the Past Matrons' association meeting, Order of Eastern Star, held Tuesday at Mystic were the following ladies from here: Mrs. Charles Hope, Mrs. Ambrose Sullivan, Mrs. Albert Gesner, Mrs. Hubert G. Dart and Mrs. Charles Ramage.

Miss Ethel Staubley has resumed her studies at the Norwich Free Academy after being confined to her home from injuries received from a fall.

Mrs. Frank Schofield has returned to her home after spending several days recently as the guest of Mrs. Herbert L. Yerrington of Norwich.

Rev. William Beard of New York city was the guest recently of his aunt, Miss Caroline Parker of Dolbeare hill.

YANKS FAIL TO SHOW CHAMPIONSHIP FORM IN EARLY EXHIBITION GAMES

By Alan J. Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, March 18.—(AP)— It may be just as well to record now, before it is too late, the suggestion that the world's champion New York Yankees will find the 1928 pennant race anything but the bed of roses they or their followers anticipate.

The trouble with any theory of this kind is that it may be exploded at any moment by the same Yankee gunfire that shot the American league race to pieces last year. It will be recalled how thoroughly the Yankees submerged their so-called opponents last season every time one showed any signs of coming to the surface.

But hope, like the flowers, blooms in the spring and cannot be altogether discouraged. The Yankees looked like anything but champions in their first few exhibition games. This may be an ominous sign, the stumble that goes before the fall, for it will be recalled how the Ruppert rifles levelled their spring training foes as readily as their regular season rivals in the past two years.

Had "Holdout Trouble"

Then, too, the Yankees have had some trouble swinging all their stars into line—the dotted line. They are all in the fold now but critics raise the point that, as a result, there may not quite be the harmony of the past. It was smooth team-work as much as spectacular heavy hitting that sent the Yankees flying to the top last year.

The Athletics are the club picked to give the Yankees their main battle but the experts will be more cautious than they were last season when something like 16 out of 35 selected the Mackmen to beat the New Yorkers under the wire.

The Athletics are a potent threat, not only because of the addition of Tris Speaker to the outfield, alongside Ty Cobb and Al Simmons, but because the club appears more on edge, in better early shape than it was a year ago.

It was a slow start, particularly by the pitchers, that put the Mackmen out of the running last year. This spring they will not be handicapped by being favorites. The Yankees carry that burden, given a better start, with their pitchers in shape, the Athletics will at least make it a contest.

A's Pack Wallop

They may not pack a knockout wallop but the punch in the bats of Cobb, Speaker, Simmons, Hauser, Cochrane and Hale is likely to be just as effective as the sock concealed in the bludgeons of Messrs. Ruth, Gehrig, Combs, Lazzeri, Meusel and Dugan.

The National league race was hot enough last season but it promises to be even hotter this year, to judge from the reports wafted northward.

Only the Phillies are counted definitely out of the running by the experts. The other three second-division clubs of 1927 all have improved their prospects, even if they are not put down as a menace to the favorites.

The Boston Braves, by acquiring Hornsby and building up a fine twirling corps; Brooklyn, by gaining outfield and infield strength to support an already superior mound staff; and Cincinnati, by mustering its strongest array for the start, all look more formidable than they did a year ago.

Giants Weaker

Of the four clubs that fought it out down the stretch last season only the Giants, minus Hornsby appear less powerful but, as Bill McKechnie points out, no club directed by John McGraw can be treated with indifference.

The champion Pirates, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals see no reason to believe that they will be anywhere but in the thick of the fight from the drop of the hat. The experts share the same view.

SECHTER'S SPOOKS WIN OVER "Y" INTERMEDIATES

In a game that was not entirely devoid of thrills, the Sechter Spooks, defeated the "Y" Intermediates at the Y gym Saturday afternoon. This is the second win over this same outfit in as many starts. For the winners Sechter, Stockwell and Greene featured, for the losers, Dickerman and Pitt. The summary;

NATIONALS BEAT COATS ELEVEN BY SCORE OF 5 TO 3

NEW YORK, March 18—(AP)—The New York Nationals qualified for the grand finale of the national challenge cup soccer competitions today by defeating the J. and P. Coats eleven of Pawtucket, R. I., by 5 to 3 in the eastern final at the Polo Grounds before a crowd of about 5,000. The contest was played on a wet field caused by rain early in the day which also was responsible for the small attendance.

Henderson, New York center forward, scored two goals and his teammates, Walker, McGhee and Wortman, one apiece. For Coats, goals were made by Oliver, Kennedy and McConnell. The nationals were in front at half time by 3 to 1.

As the Chicago bricklayers triumphed over the Ben Millers of St. Louis at St. Louis in the western final today, by 2 to 0, the Nationals will face the Bricklayers in a game for the championship of the United States at the Polo Grounds on April 8.

SAM WILCOX FIRST GOLF CAPTAIN AT WILLIAM-MARY

WILLIAMSBURG, Virginia, March 18—Sam Wilcox, of Norwich, Conn., was elected captain of William and Mary's first golf team here as the local golfers prepare for their first appearance in intercollegiate competition.

At the same time Art Matsu, who train the golfers this season, has announced definite arrangements with George Washington university for a match between the two links teams on the Yorktown course April 21.

These announcements make definite the plans announced by a group of William and Mary students for the introduction of their favorite sport as an intercollegiate branch. For several years golf has been very popular among the local students, and the team that has been organized is a growth from this popularity. The students will continue their play with golf under the direction of Matsu, coach this year of the freshmen football and varsity swimming teams, and later plan to petition the athletic committee for recognition of their sport as a minor branch. Recognition of golf will give William and Mary four major and six minor sports, football, basketball, baseball, and track forming the major list, and cross country, indoor track and relay, swimming, wrestling, and tennis completing the minor list.

Nine men have been in competition for places on the team, and eliminations have brought the list down to five. Captain Wilcox the team now consists of Frank Graven, of Port Washington, N. Y.; R. D. Mullowney, of Brookline, Mass.; Callie Reynolds, of Richmond, Va., and Sherman Stradley, of Wilmington, Del.

PHIL SCOTT RETURNS TO WARS TONIGHT IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, March 18.—(AP)—Bantamweights figure prominently on the boxing fare at Madison Square Garden next Friday night with Archie Bell of Brooklyn and Kid Francis, Italian boxer, struggling over the ten round distance in a feature bout.

Both boxers are in the running for the top of the bantamweight division which is vacant as far as New York is concerned. Charley (Phil) Rosenberg forfeited the title when he was unable to make the class weight for his clash with Bushey Graham about a year ago.

While Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind., is the recognized bantam king of the National Boxing association, he is not acknowledged by the New York state athletic commission.

In a ten round semi-final on the same card, Dominick Petrone, Harlem, Italian, will mill with Ignacio Fernandez, Filipino pugilist.

At the St. Nicholas arena tomorrow night, Phil Scott, English heavy weight, opposes Pierre Charles, Belgian boxer, in the main ten round go.

In the headline attraction at the New Broadway arena in Brooklyn tomorrow night, Charley (Phil) Rosenberg will face Jackie Cohen in a six rounder.

PRINCETON FAVORITE OVER PENN. IN TITULAR CLASH

NEW YORK, March 18.—(AP)—For the third time since 1916 Princeton and Pennsylvania will play off for the championship of the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball league this Tuesday at Philadelphia.

Each has been victorious once before. The Quakers won in 1916 and the Tigers turned the tables in 1922, ending at that time Pennsylvania's three-year reign at the top of the league. Since that season Penn has been unable to regain the top but every other college in the league has had its turn at holding the championship.

Princeton is partial to playoffs. This season is the fourth in the league's history and the Tigers have been in all of them. Last season they lost to Dartmouth in an extra game for the league title.

On the strength of their one-sided victory over Pennsylvania a week ago on the latter's palestra court the Tigers probably will be favorites in Tuesday's battle. The Quakers were buried, 29-12, in the game that brought about a tie for the regular season's play.

TORONTO CHAMPS RETURN FROM EUROPEAN INVASION

HALIFAX, N. S., March 18—(AP)—The Toronto star city graduates, world's amateur hockey champions, who swept like a tornado through the best of the old world aggregations in Europe, were back on Canadian soil today. The graduates were Olympic winners.

The Canadian contingent landed on a special tug late last night. W. A. Hewitt, who was in charge of the party, said that the fancy skaters had stopped for a visit in England and would return later.

Ten matches were played by the graduates abroad, some against their own substitutes. The graduates compiled a total of 105 goals against 11 for opponents.

The Swedish sextet, Hewitt said, played the best hockey of the teams opposed in Europe. Most of the European teams showed fine defensive hockey but seemed afraid to open out offensively, he stated.

CRYSTAL PENNANT WINS RICH COFFROTH HANDICAP

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 18—(AP)—The Coffroth Handicap with $97,700 going to the victor was won today by Crystal Pennant of the R. C. stables, trained by Earl Linnell and ridden by Jockey Tommy Luther. Sun God II of the Miramonte Stock farm, ridden by Howard Elston was second; Carlaris, owned by W. T. Anderson and ridden by F. J. Baker was third. Cantankerous of the Greenfield Stock farm was fourth.

The time was 2:05. The race was witnessed by the largest crowd in the history of the Tijuana race track.

12 MORE COAST FIGHTERS PROMISED

The appearance of 12 more boxers from the Pacific coast fleet is expected by Pastime A. C. promoters for their shows within the next few weeks. Announcement was made Sunday night that it is probable that a heavyweight from this team will be available for the next show Friday night. The dozen boys have not yet arrived at the Base from the Golden Slope but they are expected in the near future.

The four members of the Coast fleet who appeared last Friday night at Olympic hall all made a favorable impression and with so many more coming those in the authority at the Pastime expect plenty of real action and the accompanying large crowds.

Along with this announcement that came last night that the coming show would be featured by at least one heavyweight bout, that between Kid Brush and Young Fritz. Both boys have already signified intentions to appear and it is probable that more boys of the unlimited class will sign.

Although the entry list will have a hard time exceeding the record number that signed up for the last show —86—still, it is fairly certain that the promoters will have a big number of boys to pick from.

MASSIE MILLER QUALIFIES IN LA GORCE $15,000 OPEN

Massie B. Miller, professional, turned in a card of 151 for the 36 holes on Sunday to qualify for the $15,000 open golf championship being played at the La Gorce course at Miami Beach, Fla. Massie was one of 64 who will start medal play today for the title, which carries a $5,000 cash prize for low professional score. Massie had a 75 in the morning round and a 76 in the afternoon. Last week he shot a 70 over the course against Joe Turnesa and Al Watrous.

'BOUT SPORTS

There is plenty of rivalry in that city title series between the Academy and the C. F. C. Saturday night the Y gym was mighty near a mad-house for the 32 minutes that the teams grappled. The crowd was for the Academy, in the majority, although the C. F. C. had numerous rooters.

One nice thing about the Academy victory was that there was not even a hint of "freezing the ball" in the last few minutes. The schoolboys were in there trying for baskets all the way.

Al Schooner, former amateur heavy champ of the state, is advancing. After a few preliminary pro bouts at Boston, where he dispatched his men to dreamland with regularity, he now has a match with Jack Humbeck for Thursday night in Portland, Me.

MULLEN OFFERS TUNNEY $400,000 AND HALF GATE

CHICAGO, March 18.—(AP)—Promoter Jim Mullen of Chicago tonight made another bid for Gene Tunney's services in a championship heavyweight match. He wired the champion an offer of $400,000 with the privilege of 50 per cent of the gate receipts to meet an unnamed opponent here next July.

The offer was sent to Tunney at Miami Beach, Florida, where he is sojourning.

Mullen said he expected to stage several heavyweight elimination matches here within the next few months, bringing in the younger heavyweights and Johnny Risko and Jack Sharkey.

"Somewhere among these men is a battler who can give Tunney a royal go for the title," Mullen said, "and I believe I am going to uncover him."

COOPER AND CUICI LEAD LA GORCE QUALIFYING ROUND

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 18.—(AP)—Harry Cooper of Buffalo and Henry Cuici, New York professional, shot five under par for the 36 holes today to lead the field in the qualifying round of the $15,000 La Gorce golf open here. They tied for medalist honors at 137 each.

Two strokes behind the leaders was Gene Sarazen, New York and Newport Richey, Fla., former national open champion, with Douglas Casey, Chicago amateur next with 141, followed by Joe Kirkwood, Abany, Ga., Bobby Cruickshank, New York and Johnny Farrell, New York, with 142, even par for the two rounds.

High winds that swept the course at times made play difficult.

BASKETBALL BRIEFS

The Boston Whirlwinds lost to the Plymouth (Mass.) American Legion Saturday night, 30 to 24.

Bulkeley's team won its last game of the season Friday night, beating Fishers Island high at Fishers Island, 30 to 14.

It's too bad the Academy didn't start their fine work earlier.

Many are now thinking that had they done so they would have journeyed to the New Haven tourney.

Their work in the last five games has been as good as and better than anything that any other high school team has shown hereabouts this year.

The second game of the C. F. C.-Academy series ought to be a humdinger.

The crowd Saturday night at the Y wasn't quite up to scratch although what they lacked in numbers they made up in enthusiasm.

Both teams had plenty of support, although the Academy's rooters were in the majority.

Plenty of booing went on, with Davis of the C. F. C. coming in for a big share.

The crowd didn't like him to bound the ball around up under his own goal. They called for action repeatedly.

Referee Whaples also was booed a few times. Some of this was due to the pro-Academy crowd, who thought that he wasn't calling them just right, on the Red and Whitesters.

The score at the half was tied at 17 points. And this with March 17.

The Bulkeley Independents didn't show up for the preliminary. They were not notified of the game until 1:30 p. m., when they returned from a game they played Friday night at Fishers Island.

They'll probably play here next Saturday night against the Emps.

In their stead, the C. F. C. seconds went on and, hastily recruited, they could give but little opposition to the Emps, who won, 39 to 22.

Ludlow went out of the big game early, retiring soon after the start of the second quarter.

Buck LaCroix followed him in the last half.

The Taftville Crescents are girding for battle, according to reports, with real determination, for the second game of their series with the Plainfield Pros. A win for the Pros will clinch the series and automatically close the Taftville boys' season.

ACADEMY BURIES C. F. C. IN SECOND HALF TO WIN FIRST GAME OF SERIES

Continuing their winning streak, the Academy broke through the C. F. C.'s defense with ease in the last quarter of their game Saturday night at the Y gym and won, 42 to 29. This gives N. F. A. the first leg of the city title series. Up to that time it had been fairly even with the C. F. C. taking laurels for the first period, the second was even and the schoolboys had an edge in the third. But, that last quarter was simply a rollicking runaway race for the Red and White who threw in points with ridiculous ease while the present titleholders were almost powerless in their attempts either at scoring or at cutting down the stalwart Red and Whitesters.

Academy Stars Slow

The Academy made a very slow start, not hitting their real stride at all in the first half, although they put on a display in the second quarter that tied the score at 17-all at half time.

Meanwhile, the C. F. C. played a nice game, throwing in points without much trouble at first and then when the schoolboys started to creep up, they were able to match their strides on most every occasion. The C. F. C. led for three-fourths of the way in the first half, with the Academy in the van but on two or three occasions and then by only a point or so and for only a few minutes. The Baptists had a 5 to 0 lead for nearly half of the first quarter and, incidentally, this was the largest margin they held during the game.

In the third quarter the Academy was better but the C. F. C. would not be downed so easily and fought doggedly right on the schoolboys' footsteps. The quarter ended with N. F. A. in the van by 28-26.

Last Period All N. F. A.

The last period, however, was more of a farce than anything. The Academy's offensive, which had beaten four strong teams in the same number of previous starts, went into high and with players left uncovered right under the basket, there was no alternative than the Red and White's point total should mount, and mount it did steadily. The Whitney machine manufactured 14 points during these eight minutes while the C. F. C. scored but three points.

The Academy scored most of their points on close-up shots although Jarvis tossed in a few pretty long ones. The schoolboys missed a pile of close ones in the first half that probably would have gone in had they been shot with the same play that was in the Academy in the second half.

The C. F. C. made good on a big part of their throws in the first half but the second half made a big change in them. In the third quarter they had chances, some easy ones, but they muffed them just as badly as the Red and White had done in the first two periods. In the last quarter, however, it was not their shooting but the close guarding by the Academy that kept C. F. C. baskets away from the hoop. The Red and White defense had their opponents hurry their shots with regularity and once the period got underway it was plainly evident that the high school would celebrate after this first game of the city titular affair.

Lloyd Jarvis, although facing a big weight disadvantage in Davis, his opponent, still manipulated the ball in the court with ease and led the scorers with 16 points, 7 field goals and 2 fouls. The local baseball star showed his best game of the year. Les Pingree and Joe Viau, the rest of the Academy offensive, were not very far behind in the matter of scoring with 11 and 9 points, respectively. Both played bang-up good games, the same brand of work that has characterized theirs and the rest of the team, lately. Jim Kelly and Buck LaCroix made a good job on the defensive end. LaCroix was banished on four personals in the last half.

Leffingwell Pays Well

Zeke Leffingwell played the best game for the C. F. C., scoring 10 points and showing a fairly good game all around. Brown continued his high scoring record—although his 11 points is below his usual mark with this club, while Ludlow and Davis in the backcourt for the Baptists were good early in the game, until Ludlow went out on fouls in the second quarter and then the defense faltered a bit but managed to last it out until the last quarter. Capt. Lambert was at center, a new post for him, but Floyd got by fairly well although Joe Viau's height put him at a disadvantage.

Emps Have Easy Time

In the preliminary the Y Emps put it all over the C. F. C. seconds by 38 to 12. The Bulkeley Independents failed to put in an appearance and this team was substituted at the last minute.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre

"Sorrell and Son," the best selling novel which has been filmed by Herbert Brenon under the Joseph M. Schenck banner for United Artists, has its locale in England. Therefore, it was in keeping with the spirit of the story that the director of "Peter Pan" and "Beau Geste" should select British-born players for many of the important roles. Many of the scenes also were filmed in England. The film is current at the Palace theatre.

The author, Warwick Deeping, is an Englishman and the story tells of the heart-breaking experiences of an English gentleman when he tries to gather up the broken threads of his life after the war. Brenon made a trip to England to confer with Mr. Deeping on the transferring of his novel to the screen. Mr. Brenon being one of those rare souls in screenland who believes that the author of a literary masterpiece has certain fundamental rights in his creation which should be respected.

Brenon himself was born in Ireland and educated in England.

The leading role, that of "Sorrell," is enacted by H. B. Warner, who was born in London. His father, Charles Warner, was a celebrated English actor. H. B. Warner came to the United States in 1905 and at once made for himself an enviable place on the American stage. His wife, Rita Stanwood, was on the stage before their marriage. Mr. Warner is the father of two daughters, Joan and Lorraine, and a son, H. B. Warner, Jr. This latter fact is said to have added to the sympathetic portrayal he gives as "Sorrell and Son" is a story of father-and-son love.

Another Britisher in the cast is Norman Trevor, who was born in Calcutta, India, the scion of a prominent English family. Trevor started life as a tea planter, later turning his attention to athletics. He was awarded a medal in Paris as an entrant in the Olympic games. He went upon the stage in London over his aristocratic father's protest. When he came to America he was at once pronouncedly successful.

Lionel Belmore, who plays the role of poor old "Palfrey" is yet another born under the Union Jack, and as great a favorite this side as the other. There are also a number of players in smaller parts who were born on the tight little island.

Among the other leading players in "Sorrell and Son," Anna Q. Nilsson was born in Sweden. Nils Asther originally hails from Norway, and Alice Joyce, Carmel Myers, Louis Wolheim, Mary Nolan, Mickey McBan, Flobelle Fairbanks, Paul McAllister and Betsy Ann Hisle were born in the United States.

Strand Theatre

In a plane traveling at a breath-taking clip through the clouds, Al Wilson, the screen's greatest stunt and trick aviator, performs the most thrilling feat of his flying career in "Sky High Saunders," a Universal western air film which opens an engagement of two nights at the Strand tonight. From the opening shot which finds a gang of crooks using an airplane for their nefarious smuggling operations to the final fadeout with the girl, of course, in the arms of the flying ace, "Sky High Saunders," is a breath-taking, hair-raising, mile-a-minute thriller through the full five reels. Not a dull moment in the whole show. Those in the supporting cast are Bud Osborne, Elsie Tarron, Frank Rice, Billy Jones and Art Goebel.

"Clothes Make the Woman" is a Tiffany color classic, and is a gem of superb entertainment.

"Sainte" is a lively Fox comedy, and is acted by a clever cast of players. The story is light and interesting and affords an opportunity for much merriment for the film fans who will see it. There is plenty of good comedy, that the boys and girls will enjoy, so bring them along. You can afford to bring the entire family at our popular low prices.

NEXT GAME OF CITY TITLE SERIES SATURDAY

The second game of the Academy-C. F. C. series for the city title will be played the coming Saturday night at the Y gym. A third game, if necessary, will be run off on the following Monday, March 26.

The schoolboys have a big edge now after their victory Saturday night but the C. F. C. are expected to throw their fullest strength into the breah to halt the mad rush of the Red and White.

JOE BARRY NAMED FOR FIRST TEAM AT N. Y. U.

Breed Theatre

"The Life of Riley" is one of the best mirthquakes that has rocked out town.

George Sidney and Charlie Murray at their best are co-featured in a pair of corking characterizations and a plot that overlooks nothing of comedy value—with romance and feminine pulchritude and background color to boot. Consequently, they're packing in the folks at the Breed theatre, where "The Life of Riley" heads the bill.

E. M. Asher produced this hilarious film for First National Pictures, and William Beaudine directed it. Other favorites, including Sam Hardy, Myrtle Stedman, June Marlowe, Stephen Carr, Edward Davis and Bert Woodruff are also in the cast.

"Riley," the character depicted by Murray, is fire chief and general storekeeper in a rural village, and "Meyer" is chief of police and the iceman. Hardy comes to town with a circus as a shell-game man, and remains to get the rich widow, desired also by the fire and police chiefs! Myrtle Stedman plays the role.

A consistent plot is woven around this rivalry, the invention of a fire extinguisher by Riley and a very sweet romance between Molly, who drifts into town the day of the circus and Steve, Meyer's son. Even a touch of wistful pathos is allowed to enter the junior love affair, contrasting effectively with the breathless succession of comedy scenes.

This picture will make you laugh. That's the best compliment that can possibly be paid a comedy.

West Haven Man Awarded $100

Mr. Albert G. Dillion, a very modest American, of 36 Wallace street, West Haven, Connecticut, was awarded $100 for the best ice cream slogan, by the committee of judges in the Eastern Dairies' new name contest, conducted during last November, which attracted so much attention throughout New England, and in fact throughout the country.

Our readers probably recall that we recently published the names of those who were awarded prizes for the best name suggestions in this same contest.

Mr. Dillion was fortunate in submitting a prize winning slogan, "Where Joy Gives Health," which can be so easily and satisfaciorily adapted for possible use with the name "Fro-Joy" which is available to all Eastern Dairy dealers and the public of New England as well because of the recent merger of Eastern Dairies, Inc., with the General Ice Cream Corporation of Schenectady, N. Y.

The Eastern Dairies division of the General Ice Cream corporation again wishes to thank the public for the wonderful spirit of cooperation with which it entered the new name contest and also for the interest which has been shown in the results.

Scrapper the Kingbird Arrives

The coward will avoid a fight;
The scrapper finds it his delight.
—Scrapper the Kingbird.

There is one person who is always looked for when spring comes and it is time for the birds to return from the Sunny South. This person is a very important person in the Old Orchard. It is Scrapper the Kingbird. You see, Scrapper makes it his business to mount guard over the Old Orchard. All the other feathered folk know it.

Scrapper has won his name because he is a fighter. There isn't a cowardly feather on Scrapper. When he sees a member of the Hawk family approaching the Old Orchard he promptly gives warning to all the other feathered folk. But, unlike the others, he does not hide. No, indeed. That isn't Scrapper's way at all. He goes out to meet that Hawk. It makes no difference to him if that Hawk is ten times his size. He does not even respect old King Eagle. He goes out to meet the intruder and usually the intruder is very glad to get away as soon as may be, for Scrapper makes it very, very uncomfortable for him.

So it is that Scrapper the Kingbird is an important person in the Old Orchard and his arrival is watched for. The other feathered folk feel that they can better settle down to business, the business of home-building and raising families, when they know that Scrapper is on guard.

A number of the feathered folk had arrived, but Scrapper had not yet put in his appearance. Peter Rabbit noticed it. He spoke first of the matter to Winsome Bluebird. "Did you see Scrapper the Kingbird when you were south?" inquired Peter.

Winsome shook his head. "No," said he. "Scrapper goes a great deal farther south than I do."

"How much farther south?" Peter asked.

"I don't know," replied Winsome, "because I have never been far enough south to see."

"Do you mean that Scrapper spends the winter 'way, 'way, 'way down south?" inquired Peter.

"So I've heard," said Winsome. "I have heard it said that he goes so far south that there are only a few who go any farther."

"Then that is what makes him late in getting up here, I suppose," said Peter. "Hello, what's that?" Peter sat up abruptly and his two long ears stood straight up as he listened. What he heard was a familiar voice. He hadn't heard it for several months, but it was familiar just the same. "There he is now!" cried Peter, and away he went, lippertty-lippertty-lip, to the other side of the Old Orchard.

When he got over there he saw at once that Scrapper the Kingbird had arrived. He was out on the tip of one of the upper branches of an old apple tree and even as Peter came in sight he darted into the air, snapped his bill and returned to his perch. He had caught an insect of some kind, for Scrapper belongs to the fly-catcher family.

Already other feathered folk were hurrying over to welcome Scrapper. In fact, Scrapper was holding quite a reception.

"Welcome back, Scrapper!" cried Welcome Robin. "Welcome back!"

"We've been wondering where you were," cried Tommy Tit the Chickadee. "We were afraid something might have happened to you."

"Did you have a pleasant journey?" inquired Little Friend the Song Sparrow.

And so they kept it up, asking questions and telling Scrapper how glad they were to see him, until he must have felt that it was good to be home. (Copyright, 1928, by T. W. Burgess.)

AMERICAN BUSINESS SHOWS SIGNS OF GENERAL EXPANSION FOR SPRING

NEW YORK, March 18—(AP)—At the approach of spring, American business again displayed signs of general expansion, although the trend was much less pronounced in some lines than in others. Considerable relief appeared, however, from the spotty condition which has been reported in various weeks of the near past.

The upward trend of railway freight loadings was one of the most favorable signs. With the exception of coal shipments, which at this time in 1927 were near their peak, the movement of revenue freight has accelerated sharply, lending new inspiration to the belief, held earlier in the year, that 1928 will prove a progressive period in industry.

The steel trade, which earlier showed symptoms of sagging from its line of rapid development, again made strides. Early February saw a falling off in buying and led to predictions that the end-of-the-month report of unfilled orders would reveale a decrease. The figure, however, was about 120,000 tons above that of the close of January, due to a new spurt of orders during the final weeks of last month.

The automotive trade continued to hold its comparative high level of production and demand. Employment in Detroit, considered a reliable barometer of progress in the motor industry, again increased during the week, and made a pronounced gain over the corresponding time of last year, when one of the leading manufacturers was virtually out of the market.

Among the branches making especially long steps forward was lumber. American railroads have been active in this market and there had been noticeable buying for shipment to Australia.

The week was rather quiet in textiles, although there were few, if any, indications of slipping backward. There was some shading of quotations for some varieties of cotton goods, but recessions were not general. Woolens and worsteds failed to make much progress.

The so-called balance of trade between exports and imports was somewhat narrower in February than in the first months, outgoing merchandise exceeding imports by no more than $20,000,000, compared with an excess of $73,000,000 in January.

Although the stock market was engaged in one of the most active weeks in its history, it did not serve, necessarily, as a barometer of general business. Commercial expansion has not been rapid enough to account for the remarkable boom in some stocks. The operations of powerful pools against a crowded short interest had far more to do with the "bull market" than any real or fancied development in the business situation.

The money market showed little change despite a renewed outward movement of gold. Time loan and commercial paper rates were virtually unchanged, and there was no violence in the movement of call money quotations.

Bank clearings in the principal financial centers fell off slightly from the week before, as well as from the corresponding period of last year.

Comparatively few changes took place in commodity prices.

Corn, oats, cotton and sugar were among those which moved upward, against softening in barley, coffee and tin, and a further weakening of rubber prices.

POETRY

My Task

The way is dark,
Across each seeming outlet, in the gloom,
Fast-closed gates with stern forbidding loom,
And not one spark
Of kindly light that might betoken day
With cheering gleam falls soft upon the way.
I turn and turn, and still is barrier thrust—
Yet, I can trust.

I am so tired
The weary way seems very, very long
To my impatient feet. The winds are strong,
And seem inspired
With demon skill, as if the powers of all
Would thrust me back, if onward still I dare.
And yet, remembering His promise sure,
I can endure.

I hear the call
That bids me from those pleading turn aside;
That marks the way when my poor hands must guide
Lest dear ones fall
And, looking on, I can but choose the good.
What these will choose when they have understood
The things now hid. The Lord my heart will prove,
I still can love.

"Some time, somewhere"
The way will open, and the light will shed
Its welcome radiance upon paths I tread
With tears and prayer.
"Some time" for these I love I shall be given
The one great boon that I have asked of Heaven.
"He will not tarry" though He linger late—
So I can wait.

Four things to do:
Trust, and endure, and love, and wait—and He,
My gracious Lord, will do all else for me.
By promise true
And then my weariness shall end in rest,
And love, in Him, shall be forever blest
And He in me, and I in Him who died,
Be glorified.

—Sally N. Roach in Sunday School Times.

Survival

The knell that dooms the voiceless and obscure
Stills Memnon's music with its ghostly chime;
Strength is as weakness in the clasp of time,
And for the things that were there is no cure.
The vineyard with its vair investiture,
The mountain summit with its hoary rime,
The throne of Caesar, Cheops' tomb sublime,
Alike decay, and only dreams endure.
Dreams for Assyria her worship won,
And India is hallowed by her dreams;
The Sphinx with deathless visage views the race
That like the lotus of a summer seems
And, rudderless, immortality sails on The winged Victory of Samothrace.

—Florence Earle Coate.

KALEIDOSCOPE

Most common species of birds do not live more than five or six years, though some kind have much longer lives than this.

Taking advantage of present-day methods of survey, his highness the rajah of Sarawak has recently had completed an aerial survey of some 3,000 square miles of his dominions.

In some downtown streets of Berlin, Germany, a car owner may park as long as he likes by paying a rental of about 7 cents an hour, and he must pay up before he can move his car. The money goes into the city treasury.

Pet rats share his home with George A. Hall, a farmer of Surry, N. H., and they have become so friendly that they will eat out of his hand and follow him about the house. Hall has a regular eating place for them in his kitchen. When strangers appear they run into hiding.

Old Horny, the freak Yosemite National park deer, has again sprouted the extra horn growing out from his snout which caused his being named the rhino buck or unicorn deer. When he first grew this extra spike and shed it with his regular antlers, there was much speculation as to whether it would come back when the new antlers grew out. The extra horn grows about one-third of the way between the deer's nose and his antlers.

"Houses that kill" are slowly being demolished in Paris, but there remain yet several score buildings where there are hundreds of bedrooms without ventilation or sunlight. Grouped along the ancient "street of the ovens" are tenements that soon are to be torn down. There were 5,000 such buildings thirty years ago when the city began collecting reports on each separate house. These were reduced to a few score before the war but the housing shortage has delayed further action.

ALLEGE TWO NIANTIC FARMERS SOLD WATERED MILK IN NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, March 18—Two cases of violation of the state law regulating the quality of milk will be tried in the police court Monday. It is alleged that the milk delivered by the dealers in New London was of the watered brand. The accused are Niantic farmers, Robert Dean and Herris Solowitz. They were ordered into court yesterday by State Police Officer Bernard Kennerson, after warrants for their arrests had been received by Lieut. Roy Streaman, Groton barracks as a result of an investigation by employes of the state dairy and food department. It is claimed that Dean and Solowitz delivered milk in New London, Feb. 24 and that some of it was taken by C. H. Briggs, state dairy and food commissioner after an analysis was made by a state chemist it was found to contain much water. Dean and Solowitz declare that they did not adulterate the milk and say that they are in ignorance as to how the water contained by the milk got there.

BLAZE IN BANK ST. CELLAR STARTED FROM MATCHES

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, March 18—Fire was discovered in the building, 136-140 Bank street, used in the basement for storage purposes, on the street floor by stores and on the second floor by residents, early this morning and for a brief time it was believed that a serious blaze would result, for the police were unable to gain admission to where the fire was in progress. Shortly after 1 o'clock, Mrs. John McConville, who occupies one of the tenements, detected a strong odor of smoke and making an investigation determined that a fire was in progress in the lower part of the building. She telephoned to police headquarters. Patrolmen Fitzwood Bailey and Lawrence Hardy found the basement, which is used by the Schwartz Furniture company, filled with smoke, but were unable to force the door, after repeated attempts to do so. The officers communicated with police headquarters, stated that the fire existed, but that entrance could not be gained, so fire headquarters were notified and Deputy Chief Calvin Edmunds and Nameaug Engine company responded. Entrance was then gained and a lively blaze discovered. A large accumulation of wood and paper and other inflammable materials at the foot of a stairway leading to the upper part of the building was burning briskly. It was quickly extinguished with chemicals before damage of consequence resulted. How the fire originated, is not known, but it is believed that someone who had been at work in the basement late Saturday afternoon or night had dropped a lighted match or cigarette in the paper and that it finally broke out in flame, causing the smoke to ascend to the living apartments and be detected by Mrs. McConville.

Charged with violation of the state motor vehicle law in driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, Michael J. Cummings, United States coast guard, pleaded guilty on Saturday in the police court. He was fined $100 and costs, but $75 of the fine was ordered remitted. Cummings was on Williams street, near Connecticut college for women, Friday night and because of his condition he lost control of the steering wheel which resulted in the auto overturning. A resident of the vicinity informed the police of the accident and Automobile Patrol Officer Clarence Martin and Patrolman William Riordan, who investigated, arrested Cummings. The auto was damaged, but Cummings escaped injury other than minor bruises.

The police of Norwich have requested the New London police to be on the lookout for a stolen automobile taken from the former city early this morning. It is a Chevrolet coach, 1928 model, registration, N-5195 and painted a light green.

Frederick Smith was driving his automobile on Ocean avenue Saturday night when it became disabled at the corner of Lee avenue. He allowed the car to remain there until this morning when it was taken to a garage.

The continued case of Elbert Chapman of Poquonoc road, a Yellow Cab driver, was continued to the 24th inst. in the city court Saturday. Chapman was arrested Oct. 17, last as a result of the automobile striking Patrolman Walter Rehn, who was off duty, when the officer attempted to cross State street. Officer Rehn sustained a fractured leg and has not performed duty since.

Victor Gunska, 40 Eastern avenue, a laborer, was charged with breach of the peace and was fined $10 and costs. Gunska went to his home Friday and was intoxicated. He engaged in a row with his wife and during the exchange of words Gunska struck the woman and then left the house. Mrs. Gunska made a complaint to Prosecuting Attorney Daniel M. Cronin, who issued a warrant for Gunska's arrest and he was taken into custody by Detective Sergeant John Cavanaugh.

William Bourkney of Buffalo, N. Y., was charged with violation of the city's traffic ordinances in causing a blockade on Main street. He failed to present himself in court and his bond of $5 was declared forfeited.

The only other cases presented were for intoxication. One man who was arrested Friday night by Patrolman Frank Philopena when he persisted in annoying Elmer E. Kennerson, caretaker at Riverside park, was fined $5 and costs and another, a fisherman who annoyed a saleswoman in a State street store Friday night, did not present himself, but forfeited his bond of $10.

City Manager William A. Holt Saturday handed down his decision as a result of the hearing Friday of Patrolman George McCaskey, who was charged by Samuel Polinsky, employed by the New London News company Bank street with conduct unbecoming an officer in striking Polinsky. City Manager Holt ordered McCaskey suspended two weeks the date of the suspension to date from the 19th inst. McCaskey and Polinsky engaged in harsh words at the corner of State street several days ago and when McCaskey placed Polinsky under arrest on a charge of breach of the peace, he struck Polinsky a blow on the jaw, which felled the latter. Traffic Officer William Corcoran separated the officer and Polinsky and McCaskey then decided to permit Polinsky to go about his business. That was where the officer erred for had he provocation to strike the complainant he certainly had provocation to arrest him. In rendering his decision the City Manager referred to that part of the row and not to any part of the incident which precipitated the fight. He said that Officer McCaskey had made an error of judgment in not arresting Polinsky if the former had cause to strike him.

Miss Myrtle Miner, of Niantic; Mrs. Frank White, North Stonington; Mrs. Halstead Ayrton and infant daughter, 15 Richards street and Mrs. Arthur Levard, Poquonoc road, Groton, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged Saturday.

The funeral of Theresa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Enrico Rossini, was held from the residence of the child's parents Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Alice Bunting, widow of Charles H. Bunting, formerly of New London who died in New York, was held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at 15 Masonic street, the services being conducted by Rev. Joseph A. Elder. Members of Konomoc Hose company, of which company Mr. Bunting was a member many years, acted as bearers. Burial was in Jordan cemetery. Mrs. Bunting leaves three sisters, Mrs. James Burgess of New York, at whose home Mrs. Buntington died; Mrs. Henry Smith of Canada and Mrs. Manning of Vermont. A brother, Charles Barrows of Norwich, also survives.

Herman Katz, 35, of 35 Harrison street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Katz, of John street, died Saturday morning at Home Memorial hospital, death resulting from a weakened condition of the heart, although he had recently undergone an operation for tonsilitis.

The funeral service was held at the family residence Saturday afternoon and burial was in the Hebrew cemetery. Mr. Katz was a member of the Trumbull lodge, No. 48, Knights of Pythias, of New London Sick Benefit society and was a member of the congregation of Ahavat Chesed synagogue.

Mr. Katz married in 1915 Miss Rose Bokoss. His wife, and two children, William, aged 11 and Louis, aged six, survive him. Also surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Katz, a sister, Mrs. Bernard Packer of this city and Jacob Katz of Springfield.

CLAIM JUDGE A. F. LIBBY WILL GET THEM FREE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, March 18.—Two white men, believed to be ong in Norwich and a colored woman, a resident of New London, were arrested this evening charged with intoxication and breach of the peace. They will be presented in the police court tomorrow morning. The trio were passengers on the Norwich trolley car that arrived in New London at 7.45 o'clock and immediately after alighting on State street they were attracted to the Salvation Army, which was holding a service there. The two men and the woman went to where the group of religious workers were singing and started to become members of the flock and one of the men passed his hat among a throng that had collected in the hope of making a collection. About that time, Acting Sergeant William Graham and Patrolmen John Sullivan and Harry Watterson appeared and arrested the three. After they were locked up one of the men insisted that they would not be penalized in the morning for he said that he would get in touch with Judge Arthur F. Libby, who would get them out of their predicament.

CHARLES BENSON, GROTON, BEATS WIFE, FOUND BY ROAD

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, March 18.—Mrs. Charles Benson, 83 Blinderman street, this city, wife of Charles Benson, a New Haven railroad freight brakeman, was found only partially attired tonight in Groton, suffering from the effects of a beating she says she received at the hands of her husband. The state police and New London police are seeking Benson to arrest him on a charge of assault. Leroy Stephenson, 20 Starr street, was driving near Fairview road when he observed the woman lying beside the road and stopping the auto he learned from her statement that she had been attacked by her husband. Stephenson brought the woman to the New London police headquarters where she said that she and her husband went to a cottage in Groton this afternoon which they intended to rent, so that their children would have much yard room to play during the summer months. While they were at the cottage a quarrel occurred which resulted in the woman being attacked. She ran from the cottage and was followed by her husband, who administered further punishment to her, leaving her in the roadway where she was found by Stephenson. When the woman told the story at police headquarters her clothing, such part of it as she wore, was torn and disarranged. The state police were notified of the assault and Officer Peter Busch came to New London and after female outer garments had been provided to protect her from the cold, Officer Busch accompanied her back to Groton in the hopes of finding and arresting Benson. Benson has a charge of breach of the peace pending against him in the police court, for he was arrested last December upon complaint of his wife. At that time the case was continued to June 7. He has since been in the custody of Probation Officer Richard Mansfield.

The cases of Joseph E. Neville, of Yantic and Sikmund Leikiewicz, 402 Central avenue, Norwich, will come before United States Commissioner Russell H. Corcoran here tomorrow morning on charges of violation of the liquor law, as will that of Paul Bychkowsky, 247 Huntington street. Neville and Leikiewicz came to New London last Wednesday night with a quantity of liquor, which they had in hot water bottles and which was intended for delivery to customers. While the officers were searching the automobile that Neville and Leikiewicz occupied, Bychkowsky appeared and undoubtedly had some of the liquor delivered, for when he ran beneath a porch of a residence he was found in possession of some of the booze. All three men have been at liberty since their arrest, for they furnished a surety on their respective bonds of $1000.

John Burrows, Jr., 13, of 53 Broad street, was struck by an unidentifiel automobile on Howard street last night and was painfully injured. This afternoon Burrows' father went to police headquarters for he believed that the driver of the auto had not given the youth the attention that was due him and was, perhaps, guilty of reckless driving. The boy was struck near his home and when the driver picked up the youth, instead of taking him to the office of a physician or a hospital, he drove the boy to a Shaw street residence from which place, after a long wait, he was taken to his home. Arriving there a physician was summoned and dressed the youth's wounds. The witnesses of the accident neither identified the driver, nor obtained the registration of the auto.

John W. Robbins, of United States Coast Guard, residing at 29 Tilley street, is in a fair way to receive a jail sentence when presented in the police court tomorrow morning, for he is locked up at police headquarters on a charge of beach of the peace. A few days ago, Robbins was arrested on a breach of the peace charge and the following day in the police court Deputy Judge Lewis Crandall assured Robbins that the latter would be sent to jail for six months if he was brought before the court on such a charge and where the striking of his wife was a contributing factor of the complaint. This afternoon Robbins went to police headquarters and said that he had been at a drinking place on Winthrop street where he had been relieved of $100. Patrolman Frank Philopena was sent to the house with Robbins, but it was apparent from what the officer ascertained that Robbins, if he really lost his money, was not relieved of the money where he claimed the theft occurred. Several hours later Mrs. Robbins appeared at police headquarters and made complaint against her husband, alleging breach of the peace. Mrs. Robbins, who is small of stature, said that Robbins went to his home Saturday night, intoxicated. His conduct became so unbearable that she went to Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield, in whose charge Robbins was placed when he was previously arrested, and related her story. Mr. Mansfield procured a room on Golden street for the woman. About 5.30 o'clock Robbins obtained knowledge that his wife was in the Golden street house and going there he created another row. He took the woman's pocketbook and coat and hat and departed. Robbins went to the corner of State and Bank street where he wanted to make a complaint against his wife, and the officer not knowing that Robbins was wanted, advised him to go to police headquarters and tell his troubles. When he did so he was locked up.

POETRY FOR THE WIDE-AWAKES

Joy of the Morning

I hear you, little bird, shouting aswing above the broken wall.
Shout louder yet; no song can tell it all.
Sing to my soul in the deep still wood;
'Tis wonderful beyond the wildest word;
I'd tell it, too, if I could.

Oft when the white, still dawn
Lifted the skies and pushed the hills apart,
I've felt it like a glory in my heart—
(The world's mysterious stir)
But had no throat like yours, my bird,
Nor such a listener.

The Return

The social wren came back again;
A day or two ago,
After a gala holiday
in sunny Mexico.
He brought along no luggage
Save his stock of saucy cheer;
And by just what route he traveled
He omitted to make clear;
But he opened house this season,
And we're glad to have him here....

The social wren is back again;
A jolly guest is he,
With tail held high and waggish eye
That speaks his sportive glee.
For his holiday he leaves us,
Fleeing winter's chill and stress;
But when spring comes up the valley,
His vivacious notes express
His delight in being with us
At his permanent address.
—George S. Bryan, in "The Ghost in the Attic."

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE-AWAKES

The bluebird usually nests in holes in trees, posts and stumps, but some of these birds nest in boxes or in other places arranged for their convenience. One way of getting bluebirds for your neighbors is to make use of an old post, a branch or a tree or a small tree trunk in which there is a cavity suitable for a bluebird's nest. The woodpecker drills holes in trees when nesting, and oftentimes it drills a nest-hole in posts. A piece of post or a tree with an abandoned woodpecker's hole may be used as a prospective home for a pair of bluebirds. A better nesting place for bluebirds is hard to find. A well known authority on bluebirds and their habits says, with regard to preparing a suitable home for these birds:

Cut a piece 16 or 18 inches long from the post or branch in such a way as to secure the part containing the entrance and cavity. Fasten this to a post or tree in the yard and you have a nesting device a pair of bluebirds will find it hard to ignore.

But bluebirds sometimes choose odd places for their nests. I once found a pair of bluebirds nesting in the end of a box-car. The box-car was out of order and stood all spring and summer on a long railway siding. The box-car had been in a wreck or had been subjected to a great strain, for one of its couplers had been pulled out. A great splinter had been pulled out in one side of this hole. In the hole thus made a pair of bluebirds had built a nest.

The same writer says: We have for a number of years had a box at the end of the lane for our daily paper. Last spring a pair of bluebirds chose our paper box for their nesting place. They made a neat nest of grass in the bottom, not seeming to mind the fact that each day while the nest was under construction a paper was placed in the box and left there for a half hour or more. While the paper was in the box they hovered near, patiently waiting for us to remove it.

A few days after the nest was completed a pretty blue egg appeared in the nest, then a second, a third, and finally a fourth. Each day for about a week afterward the birds began to sit on the eggs, the paper boy placed a paper in the box, thus disturbing the sitting bird. But as soon as we removed the paper she returned to the eggs. Then I decided that the brave bird should be disturbed no more. I asked the paper boy to place the paper on the ground beneath the nest. I was surprised to learn that he knew nothing of the nest. In due time all the eggs hatched and four little bluebirds were ushered into the world in about as strange a nursery as bluebirds ever had.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE-AWAKES

A Loaf of Bread

Dear Uncle Jed: Here is a story I made up in school, about a loaf of bread. A little peasant boy was busy working in a field. His name was Jonn. If someone had watched him they would have seen him drop something in the ground and cover it up.

John was planting wheat. Soon little green weeds grew up. These were my brothers, sisters and I.

We were in the field a long, long time. We saw the birds, the trees and all the beautiful world. After a time John cut us down. He took us to a barn and threshed us. We were separated from our friends, the stalks. Then John took us to a mill.

Then when we returned all of us were not there. We were all ground up to little bits. John called us flour. John sold some of us. I was taken to a baker's. He made me into a loaf of bread. He put me into a hot place called the oven. It was very hot in there and I was glad when I was taken out.

Then we were sold to people. I was bought by a poor hungry woman. Oh! how happy the loaves of bread and I made the people! But John was the happiest of all, because he earned money by selling us.

Buttonholes

Dear Uncle Jed: My mother wished me to learn to make buttonholes and set me to the task. The buttonhole was large and the needle was too fine for the thread. The longer I worked the larger the buttonhole seemed to grow. My needle stuck in the cloth and would not come through. The thread came out of the needle and the tears rolled down my cheeks. My hand shook but at last I threaded the needle. And still I sat there trying to see the stitches through my tears. When I had finished the buttonhole mother said it looked like a "pig's eye." I shall never forget when I made my first buttonhole.

An Aroplane I Saw

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about an aeroplane I saw. Wednesday afternoon as I was walking home from school I heard a loud noise. It was an aeroplane that was going over my head. I stopped and watched it. It was going north and it was going fast. Suddenly it turned and came toward me. As it was over my head it began to circle around and around. It remained for a moment poised in the air and then began to loop the loop.

Then it came part way down in a nose dive and then it suddenly curved and rose again. Reaching the height it was before, it slowly began to circle and move. Then suddenly it wheeled and went northeast.

I watched it until it was a mere speck in the sky. I then walked on, wondering why the plane had acted so queerly.

My Adventure

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my first story. One day as I was looking at my traps I heard a bark. It was my dog named Rover. He was after a squirrel. I started at a full run after the squirrel. It climbed a tree. Then I climbed after it. When I came where he was he leaped but by tough luck missed the limb. Rover at the foot of the tree leaped at it and kept it alive until I climbed down. Then he waited for my orders. I told him to let it go and he let go of it. It scampered up the tree and chattered for joy.

My Cat

Dear Uncle Jed: I am writing you a story about my cat. The cat I am going to write about is my pet.

My pet cat likes to do tricks. When my dog goes by my pet runs after him and when the dog smells him the cat wants to play with him and he scratches the dog on the nose. The dog growls at my pet. I got a little sister. When the cat sees her he runs away. He is afraid of little children. When I take the string the cat runs after me and he tries to catch the string. Sometimes I tie a piece of meat on the string and he tries to get it. He jumps as high as he can after the meat. He catches a great many mice.

Sometimes when I feed my canary the pet cat wants to eat him, but he doesn't. He only stays by the cage and he plays around it. I guess I can't write any more because I have to bring wood.

Forgot to Go Home

Hello, Uncle Jed: Well, I haven't written to you in a long time, so now I am writing a story about when I forgot to go home.

One night when my sister and I were down to my uncle's in Newport one of my friends asked us to come over to her house and play games, so we did. We got over there and we told our friend that we could stay until 9.30. Well, we played games and it came 9.30 and we didn't know when it came. Well, by and by we heard a knock at the door and my sister said that it was our uncle. Sure enough, it was him. He asked where we were. My sister was in the kitchen trying to hide, but she didn't succeed. He asked if we were going to stay all night. We said no, we were not. It was then almost 11 o'clock. We went home and after that when we went to her house again we didn't stay over 9.30. Well, we had a good time just the same.

The Baldwin School

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to write to you about our school this time. It is the Baldwin school. I have just started going there this fall. The building is painted white and it has three windows on each side and a cement step in front, made by the boys of the school. There is a woodshed near the house, too.

The seventh and eighth grades have been having all about immigration. There were about 40 topics and after they were all looked up we had to write a composition on it. Mine was the best so it is going to be taken to Hartford. I am in the seventh grade and the only one in my class.

Rex

Dear Uncle Jed: I thought I would write to you and tell you about Rex. Rex was a shepherd dog. He resembled a fox by his long reddish coat of fur and his sly actions. With his ears up straight and his keen nose and eyes ready for use, he would start his morning exercises. The first thing he did in the morning was traveling a short distance into the woods. After returning from the wood he played with an old rubber which was usually in the back yard. The poor old rubber was tossed and thrown all around the back yard.

Rex was sick with distemper and not long after he died. He was nearly a year old when he died.

West Point

Dear Uncle Jed: It is a long time since I wrote to the Wide-Awake Circle, so here is my composition, and I hope you will like it.

West Point on the Hudson is in the eastern part of New York state.

The United States military academy it situated there. The building is on a plateau above the Hudson. The grounds are about one hundred acres. Here the cadets are given a military education, free, by the United States government, the course taking four years to complete. Most of the West Point cadet professors are United States army officers.

Some Skiing

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you and the Wide-Awakes a story that I have entitled "Some Skiing," and I am sure you will think so when you read it.

It was 3 o'clock, and Dorothy, my friend, arrived at my house to go skiing. We took the skis into the lot.

First she took the skis and went down—a ways! But before she reached her destination she took a tumble and fell on her back.

She did not get discouraged, for later I will tell you how she tried again. But now she had climbed up the hill and it was my turn.

I went down fine—not one mishap! For a wonder! This time Dorothy decided she would rather go somewhere else, where she could take a jump.

To satisfy her whims I took her to a place I knew would be rather speedy, but mentioned not a word about it to her.

She suggested that she had rather have me go down first, to see what it was like.

Down I went, but when I reached the jump my skis crossed and I went headfirst into the snow. But I wasn't injured in the least.

Then she said laughingly: "Muriel, I can do a great deal better than that."

She did, for a ways—then she tumbled, too. This was too much for her. She cried out: "Muriel, I'm sip-sopping wet. It never rains unless it pours!" I laughed this time and said: "He who laughs last laughs best." So we went into the house to get dry.

We remained there till it was time for her to go home.

As she started for home she made the remark that she did not care to come down and go skiing tomorrow.

Saved Boy's Life

Dear Uncle Jed: I am writing to you for the first time. This is my story:

The automobile tore down the street. A little boy was at the wheel. Suddendy he began to shriek: "I can't stop it! I can't stop it!"

At the corner stood a man. He heard the boy's shouts and ran to his assistance. He jumped to the running board and stopped the machine. The boy had already fainted, but soon recovered. A few days later the man was rewarded by $25 in gold by the boy's father, who said: "You saved my son's life."

The Star Spangled Banner

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my first story to you and I am going to tell you about "The Star Spangled Banner."

Our national anthem was written by Francis Scott Key during the war of 1812, when, after a night of anxiety, "the dawn's early light" revealed his beloved flag still waving over the ramparts of Baltimore. This flag is now preserved in the Smithsonian institute, Washington, D. C.

It has fifteen stars and stripes, because there were fifteen states at that time. At first a star and a stripe were add when a new state was admitted to the union. Congress soon realized that this would make the flag too large.

In 1818 they reduced the number of stripes to thirteen—representing the original union—and voted to add a star for each new state.

Roger Williams Park

Dear Uncle Jed: I hope you and the Wide-Awakes will like my story. Last summer I went to Roger Williams park. I went in an automobile and rode all around the park. There were many pretty flower beds.

After looking at the flowers we got out of the auto and stopped to look at some bears. There were two black ones and two brown ones. Then I went to look at the pigeons. There were many different kinds of pretty birds. Then I went and looked at the monkeys for about an hour. They were on a small island.

They would push one another in the water. After that we went in the museum. I saw skeletons of animals. There were all kinds of stuffed fish. We also saw many things that the Indians used and wore. There were all kinds of stones and shells. We also saw where Roger Williams lived. We saw ponds where ducks and swans were swimming. I had a very good time.

Snowballing

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about the sport I had snowballing. The last snowstorm that came I was coming from school. Some of my friends began to throw snowballs at each other. Some of the boys joined in also. Of course boys can throw farther and swifter than girls can. We got hit many times and we ducked many of them also. Our coats and hats were full of snow. In the midst of our game two dogs came along. They wanted to join in but they got the worst of it. They ran to catch the snowballs but instead of catching them they got hit and ran home.

Eli Whitney

Dear Uncle Jed: Whitney was born in Westboro, Mass., Dec. 8, 1765. During the war for independence he was engaged in making nails. He worked his way through Yale college, graduating in 1792, and then went to Georgia to teach. The widow of General Greene gave him a home. When some friends were complaining that there was no profit in raising the best cotton, owing to the great difficulty of separating the fiber from the seed, she advised them to apply to Whitney. He had never seen any cotton seed or raw cottonan dhad to make the tools and to draw the wire with which he experimented. After several months' labor he produced the gin. Afterward he returned to the north and engaged in the manufacture of firearms near New Haven. His buildings became the models upon which the national armories were afterward built. He died in New Haven Jan. 8, 1825.

Keeping At It.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the second time I have written to you. On a cold windy winter morning a young lad about six years of age undertook the huge task of removing snow, the depth of which was very nearly two feet, from a lengthy sidewalk. His only tool was a small shovel such as those included in children's toy garden sets.

A pedestrian chanced by, and noticing the lad's earnest but very nearly fruitless efforts to make a path stopped and laughingly called out to him, "I say my little man, how do you ever expect to make a path through this snow with such a tiny shovel?"

The little fellow thrust up a ruddy face and facing the man squarely answered, "By keeping at it, that's how." The man passed on in silence.

By presidential decree, the official population of France has been increased by 23 souls. Guidebooks, histories, almanacs and other informative volumes which give the population of France as 40,745,851 are in error. The figure should be 40,745,874. When the last census was taken the names of 23 inhabitants of the village of Honnecourt, near Cambrai, were carefully jotted down and then overlooked. The fact that they had not been included in the grand total was discovered only a short time ago, whereupon the president of the republic and the minister of the interior signed a decree correcting the error.

GREENEVILLE

Miss Mary Mahoney of the Baltic academy spent the week end at the home of her father, William Mahoney, of Convent avenue.

Lynwood Crary has returned to his home in Preston after spending the week end with relatives in Woonsocket.

The members of the N. M. club were entertained at the home of Mrs. Harold Wickham Friday evening with a large attendance. After sewing a social hour was enjoyed. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The club will meet Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Harry Richmond of Boswell avenue.

The regular Lenten devotions were held in St. Mary's Memorial church Friday evening with a large attendance at the services, which consisted of Stations of the Cross and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. William A. Keefe. Mrs. Michael J. Farrell, organist, was in charge of the musical program.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Bernard have returned to their home, No. 560 Boswell avenue after spending a few days in Boston. While there they attended the automobile show, which was held in that city the past week.

Misses Elizabeth and Mary Mallon have returned to the Baltic academy to resume their studies after spending their week end recess at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Mallon of Convent avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Atterbury have returned to their home on Paige street after attending the wedding of Mr. Atterbury's niece, Miss K. Hurd Atterbury, which took place Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at her home, 33 Central avenue, St. George, Staten Island, N. Y. Miss Atterbury became the bride of Hamlet Strachon, also of Staten Island.

Miss Romilda Riccio has returned to resume her studies at the Baltic academy after spending her week end recess at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Mallon of Convent avenue.

Sunday being the third Sunday of the month it was communion Sunday for the Holy Name society, also men of St. Mary's Memorial church. A large number of men approached the altar rail to receive the sacrament at the 7.30 o'clock mass with the pastor, Rev. William A. Keefe, as celebrant. Rev. Frederick M. Coholan assisted in distributing the communion to the communicants.

Miss Eva Whitkin has returned to resume her studies at the Willimantic normal school after spending the week end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitkin of Central avenue.

Joseph Carey has returned to his home at Stafford Springs after spending the week end with relatives on North Main street.

At St. Mary's Memorial church the following masses were offered for the repose of the souls this past week: On Monday a requiem mass at 7.30 o'clock for the late Misses Margaret and Catherine Carey; Tuesday the fourth anniversary requiem mass for the late Hugh C. Callahan; Thursday at 8 o'clock a requiem mass for Grace Lotter; Friday morning at 7.30 a requiem mass for the late Margaret Yerrington. Rev. William A. Keefe, was celebrant of the masses. Mrs. Michael J. Farrell, organist, had charge of the musical program.

William Hartle, a local mailman, who has been confined to his home on Convent avenue with an attack of the grip, is able to be out again.

Jacob Gidblatt and father, David Goldblatt, of North Main street, left Sunday for a two weeks' trip which will cover 500 miles. Their trip will take them to New York, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C.

Daniel Dennis is confined to his home on North Main street with illness.

Saturday the Catholic world celebrated the feast of St. Patrick, the apostle of Ireland, although on Sunday the sermons and music in the Catholic churches treated on his life's work. Today, Monday, the 19th, is the feast of St. Joseph, the foster father of the Saviour and fittingly called the patron saint of the workingman.

In the announcements made at the masses at St. Mary's Memorial church Sunday by the pastor, Rev. William A. Keefe, were that the Lenten devotions would be held on Sunday, Tuesday and Friday evenings, Tuesday evening instead of Wednesday which had been the custom. On next Sunday morning at the 10.30 o'clock mass, Rev. Anthony Murphy will sing his first solemn high mass. Rev. Murphy is to be ordained to the Catholic priesthood on Saturday, March 24, at St. Joseph's cathedral, Hartford.

John Hayden has returned to Providence after spending the week end at his home on Smith avenue.

Napoleon Keroack of Putnam is spending a few days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Keroack of Central avenue.

George Swanton of Providence is spending a few days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Swanton of 499 Boswell avenue.

John O. Shea has returned to his home in Jewett City after spending a few days at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Michael Shea, of 498 North Main street.

SELECTMEN NAME HAROLD S. BURT TO BE TOWN CLERK AND TOWN TREASURER

The board of selectmen, at a meeting Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock, appointed, by unanimous vote, City Treasurer Harold S. Burt as town clerk, town treasurer and registrar of vital statistics, to succeed the late Charles S. Holbrook. The appointment is to complete the unexpired term of the late Mr. Holbrook, running to October, 1929. All three selectmen, William S. Murray, Charles P. Bushnell and Patrick T. Connell, were present at the meeting. Mr. Burt was called to the selectmen's office by Selectman Murray and there informed of his appointment. Mr. Murray paid a glowing tribute to Mr. Holbrook's memory, speaking of his enviable record as town clerk and treasurer. Mr. Murray further stated that the board hoped that Mr. Burt will create the same favorable impression. In response, Mr. Burt voiced his appreciation of the honor conferred on him and said that he will conduct the office to the best of his ability.

Mr. Burt was immediately sworn in by Town Counsel H. H. Pettis and at once entered upon his new duties. Mr. Burt tendered to Mayor Milo R. Waters his resignation as city treasurer to take effect April 3.

Mr. Burt was escorted to the town clerk's office and introduced to his assistants, Miss Mary G. Ward, assistant town clerk, and Misses Ruth Kinney and M. Genevieve Connell. Selectman Murray instructed him as to his duties.

Mr. Burt embarked upon his political career less than a year ago. It was last spring that he was nominated for city treasurer on the republican ticket and elected in June. Since that time he has held the office of city treasurer, and has made many friends in both parties. He was warmly complimented throughout the day upon his appointment.

His selection as a successor to the late Mr. Holbrook was made after thoughtful consideration of the many applications for the office.

Mr. Burt was born in this city Sept. 30, 1892, the son of Warren F. and Nellie Griswold Burt, now of Groton. He graduated from the Norwich Free Academy in the class of 1912. For the last ten years he has been engaged in the insurance business. At one time he was in the employ of R. C. Knox of Hartford, general sales agents for the Aetna Insurance company, and was employed by J. L. Lathrop. Several years ago, Mr. Burt opened up his own agency.

HAROLD S. BURT

June 22, 1916, Mr. Burt was united in marriage with Miss Katherine M. Moore. They have one daughter, Barbara. Mr. and Mrs. Burt reside at No. 120 Laurel Hill. Mr. Burt is a member of the Central Baptist church.

The vacancy which will be caused in the office of city treasurer by the resignation of Mr. Burt will be filled by an appointment made by Mayor Milo R. Waters.

The statute empowering the mayor to make this appointment provides that the appointee shall be an elector of the city, shall be appointed for the unexpired portion of the term, and before taking office shall give the same bond as is required of the treasurer.

SPIRIT OF FORGIVENESS IS SHOWN IN PICTURE

Notwithstanding the stormy weather, a goodly number attended the afternoon service in the local Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Sunday. After the opening exercises consisting of hymns, scripture reading and prayer, impressive moving pictures were shown and much enjoyed by the audience. The pictures included a reel on "The Friendly Beast of the Earth," showing most beautifully God's provision in nature. Also a reel of rare beauty of the Alps. The short feature picture, "As We Forgive," told the story of a young man who was guilty of a very wrong act, for which he was imprisoned, and after his release, discouraged and broken in spirit he wandered from pillar to post. Finally a servant of God encouraged him to make a new start and his former employer re-instated him to his former position where he "made good" in a real way. A brief talk was given by the general secretary, Edwin Hill, and he spoke in part as follows: The question do we forgive and if so, how fully do we forgive The sample prayer by Jesus is exceedingly searching, especially when it states the condition of our forgiveness; "forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors." Is it not true of most of us that we hold grudges instead of forgiving; we have too often the "get even" spirit. Listen! Suppose God held a grudge and suppose He had the "get even" spirit, where would we be today? How wonderful is the Heavenly Father's attitude toward us, "Like as a Father pitieth his children, so The Lord pitieth us." Again, note His attitude in John 3:16, where we are told that He loves so deeply, even though we sin that He sent His only Son to die for us. Jesus died; "the just for the unjust." Truly, "He bore our sins in His own body, on the tree." If we but remember at least two things we will manifest more and more the spirit of forgiveness; first, remember often that God Through Christ forgives us of our sins, and also remember that we are all human and prone to sin and make mistakes; we all live in glass houses and therefore cannot quite afford to throw stones. The lack of forgiveness makes trouble among nations, and also in the home life as well; also in the individual life, the lack of the forgiving spirit prevents contentment and happiness. Let us more and more manifest the beautiful spirit of forgiveness toward others. Unless we forgive those who have wronged us, neither will the heavenly Father forgive us.

MISS FAITH E. CURTIS WINS SMITH COLLEGE HONOR

The many friends of Miss Faith E. Curtis are rejoicing over recent news from Northampton. She has won the great honor of a Phi Beta Kappa key. As membership in this society comes wholly as a reward for high scholarship, it is eagerly desired and greatly prized.

Beside the unusual quality of her work along the regular college course, she has made a fine record at Smith college along other lines. She has belonged to clubs in mathematics, astronomy and psychology. She has been a member of Alpha society and has always been on the dean's list.

Even while doing her work at Norwich Free Academy Miss Curtis showed such a splendid combination of industry, ambition, thorough preparation for each day's recitations and pronounced natural ability that those who knew her are not greatly surprised at this new proof of her intellectual rating. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Curtis, of Huntington place, are receiving many congratulations on this well deserved and signal honor attained by their gifted daughter.

TAFTVILLE

The regular meeting of the Taftville Post, No. 104, American Legion, was held at the post rooms last Monday evening with Commander Edward J. Kelley presiding. Robert Pilling recently elected treasurer to fill the unexpired term of Ernest Colburn who has resigned was duly installed by Commander Kelley. It was voted to have a Junior baseball team to represent the post this season. A committee with the following members was appointed to complete arrangements: Andrew Frohmader, Robert Pilling, Stanislaw Benac, Eugene Lavalie, Frank Fitzmaurice and Thomas P. Sears. Last year the post had the only team to represent the legion from eastern Connecticut and the boys went to Danbury to play for the state's championship. Any boy in the village or Occum who will not be 17 years of age before Jan. 1, 1929, and who is interested in baseball should leave his name, age and position he desires to play at the store of Hector Lamothe. The post desires to form as many teams as possible and by having a series of games will be able to select a team that will be the pride of Taftville. The post wants to start spring practice as soon as possible so if every boy will file his name before April 7th definite plans can be made. Commander Kelley is district chairman on boys work and he is endeavoring to organize teams in every post in the district. The post is planning to conduct an entertainment and dance, the proceeds of which will go toward paying the expenses of this noble work.

NEW ANGLE IN OIL SCANDAL; TO PROBE HARDING ESTATE AND SUMMON GOV. AL. SMITH

Confident That the Late President Harding Was Not Involved in the Oil Deal, Senator Nye Has Announced That the Harding Estate Would Be Investigated to Determine Whether It Shows Any Continental Trading Co. Liberty Bonds—Demand by Senator Robinson, of Indiana, That Gov. Smith be Summoned Was Declared by Senator Nye to be "Unreasonable."

WASHINGTON, March 19—(AP)—Before closing its inquiry into the disposition of the liberty bond profits of the Continental Trading company, the senate Teapot Dome committee is to investigate the records of the estate of the late President Harding.

In making this announcement today, Senator Nye, republican, North Dakota chairman of the committee, said he did not believe that any of the Continental bonds would be found in the estate, but added:

"There would be a lack of satisfaction if this committee submits a report to the senate without it determines whether there were any Continental bonds involved in the estate of President Harding.

"If they are there we are going to tell the world. If they are not there we are going to tell the world. I don't think they are there."

Senator Nye said the present plan was to send an investigator to Marion to check up on the securities which may now be or may have been in the Harding estate. He added that this probably would not be done until early next month, indicating that the investigation is to be continued at least for several weeks more.

President Harding signed the executive order under which Albert B. Fall, as interior secretary, took charge of the naval oil reserves which he leased to Edward L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair early in 1922. After the government recovered the reserves through court action this order was rescinded by President Coolidge.

During the early days of the senate oil investigation, the committee inquired into the sale of the Marion (Ohio) Star by the late president after there had been sensational reports that some of the profits in the oil deals had been represented in the price paid for the paper. This was vigorously denied by the purchasers and there was no evidence to support the charges.

The summoning of a new witness for the resumption of the public hearings of the committee Wednesday also was announced today by Chairman Nye. He is Merritt Baldwin, of Meriden, Conn., who, the investigators are informed, was private secretary to Sinclair from 1922 to 1924.

DEMAND THAT GOV. SMITH BE SUMMONED

WASHINGTON, March 19—(AP)—A demand that Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York be summoned before the senate Teapot Dome committee to explain why he kept Harry F. Sinclair in the New York state racing commission after the first oil disclosures was made today in the senate by Senator Robinson, republican, Indiana.

The demand was made after Senator Reed, of Missouri, had asked for the resignation of Secretary Mellon because he refused to make public the fact that Will H. Hays had tried to have him take over some of the Sinclair liberty bonds.

Senator Nye, republican, North Dakota, chairman of the Teapot committee reported that the Smith request was "unreasonable" because there had been no indication that the governor had any information as to the oil leases or the disposition of the Continental Trading company bonds.

The chairman volunteered the information, however, that he had been told that Sinclair was a heavy contributor to Smith's campaign fund for governor and subsequently was appointed to the racing commission.

At one point Senator Reed of Missouri, breaking into the debate, asked if Robinson, republican, Indiana, was insinuating that the New York governor had turned any public property of that state over to Sinclair.

"I don't know," responded Senator Robinson, of Indiana.

"When anyone says he doesn't know and makes that sort of an insinuation he is going beyond the rights of the senate," the Missourian retorted.

Senator Robinson, of Indiana, then said, "that there is much circumstantial evidence to indicate that the governor of New York can throw light on this situation."

None of the democrats who joined debate with the Indianan recalled that Smith had been defeated for governor in the 1920 campaign by Nathan L. Miller.

Before the thunder died down, Senator Glass, democrat, of Virginia, arose to vigorously denounce the Indiana senator for a "dastardly insinuation," against Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior in the Wilson cabinet.

"There never was a man lived who who had a cleaner, purer record," said Glass, who was a member of the cabinet with Lane, "and to think this implication comes from a man in whose state one governor has just been released from the penitentiary and another has barely escaped the penitentiary by pleading the statute of limitations. I resent it."

GOVERNOR SMITH HAS DECLINED TO COMMENT

ALBANY, March 19—(AP)—Governor Smith declined to comment today when informed that Senator Robinson, of Indiana, had demanded that he be summoned before the Teapot Dome investigating committee to tell why he permitted Harry F. Sinclair to retain membership in the New York state racing commission after the first disclosures of the oil scandal.

SUBSTITUTION OF RADIUM SURGERY IN CANCER

NEW YORK, March 19—(AP)—Specific bequest of $250,000 were made in the will, filed today, of Dr. Robert Abbe of New York and Bar Harbor, Me., pioneer in the substitution of radium for surgery in the treatment of cancer.

The largest single bequest was to May Moon, secretary and assistant to Dr. Abbe for 32 years. She received $50,000 and all his radium, surgical apparatus, books, furniture and objects of art.

The Lafayette National Park at Mt. Desert, Me., was given $25,000, a nurses' association here $10,000 and a brother-in-law, three sisters-in-law and 12 nieces and nephews $10,000 each. Two servants received $5,000 and the residue was left to 24 grand-nephews and grandnieces.

THOMPSONVILLE DAIRY BARN WAS DESTROYED BY FIRE

THOMPSONVILLE, Conn., March 19—(AP)—Fire of an unknown origin totally destroyed the dairy barn, an adjoining horse barn and milk room and a silo on the farm of David Golden in the Wallop district of Enfield today. Farm tools and 25 tons of hay were also destroyed. The total loss was estimated to be more than $10,000 partly covered by insurance.

The barn with a basement was equipped with modern dairy machinery. Three horses together with 20 head of cattle and 200 hens were saved.

Country roads, impassable on account of mud, prevented any fire apparatus from being sent but a bucket brigade formed by neighbors saved the house.

TWO MEN STOLE $16,000 FROM SPRINGFIELD TRUST CO.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 19—(AP)—Supplied only with the meager description of two young men seen hanging about the banking rooms, police throughout the state tonight were looking for the pair who early today stole $16,000 in negotiable bonds from the desk of Assistant Treasurer Robert E. Emerson of the Springfield Safe Deposit Trust company during the monetary absence of the officer from his place.

The only clue to the bold daylight theft was the recollection of a bank employe that he had seen two men, who had been standing around, leave the bank a few minutes before the theft was discovered.

WOMAN SENTENCED TO DEATH IN ARIZONA

Tucson, Ariz., March 19.—(AP)—Mrs. Eva Dugan, convicted of the murder of A. J. V. Mathis, Pima county rancher, was sentenced today to hang at the state prison at Florence June 1. A motion for a new trial was denied.

BROOKLYN TEACHER WAS SHOT TO DEATH AT HOME

NEW YORK, March 19.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen C. Kimball, pretty young Brooklyn school teacher, was shot to death in her home today by an assailant who police believed used two dumbwaiters and an enclosed bridge joining two buildings to gain access to the Kimball apartment and to escape.

A general alarm was broadcast for Marty Miller, a Negro discharged a month ago as janitor of the adjoining buildings at 1051 Park place and 195 Kingston avenue. He was seen in the dumb waiter of the Kingston avenue house 19 minutes before Mrs. Kimball was shot in the Park Place building.

At 7.30 o'clock Mrs. Walter Smith, who lives in the Kingston avenue house, heard a noise in the dumb waiter shaft and looking in saw Miller pulling himself upward. He told her that he had got his job back and was repairing the dumb waiter.

At 7.40 o'clock Miss Ruth Jones, who lives with her brother in the apartment next to the Kimballs, was awaked by a woman's scream. There were two pistol shots and a bullet tore through the wall and dropped on Miss Jones' pillow.

Miss Jones and her brother leaned from their window and summoned two policemen who, unable to force the door of the Kimball apartment, climbed the fire escape and broke in a window. They found the young teacher lying half clad, and dead, in her bedroom, which was in great disorder.

START ON FLIGHT OVER THE ARCTIC "BLIND SPOT"

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, March 19.—(AP)—On the first hop of their projected flight to the other side of the world over the Arctic "blind spot," Captain George N. Wilkins and Lieutenant C. Ben Eielson, his Sourdough pilot took off for Point Barrow from Fairbanks airport today.

The single motored plane picked up its heavy load of gasoline without difficulty and after circling the field for about five minutes, headed north in the direction of Barrow.

Presentation of a flag by the local post of the American Legion before a small gathering was the only ceremony marking the departure.

DECISION ON VETERANS' HOSPITAL POSTPONED

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(AP)The veterans' committee has postponed its decision on the hospital location for which Connecticut is asking. The matter to be determined at some meeting later in the week, probably Thursday. Major Anson T. McCook, chairman of the veterans' special committee is here urging the proposed hospital be located in Connecticut.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

PARIS, March 19.—(AP)—The delegates of four European powers will convene in Paris tomorrow to discuss the Spanish demand for a stronger voice in the administration of the international zone of Tangier.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 19.—(AP)—The Prince of Wales and other members of royalty are the easiest subjects for photographers, Dr. Richard Neville Speaight, managing director of a firm of London photographers, said on his arrival from England aboard the Cunard liner Aurania.

BERLIN, March 19.—(AP)—Transoceanic flights will not be feasible until multi-engined machines built for use over the high seas are available, in the opinion of Lufthansa, the principal German air service. The concern issued a statement saying that Hinchliffe's sacrifice was not needed to illustrate the fact that trans-oceanic flights with present machines are irresponsible undertakings.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 19.—(AP)—A futile attempt to force Vintila Bratinau to resign and to compel the installation of Juliu Maniu as premier, was made by the national peasant party. Open air mass meetings in various parts of the country and five separate demonstrations in Bucharest were staged but the government paid no attention to the clamor.

INDUSTRIAL LEADERS TO BE CALLED IN COAL CASE

WASHINGTON, March 19—(AP)—Industrial leaders connected with the bituminous mining industry in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, such as John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Charles M. Schwab and R. B. Mellon, are to be called as witnesses in the senate committee investigation of the situation in the soft coal fields.

Governor Fisher, of Pennsylvania, also has been listed for an early appearance.

Formal request for the issuance of subpoenas to Rockefeller, Schwab and Mellon, the latter a brother of Secretary Mellon, was made at the conclusion of testimony-taking today by Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, who declared that "those ultimately responsible for the present conditions" should be required to take the stand.

The Montanan explained that Rockefeller was named beause of his connection with the Consolidation Coal Co., of West Virginia. The appearance of Charles M. Schwab, he added, will be in his capacity as chairman of the board of directors of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, which operates mines in Pennsylvania.

Mellon is a director of the Pittsburgh Coal Co., which concern has repeatedly been under fire by attorneys for the United Mine Workers in the present investigation. Other directors of that company to be called at Wheeler's request are J. D. Lyons, A. K. Oliver and W. D. Reiss.

The Montanan also named P. E. Crowley, president of the New York Central railroad, saying that he probably would formally request that he be called later but that no such request would be made at present.

COL. LINDBERGH RECEIVED WOODROW WILSON AWARD

NEW YORK, March 19.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh tonight received the Woodrow Wilson award, consisting of a medal and $25,000 for "his services for the cause of international friendship" during his good will flight to Central and South America.

The presentation was made at a dinner of the Woodrow Wilson Memorial Foundation. Col. Lindbergh was the third recipient of the award, which was given in 1924 to Viscount Cecil of Chelwood for his services to the league of nations and in 1926 to Elihu Root for his part in the inception of the permanent court of international justice, or "world court."

John W. Davis, former ambassador to Great Britain, in an address explained that Lindbergh was selected as a recepient of the award, not as a victorious soldier nor as a successful diplomat or statesman, nor as a noted poet or orator, but as "a mere individual," who had "the great fortune to serve peace in most effective ways."

Messages from Governor Alfred E. Smith, Dwight Morrow, American ambassador to Mexico, and Manuel O. Telles, Mexican ambassador to the United States, were read.

DEATH OF COMEDIENNE NORA BAYES IN BROOKLYN

NEW YORK, March 19—(AP)—Nora Bayes, comedienne who delighted audiences in Broadway and London theatres for more than a score of years and cheered many persons privately by her generous acts, died today at a Brooklyn hospital.

She had gone almost directly from singing at two benefits a week ago yesterday to the hospital for an abdominal operation. She was apparently well on the way to recovery when a relapse came. She had even agreed to sing for an actor's fund radio benefit next Sunday.

Miss Bayes once wrote that she was born in Joliet, Ill., and other sources fixed the date as 1880. Her real name was Leonara Goldberg. She is survived by her husband, Benjamin L. Friedland, whom she married three years ago on the steamship Leviathan, and by three young children she had adopted. A brother and sister also survive.

Four earlier marriages had been dissolved by divorce. Miss Bayes married first Otto Gressing, a Chicago business man. Later she successively married and divorced three men of the stage, Jack Norworth, Harry Clarke and Arthur Gordon. With Norworth she reached the peak of her success in musical comedy and they were known for years as the "happiest couple on the stage."

LORD BALFOUR SUFFERS FROM HEART TROUBLE

LONDON, March 19—(AP)—The Daily Express says that Lord Balfour, lord president of the council, former prime minister and one of the outstanding British statesmen of the present generation, is suffering from heart trouble and has cancelled all his engagements. He has been ill for some time. In January he suffered a severe attack of laryngitis.

MARINE AIRMAN WAS WOUNDED IN NICARAGUA

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 19—(AP)—Marine aviators engaged a large group of Sandinistas northeast of Nueva Segovia today. The rebels fired on the planes and Captain Francis E. Pierce, an observer, was wounded in the foot. Michael Wodarzcyk, a gunnery sergeant, found a bulletihole in his parachute pack, but he was uninjured.

To Cross Atlantic in A 20-Foot Lifeboat

Adventure to Be Undertaken by 68-Year Old Inventor of the Boat.

GRAVESEND, England, [illegible] (AP)—Henry Hudson in a[illegible] venturous career never tr[illegible] of his little caravel H[illegible] more proudly than 68-year[illegible] Schuttevaer paced back [illegible] on the lifeboat—invente[illegible] named after him—on which [illegible] for New York today.

The lifeboat, 20 [illegible] in length, is declared to be unsinkable, and it is to prove this definitely that Schuttevaer and his three comrades—Captain Smit, Helmsman Gelissen and First Officer Egbert Kruithof—started from Rotterdam the last of February bound for the shores of America.

Schuttevaer is absolutely confident that the voyage will have a successful ending, the others were equally confident, and all appeared happy as the boat came down the Thames, and in the evening off Gravesend stuck her nose into the choppy English channel.

She came from London, cheered by hundreds on the embankment and Westminster bridge on her departure, and under her own sail started tonight for Plymouth, which she expects to make in five or six days.

From there the lifeboat will probably sail down the Spanish coast with favorable winds, thence to the Azores and across the Atlantic.

"I have tested the boat so thoroughly that were I a betting man," said the boat's inventor, "I would bet a thousand to one that we will reach New York within 70 days. With luck we may make it in forty or fifty days.

"My aim is to prove the seaworthiness of this lifeboat. I hope the voyage will demonstrate how it may be possible in the future for shipwrecked persons even in the roughest weather to reach harbor without terrible sufferings due to exposure as so often happens by the use of open lifeboats with which most ships are equipped."

The American, Dutch and British flags flew at the mast head as the sails filled with the wind and the boat got under way, tipping and bobbing as if bidding landlubbers a fond farewell.

TAX SUIT DISMISSED BY THE U. S. SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, March 19—(AP)—Taxes levied on property of George A. Wilcox, of Madison, Conn., and which action was the basis of a suit which went to the United States supreme court on an appeal, were in effect sustained by that court today, when for want of a suitable federal question involved the appeal was dismissed.

Mr. Wilcox claimed the taxation was in effect the taking of property without due process of law.

The town of Madison taxed property owned by Wilcox as building lots rather than farm land in 1922 and 1923 and some $4,000 was involved. Wilcox appealed against the assessment but in 1924, he failed to appeal on the assessments of that year, and then saved himself from a suit by securring an injunction after an alias tax warrant had been issued. The Connecticut supreme court upheld the town in what it had done. The case got into the federal courts on a writ of error. It was then taken by Wilcox's counsel to Washington and a few days ago arguments were heard, George E. Beers, of New Haven for Wilcox and Deputy Attorney-General E. L. Averill and Thomas R. Fitzsimmons, of New Haven, for the state.

Wilcox is father of Princess Guido Pignatelli, the wedding having been in Madison in August 1925.

AIRPLANE HONEYMOON ENDED WITH ACCIDENT

EASTON, Mass., March 19—(AP)—The airplane honeymoon of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lothrop Ames, Jr., ended on the Ames estate here today when the plane in which they had flown from Arizona crashed in making a landing. Mrs. Ames was under a doctor's care tonight but it was announced that her injuries were not serious. Her husband was unhurt.

Ames, who is the son of Mrs. Frederick Lothrop Ames, of Boston and Newport, R. I., and a member of a wealthy and socially prominent family, was returning home with his bride, the former Miss Maurice Mozette. They were married two months ago at Tucson, Ariz., while Ames was making a tour of the country by airplane and decided to take their honeymoon by air. Their marriage took place soon after they met at Nogales, Mexico, where Miss Mozette was a cabaret entertainer. She was once with the Chicago Opera company and an automobile racing driver.

GUILFOYLE MAY ELECT TO BE TRIED BY JUDGES

HARTFORD, March 19—(AP)—An election to be tried by three judges of the superior court rather than by a jury of 12 men, will probably be made by Dr. Harold N. Guilfoyle tomorrow when he is brought from the Hartford hospital to the superior court on a bench warrant to answer to the charge of killing Mrs. Maximin J. Gaudet, of New Haven, in a Maple avenue apartment house last January.

If such an election is made by the wounded veterinarian, Dr. Guilfoyle will be the first in Hartford county to take advantage of the 1927 act permitting an accused in a capital case to be tried by three judges.

CAPTURE OF SLAYER OF BROOKLYN TEACHER

PATERSON, N. J., March 19—(AP)—Martin L. Miller, Negro, alleged murderer of Mrs. Helen Chevalle Kimball, a Brooklyn school teacher, in her apartment, 1081 Park place, Brooklyn, this morning, was captured here tonight after a desperate encounter with Paterson and Brooklyn detectives.

Miller was blackjacked when he sought to turn his gun, a .45-calibre revolver with steel jacketed bullets, on the detectives and is now under the care of General hospital physicians. He is unconscious and unable to talk.

NAVAL FLYING INSTRUCTOR DROWNED AT PENSACOLA, FLA.

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 19—(AP)—Lieutenant John J. Lenhart, naval flying instructor, was drowned and C. A. White, student flyer, narrowly escaped the same fate, here late today, when a pontoon on their seaplane cracked, plunging the craft into several feet of water just off the naval air station. The accident occurred as the ship struck the water in landing.

A Soviet Appeal to The United States

Proposal To Force Total Disarmament Within Four Years.

GENEVA, Switzerland, March 19—(AP)—A direct appeal to the United States to join Russia in forcing immediate action on the soviet proposal for total disarmment within four years was made before the preparatory committee for a disarmament conference by Maxim Litvinoff, head of the Russian delegation, today.

M. Litvinoff, after attacking the methods being followed by the league and demanding immediate public debate on the Russian plan alluded to the proposals of Secretary of State Kellogg for the outlawry of war and then added:

"The soviet delegation feels authorized to count upon the support of the delegation of the government which is intervening at the present moment with a proposal to prohibit all wars.

"The sincerity of that proposition could not be emphasized more persuasively than by adherence to the soviet project for disarmement, not only with a view to moral prohibition but to destruction of the possibility of making war.

"As armed forces exist for no other purpose than to make war and as they would be perfectly useless were it prohibited, it would appear consistent and logical if the government in question supported our proposals."

The American delegates remained silent during today's discussion and Hugh S. Gibson, head of the American delegation and his colleagues have no intention of replying to Litvinoff's invitation. Several old-timers at disarmament conferences who have been in contact with the difficulties surrounding the question for the past seven years will take the floor tomorrow, however.

Count Von Bernstorff of Germany and Ruchdi Bey of Turkey spoke in support of the Russian demand that the soviet proposals be discussed at the present session of the preparatory committee. The other delegates who are in a large majority on the other hand although convinced that nothing can be done this year began to take the concerted drive of these three delegations, two of them non-members and one a newcomer to the league, seriously.

The general attitude of the other members is that more preparation is needed before practical disarmament measures can be framed with any chance of being accepted.

R. I. INFANTRYMEN HAVE TURNED IN THEIR ARMS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 19—(AP)—Members of the First Light infantry tonight, in obedience to orders of their colonel, Harold A. Braman, had turned in their arms pending investigation of charges that the historic old militia unit has been so packed with members of the Ku Klux Klan that that order now controls it numerically.

Major Grafton G. Greenleaf, of the organization, who was declared today to have authorized an advertisement for 75 recruits for the headquarters company of the regiment without the approval of Colonel Braman, said late tonight that he is preparing a statement on his part in the activities of the company which will be his first public comment.

Adjutant General Arthur C. Cole declared today that a military court of inquiry may be convened to probe the reported Klan activities and he, Colonel Braman and Attorney General Charles P. Sisson are preparing reports based on information which they already have.

Adjutant General Cole and Colonel Braman have taken opposite sides in a controversy on just how the exposure of the presence in the First Light infantry of men who apparently have taken oaths in a secret society was brought about. Colonel Braman charges that the adjutant general's inquiry of early reports was hedged about with secrecy, while the adjutant general declares that military circles have been aware of the situation for some time.

THREE PERSONS HEARD ROAR OF HUGE PLANE

KEZAR FALLS, Me., March 19—(AP)—Three persons here heard the roar of a huge plane about 1:30 Thursday morning and one of them was awakened by it, it was revealed tonight.

Constable John B. Hadlock, of this town, declared to the Portland Press Herald tonight that a plane, evidently flying low from the noise of the motor, circled a portion of the town of Porter, near here, three or four times and then seemed to fly toward the northeast. The plane came from the north, he thought.

Porter is 50 miles southwest of Paris, near the New Hampshire line.

CONDITION OF SENATOR FERRIS MORE FAVORABLE

WASHINGTON, March 19—(AP)—The condition of Senator Ferris, of Michigan, who is seriously ill with bronchial pneumonia, was termed "favorable" tonight by his physician, Dr. George W. Calver. The senator was resting easily, he said.

Lieut. Comdr. Walter A. Bloedorn, naval diagnostic specialist, and Carey T. Grayson, also attended the 75-year-old senator last night and again today.

Mrs. Ferris has been with her husband continually since he was stricken with bronchitis over a week ago.

WAS STRUCK BY AN AUTO WHILE DELIVERING MILK

MANCHESTER, Conn., March 19—(AP)—Frank Skewes, 12 years old, of 169 West Center street, while assisting in delivering milk today ran from behind a milk wagon and was hit by an automobile coming in the opposite direction.

He was rushed to the Manchester Memorial hospital where his name was placed on the danger list. He was badly bruised and was thought to be injured internally.

LEGION MEMBERS ENTERTAIN GERMAN WAR VETERANS

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 19—(AP)—Foes of ten years ago joined hands tonight when 75 German war veterans were entertained by 200 American Legion members at a "German soldier" party. To make the affair realistic of days gone by, a small "barrage" fire was put across in front of the legion headquarters, while a band played German and American national anthems.

DETAILS OF THE TRAGIC DEATHS ON SUBMARINE S-4

Evidence of Desperate Fight For Life Was Disclosed in Devices the Crew Had Improvised in Effort to Shut Out the Water Leaking Into Their Chamber—Preliminary Search Has Revealed No Written Records or Diaries—The Six Bodies Found in the Torpedo Room Were in Good Condition—Two Others Were Less Well Preserved.

BOSTON, March 19—(AP)—The torpedo room of the submarine S-4 in which six men lived for 72 hours after the vessel was sent to the bottom in collision off Provincetown Dec. 17, gave up its story today.

Naval officers entered the compartment after the submarine, raised from the ocean bed on Saturday, had been drydocked at Boston navy yard, and, from the dismal evidence found therein, pieced together a tragedy upon which the interest of a nation was centered for three days last winter. The six bodies were found and one of them, that of Lieut. Graham Newell Fitch of Washington, D. C., identified. In other parts of the ship two other bodies were recovered, completing the roster of death. The entire company of 40 men perished when the coast guard destroyer Paulding rammed and sank the S-4. During the salvage operations 32 bodies were taken from the hull.

Evidence of a desperate fight for life was seen in devices by which the imprisoned crew had striven to shut out the water leaking into their chamber from the battery room adjoining. The watertight door between the compartments had been closed and dogged tight. A lead maul had been used to batter down the dogs, and a large pinchbar was wedged against the door.

Through a glass headlight in the door water apparently had leaked, and to shut this leakage out the imprisoned men had placed a piece of rubber above the glass and secured it with a wooden block.

The bodies of Lieutenant Fitch and his five men were all found on deck, which was covered with gray mud and four inches of water. Investigating officers said it was apparent that all of the men but one had awaited death quietly in their berths, conserving their energy that they might consume as little as possible of the precious air. The exception was one man found at the foot of the torpedo hatch ladder, gripping the ladder with his right hand. The body of another man lay against this one, with the head resting on its chest.

Lieutenant Fitch's body was lying on its back on the deck under the work bench, which is on the starboard side forward, just abaft the torpedo tubes. The head was pointing aft and the feet forward. The officer was identified by his Naval academy class ring and sweater and his cap. He had been wearing khaki trousers and a submarine coat. One of his arctic shoes was still on a foot; the other lay near the body.

Three other bodies lay under the bunks in the after part of the torpedo room. Most of the men had been without shoes and were partly undressed. All the bunks but one had their blankets disarranged as if they had been occupied. The investigators said that the bodies probably had been washed out of the berths when the compartments flooded during salvage work. Apparently no effort had been made to add to the oxygen supply in the torpedo room by tapping the oxygen flask, which is provided in each compartment of a submarine. The flask was in its rack, and a test showed that there was considerable pressure in it. The valve was shut.

The gas masks which were available to the imprisoned men had been made ready for use. They had been taken out of their canvas containers, but it was impossible to determine whether they had been used.

No attempt had been made to escape from the submarine by way of the torpedo tubes or the torpedo hatch, officers who entered the compartment reported. The torpedo tube doors were all closed and there was no evidence of an effort to make use of the hatch. The gear of the S-C listening tube had been shipped but the stethoscopes had been removed and lay on the work bench. This indicated, it was said, that the prisoners hoped that the tube would be used for providing them with an air supply, and made ready by taking off the inner gear.

The preliminary search of the torpedo room today revealed no written records or diaries. Further search will be made by a naval board of investigation when the interior of the vessel is in better condition.

On the side of the hull in the compartment the searchers found places where the paint had been chipped and broken by a hammer as the imprisoned men sought to communicate with their comrades in surface ships before they succumbed to the poisoned air.

The bodies in the torpedo room were in good condition. Two others, one found in the engine room and the other in the motor room, were less well preserved. Immediately after the preliminary search of the hull, medical officers began to prepare the bodies for removal to the Chelsea Naval hospital for identification.

FAVORS $200,000 FOR SAFETY DEVICES FOR SUBMARINES

WASHINGTON, March 19—(AP)—President Coolidge today recommended that congress appropriate $200,000 to enable the secretary of the navy to investigate and experiment with safety devices for submarines. Such devices as might be found practicable would be installed on undersea boats in service.

EIGHT BODIES REMOVED FROM SUB S-4 LAST NIGHT

BOSTON, March 19—(AP)—The eight bodies which were found when the hatches of the wrecked submarine S-4 were opened today at the Boston navy yard were those of:

Lieutenant Graham Newell Fitch, Washington, D. C.; Torpedomen Roger Leslie Short, Boonville, Mo.; Frank Snizek, Ridgefield Park, N. J., and Russell Archibald Crabb, San Diego, Calif.; Seamen Joseph Leighton Stevens, Providence, R. I., and George Peinar, South Omaha, Neb.; Machinist's Mate William Dempsey, Walkerville, Ont., and Engineer Joseph William Sterman, Riverside, R. I.
